DEAR SIR: The alarming progress of intemperance, with its train of crimes, misery and political corruption, point with unerring certainty to the necessity of restricting the traffic in intoxicating liquors. Many are induced to leave their cups for a time, but appetite and companionship carry them back to their former habits. They finish their course as confirmed drunkards, and sink into the grave victims to strong drink. The friends of temperance in this State know they can accomplish but little without effective legislation, which can only be obtained by combined action in supporting for office men imbued with the principles we advocate.

To that end an Executive Committee has been chosen to act until a State Convention can be assembled for the purpose of organizing a political temperance party. The Supreme Court of the State has decided that the Local Option law is unconstitutional and void. This decision furnishes another proof of the necessity for political organization. Let no one think it too soon to commence preparing for the contest. Too much time has already been lost by indecision on our part. To make up for this, let us go to work with a zeal that knows no fear, fully assured that we are in the right. Let us completely organize the temperance army of California, with an abiding faith that we can conquer. The plan proposed is simple. Every temperance trade or labor organization; every agricultural or manufacturing association, whether open or secret; all benevolent societies, all county, township and precinct leagues, and all associations sympathizing with our objects, are requested to send delegates to a State Convention, to be assembled at San Francisco, on Thursday, November 19, 1874, for the purposes before stated.

The delegates are apportioned as follows: Two from each society or body sending, and one additional delegate for every two members over the first ten. For any society or body to be entitled to representation it is only necessary to select their delegates in their own way and furnish them credentials. It is desirable to send their names to the Secretary of this Committee as soon as selected, to aid him in making up the roll of the Convention before it assembles. The President of this Committee is authorized to commission persons to form temperance leagues, which will be entitled to representation in the State Convention.

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The Local Option law has been declared unconstitutional by the Court of last resort in this State, thus ending the efforts of temperance people in that direction; and whereas, by the elections held under it we have tried the strength of the temperance vote, showing that, in the aggregate, we have the majority as far as tested; and believing we have the majority in the State, be it therefore,

Resolved, First—That our defeat under the circumstances is but the index to ultimate success in establishing the principle that drunkenness is a crime, tippling the road to drunkenness, and the liquor traffic the great fountain from which flow crime, misery and despair to millions of unsuspecting persons who are flattered into the belief that drinking moderately does them no harm, without considering the fact that it is dangerous and does them no good.

Second—That corruption in office, as a general rule, grows out of a desire for excitement and show while indulging in the use of intoxicating liquors, and we can see no remedy short of electing to office strict temperance men, of known integrity and business capacity, who will be satisfied with the legal compensation provided for their respective positions, and not steal the public money to gratify licentiousness.

Third—That we are under no obligation to party other than to secure the best government, and believe the only way to effect that object is to unite the temperance element and demand a rigid compliance with the rule that none but temperance men should hold office, and to that end we earnestly request temperance men throughout the State to hold meetings, organize societies and send delegates to the State Convention to be held in San Francisco on Thursday, the 19th day of November, 1874.

Fourth—That we call upon all temperance organizations, and societies of every kind or name, who sympathize with the political movement, to take immediate steps to elect delegates to attend the State Convention to be held in November, with a view to thorough organization for political action at the next State election; and that they be requested to send the names of their delegates to the Secretary of this League, and that the Secretary be directed to publish the names as they come in.

Gen. Page and the Esmeralda Delegation.

The Esmeralda delegation at the late Republican State Convention at Winnemucca were instructed to cast their votes for Gen Page as nominee for Governor. This they did from first to last, yet the General was not successful in obtaining the nomination. From a letter addressed to a gentleman in this city we are pained to learn that the General feels aggrieved at the reasons assigned by those delegates who refused to support him. It was not urged against him that he fought in the Union army, neither was it charged that he was too highly moral to receive Republican support. On the contrary, it was charged that the General, if he did not play seven-up, did occasionally take a glass of egg-nogg on Christmas Day, and was not a champion of the anti-gambling law. The General feels aggrieved that these things should have been charged against him, and he is astonished that another gentleman, who was also an aspirant before that Convention for the Gubernatorial nomination, should ascribe his defeat to reasons essentially different. He will, however, stand in and support the ticket as he pledged himself to do before submitting his claims to a vote of the Convention. —[Gold Hill News.

Holding Him Even.

A paper in Dakota Territory, The Elk Horn Gleaner, relates the following story of a fellow who solemnly pledged himself not to drink a drop of liquor either inside or outside of a house for two years. Soon after he passed a saloon where three of his former boon companions were taking their drop in comfort, and he could not help stopping and casting one mournful look of longing within. One of them spied him and invited him to join them. "Oh, no," said he, "I wish I could, but I've sworn not to take a drop neither inside or outside of a house for two years." "Oh," says one, "you can have one drink for all that. We'll lift you off the threshhold and you can drink half inside the house and half out." So one took hold of each leg and thus they raised him up while the third filled and passed the bottle. He took one long drink and was just breath for another, when one of his supporters shifted a little, and he shouted, "Oh, hold me even, boys, my soul's in your hands."

J. G. McClinton, Frank Maguire and A. L. Greeley were selected as delegates to the State Convention. J. B. Gallagher was nominated for State Senator, and Henry Spence, A. Spencer, A. L. Greeley and R. Tone for the Assembly. J. S. Jamison, District Judge; M. A. Murphy, District Attorney; James Carrigan, Sheriff; Dennis Thompson, Assessor; Wilson Butler, County Recorder; Oliver Kimball, Treasurer; County Commissioners, T. B. Smith, long term, R. R. Stewart, short term; W. R Shimmin, Superintendent of Schools.—[Virginia Chronicle.

Important Meeting.

The Los Angeles Star says that the Directors of the Los Angeles & Independence Railroad Company held a meeting, October 1, with a view of perfecting the incorporation of the company and the calling in the ten per cent. upon the capital stock subscribed for in order that active operations may at once be inaugurated. The Star further says: "We have reliable assurances that the great work will be pushed forward with unflagging energy until its completion places us in direct communcation with the great wealth producing regions to the east. As we have repeatedly remarked, every branch of industry and commerce will feel the vivifying influences of this great undertaking, and Los Angeles will advance with giant strides in her career of growth and prosperity."

Mail Matters.

Some two or three weeks since Mining Recorder W. C. Smith received the appointment of Postmaster at Panamint. We do not hear, however, that any mail route to that office has been established, but in the nature of the demands there ought to be at least two routes established, one either to Lagunita or San Bernardino, for the Los Angeles connection, the other over the new road now in course of construction, direct to this place and portion of the county.

Another Survey.

Engineer Crawford has just completed a survey of the Tejunga canyon pass across the Sierra Madre with a view of finding a more direct crossing for the Independence railroad between Los Angeles and the Mohave plain. He has made no report in detail yet, but says that route is quite practicable but will involve a larger outlay than the Cajon pass. He has since gone to Panamint to determine how much of a detour in the line will be advisable for the accommodation of that district.

A New Furnace.

The McGlew furnace has successfully stood the test of several weeks trial on the rebellious ores of Alpine county, and it is now believed that a serious drawback has thus been overcome. Alpine has long needed an economical process for chlorizing and desulphurizing its ores—all being more or less rebellious.

Libel Suits.

Tilton and Moulton have been indicted by a Brooklyn grand jury for malicious libel of Beecher. Beecher appeared personally before the jury. Miss Edna Dean Proctor also sues Moulton for a large sum in damages for his malicious lies in reference to her self and Beecher.

The Potter Law.

The Supreme Court of the State of Wisconsin has rendered a decision fully sustaining the legality of the act known as the Potter law, which provides for rigid regulations of freights and fares on railroads in that State.

Served Him Right.

An officiating priest in the Catholic Cathedral at Jamaica was assaulted and badly beaten recently for tearing the Cuban flag from the coffin of a Cuban patriot whose funeral obsequies were being solemnized.

A. J. Barnes,

Of this State, has been appointed Indian Agent of the Piutes of southeast Nevada. Till now we had no idea A. J. would steal or was at all that kind of a man. But he will soon be wealthy, and is worth cultivating.

The Shooting Match.

On the second match the Irish rifle team beat the American and carried away the first and a majority of the other prizes. They also proved the Rigby a better shooting rifle than the Sharp.

Good Oil Prospects.

One of the wells of the Parker Company in San Fernando was, at late accounts, yielding five barrels of petroleum per day by pump, and in ten days more, was expected to be a flowing well.

The Carlists

Have notified a correspondent of a German paper, who is en route to Spain, that they will arrest and shoot him if he crosses the frontier.

—It is now stated that the White League rebels of Louisiana will make compromises in every parish in the State.

—Report says that the Czar of Russia is about to open negotiations with the Republican Government of Spain.

KEARSARGE MOUNTAIN.

On Kearsarge mountain, within an area of say two miles square, are a vast number of ledges, some small some large, and all, without an exception, producing more or less of the richest quality of ores; they are mostly of a good milling class, though considerable is found intermixed with base metals, which requires use of furnaces. The most noted of these mines is the one which gave name to the mountain, the Kearsarge. For a time this mine payed most handsomely by mill process but three years since the richest ores gave out. The company was of limited means and went into bankruptcy before they had even fairly began to prospect their mine. This circumstance has undoubtedly had much to do with the slow-going, safety operations of other companies working other ledges on the mountain, although, as a matter of fact, the failure of the Kearsarge, whether but temporary or otherwise, proves or disproves nothing more as to the value of the other mines to which we shall refer, than it does of those of Utah.

The next in prominence up, to the present season, is the Silver Sprout, situated higher on the mountain and some two miles distant. Steadily along every Summer for the past seven years, Superintendent Wingard has sunk shafts and driven tunnels on this and an adjacent ledge known as the Lamb. At the close of the Summer of 1873 he had developed both ledges by numerous prospects in various places, and both are established as large and valuable ledges. As shown at the end of a long tunnel in the Silver Sprout, that ledge is not less than seven feet in width, all of mineralized quartz, scarcely a pound of which goes less than at the rate of $30 per ton, while a great portion of it would go from $100 to $500. On the dump of this Sprout tunnel alone there is not less than 100 tons of ore which, by proper mill process, will yield over $100 per ton, besides smaller quantities lying at each of half a dozen or more of other cuts and shafts on this and the Lamb. Returning again to the vicinity of the Kearsarge, but higher on the mountain, and in a different but more favorable forble formation, we have what in all probability is the mother lode of the mountain. This is known as the Virginia Consolidated, and has been the scene of Mr. Wingard's operations the present season. Unlike, perhaps, any other ledge on the hill, this one runs due north and south, with a dip of about 10 degrees to the west and directly into the mountain. At the end of a 218-foot tunnel and a nearly equal depth from the surface, the walls in a raise of 34 feet are as perfectly defined as any ledge walls ever are. The body of quartz is ten measured feet in width, five of which is mainly of what may be called first class ore, running from $100 upwards, and of which there is now on the dump, taken from this tunnel and raise and the shaft, not less than 100 tons, which, as shown by assays, will average full that amount per ton. Besides this class there is an unlimited amount of an inferior quality, running from $25 to $40 per ton. A short distance, some 30 feet, from the end of the tunnel, and also from the original shaft (with which the raise referred to is intended to connect), comes in another large ledge, as shown by surface indications, from which it is inferred, together with the position of the walls as exposed in the tunnel, that the ledge will in a hundred feet deeper be not less than 30 feet wide. But however that may be, or however much of barren spots may be encountered in this as in all mines, this much is now demonstrated: That hundreds of tons of rich ore are now in sight and in condition for stoping out, and as cheaply as in any other mine. We will further state on the authority of good miners well acquainted with the mine in all its bearings, but having no interest at stake in it whatever, that in their opinion this is really a large, permanent and most valuable mine, and one that can be made to pay magnificently.

Now the question is, in view of these incontestable facts, and without reference to many other promising deposits known to exist in this mountain, why is it that nothing is undertaken by which it is possible to realize a cent in return for the yearly and extensive expenditures?

There stands idle, conveniently at hand, a first class 10 stamp mill, supplied with a splendid water power to keep it in constant operation the year through. There is also a tramway just properly available in running down ores from all these mines. There is no limit to the amount of low grade ores available, running from $25 to $30 per ton, which, with such facilities and proper management, can of themselves, these days, be made to pay a fair profit. There is now on the dumps of two of these mines only, not less than 200 tons of ore, worth on an average over $100 per ton. There is upon two, at least, of these mines developments showing a perfectly reasonable probability that thousands of tons of ore of the same class can easily be obtained. And, taken as a whole, it is an absurdity to suppose that this series of mines, under one capable management need ever permit that or any other 10 stamp mill to stand idle a single moment for want of ores that will pay a fair margin of profits.

But this mill belongs to one set of owners, whom, we know not, while the other mines (the Silver Sprout series and the Virginia) belong to different companies, though in part to individuals interested in both. Some of these have from the first favored the expenditure of a large sum of money in the erection of a mill of their own, while others again, perhaps in a foolish fear of another Kearsarge result, prefer to expend annually thousands in superfluous explorations, yielding nothing and proving nothing, because the facts sought for were already proved, or would have been so considered in almost any other locality than this.

We think it a shame almost, and certainly a positive loss to the owners of the property, as well as to this section, that they do not take a more business like and economical view of the case, and see what these mines are worth by actual working tests. Consolidate the several interests and put that mill to work. There is available ore on hand sufficient to pay all necessary expenses of the undertaking for at least a year's trial.

We have every assurance that these mines, if placed under a good manager with sufficient means to carry on work in a "wholesale" manner, thereby cheapening the cost of everything, will pay well from the very start and, we might say, for all time to come. If a consolidation of all the interests cannot be satisfactorily arranged, it is quite possible the owners of the Kearsarge mill would prefer to rent it for a few months or a year, thereby deriving a profit and saving a continual expense, without hope of return, in keeping it in idleness. With this mill the Sprout and Virginia mines could be thoroughly prospected and at the same time money enough above expenses cleared in a few months to build a new mill if found desirable. If practicable at all, it is safe to say this plan involves no risks whatever. There is ore enough on hands today sufficient to pay all probable expenses for a complete trial, though it takes a year to do it. It does not involve an outlay at the start of $50,000, perhaps $100,000, to build a mill alone. All this may be avoided by a proper outlay of $5,000 or $10,000 if this mill can be put to work as proposed here. Certain it is these mines, though they may be worth millions, as they probably are, will never be anything else than a source of expense, certainly of no profit, as long as the present system is continued. Neither will the Kearsarge mill, tramway or mine ever make anybody rich lying still. Counting interest on dead capital and expense of watching a mill now in idleness, the ownership of such property thus used is not less than $600 per month worse than no property at all, and for the same reason the ownership of all those splendid mines is even less desirable than that so long as they are to be "run" the same as they have been up to this date.

The New Postal Law.

The following are the provisions of the Appropriation Act passed at the last session of Congress, which affect the rates and payment of postage:

On and after the first of January, 1875, the postage on newspapers and periodicals sent to subscribers or news agents shall be as follows: On those issued weekly, or oftener, 2 cents per pound and fraction thereof; on those issued less frequently, 3 cents per pound and fraction thereof.

Publications so mailed on after the 1st day of January, 1875, shall be weighed in bulk, at the office of mailing, and the postage prepaid thereon by a special stamp affixed to such matter, or to the sack containing it, or upon a memorandum, or otherwise as the Postmaster General may provide.

Newspapers, one copy each to each actual subscriber within the county where the paper is printed in whole or in part, and published, shall go free; but they shall not be delivered at letter carrier offices, or distributed by carriers, unless postage is paid thereon as before. This section went into effect July 1, 1874.

All mailable matter of the third class (which includes books, pamphlets, manuscripts, sheet music, proof sheets, etc.), is limited in weight to four pounds for each package, and the postage is one cent for each two ounces and fraction thereof. This section also went into effect July 1, 1874.

"IS A NEW EMMA LOOMING UP."

Under this head The S. F. Bulletin of October 1 gives vent to a string of wholly unjustifiable surmises and misrepresentations respecting the Panamint mines in this county. It says:

There is a district in the southern part of this State called Panamint, from which, during the last ten years, there have been reports of mining discoveries of a more or less florid nature. But when sifted down nothing more was revealed than deposits of base metals and low grade argentiferous ore. The indications are that Panamint is soon to have an apothesis. We should rejoice if any really valuable discoveries should be made there, but the agitation begins in the suspicious way. The shapes of some of the Emma and Mariposa speculators are flitting about in connection with Panamint.

The facts are, "when sifted down," that the Panamint district was organized less than three years ago by well known practical miners of this section, who have repeatedly shipped quantities of ore to the furnaces at Cerro Gordo and San Francisco, both, receiving in return not less than from $300 to $800 per ton. These were and are milling ores, and it is entirely untrue that "nothing more was revealed than deposits of base metals and low grade argentiferous ore," as scores of actual working tests made in San Francisco and here prove beyond the least shadow of a doubt. Up to within the past two months or less the only attention these mines have excited were based on actual demonstrations in this way, and when mining experts came to look at the deposits from whence these ores were taken, they were simply astounded at the showing. Nature herself had done the prospecting. The well named "Wonder of the World," as one instance, is cut by a ravine for hundreds of feet deep, showing to that depth, at least, a larger deposit of high grade ores than was perhaps ever before seen in North America. So far as this kind of surface indication will prove anything, coupled with the actual tests as to the value of the ore, from this and other ledges, as above stated, no district ever had better claims for attention than this same Panamint, and The Bulletin's assertion that nothing more than "base metals and argentiferous ores of a low grade ever came from it" is wholly gratuitous and false. We can see no justification whatever for The Bulletin's attack on these mines or the motives of Senators Jones and Stewart and others. These gentlemen have invested their money only after due personal examination of the prospects, and certain it is that, let the deep workings prove what they may, they have taken the only business like and legitimate method possible to find out whether the property is of value or otherwise. It is indecent in the face of the well known facts to assume it to be another Emma mine swindle in design, when all that has been or is proposed to be done so far, is strictly a necessity toward the development of every mine.

Summed Up.

[From The Sacramento Record.]

Tilton and Moulton are rapidly finding their level. A dispatch from New York says Tilton's last statement has fallen perfectly dead, and Tracy's exposure of Moulton's falsehoods has destroyed what little credibility he had in the community. Moulton effectually ruined his reputation by his infamous slander on Miss Edna Dean Proctor. He managed to procure a letter written by that lady to Beecher several years ago, and which concerned a business difficulty with The Independent, to which she was then contributing, and the scoundrel had the baseness to charge that it was a letter of retraction of a charge of rape. To add to the villainy of the thing it has transpired that Moulton was in full possession of the real facts when he published the letter and sought to garble its meaning, and while he has reaped the reward of his slanderous attack in a heavy libel suit from the injured lady, he has completely disgusted those who were disposed to put the greatest faith in him before. Thus "Gath," the blatant and unscrupulous interviewer of The Chicago Tribune, has felt compelled to abandon the "Mutual Friend," and to confess that a man capable of perpetrating deliberately so monstrous a slander, is not entitled to credence on any issue. Moulton, in fact, has shown what kind of a man he is, and Tilton has long since revealed his character to the public. If they will only make a few more statements they will completely eradicate every lingering suspicion against the object of their attacks.

The Northern Belle Mine.

Information of an authentic nature reaches us to the effect that it is the intention of the Northern Belle Company to immediately commence the construction of a twenty-stamp mill. Mr. A. Holmes, one of the owners, who has been absent from Columbus a couple of months on business connected with the company, arrived at Wadsworth from San Francisco on Sunday last, and it is asserted that the machinery for the new mill is even now on the road to this place. The Northern Belle is well known as the "crack" mine of this section, and the benefits to accrue to the community at large from the erection and working of this mill are incalculable. With twenty stamps crushing Northern Belle ore, and our steady-going little five stamp stand-by doing the custom work for numerous other mines, a brighter future is in store for Columbus.—[Columbus Miner, Oct. 3.

The Panamint Mines.

A correspondent writing from Panamint to The San Francisco Stock Report, under date of August 13, gives the following items relative to the mines of that locality:

I arrived here about thirteen days ago, and have since given my whole attention to investigating mining matters in this camp. My first impressions were that the steepness and ruggedness of the hills would seriously embarrass the working advantageously of the mines, but when I acquired more knowledge of the situation of the mines, I found that a majority of them can be worked at less cost than if they were situated on lower ground. The main canyon can be followed up until sufficient hight is attained, and then roads of any desired grade can be made around the hills at a comparative small cost. In no mining district have I seen the ledges of the mines so well defined, large and carrying so much high grade ore. It is true that the outcrop in many places appears barren, but in every instance upon breaking the lumps up I found pay ore, and this in a three-hour examination of the Wyoming location. This ledge exposes a large outcrop both in the eastern and western extension, which latter comprise the Marvel and Esperanza claims, although there is here a split in the vein. West of the Marvel there are two 1,500-foot locations and beyond these the vein could be seen for a distance of two miles. The whole of the original location is in slate, but to the west it passes through a lime formation. The only apparent deviations of the vein from a straight course, are where the ravines cut it and the dip of the vein, it being exposed to such a great depth, is shown. At the Stuart "Wonder" mine shows a width of thirty feet, high grade ore for the most part at this point, but as we ascend the hill the vein narrows to about six feet in width. From these facts, and others it is reasoned that the greatest bulk of the vein is down below the surface. In calcareous formations where the precious metals are found there are three divisions into which the deposits naturally arrange themselves. First, where the mineral is found in deposit with manganese, the formation being flat or in floors. Examples, White Pine and Silver Park. Second, the base metal is galena, the formation being distributed, and the ore found in bulbs or bunches. Third, the formation shows quantities of calcareous and mincacious slates in connection with the lime, the base metal is coppek, and the strata is dipped at a great angle.

In conclusion, I would say that I believe that this district will become very rich from its mines, and that they will prove to be more and more valuable as they go down, the ore concentrating in chimneys or chutes.

Unconstitutional.

As all interested parties know ere this, the Supreme Court, has, by a vote of three to two, finally made up its mind that the Local Option law is unconstitutional. Other State Supreme Courts have decided the same question exactly the opposite way, and possibly understood what they were trying to settle quite as well as ours. But it don't matter; the Local Option law is as dead as need be for this State, and the field is open for a new plan.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Driving Ahead.

At last accounts John Shepherd had a strong force diriving ahead on the Panamint road between the Lake and Arab springs. The road is bound to go through and "on time," notwithstanding a singular and unaacountable opposition has sprung up against it principally in Cerro Gordo, but having some influence where least expected in Lone Pine. Of course there may be substantial reasons for this in individual cases, though what they are we don't know. It is a matter of small consequence to the community at large, particularly of the valley, whether the road is via Darwin Canyon or Coso, as it is pretty evident from all accounts there can be no very material difference in cost, character or length of the roads when completed, and none at all as to special local advantages regarding the point of connection with the valley, since from Arab springs north they are identically the same. A road is what we want and are going to have, whether all the leading men who seemingly ought to help, do so or not.

Sent Up.

Drunken Indians have become so numerous and saucy down about Lone Pine as to occasion considerable alarm among unprotected families. Several times lately families, whose male members were from home, were frightened into town for security, the Indians, when fired up with fighting whisky, threateningly telling them they intend to drive the whites all out of the country. The better class of the whites are resolved that the nuisance shall be abated, which means that they intend to spare no effort to bring the wretches who sell the whisky to the Indians to justice one way or another. As a commencement, one Alcijo Bardenebro was snatched up before Squire Frank Gross at Lone Pine on the 5th, convicted on Indian testimony, and now enters upon a twenty-five days' term in the county jail—and the wretch gets off cheap enough, too.

Won't Do.

Friend A. B. Elder writes us from Cerro Gordo to this effect: "That item about Belshaw's furnace having turned out 260 bars in 24 hours, having made the biggest run yet, won't do by a long shot. Beaudry's furnace made October 1, 305 bars in 24 hours, and in the next 24 hours 260 more. In May we run for 10 days in 13 from 263 to 303 each 24 hours, and for the month (30 days), 7,104 bars, which is the best yet for coin or marbles. Our run on the 1st was by shifts as follows: 1st shift, 80 bars; 2d, 100; 3d, 125." We stand corrected, and Elder and his boys will take the belt.

Rose Springs.

Some twenty miles north of Panamint, and in the same range of mountains we believe, is a locality known as Rose Springs. In that vicinity have been found and partially prospected, a number of large quartz leads of which it is said that they prospect quite as well as any in the county, and that the chances are quite favorable for the district to some day to fairly rival Panamint itself. The scarcity of wood and water, however, must ever be a serious drawback, there being none of either within several miles.

Suicide of Dr. Columber.

Dr. W. C. Columber, a well-known physician and old resident of this county, committed suicide by a dose of corrosive sublimate at Cerro Gordo, at 8 P. M., October 2. No cause is assigned for the rash act other than as the possible result of depression of mind occasioned by dissipated habits. He suffered the most intense agony for about thirty minutes after taking the fatal dose before death relieved his sufferings. He was a native of the State of Virginia, and aged about 51 years.

Sale of Mining Property.

There were two deeds recorded in the Clerk's office here, this week, one from James Brady to John Simpson conveying five-twelfths of the Potosi and Alpha tunnel rights to Simpson for $30,000 cash, the other from same, one-sixth of same property, to Thos. Hardy of San Francisco. Mr. Simpson went up to Cerro Gordo a few days ago, and the chances are, we very much hope, that all this means that active work is to be inaugurated at once upon the great Potosi tunnel enterprise.

Hunting their Holes.

Something over 27,000,000 of wasps, improperly called yellow jackets, have been busily buzzing around every building—house, office, store, gin mill or barn—they could get into, for several days past, and are likely to continue for several days to come, trying to find holes for Winter quarters. They very often "pop it to a feller," which adds a much warmer interest to their operations. They remind people of election times.

The Southern Line.

As will be seen by the new advertisement, the Bakersfield, Kernville and Lone Pine stage company have reduced the price of through tickets (to San Francisco) to $17. They are also running Concord coaches, and on fast time.

The Tax Rate.

Supervisors met last Monday and fixed the tax rate for the current year at $3 on the $100.

How it Was.

As some people who ought to know better seem disposed to put the worst interpretation possible upon our jocose allusion to Mr. Reddy's return last week, given in these words: "P. Reddy, Esq., returned from his lengthy trip to the Bay last Sunday. He admits having been before the Police Court while down there, but is rather reserved whether this had anything to do with his coming home so soon or not," we will now explain that Mr. Reddy told us that it was quite an every day occurrence for numbers of lawyers to be seen not only before the Police, but even the Supreme and other Courts, and some of them even take pride in the fact. He also admits that, as a lawyer himself, he had quite a curiosity to see how things were managed in all those courts, not knowing but he might learn something of advantage in his practice at home; thus it happened that he was before the Police and other courts as a lawyer; he did not state or mean, neither did we either one or the other, that he or any of the other lawyers were ever under arraignment before the Courts "for crimes they had done." Except perhaps in the eyes of virtuous people who can understand a joke only when driven in with a sledge hammer, it is not accepted as a discraceful allusion to say that a lawyer appeared before any Court, even as a visitor, not essentially at all times in a professional capacity; nor is it of so very much importance that he should specifically inform his friends as to the exact causes for returning to his home when he got ready. We have known some very good men of whom it was truthfully said they had been to the Penitentiary—and were not thereby disgraced, though it was not specifically said they were there merely as visitors or officers.

Religious Matters.

Rev. Cartledge and lady, late of Surprise Valley, are temporarily stopping at Mr. Jennings' parsonage. Mr. Cartledge comes as a supply for the upper end of the valley, and an interchange of work. The appointments for tomorrow are: Mr. Cartledge—Lone Pine, 11 A. M., Independence, 7 P. M. Mr. Jennings—Camp Independence, 11 A. M., George's Creek, 3 P. M. Mr. Cartledge will preach at Big Pine next Wednesday evening. The announcement for Quarterly meeting will appear next issue.

I. O. G. T. Matters.

We are gratified to know that our valley is to have another Lodge of Good Templars, a sufficient number of persons at Lone Pine having given their names to a call for such an organization, which is to be perfected to-night. R. W. Woolard, of Busy Bee Lodge, has just received his commission as State Deputy, qualifying him to organize, and install officers in, new Lodges, and he goes down to put the new one at Lone Pine in working order.

Fires at Bishop.

On the night of the 4th the barn of M. H. White, at Bishop Creek, was destroyed by fire, together with two mares and colts, sett of harness, and several tons of hay and grain. This unfortuneate accident for friend White resulted from an effort to burn out a wasp nest....Also, near the same place, George Clark's barn was set on fire from a tobacco pipe and partially destroyed, a horse considerably singed and a sett of harness destroyed.

Wood's Store.

L Wood is constantly adding to his stock of staple and fancy goods, and his store makes as neat a display as any place in town, besides which his prices are always reasonable. See his new advertisement and then his goods.

Regular Meetings Begin.

The regular meetings of the Dancing Club, to take place once each week at the Masonic Hall, begin on Wednesday evening next. All members are requested to be present.

Expected.

We hear that Major Egbert and Jas. Brady are expected here in a few days, also another fact equally pleasing, that they come prepared for permanent operations at Waucoba.

A drawing for a regular Grand Jury for the November term was made at the late session of the Board.

The Irrepressible Conflict.

A meeting of the Saloon-keepers' Association, one of the many organizations formed in the interest of John Barleycorn during the Local Option contest, was held last evening in the Fifteenth District Court room. The discussion was informal. It was argeed that at present there was nothing for the association to do, but it being foreseen that next season there would be a hard fight made by the temperance people in the next general election, the members resolved to preserve their organization and to see that no man not known to be in sympathy with their views on the liquor question receives their suffrages or those of their friends at the election. Some talk on the finances of the Association followed. It was determined to strike from the roll of membership the names of all the members whose dues become three months delinquent. The President was requested to call a meeting of the Association once every month. The meeting then adjourned.—[S. F. Chronicle, Oct. 3.

Terrible Mining Tragedy.

A most terrible tragedy took place at the Justice mine, Lower Gold Hill, Nevada, after dark last Saturday evening. The sum of the story is about as follows as we learn from The Gold Hill News:

For some months past T. F. Smith has been Superintendent of the mine named. A portion of the Trustees in San Francisco became dissatisfied with his superintendency on some account, and Saturday telegraphed the appointment of G. F. Kellogg to the position with orders to take charge immediately. The other Trustees telegraphed to Smith to keep possession of the property at all hazards. In compliance with instructions Kellogg sent his brother W. P. Kellogg, with several men to take possession of the mine. These men carried arms. Arriving at the works, no one apparently being about, part of the party entered or were in the act of entering the door, when the guns of the white Apaches inside blazed out in the darkness and four of the party, Michael Kane, John Brown, Michael Rieley and W. D. Shifflet, fell dead or mortally wounded. There was then a few words of parley, the Apaches telling Kellogg he might come in if he came alone. Agreeing to this he went in alone, and, without another word, was shot through, receiving twenty-seven buckshot, as it subsequently appeared. He retreated a few steps and falling, said, "I believe they have got me; Indians couldn't have done worse." He soon after died, two of the others were already dead, the other two lingering till near daylight the following morning. And thus were five men treacherously murdered, all by reason of unnecessarily hasty action of their own and some San Francisco stock sharps.

The murderers mysteriously got out of the building that night, though it was under a strong guard, but four of them were arrested the next day. Their names are: Dan Askew, —— Prentiss, Thos. Murphy and Patrick Peters.

Local Option in Oregon.

[From The S. F. Chronicle.]

There is a very remarkable temperance bill now before the Oregon Legislature which embodies some novel and interesting features. It provides that every person who wishes to sell intoxicating liquors shall first obtain the actual signatures of a majority of the whole number of the legal voters in the precinct in which he intends to carry on business to a petition praying that a license be granted him. If he resides in a city or town divided into wards he must obtain the signatures of a majority of the whole number of legal voters in the city, town or ward in which he proposes to do business. And, furthermore, he must give fifteen days notice of his intention to apply for a license. It is further provided that no liquor shall be sold on Sunday except for the accommodation of travelers, and that it shall not be sold to any minor under eighteen years of age. Civil damage provisions are embodied in certain sections which provide that any person who shall, by selling or giving away intoxicating liquors, whether with or without license, cause the intoxication of any person, shall be liable to pay a reasonable compensation to any individual who may take charge of such intoxicated person, and also two dollars a day for every day such intoxicated person shall be kept in consequence of such intoxication. The bill further provides that every wife, child, parent, guardian, husband or other person who shall suffer damage or loss by any intoxicated person, shall have a right of action against the party who sold the liquor which produced the intoxication. The bill finally provides as follows:

At each general election which shall hereafter be held in this State, there shall be upon the poll books, in addition to the columns already provided by law, one column headed "License, yes," and another headed "License, no," and every voter shall be asked whether he votes "License yes or License no," and the answer noted in the appropriate column; and that thereafter no person shall be permitted to sell imported intoxicating liquors in less quantities than the original parcel, unless a majority of the legal voters of the county and precinct in which it is proposed to sell voted "License, yes."

This very stringent bill has been referred to the Committee of the Whole under circumstances which strongly indicate that it will become a law.

BOOKS.

GOOD BOOKS BY POST.

OUR POSTAL FACILITIES ARE NOW SO great that a considerable portion of the new books which find their way to the hands of readers do so through the mails. The cost for postage is so trifling that it is of no consequence compared with the desire to possess a really good book. We publish below a list of good books which may be ordered from this office at the price given, and received by an early post:

The Carriage Painter's Manual. Containing a treatise on the art, science and mystery of coach, carriage and car painting. Fine gilding, bronzing, staining, varnishing, polishing, copying, lettering, scrolling and ornamenting. $1.

How to Paint. For mechanics, merchants, farmers, and a guide to the professional painter. Methods in plain and fancy painting. Including gilding, bronzing, staining, graining, marbling, varnishing, polishing, kalsomining, paper hanging, striping, lettering, copying and ornamenting, mixing paint, tools required, etc. $1.

Life at Home; or The Family and its Members. Husbands, wives, parents, children, brothers, sisters. Rev. Wm. Aikman, D. D. $1 50.

Hopes and Helps for the Young of Both Sexes. Formation of character, choice of avocation, health, amusement, music, conversation, cultivation of intellect, moral sentiment, social affection, courtship and marriage. $1 50.

Wedlock; or The Right Relations of the Sexes. Laws of conjugal selection; showing who may and who may not marry. Wells. $1 50.

Oratory—Sacred and Secular. Or the extemporaneous speaker. Including meetings. Pittsfield chairman's guide for conducting.

Temperance Reformation; its history from the first temperance society in the United States to the adoption of the Maine Liquor Law. By Rev. J. Armstrong. $1 50.

Gems of Goldsmith. "The Traveler," "The Deserted Village," "The Hermit." With notes and original illustrations, and biographical sketch of the great author. One vol. 14mo; tinted paper, fancy cloth. Price $1.

Family Physician. A ready prescriber and hygenic adviser. With reference to the nature, causes, prevention and treatment of diseases, accidents, and casualities of every kind. By Joel Shew, M. D. $4.

Hydropathic Encyclopædia. A system of Hydropathy and Hygiene. Embracing outlines of anatomy and physiology; the preservation of health; special pathology, including the nature, causes, treatment and symptoms of all known diseasas. Designed as a guide to families and students, and text book for physicians. By Trall. $4 50.

Children; Their Management in Health and Disease. A descriptive practical work. $1 75.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SOLDIERS' WAR CLAIM AGENCY,

No. 34 Montgomery Block,

San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, will give prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers dischaaged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1861 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection Business. n214m6

PUMPS, ETC.

THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.

San Francisco, Cal.

THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celbrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.

Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.

Travelers should always carry a bottle of Radway's Ready Relief with them. A few drops in water will prevent sickness or pains from change of water. It is better than French Brandy of Bitters as a stimulant.

FEVER AND AGUE.

FEVER AND AGUE cured for fifty cents. There is not a remedial agent in the world that will cure Fever and Ague, and all other malarious, Bilious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow and other Fevers (aided by RADWAY'S PILLS), so quick as RADWAY'S READY RELIEF. Fifty cents per bottle. Sold by Druggists.

HEALTH! BEAUTY!!

STRONG AND PURE RICH BLOOD—INCREASE OF FLESH AND WEIGHT—CLEAR SKIN AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION SECURED TO ALL.

DR. RADWAY'S
Sarsaparillian Resolvent

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES; SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Mucious Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional and Skin Diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney and Bladder Complaints, Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the small of the back and along the loins. Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cured by Radway's Ready Resolvent.

BEVERLY, MASS., July 18, 1869

DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended; but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

DR. RADWAY'S
Perfect Purgative Pills,

perfectly tasteless, elegantly coated with sweet gum, purge, regulate, purify, cleanse and strengthen. Radway's Pills for the cure of all disorders of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys, Bladder, Nervous Diseases, Headache, Constipation, Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Bilious Fever, Inflammation of the Bowels, Piles, and all Derangements of the Internal Viscera. Warranted to effect a positive cure. Purely Vegetable, containing no mercury, minerals or deleterious drugs.

☞ Observe the following symptoms resulting from Disorders of the Digestive Organs:

Constipation, Inward Piles, Fulness of the Blood in the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust of Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Chest, Limbs, and Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh.

LITERARY.

Prospectus for 1874—Seventh Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

NOT FOR SALE IN BOOK OR NEWS STORES.

THE ALDINE, WHILE ISSUED WITH ALL THE regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centers of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates" is rapidly yielding to a more discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality, with greater facilty for production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attraction any of its predecessors.

PREMIUMS FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1874, will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thos. Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives the Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The differences in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12x16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20, 1874.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & CO.,

Gentlemen—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings. Very respectfully

(Signed.) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original Amerian process, with material of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American painter, and presented to subscribers to the first successful American Art Journal. If no better because of all this they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free at New York Office.

For 50 cents extra the chromos will be sent mounted, varnished and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

NOTICE.

THE DELINQUENT LISTS OF THE VARIOUS Counties of the State, for the Twenty-Fourth and Twenty-Fifth Fiscal years (1872-3—1873-4) are now in my hands for collection. Many persons are delinquent for small sums on personal property, and are urged to examine the rolls in the hands of the Tax Collector of their respective counties and to make immediate payment. The law is imperative, that the payment of the State Tax for these years must be enforced, and unless voluntary payments are made at once, heavy costs will be incurred by the delinquents.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.
2. If subscribers wish their papers discontinued, publishers may continue to send them until all charges are paid.
3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office or place where they are sent, they are held responsible until they settle their bill and give notice to discontinue them.
4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the paper is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible. Notice of removal should always be given.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take a paper or periodical from the office or removing and leaving it uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Wonders of the Earth.

A Washington dispatch of October 4 says: Dr. H. C. Yarrow, U. S. A., surgeon and naturalist of the Wheeler Expedition, arrived here yesterday from New Mexico. Prof. Cope and Dr. Yarrow have been operating in the southern part of New Mexico and along the Rio Grande, and have been very successful in their researches. Near San Ildefonso they found a large deposit of fossil remains, comprising camels, the rhinoceros, an extinct species of deer, porcupines and horses, and a very complete specimen of a gigantic fossil condor. These were found near the cretaceous formation, among layers of hard and soft sandstone. Many new and distinct species of fish were found living in the rivers. They found bones of fossils of the cretaceous period near the oecene formation. Near Obiquin they discovered the ruins of an ancient village, and near this discovery a burial place, and obtained several complete skeletons and specimens of crania, which indicated a race of Indians entirely distinct from any tribe now known. The remains were found lying on the face, and the grave contained bones of birds and also earthen jars. Lieut. Wheelet accompanied Dr. Yarrow as far as far as Denver and then went to San Francisco. Lieut. Whipple, in command of Wheeler's main party, was on his way southeast from Pagosa Springs to the mouth of the Sargeman river, which has never been explored. Lieut. Marshall, with a second party, was in the Uncompahgra mountains, and will connect the triangulation points of this year with those run in 1873. His chief topographer, Louis Nell, had been lost for a week, but was rescued by a party of miners. Lieut. Price's party is following a line about 100 miles west of Santa Fe, and Lieut. Blunt and his party are in the Cimarone mountains. All the parties will meet at Pueblo, Colorado, about November 15, and return here about December 1. Prof. Hope is still in the Gallinas mountains making researches, and the natural history party under Prof. Henshaw, Dr. Rothock and Mr. Rutter, was heard from in Southern Arizona, and will be at Santa Fe November 1.

The Romance of Rascality.

[From Boston Correspondence Chicago Journal.]

On the night of November 20, 1869, the Boylston National Bank of this city was robbed of bonds and money to the amount of $490,000. The robbers got away with the "swag," and after dividing it left for parts unknown. The burglary was one of the boldest and most ingenious known in the annals of crime, and was effected by the gang hiring a shop in the building adjoining the bank, and on the same floor with the vault. After four weeks' work, the burglars got through the thick wall that separated the two premises, and in one hour got into the vault and cleaned it out entirely. The loss fell heaviest on depositors, one of whom was out $50,000. And thus at a single grasp were the savings of a lifetime absorbed by three or four professional cracksmen, and fooled away in three or four years. Some months ago a man named William Glover was convicted and sent to the State Prison for twelve months for being an accessory to the felony, but it now appears that he knew nothing about the intended "job," the real crime against him being the handling of some of the stolen bonds. A few days ago a detective returned from New York with a man named Charles H. Bullard, alias William A. Judson, alias James P. Wells, in custody, charged with being the principal engaged in the robbery of the bank. He has since been held in $100,000 bail, and now languishes in jail. When he will be tried is uncertain. The experience of Bullard since the robbery has been a varied one. Immediately after the "job" was completed the gang broke up, and Bullard, who at the time was boarding near the depot, took the cars for New York. Upon his own confession he went to London and from thence to Paris, where he opened a cafe, known as the "Welles' Cafe." Here he thrived, married and made himself merry. But after awhile it got noised about that Mr. Welles was wanted in Boston for bank robbery. Subsequently Bullard abandoned his business, returned to London, and finally ventured back to the United States. He landed at Baltimore and soon found himself at New York again among his old associates, soon to be gobbled up, however, by a Boston detective. Bullard, though unfamiliar to the courts, has cracked more than one safe, and once escaped from jail. When committed to the jail here he had $1 50, the sum remaining from his share of the $490,000 stolen from the bank. He is also broken down in both health and spirit, and during the past year has punished a good deal of bad rum.

Of Interest to Parents and Guardians.

Following are sections 1, 3, and 4 of the new school law, entitled "An Act to enforce the educational rights of children," to which we would the attention of parents and guardians:

SECTION 1. Every parent, guardian or other person, in the State of California, having control and charge of any child or children between the ages of eight and fourteen years, shall be required to send any such child or children to a public school for a period of at least two thirds of the time during which a public school shall be taught in each city, or city and county, or school district, in each school year, commencing on the first day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy four, at least twelve weeks of which shall be consecutive, unless such child or children are excused from such attendance by the Board of Education of the city or city and county, or of the Trustees of the school district in which such parents, guardians or other persons reside, upon its being shown to their satisfaction that his or her bodily or mental condition has been such as to prevent attendance at school, or application to study for the period required, or that the parents or guardians are extremely poor or sick, or that such child or children are taught in a private school, or at home, in such branches as are usually taught in the primary schools of this State, or have already acquired a good knowledge of such branches; provided, in case a public school shall not be taught for three months during the year, within one mile by the nearest traveled road, of the residence of any person within the school district, he shall not liable to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 3. In case any parent, guardian or other person shall fail to comply with the provisions of this act, said parent, guardian or other person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be liable to a fine of not more than twenty dollars; and for the second and each subsequent offense the fine shall not be less than twenty dollars nor more than fifty dollars; and the parent, guardian or other person so convicted shall pay all costs. Each such fine shall be paid to the Clerk of the proper Board of Education, or of the District Trustees.

SEC. 4. And it shall be the duty of the Clerk of each Board of Education and of each Board of District Trustees, on complaint of any teacher or tax payer, to prosecute all offenses occuring under the provisions of this act; and any Clerk neglecting to prosecute such offense within ten days after a written notice has been served on him by any teacher or tax payer within the limits of the authority of said Board, unless the person so complainad of shall be excused by the proper School Board, shall himself be liable to a fine of not less than twenty dollars nor more than fifty dollars, which fine shall be prosecuted for in the name of the People of the State of California, and the fine so collected shall be paid over to the Clerk of the Board of Education or Trustees of the proper city, or city and county, or school district, to be accounted for as in section three of this act; and in case such prosecution fail, the expenses thereof shall be paid out of the School Fund of the city, or city and county, or school district in which the case arose.

Carbon county, Pennsylvania, rejoices in the possession of a 76 year old German who is the father of thirty children, the youngest of whom is four months old.

—The Rajah of Bussahir, whose income is set down at $500,000 per annum, is stated by an East India paper to have commenced attending school at the age of twenty-five, and to be now quite learned, after five years' of schooling.

—By death of Gen Foster the number of survivors among the officers who garrisoned Fort Sumpter at the breaking out of the rebellion is reduced to two, Gen. Doubleday and Gen. Truman Seymour.

GRAND LODGE PROCEEDINGS.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars met in annual session at Vallejo, October 5. The attendance was quite large, there being over three hundred delegates present. Rev. Jabez Walker was elected G. W. C. T., a fact that will be received with gratification by his numerous friends here and elsewhere throughout the State. As a lecturer he has accomplished more during the past year than any one who has yet undertaken that work, and from this we conclude that he will prove a most efficient G. W. C. T. The late G. W. C. T., Capt. Wood, goes East to take command of an ocean steamer. We are indebted to the G. W. S. for a copy of the annual reports.

The report of the G. W. C. T. shows the following to be the state of the order at large: 59 Grand Lodges; 11,000 subordinate Lodges, and a membership of about 700,000. Of the 59 Grand Lodges 42 are in the United States, 5 in Great Britain and Ireland, 6 in Australian colonies and the remaining 6 are in Malta, South Africa, New Zealand, Bermuda, Newfoundland and Prince Edward's Island. Subordinate Lodges have been established in various parts of India, Singapore, China and Japan.

From the report of the G. W. Secretary, it is shown that there has been 6,608 initiated into the Order in the past year; that there were 40 new Lodges instituted, and that the present membership is 8,817. Whole number of Lodges, 176. There is $27,331 24 in the subordinate Lodge treasuries. The Order has contributed directly to the Orphans' Home Fund $4051 60. Paid to support of Orphans' Home and salaries of Grand Lodge officers from treasury of Grand Lodge, $15,535 66. Balance in hands of Grand Treasurer, $1,337 90.

From The S. F. Chronicle's report of the proceedings on the third day we take the following:

Nominations were made for officers of the lodge, and the result of the balloting was as follows: For G. W. C. T., Jabez Walker, Sacramento; G. W. C., Hon. Niles Searles, Nevada City; G. W. V. T., M. A. Alsop, Sacramento; G. W. S., Geo. B. Katzenstein, Sacramento; G. W. T., Dr. J. S. Halsey, Vallejo; S. P. B. H., Dr. C. S. Hatwell, Sacramento. The following telegram was received, and read amidst immense applause:

To the Grand Worthy Chief Templar of the Order of Good Templars: The State Grange, P. of H., acknowledges the receipt of kind greetings, and in return begs leave to express to the order of Good Templars in unmistakable terms their desire to cooperate with your noble order in the humanizing efforts both are exerting.

A Remarkable Loss.

The citizens of Conshohocken (Pa.) are marveling greatly over a most extraordinary misfortune which has recently befallen them. It seems that they had invested $75,000 in a reservoir to supply the village with water. It was only completed last Fall, was a fine piece of work, and the pride of the place. Now, on a certain Monday night this reservoir was safe and sound, but on the following morning it was discovered that the bottom had dropped out during the night. Literally this was what had happened. A portion of the embankment had dropped straight downward twenty-five feet, and all the water had gone with it. Where the water went nobody could imagine, however, for it did not make its appearance anywhere else; did not swell any of the streams in the neighborhood; in fact appeared to have dropped bodily into "the bowels of the land," and the people of Conshohocken argue that that there must be a bottomless pit somewhere in the vicinity, and fear that the village may go to look after the contents of the reservoir some night.

Will Enlarge.

The San Francisco Daily Chronicle, which, by the way, is rapidly and deservedly gaining in general favor, is soon to be considerably enlarged, and printed in larger type—which will be a material improvement itself.

The Coast Review.

J. G. Riley, editor and proprietor of The Coast Review and Insurance Journal, has sold his entire interest in it to J. G. Edwards. The Review in its particular line is a very valuable publication.

—A project is on foot at the East to issue from the Mints a twelve-and-a-half cent silver coin. The Mint authorities desire also to stop the coinage of three-dollar gold pieces.

DISCOVERS A HUGE FRAUD.

The San Francisco Alta is taking on very much on account of a "huge fraud" being perpetrated on San Francisco through the operation of the present "infamous Dolly Varden school law," as it politely terms it. The Alta says the recent revelations of frauds in the License and Poll Tax Collector's, and Coroners's, offices of San Francisco all sink into comparative insignificance alongside this huge school law fraud. It points out that San Francisco has to pay for school purposes this year a tax of $557,500, of which about $350,000 go to support schools elsewhere in the State. It also goes on to denounce the San Francisco delegation for selling themselves for some Supervisorships and such things, thereby allowing the country members to get ahead of them in the matter of making the richer school districts help to maintain public schools in the poorer ones.

At first glance one might think Mother Alta had a just grievance; at the second glance country people won't think anything of the kind. They think, whatever the shortcoming or failings of this "infamous school law" in other respects, in this particular it operates with great fairness. It is the first direct return San Francisco has ever made or likely ever will make for the millions of dollars these combined poor country districts annually pour into her metropolitan lap. Is not every one of these poor country districts taxed to maintain every State institution, save two, almost exclusively to the local benefit and glory of San Francisco? Commercially considered, of what value to the rest of the State are all these institutions—State Prison, State University, Supreme Court, and we know not what besides? Though not al within the corporate limits of San Francisco they help none the less to produce values for her more than equal to the production of this $350,000 each year. There is not a school district however poor in the State, which, in the way of direct taxes in support of, and through individual visits via San Francisco to, these institutions, does not help to swell the taxable values of that city, and what do they receive in return? Nothing that we can think of except the poorest ones a share of this school tax. If universal education is a universal gain to the State, ought not the city which claims in point of wealth to be the better half of the State do something near an equal share toward bringing it about? Half the benefits are to be hers, yet it is deemed a huge fraud because she is compelled to pay say one-eighth of the cost.

If there is any growling due for the unequal working of the present law (and the previous one was worse than this in this particular), then it should come from numerous country districts which pay in proportion to benefits received a much larger school tax than any thickly populated city district, however rich in property as well as children. For instance, this Independence school district pays a total tax for school purposes of $900, approximately, per annum. It receives only $500, plus a small amount of county money, in return. It thus contributes $400 to other districts. In a city like San Francisco where expenses of all kinds are so much less this amount ($500) will maintain a school a full term, and to the benefit of the maximum number (45) children to each teacher. Here, because children are so much less numerous and general expenses so much higher, it costs the $500 to give not to exceed twenty children, instead of forty five, the benefits of not to exceed two-thirds of a legal school term. Relatively, such districts as this does not receive one-fourth as much benefit from its school apportionment as does the poorest San Francisco district. In order to give our children individually an equal number of days' schooling with those of the city, and at the same time, comply with requirements of law, our citizens have to pay a voluntary tax in addition to the above of half as much more. And there are other districts where the conditions are still worse. Here is Cerro Gordo, which has contributed many a broad ducat to the wealth of San Francisco has never had the benefit of a cent in return. True, it is mainly owing to peculiar local circumstances that the wealth of Cerro Gordo is taxed for schools, and yet obtains nothing directly in return. In some respects it is our misfortune in these outlying districts that we do not have equal school and other facilities with the wealthier and more thickly populated centers. It is likewise our misfortune, due to this lack, that dozens of Inyo pupils have to be kept at institutions of learning centering about San Francisco, at a yearly aggregate expense of say $10,000, which adds just that much to the revenues of that city. It is also our misfortune, that, besides this, we pay a State school tax (22 3-10 cents on the $100 besides 5 cents county) of $3,800 and get back but $3,000. It is moreover our misfortune to have a commercial capital so hoggish as to want all and give nothing in return at all commensurate with what she receives. But for these poor outside districts to which The Alta begrudges such a trifling return—but for the development and consequent revenues derived from these, San Francisco would have no need to grow arrogant and selfish over such a huge list of taxable property, or at such "a huge fraud," being the only thing, and that only by compulsion, she has yet done to promote theirs, and eventually her own, development.

Perhaps San Francisco prefers to return to the old regime, the pro rata apportionment according to the number of children? Being richer, proportionately, in the number of children than in property the city schools could again be partly supported at the expense of the sparsely populated country districts. The Alta has our sympathy in the matter of this "huge fraud upon San Francisco tax payers" to this extent: that it ought to be double what it is.

Any way this and every other county ought to have its own high schools at home, and San Francisco wouldn't have to give so much to poor districts by some hundreds of dollars, since she would then have some thousands less every year out of which to raise it—and, we would have that much more for our own tax lists.

WE ARE TO HAVE A TELEGRAPH!

The prospects are that we are soon to have telegraphic communication with the rest of the world—than which, next to a railroad, nothing can have a more important influence toward speedily bringing about that "good time coming," for which we have so long looked in vain.

We received a call last evening from Mr. J. H. Creighton, a gentleman of great experience as a practical telegraph builder, having been engaged in the business for the last fifteen years. He is associated with two or three other gentlemen who stand ready to invest a considerable amount of capital in this telegraphic enterprise. The plan is simply this: To connect Panamint, Cerro Gordo, Lone Pine and this place with one or the other of the two main and competing lines at Bakersfield. These are the Western Union and the Atlantic and Pacific—the connection to be made with which ever one will offer the most liberal terms, Mr. Creighton's company being, and intended to be, an entirely independent company. The whole length of wire required cannot be less than 300 miles. Mr. Creighton estimates the cost at something near $200 per mile, completely equipped, it being much more expensive to build a line through such a country as this than on the other side where poles and freights are so much cheaper. There the cost is about $125 per mile. Whether it costs as much here as $200 per mile or something less, the total cost cannot be less than $50,000. This is more money than these gentlemen wish or have to risk, wholly on their own responsibility. They expect to put in $25,000 or $30,000. The remainder is to be made by subscription as follows: One-half of each subscription to be a simple bonus or donation, the other half to be returned in telegraphic scrip, receivable anywhere on the line at par in payment for messages. The stock is to be issued on payment of the subscription money, which is due and payable on or before the 1st of next January, at which time the line is to be in complete working order.

It is expected and required that an equivalent of not less than $25,000 be raised by subscription. Of this sum $6,000 or thereabouts will have to come from Cerro Gordo, Lone Pine and Independence and this portion of the county generally. Panamint, Bakersfield, Kernville, San Francisco and and various non-resident owners of mining interests to be benefitted, to raise the rest.

We cannot now undertake to point out in detail the very great importance of this enterprise. But taking our own section only, there is not a shadow of doubt but this line will be to our advantage many times the value of $6,000. That is simply no money at all compared to the benefits and profits that are bound to accrue to us. It is a self-evident fact that our section is beginning to attract something of the attention from outside capitalists and miners that its merits must sooner or later command. We are on the eve of a rush, so to speak, that must inevitably bring our mines in demand, induce their development and proportionately enhance every other value and industry. To paraphrase Shakspeare "now is the tide in the affairs of Inyo, which, if taken at the flood, will surely lead on to fortune." There is no room for a mistake on this point except in this: That we, every citizen of this county, rich or poor, will make a serious mistake if we do not devote our every energy toward the accomplishment of this telegraphic enterprise, which of itself is bound to do the remainder—to bring our mines and other advantages before the world to some purpose. We must show the world that we ourselves have an abiding faith in our undeveloped, immense resources, and this is our time and opportunity, and the cheapest we will ever have. There are single mines, single properties here each one of which will be enhanced in value through the effects of this telegraph at this crisis much more than the whole sum demanded of this entire section.

We feel assured that this is a legitimate enterprise offered by responsible and reliable men. In that belief we commend it and its representative, Mr. Creighton, to the liberal consideration of every person interested in the development of this region from Panamint northward. This is the time and opportunity that must not be permitted to pass unimproved, or we will have to to wait years for gains we can have in months. Let each of the other localities, all having equal or greater interest at stake, do as well as Independence, and the thing will be done, and cheaply, too.

—The mail services between Portland and Astoria, Oregon, has been increased to six times a week on the whole route.

Table of Distances to Panamint

[From The Los Angeles Express.]

The following table of distances from the Cajon to Panamint is furnished us by Mr. Talbot, who procured it in part from Capt. Lane, of Lane's Crossing, now repairing the road by appointment of the Board of Supervisors of San Bernardino county. Panamint lies due north from Cajon Pass:

	MILES.
From the summit of Cajon to Point of Rocks	30
From Point of Rocks, over good road, to Black's Ranch	18
From Black's Ranch to a good well of water	4
From well, by heavy road, over a rise of wash, to mouth of Black Canyon	5
Wash is good over rest of road through Black Canyon into a divide with no water but excellent feed	6
Thence to Granite Springs (good trail half a mile from road)	15
From Granite Springs, which is 26 miles from the last water at Black's to a good well of water sunk in granite	2½
Thence to Willow Springs, Brown's Ranch	23
From this point (Chinamen are working on the road) to Panamint, there is plenty of water	25

Edna Dean Proctor, the lady spoken of by Moulton in his "statement" as having given Beecher a "paroxysmal" kiss, which led to their mutual fall, and who now claims $100,000 damages from Moulton for her injured character, is a highly cultivated woman, and has traveled almost all over Europe, is about 40 years old, although she does not look to be over 35. She is slightly above medium size, slim but well made, with luxuriant dark hair, dark eyes of a soft and fascinating expression, shaded by long silken lashes, with sallow complexion, bright and rosy lips, frequently curved in the most winsome of smiles, and the smallest of feet and hands. She is generally admired in Brooklyn, having remarkable conversational powers and being of a very amiable disposition. She returned but a short time ago from an extended tour in Europe, having attended the great fair in Nijni Novgorod, Russia. She attends some of the most fashionable parties when in Brooklyn, and is received by the "best families." It is easy to imagine what a shock Mr. Moulton's statements created in those circles. Her literary talent is well known, as she frequently contributes to The Atlantic Monthly, and is the author of several works.—[N. Y. Herald.

Grangers in the United States.

The publication of 25,000 additional volumes of Agricultural Reports for 1872 is now in progress and will be completed in about two weeks. From authentic sources it is ascertained that the number of subordinate Granges of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, on the 1st instant, was 20,800. The increase of new Granges during the month of September was 469, which is several hundred less than for the corresponding period last year. In fact, for several months past the number of subordinate Granges established has fallen of considerably since last year, owing to the fact that Granges have been established in nearly every county in the United States. The number of Granges in the United States is estimated at 1,500,000. The States having more than 1,000 subordinate Granges are as follows: Iowa, 1,513; Kentucky, 1,425; Kansas, 1,350; Ohio, 1,031; Tennessee, 1,003. The next session of the National Grange will be held at Charlestown, South Carolina, on the first Wednesday in February.

A New Style of Banking.

A new style of banking has been inaugurated in Los Angeles. A poor immigrant from Oregon halted in front of Temple & Workman's bank, in that city, the other day, and boldly solicited the loan of $150. Mr. Temple asked him for his "collateral," when he pointed to an old dilapidated team, a wife and six children. This was considered good and the money was loaned. That style of banking may not always add to the coffers here below, but if Mr. T. wishes to lay up his treasures above out of reach of moths and thieves, he is on the right track.—[L. A. Star.

Prairie Chickens.

A. W. Sisson imported sixty prairie chickens a year ago, and turned them loose on his ranch near Rocklin, Sacramento county. He is so well pleased with the result that he is having one hundred more of the birds trapped, which he intends to turn loose in this State for breeding.

Another Comstock.

The indications are that there will be a great rush for the Panamint mines in the Spring. A large amount of mill machinery is en route for the locality, and when these mills are set in operation they will throw out tons of silver weekly. A great many new and rich ledges have been discovered in the district, and as soon as the miners have facilities for prospecting the rock, still other ledges will be opened. The idea of Senator Jones, that Panamint will prove a second Comstock, seems likely to be verified.—[L. A. Herald, Oct. 9

Here.

Among the passengers by the steamer Ventura, this morning, is Senator Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania. It is generally understood that Senator Cameron is one of the great pillars of the Texas and Pacific Railroad, and his visit may have some significance in connection with the proposed legislation for Government to guarantee the bonds of that enterprise.—[L. A. Express.

A Deep Shaft.

It is said that a shaft is to be sunk at the Imperial mine, Virginia City, to the depth of 4,000 feet. An engine of 500 horse power will do the pumping and hoisting. When completed it will be the deepest bore on the continent, and, with one exception, the largest in the world.

—"Daughter, has George proposed to you yet?" "Yes, ma, he proposes that we go out this evening and get some ice cream."

—"Yes, Job suffered some," said an Illinois deacon, "but he never knew what it was to have his team run away and kill his wife right in the busy season, when hired girls want three dollars a week."

—A work written as late as 1708 speaks of the potatoe thus slightingly: "The root is very near the nature of a Jerusalem artichoke, although not so good and wholesome, but it may prove good for swine." And another authority, in 1719, refers to it as "of less note than horse-radish, radish scorzenoneff, beets and skirret."

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞Our Only Terms: CASH, IN ADVANCE Paper invariably discontinued upon expiration of term of subscription.☜

Personal.

J. F. Furguson and family, late of Lone Pine, passed through here on Thursday on their way to Baker City, Eastern Oregon, where Mr. Furguson goes to take a lucrative position in a banking house....Messrs. R. B. Stewart, E. P. Rains and R. C. Jacobs, of Panamint, and M. W. Belshaw of Cerro Gordo and San Francisco, are or were here during the week. Mr. Stewart, we hear, has disposed of some of his Panamint mining property to Mr. P. Reddy. Mr. Jacobs come over the new wagon road, and tells us John Shepherd is getting it along first rate; it is ready for use to Coso and beyond. We will again remark that it is necessary for those subscribers who have not paid to come forward and do so. Harris & Rhine have now advanced some $700 on these accounts, and more is needed right away....Isaac Harris has gone to the Bay after a stock of goods for Panamint; the firm will ship several loads from their warehouse here....Ex-Sheriff Mulkey writes us that he has located for the Winter at Gaffney, Madison Co., Montana, which place he reached with his entire outfit in good shape, having lost but one horse the entire journey ....Josiah Earl, the sweet scented Granger and surprisingly honest man, we hear, is figuring largely among the Granges on the other side, his Mastership of the Independence Grange proving, as was fully anticipated, a splendid working capital both with the Grangers and Stanford & Co. We haven't heard when the sale comes off. In the meantime he has his eye on a land steal over about Visalia, of which he hopes better things than the swamp, Post, and lieu land misfortunes, in all of which he has a certain amount of our sympathies. ....P. W. Bennett, Esq., arrived here to-day, from his long visit to the Bay, and looking, we are told, as though that country down there agreed with him first rate.

Another Suicide.

A friend writing from Cerro Gordo on the 9th says: "A man calling himself J. C. Neal took a dose of strychnine here yesterday. Dr. Grant was called in and administered antidotes and, so far as the poison was concerned, saved his life. After he had partially recovered he talked wildly, saying that 'they were after him; that he did not want to return to Arizona.' He had only been in this camp three or four days. He had about $300 in gold notes, half of which it took to pay his doctor bill." On the 12th we learn that after paying the above and other bills, Neal, who was evidently deranged in his mind, started off over the hills to the northward, and nothing has been seen of him since, and the presumption is that he has perished. We have not heard whether anyone looked after him or not.

Dances.

The Dancing Club gave their first assembly on Wednesday evening, and had a good time, save some of the wickedest didn't feel sure but that the turmoil of the elements, at its hight at the time, might possibly have a personal reference, particularly those blinding flashes of lightning....On the following night Co. D gave an elegant ball and supper at the Hospital building at the Post. We are told officers and men looked remarkably fine in their new regulation uniforms, and all exerted themselves to make the occasion pleasant for numerous citizen guests and all.

Getting Ready for Work.

John Simpson is in Cerro Gordo getting ready for active work on his 3,000 foot tunnel, the Potosi and Alpha. Jas. Brady, who recently sold his interest in the above enterprise to Simpson and others, arrived in Cerro Gordo late last week, and with Thos. Hardy, one of the purchasers, has gone to take a look at Waucoba.

Fatal Mining Accident.

John Pulk received fatal injuries from a cave of about 500 pounds o rock, in the Bullion mine, Cerro Gordo on the 7th instant. He died on the third day after the accident. He wa about 35 or 40 years of age, and a native of the State of Mississippi.

Thunder and Lightning.

Wednesday night we had some of the loudest, most ear splitting thunder and keenest flashes of lightning we have seen south of Snake River. The air seemed to be full of electricity close to the ground. One party got a slight shock as the fluid played about some tools in his cabin. There was quite a fall of rain at the same time.

Pay Up.

The amounts subscribed to the Panamint Toll Road have been due and payable since the 15th instant. Everybody, therefore, who has not already paid is requested to do so at once to Harris & Rhine. There has already been paid out by this firm a larger amount than has been collected.

Stoves

George Stevens has just received a fine lot of parlor, cooking and other stoves and tinware, and, for the cash, will sell a first choice of either or all just as cheap as any reasonable person could ask. Better come and see him before the weather gets too rough.

Preaching.

There will be preaching at Lone Pine at 11 A. M.; George's Creek 3 P. M., and this place 7 P. M. to-morrow.

Affairs at Lone Pine.

During a very brief visit to Lone Pine the other evening we noted these facts: The school house is to be fitted with a fine toned (as we took occasion to find out), 150 pound bell, and the first tower bell in the county. Its cost, with wheel and hangings, was only $90 and freight. A detached tower is being erected upon which to hang it....Dr. Gelcich is erecting a new building for County Hospital purposes....V. Hoff proposes soon to close out his Lone Pine branch store, but will enlarge that at Cerro Gordo. On account of school advantages for his children his family will take up their residence at San Jose....C. & M. Cohn have just received a large stock and variety of Winter goods, particularly for ladies' wear. There isn't a dear ducky, married or single, but can find something there especially suited to her tastes and needs —at least she would think so however the old curmudgeon at home might differ with her...Mrs. Barry of the Lone Pine Hotel, and Eames of the Orleans and stage house, both keep excellent houses and seem to be doing well—anyway, they both look smiling and complacent. We also dropped in on a granger or two in the vicinity, and observe that they are taking hold as if they thought of making permanent homes. In the way of improvements worth a notice, and which by an accident escaped it at the proper time, is one at A. H. Johnson's: its a boy and joined the Grange, September 4.

Didn't Organize.

Owing to the absence to Panamint and elsewhere of several who proposed to become members of the organization the expected formation of a Lodge of Good Templars did not take place at Lone Pine last Saturday. A strong delegation went down from here to assist in the expected organization. It will take place, however, before a great while we do not doubt.

Catholic Services.

The President of the Santa Barbara College, Rev. Father O'Keefe, is now in Lone Pine on a pastoral visit to this county. He will visit Cerro Gordo and this place to baptise children, receive confessions and perform marriage ceremonies. We are not advised as to the time of these visits. He holds services in Lone Pine to-day and to-morrow.

Quick Time.

Letters come from San Francisco via the Northern route pretty quick these days. It has happened a number of times lately that letters and papers from San Francisco arrive here on the third morning following the starting time, or less than sixty hours.

Road Sold.

As we learn by a deed on file in the Clerk's office, H. A. Jones has purchased the toll road running into Panamint, paying therefor the sum of $30,000.

To Meet.

Let those interested not forget that the District and County Courts, Grand Jury and Board of Supervisors meet Monday, November 2.

Quarterly Meeting.

The Quarterly Meeting of the M. E. Church for this district will take place at Bishop Creek, beginning on Saturday, Oct. 24.

OUR BENTON LETTER.

BENTON, Oct. 15.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—It is with the greatest of pleasure that we inform your readers through the columns of your worthy little paper that Mr. Sanguinetti's partner has his right, title and interest in the business heretofore known by the firm name of Hightower & Sanguinetti, to John A. Creaser, for the sum of $6,500, and gave possession last Saturday, the 10th.

SUNDAY

was celebrated by the new firm by giving lunch and lager, which flowed freely. Everybody "eat, drank and were merry," and strange, but nevertheless true, nobody was "seriously drunk or beastly hurt."

SOLD AGAIN.

Mr. J. B. Sanguinnetti sold his interest in the above mentioned business to Mr. Creaser, who is now sole proprietor. Mr. Creaser is well known in this part of the country as a freighter, and is liked by everybody, therefore it is not necessary that he should ask the public for a liberal share of their patronage.

PERSONAL.

Messrs. Thompson and Wickland returned from San Francisco by way of the Yosemite last week. Capt. D. B. Akey, an old resident of this place, arrived Saturday evening from Salt Lake City. SNOB.

San Francisco Officials.

The examination of the thrifty Deputy Assessors of San Francisco was commenced in the Police Court a few days ago. Capt. Lees was examined and produced documentary evidence tending to confirm the most damaging statements made by the press in regard to the depredations of those fast young men. The people of San Francisco were a little startled when the frauds were discovered in the License Collector's office, and were more amused than grieved at the petty pilfering of their Coroner; but the poll tax robbery has raised them straight up in their boots, and they propose to go through every department of the city government, and to discover, if possible, just how much of their money has gone into the pockets of private individuals.

Kendall.

Congressman Kendall of Nevada who, previous to the salary grab, at least, had a great many friends of both parties in this section, did a deed the other night which causes him to be the best damned man, among Democrats and Independents, especially, ever on the coast. They can find no words sufficiently strong to express their contempt for him. As might reasonably have been expected, the Democratic State Convention justly enough threw him overboard as a candidate to succeed himself. At the ratification meeting, which took place in Virginia on the night of the 8th, Kendall asked leave to speak and help "ratify." This he did with a vengeance. Such a scene was probably never before witnessed at a political meeting. He stood up as a leader and representative of a party. He was forced to sit down or quit the rostrum because, in the most emphatic language he denounced the platform of that party a bilk, a fraud and a swindle in its every plank, and the candidates standing upon it as villains and traitors! It was a queer method of "ratifying," sure enough, and he was forced in peril of his life to quit. He then took his station on another rostrum near by and continued his address until the dry-goods box upon which he stood was knocked from under him. His life was considered in great danger, but he had many substantial friends about him, and got off in safety. The Democrats and Independents say it was Sharon's gold which made him a traitor, and both parties vie with each other in trying to call him the hardest names.

Plant Trees.

We are reminded by the remarks of a cotemporary that there is a law in existence which provides that the Board of Supervisors shall pay to every person who plants trees at the side of the road one dollar for each tree, after it has been planted four years and is in a thriving condition. We presume this law is known to but very few persons residing in country places, or certainly more trees would be planted. If this plan could be generally adopted it would affect a vast change in the aspect of the country; instead of a miserable, sandy road, with the sun pouring its hot beams upon the defenceless heads of travelers, we should in a few years have a pleasant road sheltered on either side; and even if they were of no other benefit, there would be a certain amount of value in every tree if only for firewood.

Boys Using Tobacco.

A strong and sensible writer says a good, sharp thing, and a true one, too, for boys who use tobacco: "It has utterly spoiled and ruined thousands of boys. It tends to the softening and weakening of the bones, and it greatly injures the brain, the spinal marrow and the whole nervous fluid. A boy who smokes early and frequently, or in any way uses large quantities of tobacco, is never known to make a man of energy, and generally lacks muscular and physical as well as mental power. 'We would particularly warn boys, who want to be anything in the world, to shun tobacco as a most baneful poison.'

All After Him.

McDonald of The Oregon Statesman, who has been in at the funeral of more newspapers than Uncle Pickering's graveyard will hold; Bishop of The Oakland Transcript, who can write more and say less than any other editor in the State, and George of The San Francisco Post, who is the only communist we ever heard of who had the cheek to play at editor of a Democratic newspaper, are all yelping at the heels of Samuel Seabough editor of The Sacramento Union, and, strange as it may appear, Sam does not seem disturbed.—[Los Angeles Express.

The Sun's Crust.

Prof. Young has put forth a very novel theory as regards the construction of the exterior of the sun. He says that there can be but little doubt that Fave, Secchi and others, who hold that the sun is mainly gaseous, are correct; while at the same time, the phenomena of the eruptions which are always occuring on the surface, as seen with a telescope, establish ideas that there is a crust of some kind that restrains the imprisoned gases. Prof. Young states that this crust may consist of a more or less continuous sheet of descending rain—not of water of course, but of materials whose vapors are known to exist in the solar atmosphere. As this tremendous rain descends, the velocity of all the falling drops would be retarded by the resistance of the denser gases underneath, and the drops would eventually coalesce until a continuous sheet would result, and several of these sheets uniting would form a sort of bottomless ocean, resting upon the compressed vapors below, and pierced by innumerable jets and bubbles.

—A company has been formed to work the sulphur deposits at White Island, a marine volcano, 140 miles from Auckland, New Zealand. It is estimated that over 100,000 tons of sulphur, in an almost pure state, are lying on the island ready for shipment.

False Tongue.

No doubt everybody thinks he knows what we mean by this heading. But what we do mean is a disease by that name, several cases of which have occurred on Tule river. The patient is taken with itching on the under side, at the root of the tongue, from which, we are informed, commences the growth of a fungus resembling a tongue, which soon fills the mouth and protrudes from it, causing suffocation and death in a few days unless relief is obtained. Dr. Henrahon has had several bad cases. The fungus being burned away with caustic, in one instance, the tongue is said to have grown two inches in an hour. As this disease is new to almost every one, we hope some of our physicians will give us a description of it for publication.—[Visalia Delta.

Advertising.

The American Newspaper Reporter hits the nail on the head when it says that there is a manly style of solicitation, a certain modest assurance about a well-written and honest advertisement which naturally attracts. It is this very need of a frank, off-hand integrity in the making of advertisements that creates the opinion among advertisers that a man should write his own advertisements. He is the only one who really knows what he wants to do and to say, and if he undertakes to do it simply and fairly he is apt to succeed.

—Four doctors tickled Johnny Smith, they blistered and they bled him; with squills and anti-bilious pills and ipecac they fed him. They stirred him up with calomel, and tried to move his liver. But all in vain! His little soul was wafted o'er the river.

BOOKS.

GOOD BOOKS BY POST.

OUR POSTAL FACILITIES ARE NOW SO great that a considerable portion of the new books which find their way to the hands of readers do so through the mails. The cost for postage is so trifling that it is of no consequence compared with the desire to possess a really good book. We publish below a list of good books which may be ordered from this office at the price given, and received by an early post:

The Carriage Painter's Manual. Containing a treatise on the art, science and mystery of coach, carriage and car painting. Fine gilding, bronzing, staining, varnishing, polishing, copying, lettering, scrolling and ornamenting. $1.

How to Paint. For mechanics, merchants, farmers, and a guide to the professional painter. Methods in plain and fancy painting. Including gilding, bronzing, staining, graining, marbling, varnishing, polishing, kalsimining, paper hanging, striping, lettering, copying and ornamenting, mixing paint, tools required, etc. $1.

Life at Home; or The Family and its Members. Husbands, wives, parents, children, brothers, sisters. Rev. Wm. Aikman, D. D. $1 50.

Hopes and Helps for the Young of Both Sexes. Formation of character, choice of avocation, health, amusement, music, conversation, cultivation of intellect, moral sentiment, social affection, courtship and marriage. $1 50.

Wedlock; or The Right Relations of the Sexes. Laws of conjugal selection; showing who may and who may not marry. Wells. $1 50.

Oratory--Sacred and Secular. Or the extemporaneous speaker. Including a chairman's guide, for conducting public meetings. Pittenger. $1 50

The Temperance Reformation; its history from the first temperance society in the United States to the adoption of the Maine Liquor Law. By Rev. J. Armstrong. $1 50.

Gems of Goldsmith. "The Traveler," "The Deserted Village," "The Hermit." With notes and original illustrations, and biographical sketch of the great author. One vol. 14mo; tinted paper, fancy cloth. Price $1.

Family Physician. A ready prescriber and hygenic adviser. With reference to the nature, causes, prevention and treatment of diseases, accidents, and casualities of every kind. By Joel Shew, M. D. $4.

Hydropathic Encyclopædia. A system of Hydropathy and Hygiene. Embracing outlines of anatomy and physiology; the preservation of health; special pathology, including the nature, causes, treatment and symptoms of all known diseases. Designed as a guide to families and students, and text book for physicians. By Trall. $4 50.

Children; Their Management in Health and Disease. A descriptive practical work. $1 75.

Family Gymnasium. Containing the most approved methods of applying gymnastic, calisthenic, kinespathic, and vocal exercises to the development of the bodily organs. By Dr. Trall. $1 75.

The Alcoholic Controversy. A review of The Westminster Review on the Pysiological Errors of Teetotalism. By R. T. Trall, M. D. 50 cents.

Annuals of Phrenology and Physiognomy. One yearly 12mo volume. Price 25 cents for the current year. For 1865, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, nine, containing over 350 illustrations, many portraits and biographies of distinguished personages, together with articles on "How to Study Phrenology," "Bashfulness," "Diffidence," "Stammering," "The Marriage of Cousins," "Jealousy; its cause and cure," etc., the nine in one volume. $2.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SOLDIERS' WAR CLAIM AGENCY,

No. 34 Montgomery Block,

San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, will give prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1861 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1856, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection Business. n214m6

PUMPS, ETC.

THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.

San Francisco, Cal.

THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celbrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.

Redwood,

Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.

Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cured by Radway's Ready Resolvent.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 18, 1869

DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended; but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

LITERARY.

Prospectus for 1874—Seventh Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

NOT FOR SALE IN BOOK OR NEWS STORES.

THE ALDINE, WHILE ISSUED WITH ALL THE regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centers of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates" is rapidly yielding to a more discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality, with greater facility for production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attraction any of its predecessors.

PREMIUMS FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1874, will receive pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thos. Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives the Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The differences in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12x16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20, 1874.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & CO.,

Gentleman—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings. Very respectfully

(Signed,) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with material of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American painter, and presented to subscribers to the first successful American Art Journal. If no better because of all this they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free at New York Office.

For 50 cents extra the chromos will be sent mounted, varnished and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate: cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

AS THE HARVEST IS NOW APPROACHING, I earnestly ask the farmers to look well to the cleaning of their wheat, especially to keeping it as it is impossible to clean it out by any machinery that has ever been invented, and I cannot make good flour out of wheat that has sand and gravel in it.

Clear of Sand and Gravel,

Having clothed my bolt reel with a

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.

2. If subscribers wish their papers discontinued, publishers may continue to send them until all charges are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office or place where they are sent, they are held responsible until they settle their bill and give notice to discontinue them.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the paper is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible. Notice of removal should always be given.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take a paper or periodical from the office or removing and leaving it uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

The Apartments of Queen Victoria at Windsor Castle.

The Waterloo chamber is 98 feet long, 45 feet high and 47 broad. It is lighted by a lantern of ground glass, extending the whole length of the room, and is divided into five compartments by light, graceful arches. At each end of the room there are galleries for musicians, formed of richly carved oak. The walls and ceilings are decorated in white and gold relief with armorial bearings, and inserted in the paneling around the room are portraits of all the eminent men who were connected with the battle of Waterloo. Lions, mask and grotesque heads holding wreaths of flowers and fruits embellish all the moulding, and the doors, mantel pieces and picture frames are adorned with beautiful wood carving by Gibbons. The carpet is dark maroon, paneled and figured with the stars of the military and civil orders of the Bath, and the furniture is of oak (corresponding with the style of the room), covered over with crimson velvet. The presence chamber is 90 feet long, 23 feet high and 35 feet broad; an immense Gothic window forms almost one entire end of the room, and commands an extensive view of the park and adjacent country. The style of the room is that of Louis XIV, and the workmanship is admirable. The ceiling is a marvel of beauty as are also the cornices, which are ornamented by scroll work of the most exquisite description. Large, richly carved doors open into the throne room, the Waterloo gallery and the banqueting hall. The walls are hung with six superb specimens of Gobelein tapestry, representing the history of Jason and the Golden Fleece. Splendid looking-glasses occupy other portions of the room. Four chandeliers of ormulu, interspersed with cut-glass branches and pendants are suspended from the ceiling. The floor is of oak, parget, the oak being inlaid with fleur de lis in ebony. The furniture is solidly gilt and very gorgeous. At one end of the room there is a large malachite vase which was presented to Queen Victoria by Emperor Nicholas of Russia. The banqueting hall is 200 feet long, 32 feet high and 34 broad. On one side of the room there are thirteen large windows, and opposite them there are recesses containing life size portraits of the last seven sovereigns of England. In a mystic gallery at one end of the hall there is an organ, and under, upon a dais, is the Queen's chair of state, made in imitation of the coronation chair at Westminster Abbey. In the space between the portraits there are large brass shields, with the cross of Saint George and the Garter motto, brackets supporting lamps projecting from each side of the shields, and above them are steel helmets with crossed spears. The ceiling is almost entirely covered with shields emblazoned with the armorial bearings of the Knights of the Garter, from the institution of the Order down to the present time—a period of about 500 years. The names of the knights are painted between the panels of the windows, and to each of them is affixed a number corresponding to that attached to the arms on the ceiling. On each side of the window there are two knights (in stucco) in complete armor. The furniture, of which there is very little, the hall being very seldom used, is of oak, covered with crimson velvet, and the carpet is an oak pattern in small panels, with the cross in the center and a rich border of the Garter and motto. In one of the departments we were shown an ebony cabinet, inlaid with onyx, which had belonged to Mary Queen of Scots, and two large tables of solid silver, one of which had been owned by Charles II, and a portrait, by Rembrandt, of the famous Count of Desmond, at the age of 120.

A Ship's History.

The "Harriet Lane," a once well known United States steam revenue cutter, transformed into a trim sailing vessel, is taking cotton at Galveston for Providence, R. I. She appeared in Galveston harbor in the Fall of 1862, after the city had been abandoned by the Confederrtes. On the first of January, 1863, the rebel Gen. Magruder retook Galveston after a fierce and bloody fight, and captured the Union garrison, the Harriet Lane and other vessels. Her first lieutenant received his death wound in a hand to hand encounter with a Confederate officer, and was recognized in his dying moments by his father, a Confederate staff officer, who had not seen or heard of him for many months. One of the crew, armed with a cutlass, rushed at one of the boarders, a Texan ranger, who lowered his shot-gun, and, as each was about to strike, they recognized each other as brothers, long separated. The leaders in the fight are dead, and the vessel on whose deck they struggled so fiercely now returns to Galveston, after eleven years' absence, on a peaceful commercial mission.

A Spelling Lesson.

[From The New York World.]

The most skillful gauger I ever knew was a maligned cobbler, armed with a poniard and ferule, who drove a peddler's wagon, using a mullen stalk as an instrument of coercion, to tyrannize over his pony shod with calks. He was a Galilean Sadducee, and he had a phthisicky catarrh, diptheria, and the bilious intermittent erysipelas. A certain sibyl, with the sobriquet of "Gypsy," went into ecstacies of cachinnation at seeing him measure out a bushel of peas, taking up two peas at a time, and try to separate saccharine tomatoes from a heap of peeled potatoes without dyeing or singeing the ignitible queue which he wore, or becoming paralyzed with a hemorrhage. Lifting her eyes to the ceiling of the cupola of the capitol to conceal her unparalleled embarrassment, making an awkward courtesy, and not harassing him with mystifying, rarefying and stupefying inuendoes, she gave him a conch, a bouquet of lilies, mignonnette and fuchsias, a treatise on mnemonics, a copy of the Apocrypha in hieroglyphics, daguerreotypes of Mendelssohn and Kosciusko, a kaleidoscope, a dram vial of ipecacuanha, a teaspoonful of naptha, for deleble purposes, a ferrule for a cane, a clarionet, some licorice, a surcincle, a carnelian of symmetrical proportions, a chronometer with a moveable balance-wheel, a box of dominoes and a catechism. The gauger, who was also a trafficking rectifier and a parishioner of mine, preferring a woolen surtout (his choice was referable to a vacillating and occasionally occurring idiosyncrasy), wofully uttered this apothegm: "Life is checkered; but schism, apostasy, heresy and villainy shall be punished." The sibyl apologizingly answered: "There is a ratable and allegeable difference between a conferrable ellipsis and a trisyallable diæresis." We replied in trochees, not impugning her suspicion, nor haranguing the audience. Thus "Gypsy" remained in the ascendant. Her ascendancy can never again be queried by any queasy, vulgar quean.

Eugenie in Retreat.

The chateau of Arenenberg, where the Empress and the Prince Imperial have recently been sojourning, is, a Paris paper says, situated on a slope most picturesquely situated amongst lovely plantations. On one side the view extends to the Isle of Reichenau, with its vineyards and cottages; at the other the Rhine is sighted at the horizon where it rushes forward from the Schaffhausen Fall, encircling a most splendid landscape with its blue streak. Nothing has been changed in the little chateau since it was tenanted by Queen Hortense, who made it a sanctuary of arts and a Napoleonic museum. He who was to be Napoleon III was exceedingly fond of this place. Thence he started without the knowledge of his mother, for the Strasbourg adventure, and thither he repaired in 1837 to hear the last words of the dying Queen. The Prince Imperial has turned his last vacation to good account for gymnastic sport, in which he excels. He is both a daring rider and swimmer, and delights in many miles of pedestrian excercise, during which his companions can scarcely keep up with him. The Empress continues to wear deep mourning in woolen. Many old and loyal friends paid their homage to the mother and son at Arenenberg.

Death of Jeff. Standifer.

Through G. M. Smith, who arrived in this city yesterday, we learn of the death of Jeff. Standifer, at Fort Steele, Wyoming, on September 30. He had been complaining for some time, and was under the impression that the time had come for him to pass in his checks, and travel the road over which he had sent many a pesky red-skin. Jeff. was a noted plainsman, and his name is as familiar as a household word from the Missouri river to the Pacific ocean. He was a great Indian fighter, scout and mining explorer, and has figured very conspicuously in the history of the Rocky mountains for many years. He was engaged as a scout by the Big Horn Expedition, but after being out for a short time was compelled, through weakness and debility, to return to Fort Steele, where he lingered till death relieved him from earthly care. He informed the correspondent of The Tribune, who accompanied the Big Horn Expedition, that he should never recover from his sickness, and he would die with a full head of hair. Peace to his 'mains.—[Salt Lake Tribune, Oct. 6.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.;

THE ELECTIONS.

The Democrats have made considerable gains in the recent elections East. In Indiana they have a majority of two in the House. The Senate is yet in doubt, with the chances that the Independents (3) will hold the balance of power. In the House there are nine Independents. The Congressional delegation stands: Democrats, 8; Republicans, 5. This is the latest and complete returns.

Returns in full from seventy-eight counties in Ohio indicate a Democratic majority in that State of 20,000. They will have thirteen Congressmen out of twenty.

Iowa returns all Republican Congressmen, with an average majority in the State of 40,000. Nebraska likewise returns all Republicans, who carry the State with a majority of about 1,500. The Democrats gain ten members in these four States.

In Arkansas the returns from fourteen additional counties indicate a majority for the Democrats of 75,000.

Railroad and Telegraph.

The prospects are that the Southern Pacific Railroad will be immediately finished to Tehechepi, twenty miles south of Bakersfield. This will leave an interval of only 98 miles to span to make the connection of the Los Angeles branch at San Fernando. The Los Angeles Herald says that this portion of the route will be definitely located at once, and when that is done that the Atlantic and Pacific telegraph company will extend their wires to Los Angeles, and thus break up the grinding monopoly now held, used and abused by the Western Union. That in a few months longer the people of Los Angeles will have an opportunity to do their telegraphing at reasonable rates. It is also stated that R. R. Haines is surveying a route for a telegraph line from Los Angeles to Panamint in the interest of the Western Union.

Lincoln Statue Unveiled.

At Springfield, Ill., the statue of Lincoln was unveiled with suitable ceremonies and a dignified attendance. The President, Secretary of War, Governor of Illinois, prominent clericals, several eminent members of the British Parliament, Gen. Sherman, Generals of the United States army, Senators of the United States, and a vast number of eminent citizens were in the procession. There were 25,000 persons present at the unveiling ceremonies. President Grant read a speech of some length on the occasion.

Fast Enough.

The other day a party of railroad officials at Clinton, Iowa, started for Chicago on a special train, the conductor of which had positive orders to make the run as quickly as possible. The distance to be traveled was 138 miles, and the train reached Chicago in just two hours and thirty-three minutes. Six stops were made, consuming not less than fifteen minutes, which leaves the actual running time 138 minutes—a mile a minute for the whole distance, the fastest railroading on record for such a long run.

An Important Discovery.

An asbestos mine of apparently great extent has been discovered near San Fernando. The uses of asbestos are many, but its chief value lies in its incombustibility, which renders it a most eligible material wherewith to construct the grave clothes of wicked people. An asbestos shroud could be warranted to withstand the most fervent heat capable of being registered by an earthly pyrometer, and therefor it is needless to dilate upon the utility of such a garment.

Lively Times.

Virginia City just now is said to be the liveliest town on the continent. Stocks are up and everybody is happy. There never were half so many people on the Comstock before. It is estimated that Storey county will poll 8,000 votes at the coming election.

San Bernardino.

The Argus says that not less than one hundred buildings are going up in San Bernardino at the present time also: "More departures for Panamint and all teams which can be procured are brought into requisition."

CONCERNING GRANGE AFFAIRS.

Elsewhere will be found a synopsis of the proceedings of the State Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry.

We will remark that we cannot tell from anything appearing in the published reports whether the party whose name is italized among the members of the very important Immigration Committee is that of J. H. Earl, of San Francisco, and one of the managers of the Grangers' State Bank, or is that of our own Josiah. It is quite possible that it is the latter as he was, at last accounts, making himself quite conspicuous in the order over there; and moreover, the position is one to which, in all likelihood, he would naturally aspire, since, as active agent for incoming colonies he would have to hunt up and dispose of lands in considerable bodies; and if he had to purchase these of the large land owners instead of obtaining them by some grabbing scheme, it is not at all likely he would lose much. But we are told that notwithstanding he is a charter Master of our local Grange, he is not sufficiently advanced in the order to be entitled to a place in the State Grange. We hope this is the case for this reason: That we do not like to see an order whose fight in good part is identically the same as our own, likewise that of our junior in the Legislature last Winter, and an order with which we have always been in full sympathy and accord in every object both local and national as we understand them, placed in any degree under the management of the man against whose openly acknowledged efforts and principles the Grangers' fight and our fight has been and is to be made. We can imagine nothing more inconsistent for an anti-monopoly, anti-land grabbing organization to do than to loan in anyway its own good name to those who, there is every reason to believe, will use it as a lever to forward the very schemes which are the society's mission to avert. Just this mistake was made by our local Grange here in the outset, The circumstances which brought it about, we are now told, were peculiar, almost unavoidable and therefore, excusable. We intimated last week, referring to Mr. Earl, that "we did not know when the sale would take place," rendered possible by the prestige for which he had planned and secured in the Mastership of the Independence Grange. The simple and only intended meaning of this is, that he cannot ride two horses, going in opposite directions, at the same time; in other words, Mr. Earl cannot be a Granger, and a land grabbing schemer and railroad striker at the same time without, in some way or how, selling out one or the other or both.

Since the above was in type we find the subjoined in The S. F. Chronicle of the 15th:

The Committee on Immigration met yesterday at headquarters. It consists of seven members. Three of those—Josiah Earl, O. L. Abbott and —— Dean were present; the others were represented by proxy. The business of the Committee is to assist Grangers of other States to get homes in California by furnishing all essential information. Mr. Earl was appointed agent of the Committee, and will take entire charge of the work in this locality. Mr. Abbott will act as Corresponding Secretary and will furnish all who desire to come to this coast, or those lately arrived, with details of soil climate and available localities. The agricultural population of this State is increased about one thousand weekly by the arrival of immigrants.

Adios, Stanford! You're a gone monop. now since Josiah has dropped you, and is striving to be born again.

Gen. Sherman's Son-in-law.

Thomas W. Fitch is a young man of about medium height, his face is a good one but not all a handsome-looking one. His features are rather prominent. He has a sentimentally pale complexion, rendered more pale in comparison with his jet black hair and moustache. He is in the neighborhood of thirty years of age. He is very plain in his style of dress and manners, and is the furtherest possible removed from a society exquisite as you could well imagine. He is not a young man of means, and has no other resources beyond the pay of his profession and this marriage. His position in the navy is that of second assistant engineer. He was appointed in the navy upon the 23d of June, 1863. He has been ten years in continuous service since that time, several years of which have been spent in foreign ports. He returned from his last cruise on the 6th of October last year. He may be regarded as well established in life since this marriage, as Gen. Sherman is going to set the young man up in business in St. Louis, where the Sherman family are at once going to reside. Gen. Sherman is reputed to be worth upward of $200,000 and he will advance young Fitch $30,000 with which to begin operations in St. Louis. Fitch is going to establish there a wire rope manufactory. As it is said that there is now only one establishment of this nature in the country, it would seem that he might do well.—[S. F. Bulletin.

Meeting of the State Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry.

[From The S. F. Bulletin.]

The annual session of the State Grange of the order of Patrons of Husbandry commenced in Stockton on the 7th instant. * *

On motion the following committees were appointed:

On Credentials—Haile, Baxter and Davis.

On Order of Business—Wright, Spencer, Sims, Colby and Manlove.

After adjournment the roll was called and credentials presented. Eighty Masters and seven Past Masters and twenty-seven Matrons were present. [Also about 1,000 members from all parts of the State.]

The afternoon and evening meetings were held with closed doors. On the second day,

Reports from the Worthy Secretary, the State Grange Agent, the Worthy Lecturer, the Manager of the Dairy Produce Department, and the Secretary of the Grangers' Fruit Association were received and referred to the appropriate committees.

The Worthy Master appointed the following committees:

On Commercial Relations—Shinn, Dean and Leonard.

On Co-operation and Transportation—Bockius, Eckson and Cutler.

On Education and Labor—Matrons Carr and Dean and Mr. Meyer.

On State University—Wright, Abbott and Baxter.

On motion Mr. Earl was added to the Committee on Immigration.

J. G. Gardner, Chaplain of the State Grange, tendered his resignation which was accepted.

At the evening session Secretary Baxter concluded his report by reading the names of persons who had been expelled from Sub-Granges during the year. Total, 11.

The Committee on Immigration was then announced as follows: Abbott, Earl, Spencer, Carrington and Dean.

On Legislation—Spencer, Coe, Merry, Inman and Haile.

Moved and carried that two be added to the Committee on Co-operation and Transportation. Wolf and Inman were so appointed.

Moved and carried that a Committee on National Finance be appointed. No appointments announced.

On motion of Mr. Colby, Fraternal Delegate from Oregon, offerred the following resolution which, under a suspension of the rules, was carried unanimously:

Resolved, That we most heartily indorse the house of E. E. Morgan's Sons for their valuable services in the past in behalf of the Patrons of Husbandry of this State and Oregon, and that we most earnestly recommend them as entitled to our fullest confidence and patronage in the future.

"No Policy."

[From The Reese River Reveille, Oct. 15.]

That there is "no policy" in the political parties of the present needs no further evidence than the result of the Ohio election. The State has gone Democratic by from 10,000 to 15,000 majority, the principal issue involved being an expansion of the currency, for which the result of this election is a triumph. That is Democracy in Ohio! Now suppose that in California or Nevada, either the Republicans or Democrats should frame a platform containing a plank favoring an enlargement of the volume of currency—which means that the time for the resumption of specie payments should be placed in an indefinite future—what would be the result? Simply this: That the party favoring such a measure would be beaten out of sight. This only proves that there is no general political issue now before the people of the country; and that what is Democracy or Republicanism in Ohio, is not Democracy or Republicanism in California or Nevada; and that existing political parties in the different States cannot make common cause within their own ranks.

The question of temperance also entered largely into the contest, the Democratic platform being anti-temperance; and as the straight-laced Republicans were in favor of total abstinence and female crusaders, a large portion of the German vote, which has hitherto been Republican, was thus gained by the Democracy, which, we suppose, accounts for the remark by The Cincinnati Enquirer, that the Democracy is indebted for its triumph to the aid of men who have heretofore been opponents.

Another Virginia City.

The following is an extract from a Panamint letter to The San Bernardino Argus: Trails and roads are being built to the mills, grading for mill-sites and improvements generally are the order of the day, and indeed your correspondent, with much experience, has never been in a more lively camp, and a future is predicted that it will be second to none, not even Virginia City. The mines look exceedingly well, showing as fine-looking ore as is ever seen for such large veins, varying as they do from 3 feet to 13 or 14 feet. The town site is about 5,000 feet above the level of the sea, and the mines vary from six to eight thousand feet above the same base. The climate is delightful. Snow does not remain in the valley but a very short time, and is rarely more than twelve inches deep. A few days since there was a very heavy shower lasting some hours. We have to look out for water spouts, and should one occur, away goes our town. Lumber is scarce and commands a high price. Arrivals are daily, and among the number are some familiar faces from San Bernardino.

Getting Warm.

Politics are getting hot in Arizona. Hon. O. T. Hayden, after announcing himself and then withdrawing, now again announces himself as a candidate for Congress. D. G. Beardsley, the workingmen's candidate for Congress, who has for some time remained quiet, has again started out.

Pacific Coast:

The anniversary of the admission of Nevada into the Union will be appropriately celebrated in Virginia City on on the 31st instant.

Hogle, the Republican nominee for State Treasurer of Nevada, has withdrawn his name from the ticket; and George Tufly of Carson is substituted.

Over 1,000 men are employed on the Palace hotel, San Francisco. The third story of the immense structure is almost finished. The aggregate pay roll amounts to $20,000 per week.

The lumbermen around Lake Tahoe talk of forming a combination to protect their mutual intersts.

Calaveras county has a total indebtedness of $213,553, and a total property valuation of $1,683,166.

A man named S. M. Comfort, an employee at Bradford & Way's lumber mills, Tuolumne county, was caught between the ends of two saw-logs on the 9th insant, and died of his injuries shortly after in terrible agony.

Columbus Items.

[From The Columbus Miner, Oct. 17.]

A tremendous cloud-burst occurred on the Owens River side of the White Mountains, between Costello's and Hutchison's Canyon, on last Wednesday night. The water ran past McBride's ranch for over eight hours on Thursday. No great damage was done, a former wash having cut out a channel for the waters. The slight damage done to Costello's toll road has been repaired.

By reference to the Democratic State and County ticket, published elsewhere, it will be seen that there have been three changes made since our last issue, viz: A. H. Willis, of Storey county, for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, vice E Spencer; Wm. W. Barnes, for the Assembly, vice J. N. Mann; and Henry Kever for Public Administrator.

The rains of the past few days have completely flooded Teel's Marsh, so that all teams are compelled to go entirely around. The Aurora stage was two hours in crossing, the time usually being from fifteen to twenty minutes. Roscoe, with a large load of hay on his back action outfit, is at Frazir's, making preparations to try and pull around the marsh.

Up to date the number of voters registered in Columbus precinct is one hundred and twenty-four, which will probably be increased by fifteen or twenty names before the registry lists are closed.

Frank Cluggage will soon put on a line of stages from Jefferson Canyon (near Belmont) to run by way of Cloverdale, Rhoades' Marsh and Belleville, to Columbus.

The all-absorbing topic of the past week—rivalling even the political situation—has been the definite location of the Northern Belle mill. The new town of Belleville is situated thirteen miles nearly north of Columbus, and one hundred and twenty-five miles from Wadsworth, at the junction of the roads leading from Soda Springs to Columbus and Teel's Marsh with the road leading from Rhoades & Wasson's through the White Mountain pass to Owens River Valley. The Northern Belle Mill and Mining Company have fixed on this site as the place for erecting their reduction works, consisting of a twenty-stamp mill, furnaces, etc. During the week many loads of lumber, tools, mechanics and workmen have been taken to Belleville. The number of men in the employ of the company for this new enterprise is about thirty. Fifty or sixty more will be set to work as soon as they can be obtained.

The L. A. & I. R. R.

We are glad to learn that the leading spirits in this place of the Los Angeles & Inyo Railroad project have aroused to the fact that it is necessary to take immediate steps to place this great enterprise upon its feet. The first thing to be done is to establish the lines of connection with the Southern Pacific; then a reliable and accurate survey of the route through the Cajon to the desert must be made before a satisfactory idea can be had of the financial requirements of the road. Engineer Crawford has been instructed by Mr. Temple, President of the company, to take the field with a corps of men, and make the necessary surveys. He will start out Monday, and remain in the field one month. This looks like business.—[Los Angeles Express, Oct. 14.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Supervisorship, 2d District.

At the late regular session of the Board of Supervisors the question was considered about what action should be taken to fill the vacancy that would at the close of that session exist by reason of the expiration of President A. N. Bell's term, member for this, the 2d district. Ordinarily the duty of the Board would have been to have ordered an election, as the law provides. But as there were no other officers to be voted for this year, it was thought several hundred dollars, the cost of a special election, could as well be saved to the county as not and the vacancy yet be legally and satisfactorily filled by appointment by the County Judge on petition. Mr. Bell stated that if no petition was presented asking the appointment of another in his place he would at the proper time resign, and if there was no dissent, accept a re-appointment; that, while he would certainly prefer to retire from the office entirely, he would consent to this arrangement if it would be generally satisfactory; if it was not—if there were any objections whatever—he would not accept another term on any conditions. A number of citizens present as well as the other members of the Board deemed the election unnecessary on account of the expense, and none was ordered. We think this was decidedly the best plan, notwithstanding we are out and injured in the pay for the same amount of printing as for a general election. We also think Mr. Bell's continuance in the office until the next general election would subserve the county's good full as well and probably better than any new man unacquainted with the responsible, and at the same time, thankless and onerous, duties of the place. The period of his incumbancy has thrown a greater responsibility upon the managers of county affairs than will probably ever fall to the lot of their successors, and with actual facts understood, as they are not in some particulars, we are confident the manner in which these duties have been disposed of must be accepted as honorable and creditable, and especially to the only member who has held through from the beginning to what we may consider the end of this peculiar, trying epoch in our county's history. But Mr. Bell is not asking the place again, so let those who wish for a new man get up their petitions ready for presentation by the 2d of next month, now close at hand. One such is now being circulated in favor, we understand, of the appointment of Mr. Joseph Schalten of this place, and another in the upper end of the district, but for whom we have not learned, and therefore have no opinion to offer.

Personals.

P. W. Bennett started for the Eastern States on Thursday, to be gone a couple of months....Superintendent Horn and Agent Novacovich of the Northern stage line are down here overhauling stage matters along the line.... Tom Passmore from the Lake was here admiring things a day or two....As a notable event, J. P. M. Perham put on his hat and rode away off to Bishop and back....Miss Sarah Nichols, niece of John Broder, returned from her long visit to the Eastern States on Thursday....Mrs. McCallum, wife of Hon. Geo. McCallum of the Land Office, arrived from her late home in Sacramento on Tuesday, and will be welcomed as a desirable addition to this society.... From Big Pine and Bishop we note this delegation: Jo Walker, J. W. McMurry and John Bourland, likewise, D. B. Curtis of Butte Ranch.

To Panamint.

Jo Harris of this place and Frank Gross of George's Creek design to build and run a hotel at Panamint. The chances are that they will do well both, particularly Gross, having a good deal of practical knowledge "how to run a hotel."....J. Cohn, of the Post, has been to Los Angeles and purchased material for quite a large building, also a stock of goods, for a store at Panamint, all of which are now en route. He is closing up his business at the Post in view of an immediate change of location....V. G. Thompson, of the Blaney House, left on Friday morning to see "what might be did" in the hotel line in Panamint.

Expected.

Mr. J. L. Beaudry, an ex-Mayor of Montreal, Canada, and a distinguished citizen of that country, is now in Los Angeles on a visit to his brothers Prudent of that city and Victor of Cerro Gordo. He is expected soon to make a visit to the latter place.

Quarterly Meeting.

The Quarterly Meeting of the M. E. church, Rev. Geo. Jennings, Acting Elder, begins at Bishop Creek to-day. In consequence of this there are no appointments for preaching at any of the usual places in this portion of the county for to-morrow.

Gen. Page.

This gentleman, who is spoken of by some of the papers as "Nevada's coming man," paid our place a visit this week. He is credited with having made the ablest speech of the canvass on the occasion of the Republican ratification meeting at Carson on the 15th.

Next is a Newspaper.

As might be expected there is soon to be a newspaper started at Panamint. It is to be by some San Francisco parties, but further we are not prepared to say at this writing.

Panamint Matters.

From E. A. Reddy, just arrived from Panamint, we learn that the machinery for the big mill for that place is beginning to arrive. The Stewart and Jones companies are working every available man (to say nothing about some ninety Chinamen) in the camp in preparing for the mill, building freight and ore roads and upon their mines. The camp displays an extraordinary amount of activity. The number of persons in the camp is about 500 or 600. New arrivals are coming in every day, and building is going on as rapidly as materials can be procured. These articles, machinery and other supplies are now coming in over the San Bernardino road. This road is a heavy one, but teams make the trip in about twelve days. Reddy & McAllister have just completed the largest saloon in the town, and it is literally jammed every night, notwithstanding there are some seven or eight others in the place. This is called the "Independent" saloon, as will be seen by advertisement elsewhere. It is understood in Panamint that Stewart & Jones have sent to Nevada for a number of additional miners, there not being enough in the camp to carry on their work. The road up the canyon, now owned by this company, is greatly improved and is to be made as good as the nature of the ground will possibly admit.

A Stage Line Direct.

We are particularly pleased to be able to announce that Mr. J. G. Dodge, of Lone Pine, is going to establish a regular line of stages direct from that place to Panamint immediately, and over the new road. The first stage will go out next Wednesday. As soon as the necessary preparations can be made the trip will be made through each way in one day. It is quite certain that this line will do a good business, for passengers from San Francisco by either the Bakersfield or Carson routes to this place and Lone Pine can now reach Panamint by this line quite as quick and cheaper than via the ocean route and Los Angeles. It is also quite certain that immediately after the Nevada election (November 3) there will be quite a rush of miners from that State, and this is much their best route.

Another Pioneer Gone.

Death has but just taken for its own another of our pioneers, John Beveridge, of Cerro Gordo, and ere he had yet fairly reached his prime. Though for many years past he has confined his attention exclusively to mining, in which he has accomplished a good deal in the development of Cerro Gordo and the adjacent district of Belmont, the deceased was a man of parts and talents, and had he so willed would doubtless have become a prominent member of the profession for which he was educated, that of a lawyer. But unfortunately for himself and society he had given away to a habit which probably his own death, and certainly has sent to early graves so many of society's brightest ornaments.

Another Notary for Inyo

Gov. Booth has commissioned Cosmo B. Smith as Notary Public for Panamint district. This county is entitled to but five Notaries under the law; the full complement was not long since in commission, but we suppose some of the commissions have expired by limitation or resignation, permitting the second appointment for Panamint, W. C. Smith having not long since received a similar commission for that district; at least we saw a notice of Smith's appointment as such.

Lumber.

As will be seen by notice elsewhere J. B. Steward has purchased A. C. McDonald's interest in the Big Pine saw mill, and is prepared to furnish any quantity of lumber or shingles to order. This mill is doing a big business now, and turning out as soft and nice lumber as this county can produce.

A Mill for Gold Mountain.

Gen. Page informs us that in a very few weeks he will have a fine new mill in full blast at Gold Mountain. It is to have but five stamps, but they weigh 1,000 pounds each, and on the rich ores of that district will doubtless turn out piles of bullion.

To Be Re-Opened.

E. H. Orne has leased and is refitting the Inyo House, and will be prepared to accommodate boarders and travelers from and after the 1st of next month. All who favor Mr. Orne with their custom will find good accommodations and a most pleasant landlord, one who will spare no pains to render perfect satisfaction.

Personal.

We received a call a day or two since from Mr. D. P. Carr, a talented young newspaper man late of Carson, Nevada. Mr. Carr is on his way to Panamint, whence he goes to prospect for something more substantial than newspaper pay, and something less disgusting than Nevada politics.

Granger Agency.

The Grangers, as we understand it, are arranging for a co-operative agency for the disposal of produce, hay and grain, in particular, in the Panamint market. This is no doubt a good plan. Mr. J. B. White goes out there next week to attend to the business as such agent, and is a good man for the place.

For a Mail Route.

Petitions are being circulated, one of which will be found at Harris & Rhine's, praying the immediate establishment of a mail route hence to Panamint. The need of this route is too obvious to need any remarks from us urging all to sign the petition.

Sociable.

A well attended, very pleasant, impromptu dance came off at the Blaney House Thursday evening.

A Good Library.

We notice that P. Reddy, Esq., has lately received a considerable addition to his already large law library. He has now something near 400 volumes of the best standard books procurable—and he did not get them for mere shelf ornaments either.

Harvest Feast at Bishop Creek.

BISHOP CREEK, Oct. 19, 1874.

MESSRS. EDITORS: The day was ushered in by portentous clouds and menacing thunders; gleaming lightnings flashed and rains descended in the forenoon, threatening to saturate the substance from their cherished viands [whose?] en transitu; and mud and water in the roads much impeded locomotion.

Notwithstanding these inauspicious circumstances, the Grange of Patrons of Husbandry met punctually and held a short session at 1 P. M., and soon after set things in order for the feast.

During the interum invited guests convened in goodly numbers. In due time it was announced that all things were ready. The doors of the school house being thrown open it was manifest that the fatted calves, pigs, turkeys and chickens had been killed, stuffed, cooked and there arranged in such dainty style as to be hugely inviting to a hungry and appreciative assembly of ladies and gentlemen. Here were cakes with extensive proportions gracefully embellished with beautiful flowers, also those of lesser dimensions, with pies of divers and sundry kinds, fruits, nuts, candies and other delicacies. In fact, the thought of giving a complete inventory of what was there tires me. Suffice it to say that two tables fairly groaned under their loads of munificent plenteousness! Of course the ladies of Bishop had hands in this. Before partaking, Divine blessing, by invitation, was invoked by Rev. A. Clark.

Soon the process of devouring began. Some present, after a more or less satisfactory practice, were declared entitled to diplomas as dissecting surgeons. Those present who could find time made the occasion pleasant by the exchange of jests and general sociability. After "the multitude was filled" the residue—enough to feed another host—was cared for, as well as the fragments, sufficient to make many a Piute glad because of "heap bogadie."

In the evening the Grange held a short session for the transaction of business, after which those so disposed engaged in the terpsichorean exercise till 12 P. M., when they all went home.

All that was allowed to mar the peace of mind of any was the regret that the invited Patrons and guests from Independence and elsewhere were prevented from attending by the inclemency of the weather. As a guest I feel justified in announcing this first effort of the Bishop Patrons of Husbandry a pleasant success.

PATRON OF GOOD LIVING.

The Franking Privelege.

A Washington dispatch says there is a well organized effort on foot to renew the franking privilege at the forthcoming session of Congress. It is held that, inasmuch as many of the members of the present Congress will not hold in the next, by log-rolling with appropriation bills the votes of nearly all the retiring members can be secured for its renewal. Should this action prove unpopular, as it is believed, the odium will be thrown upon members whose terms have expired. Probably the strongest point which will be made in favor of the revival is the increased expense of the Postoffice Department since the abrogation of the privilege. The forthcoming annual report of the Postmaster-General will show that the expenses of the past fiscal year will exceed those of his previous one over four millions of dollars.

An Opening for an Orphan.

The San Francisco correspondent of The Gold Hill News discourses as follows in relation to Panamint: There is considerable talk about the Panamint mines since Jones returned from there, and not a few believe he is selling Crown Point to make further investments in that county. Frank Pixley has the Panamint fever, and is going down to see what show there is for an orphan boy who has no political relations on the face of the earth. Several other well known parties are preparing for a spring campaign on Panamint.

BOOKS.

GOOD BOOKS BY POST.

OUR POSTAL FACILITIES ARE NOW SO great that a considerable portion of the new books which find their way to the hands of readers do so through the mails. The cost for postage is so trifling that it is of no consequence compared with the desire to possess a really good book. We publish below a list of good books which may be ordered from this office at the price given, and received by an early post:

The Carriage Painter's Manual. Containing a treatise on the art, science and mystery of coach, carriage and car painting. Fine gilding, bronzing, staining, varnishing, polishing, copying, lettering, scrolling and ornamenting. $1.

How to Paint. For mechanics, merchants, farmers, and a guide to the professional painter. Methods in plain and fancy painting. Including gilding, bronzing, staining, graining, marbling, varnishing, polishing, kalsimining, paper hanging, striping, lettering, copying and ornamenting, mixing paint, tools required, etc. $1.

Life at Home; or The Family and its Members. Husbands, wives, parents, children, brothers, sisters. Rev. Wm. Aikman, D. D. $1 50.

Hopes and Helps for the Young of Both Sexes. Formation of character, choice of avocation, health, amusement, music, conversation, cultivation of intellect, moral sentiment, social affection, courtship and marriage. $1 50.

Wedlock; or The Right Relations of the Sexes. Laws of conjugal selection; showing who may and who may not marry. Wells. $1 50.

Oratory—Sacred and Secular. Or the extemporaneous speaker. Including a chairman's guide for conducting public meetings. Pittenger. $1 50

The Temperance Reformation; its history from the first temperance society in the United States to the adoption of the Maine Liquor Law. By Rev. J. Armstrong. $1 50.

Gems of Goldsmith. "The Traveler," "The Deserted Village," "The Hermit." With notes and original illustrations, and biographical sketch of the great author. One vol. 14mo; tinted paper, fancy cloth. Price $1.

Family Physician. A ready prescriber and hygenic adviser. With reference to the nature, causes, prevention and treatment of diseases, accidents, and casualities of every kind. By Joel Shew, M. D. $4.

Hydropathic Encyclopædia. A system of Hydropathy and Hygiene. Embracing outlines of anatomy and physiology; the preservation of health; special pathology, including the nature, causes, treatment and symptoms of all known diseases. Designed as a guide to families and students, and text book for physicians. By Trall. $4 50.

SOLDIERS' WAR CLAIM AGENCY,

No. 34 Montgomery Block,

San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, will give prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1861 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. PUMPS, ETC.

THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.

San Francisco, Cal.

THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celbrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.

Redwood,

Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.

Twenty drops in half a tumblerfull of water will in a few minutes cure CRAMPS, SPASMS, SOUR STOMACH, HEARTBURN, SICK HEADACHE, DIARRHEA, DYSENTERY, COLIC, WIND IN THE BOWELS, and all INTERNAL PAINS.

Travelers should always carry a bottle of Radway's Ready Relief with them. A few drops in water will prevent sickness or pains from change of water. It is better than French Brandy or Bitters as a stimulant.

FEVER AND AGUE.

FEVER AND AGUE cured for fifty cents. There is not a remedial agent in the world that will cure Fever and Ague, and all other malarious, Bilious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow and other Fevers (aided by RADWAY'S PILLS), so quick as RADWAY'S READY RELIEF. Fifty cents per bottle. Sold by Druggists.

HEALTH! BEAUTY!!

SICKNESS AND PURE RICH BLOOD—INCREASE OF FLESH AND WEIGHT—CLEAR SKIN AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION SECURED TO ALL.

DR. RADWAY'S
Sarsaparillian Resolvent

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES; SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the life principle are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional and Skin Diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney and Bladder Complaints, Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the small of the back and along the loins. Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cured by Radway's Ready Resolvent.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 18, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended; but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

LITERARY.

Prospectus for 1874—Seventh Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

NOT FOR SALE IN BOOK OR NEWS STORES.

THE ALDINE, WHILE ISSUED WITH ALL THE regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centers of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates" is rapidly yielding to a more discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality, with greater facility for production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attraction any of its predecessors.

PREMIUMS FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1874, will receive pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers ALDINE, by Thos. Moran, whose great [illegible] was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives the Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The differences in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12x16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20, 1874.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & CO.,

Gentlemen—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings. Very respectfully

(Signed,) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with material of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American painter, and presented to subscribers to the first successful American Art Journal. If no better because of all this they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free at New York Office.

For 50 cents extra the chromos will be sent mounted, varnished and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & Co.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.
2. If subscribers wish their papers discontinued, publishers may continue to send them until all charges are paid.
3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office or place where they are sent, they are held responsible until they settle their bill and give notice to discontinue them.
4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the paper is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible. Notice of removal should always be given.
5. The courts have decided that refusing to take a paper or periodical from the office or removing and leaving it uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

The Future Life.

[From Cornhill Magazine.]

The picture of a future world which men have drawn in different lands and ages all possess at least one claim to our interest. They afford us not indeed the faintest outline to that undiscovered country beyond the bourne of death, but they reveal with unimpeachable, because unintentional, sincerity the innermost desires and fears of living men. On that "cloud" that receives every departing soul out of sight, the magic lantern of fancy casts its bright or gloomy imagery, and we need but watch the phantasms as they pass to know the hidden sides of the brain which produced them. The luscious gardens and houris anticipated by the Moslem; the eternal repose of Nitvani sighed for by the Buddhist; the alternate warfare and wassail of Walhalla, for which the Norseman longed as the climax of glory and felicity, convey at a glance a livelier conception of the sensuality, the indolence and the fierceness of the respective races than could be acquired by elaborate studies of their manners and morality. In a similar way other characteristics are revealed by the terrors of future punishment—which the lively Greek imagined himself as the endless, hopeless labors of an Ixion or a Sisyphus; the dignified Egyptian, as degradation to a bestial form; and the grim souled Teuton of the dark ages as eternal torture in a fiery cave. Whatever has constituted man's highest pleasure on earth, that he has hoped to find again in heaven, and what he has most dreaded that he has imagined as forming the retribution of guilt hereafter. From this point of view the Christian idea of a serene empyrean, wherein saints and archangels forever cast their crowns before the great White Throne, and worship the Thrice Holy One who sitteth thereon—affords singular evidence of the spiritual attitude to which those souls have attained to whom such an apocalypse opened the supremest vision of beatitude. The attitude of adoration of sublime ecstatic rapture in the presence of perfect holiness, is assuredly the loftiest of which we have any conception, and to desire to enjoy and prolong it forever can only pertain to a soul in which the love of divine goodness is already the ruling passion. Wider thought and calmer reflection may teach that not alone on such mountain peaks of emotion but on the plains of sacred service should the faithful Son of God desire to spend his immortality. But the modern American poet who has taken on himself to sneer at the notion of angels "loafing about the Throne," has given curious evidence of his incompetence to understand what sublime passion it was that inspired that wondrous vision of Patmos.

—We thought that everything that it was possible to say about "hash" had been said, but here is another contribution: A certain hostess, whose table is noted for its uniformity of dishes, has a brisk daughter who electrifies her ma's boarders with the following parody sung to an accompaniment on a new fifty-dollar piano: "While beefsteak and venison cost lots of cash, be it ever so grisly, there's nothing like hash; the scrapings and leavings of no use elsewhere, when mixed altogether make excellent fare. Hash, hash, good meat hash! Be it ever so grisly there's nothing like hash. A stranger from home, hotels dazzle in vain. Oh, give me cheap eating house food that's more plain; the waiter who gaily re-echoes my call for a nice plate of hash or a single fish-ball. Hash, hash," etc.

A New Way to Dine Without Price.

Lucy Hooper, writing to The Philadelphia Press from Paris says: One of the nastiest tricks, but at the same time one of the cleverest tricks of the day, was recently perpetrated on the restaurant keepers here. An enterprising genius set out one day to get a first-class dinner without paying for it, and he succeeded in this wise: Having procured a quantity of cockroaches, he killed them by immersing them in boiling water, and with the lifeless remains of his victims tied up in a handkerchief and concealed in his pocket, he sallied forth in quest of dinner. Entering the Cafe Brebant, he took a seat at a table in the public room and ordered some soup. The soup was brought in its neat little plated tureen, and the hungry customer proceeded to ladle out a plateful of it, which he consumed with much appetite. Having nearly finished his soup, he watched his opportunity, popped one of the cockroaches into the tureen and then screamed for the waiter. The waiter came, and with speechless indignation the rascal pointed to the defunct insect. "Bring the proprietor!" at last he gasped, "I will complain—I—I—" "For heavens sake be silent, sir," whispered the distressed waiter; "will you ruin the reputation of the house? Of course we'll charge you nothing for the dish, and if you will say nothing—" "Ah—well—in that case—but I can eat nothing more here. I am too sick. Good morning." So off went the gentleman, followed by a storm of apologies and regrets from the repentant waiter. He proceeded to the Maison Doree and ordered a dish of fish, which he obtained on the like cheap terms and in the same ingenious manner. The Cafe Anglais supplied him with a roast, the Cafe Riche with a fowl and salad, and he wound up his day's campaign with some ices and cakes at the Cafe Neopolitan, having obtained a first-class dinner without spending a cent. When the waiters of the different cafes began to compare notes, of course the trick was discovered, but it was then too late to punish the adroit swindler.

A Beautiful Sentiment.

Life bears us on like the stream of a mighty river. Our boat at first glides down the narrow channel through the playful murmurings of the little brook and the windings of the grassy borders. The trees shed their blossoms over our young heads; the flowers on the banks seem to offer themselves to our young hands; we are happy in hope and grasp eagerly at the beauties around us; but the stream hurries on, and still our hands are empty. Our course in youth and manhood is along a wider and deeper flood, and amid objects more striking and magnificent. We are animated at the moving picture of enjoyment and industry passing around us—are excited at some short-lived disappointment. The stream bears us on and our joys and griefs are alike left behind us. We may be shipwrecked—we cannot be delayed; whether rough or smooth, the river hastens to its home, till the roar of the ocean is in our ears, and the tossing of the waves is beneath our feet, and the flood is lifted up around us, and we take leave of earth and its inhabitants, until of farther voyage there is no witness save the Infinite and Eternal.

Prohibition.

The Executive Committee of the State Temperance League held a meeting in San Francisco on the 22d, at which they decided on a very important policy to recommend to the State Alliance, which meets in the same city November 18. It was unanimously agreed to recommend independent political action. If that course is adopted it will render quite uncertain the strength of the old parties, and may serve to reconstruct the political issues of the State. The following are the resolutions passed:

Whereas, The liquor interests of this State has declared its determination to prevent the election of any man to office who is not pledged to support the liquor traffic; therefore

Resolved, That the time has now come and the necessity exists for the formation of a temperance political party, to embrace all temperance elements in the State;

Resolved, That we will recommend the formation of such political party at the coming meeting of the State Alliance, called for the 18th of November, 1874, in this city.

Disastrous Failure.

The house of Morgan's Sons, general shipping agents for the Grangers of this State, have failed for a large amount and the failure is likely to ruin many Grangers. If they do not lose the entire amount of their shipments, they are certain not to get more than their share with the bank when the house goes into bankruptcy. That is the opinion of some of the leading Grangers; others, again, say the farmers will not lose a cent in any contingency. It is currently stated that the losses by the failure will not fall short of half a million of dollars. Seventeen wheat cargoes are now afloat on account of the Grangers, cleared through this house. The total of the cargoes foots up 677,000 centals.

The Oregon Legislature.

The Senate bill to prevent the disposal of intoxicating liquors on election days passed to third reading in the Oregon, Legislature October 16. No one can sell, give away or otherwise dispose of intoxicating liquors without becoming liable to the penalties provided. In the Assembly the Local Option bill has been modified by striking out the clause which makes a judgment for damages arising from the sale of intoxicating liquors a lien on the premises where the liquor was sold from the time the right of action accrues. A bill for the abolishment of capital punishment has been defeated in the Assembly by a vote of 31 to 34.

Arrival of Chinese Students.

Thirty Chinese youths arrived by the steamer Japan yesterday, en route to Hartford, Connecticut, in charge of two Commissioners appointed by the Chinese Government. This is the third consignment of Chinese youth sent to this country to gain a knowledge of our language, literature, science and art. The boys range from 10 to 14 years of age, and are bright-looking little fellows. They are dressed in blue gowns, which reach to their feet. Some of them speak our language with fluency. They are stopping at the Occidental Hotel, and will leave for the East to-morrow. A number of Chinese merchants called upon them last evening.—[S. F. Chronicle, Oct. 22.

Vindicated.

In the libel suit of Jules Berton against The S. F. Chronicle, for calling him a "fraud and an adventurer," and his mining bureau a bilk, was decided in favor of the paper. In his decision Judge Conger, before whom it was tried, remarked in conclusion: "The Mining Bureau is unquestionably a fraud of the grossest kind—it is the most corrupt institution I ever heard of. I find that the defendants were justified in their publication, which was warranted in the interest of the community and in accordance with their duty as journalists to the public. I now discharge them from custody."

Temperance in England.

The first annual fete of the Catholic Temperance League of the Cross (England) was held at the Crystal Palace on the 24th ultimo, under the auspices of Archbishop Manning, who, after discoursing on the merits of total abstinence to an immense audience, administered the pledge to five hundred persons.

Another Avenger.

Edward J. Muybridge, a San Francisco photographer, shot and killed Major Harry Larkyns, a somewhat noted literary and artistic character, in Napa county, October 17, for trespassing on his marital preserves.

CONCERNING THE TELEGRAPH.

We learn that Mr. Creighton did not meet with sufficient success in procuring subscriptions to justify him in going on with his proposed telegraph enterprise, and, if we are not misinformed, has given it up. But we are glad to be able to say that this circumstance will not in the least militate against our chances to obtain the desired institution. The great Western Union has taken hold of the matter, its agent, Mr. R. R. Haines, after visiting and receiving a pretty liberal subscription at Panamint and Cerro Gordo, having paid this place a visit during the week, where he was equally successful. He received here a total subscription of $2,300, with a contingent of half as much more. Mr. Haines, we will remark, is an old newspaper man, though for many years past he has held a responsible position in the Western Union telegraph company, and evinces energy and vim enough to impress any one with the belief that he will put through in business shape everything he undertakes, and on time. The company he represents, as everybody knows, is abundantly able, financially, to girdle the globe with wires, but in extending lines into undeveloped regions, like our own, ask subscriptions as a sort of earnest or guarantee of sufficient business first to warrant the undertaking. The conditions of the subscriptions are in effect simply an advance on the telegraphing each subscriber is willing to guarantee for himself. The money is to be paid only when the line is complete to the point for which the subscription is made. That is to say, Cerro Gordo pays up when the line is open to that point, but not before, and so on through. When the money is paid stock issues which is good for telegraphing at cash rates any time for three years. The contingent subscriptions referred to, is subject to the issue of telegraphic stamps by the company, which stamps are to be received for messages, the same as cash, anywhere in the United States.

It is doubtful, however, whether these stamps will be issued, as in that case it would be the same as withdrawing the guarantee for that amount of business of the particular portion of the line for which the guarantee is demanded. This, however, is simply an opinion of our own; Mr. Haines thinks the company will issue the stamps, since it is a matter of but little consequence to them what section of their lines does the work so that it is paid for, as in this instance it would be, and also some time in advance.

The rates offered by this company are one-fourth less than those contemplated by Mr. Creighton. That is to say, the maximum charge for ten words to any point on the Pacific coast will not exceed $1 50 and from that down by a regular scale according to distances. If a dispatch is to be sent from one point to another, say twenty miles apart in a direct line, the charge will be for the twenty miles only, though the message may have to go hundreds of miles around.

The probabilities are that work will be commenced on the line at once (or as soon as Mr. Haines can make his report), beginning at Los Angeles running, we suppose, through San Bernardino, thence to Panamint, Cerro Gordo, Lone Pine and this place for a present terminus. The sooner it is done the better for all parties concerned.

Loss of one of Wheeler's Explorers.

Private advices reached Prescott, Arizona, October 20, stating that Mr. Nell, Chief Topographer of Lieut. Wheeler's expedition, had been lost west of Fort Wing, in New Mexico. He was with a party of five, and it is supposed that he has either fallen into the hands of hostile Indians or that he left the trail and was lost in the mountains. Mr. Nell was with Wheeler in his expedition through this section in 1872, and the only one of that party we believe who continued with him in his subsequent travels.

A Great Railroad Suit.

The German bondholders of the California Pacific Railroad Company, through their agent, Hon. F. F. Low, have taken steps to throw that corpora- into bankruptcy. Judge Ogden Hoffman has issued an order based upon their petition, requiring the officers to appear in Court on the 17th of November to show cause why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. The facts set forth in the petition are substantially the same as those submitted in the complaint of Michael Reese against the Directors.

Departed.

P. G. W. C. T. Albert D. Wood I. O. G. T., has started for Bath, Maine, where he goes to take charge of the new and elegant clipper ship St. Paul.

—The exports of salmon from Oregon this year are valued at $1,500,000, or $500,000 more than last year.

SWEET HARMONY.

Congressman Kendall has written an open letter in which he charges that the chivalry Democracy of Nevada, with Gen. Thomas H. Williams at their head, have entered into a compact with the Sutro Tunnel Company to rob the miners and mine owners, not only of the Comstock, but the entire state. He says:

"I received from you expressions of the wish that I would speak at your ratification meeting—coming from a multitude—delegates, chiefs and high privates; and finally came the formal invitation from your committee of Storey county, coupled with the insulting condition—the indecent outrage upon myself and upon the whole people, to wit: That I should use no word of condemnation of Mr. Sutro, or of the infamous legislation he had persistently urged upon Congress! No word condemning the 'Negley Amendment!' No censure of the diabolical 'Pratt mining bill!' In other words, after fighting those measures of robbery and of public plunder all last session of Congress; after fighting them, and (in conjunction with my colleagues from this State, from California, and from the whole Pacific slope), killing them, and receiving therefor the approbation, as I have said, of ninety-nine hundredths of the people everywhere; after all this, I was to eat my words—retract all I had said—turn my back on the people—join this confederate gang in selling out to a fraud and a thief!"

In a previous letter of similar tenor Kendall denounced Williams as a "blackguard and a liar," and also pays his respects to about the same effect to Deal, Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, and the man who ordered him from the stand when his speech began to show that he was not "standing in" any to speak of. However traitorously Kendall may have acted toward his party managers on that occasion, it is pretty evident that he has good grounds for his strongly expressed resentment toward those wire pulling gentlemen. But they can never forgive him for being elected to Congress when they only set him up to be knocked down like a ten-pin. That is, his friends now claim that he only received the nomination merely to maintain the party organization, the chances for the election of any Democratic Congressman two years ago being too remote to make the nomination an object worth contending for.

But the Democrats are in a terrible snarl up there just now, and, judging from what the papers have to say of things, have an immense amount of dirty linen to wash. Both The Post (the new daily), and The Independent have consigned Williams square into Sharon's arms, and at the same time, The Post charges him with having sold out the party in the primaries through a compact with Sutro, all to inure to his own benefit. Williams' own paper, The Chronicle, comes back with the counter charge that Mitchell is connubiating with Sutro, who is the Josiah in that fight—his open patronage or affiliation being something to ruin the hopes of the best of them, though secretly his help was worth bargaining for. Mitchell is "standing in" about the same as Kendall, and demands that Williams shall unequivocably absolve the Legislative candidates from their pledge to vote for him (Williams) for United States Senator—that, unless this is done, defeat is assured, for Williams is too much of a load for the party to think of trying to carry as things now develop. Williams won't do it, and there is much distress and crimination and recriminanion, and everybody has gone to war with everybody else.

Meantime Sharon moves along toward the goal for which he has staked his coin, and an immense amount of it; but he gets many a rough jolt—enough to kill any man who didn't have the coin. But having plenty of it he holds his party well in hand; the jangling is all in the other camps, and is likely to prove their ruin next Tuesday, the day when the fight culminates.

Stolen Away.

The Sacramento Union says that several officers who went out on the line of the line of the Central Pacific Railroad recently to break up the rough gambling of the monte dealers and other rascals, have returned. They report that the gamblers had folded their tents and stolen away. Well, they have been stealing away for some time.

The Palace Hotel.

[From The S. F. Chronicle, Oct. 23.]

Work on the Palace Hotel was pressed with increased energy during the last week. There were 1,028 men on the regular pay-roll, making the aggregate to whom the hotel gives employment not less than 1,500. The amount of money disbursed was equivalent to a large fortune. Thirty days of good working weather are considered quite sufficient to get the building ready for the roof. The fourth story of the brickwork on all portions of the structure is finished. The central part of the great entrance archway, for a long time delayed by the iron-work, is now completed. A force of 200 plasterers has been engaged. The lathing is already commenced. It has been decided not to put on the fancy French roof, included in the original plan, as it is thought it will not improve the general appearance of the building when complete.

The great Guyer staircase, designed by Edward Guyer, of Zurich, Switzerland, who came from Europe with letters of introduction to Warren Leland, will be the finest in the United States, if not in the world, and the chief ornament of the inner court. It will be not only a staircase, but will comprise a music-stand and large apres-diner salon, where lady guests of the hotel—and gentlemen doubtless, if they behave themselves—can retire and partake of their pousse cafe while listening to the sybaritic music of the best band on the coast, and gazing through the crystal walls of the apartment at the tropical flower garden, which will be one of the hotel's finest interior features.

The salon will not be so small as to be contemptible, since it will have a length of sixty feet by a breadth of thirty five, and will utilize in a truly æsthetic way space that would otherwise have been wasted. The newel posts will be of California wood richly carved, and every one will bear a Sevres china vase, or real bronze statue of priceless value. Work on the hotel proceeds harmoniously. The heaven of labor is perfectly serene. Every workman regards the hotel with a sort of professional pride, as if he had in it a joint proprietorship. Numerous visitors inspected the building on Sunday last, who scanned with interest the ladies' parlors, looking two ways—as all ladies like to look—upon New Montgomery street and into the court.

The gentlemen's smoking room is under the great archway, commanding entirely the great entrance and a view of everything passing out and in. Also under the great archway, and directly opposite, will be a ladies' reception room. The neglect of the architect of this hotel to provide the smoking-room with conveniences for raising the feet and supporting the legs in a truly horizontal position is severely commented on by juvenile sybarites. According to English authors, without fixtures of this kind no American hotel can be considered as complete.

Favorable for a Telegraph.

[COMMUNICATED.]

MESSRS. EDITORS: In your last issue you referred to a telegraph project inaugurated by Mr. Creighton, now in our valley. I consider that we are fortunate in having such a person at the head of the enterprise. I had the pleasure of a slight acquaintance with Mr. Creighton in the Spring of 1861, in San Francisco, incident to introduction by Mr. J. H. Wade (my uncle). These two were members and representatives of the company that had the contract to construct a telegraph from the Missouri river to San Francisco, and received the $500,000 bonus from Government therefor.

Mr. Creighton crossed the country by stage to observe the character of the country, and seemed to be eminently well qualified for such business. The two gentlemen named effected arrangements with a company here to meet theirs at Salt Lake, and then returned East. With efficient management and energy, in a few short months we of the Pacific were in instant communication with our friends east; and enabled to reciprocate with them joyous congratulations in prosperity, and sympathy and condolence in adversity, in those perilous days. Mr. Wade, the first president of the company owning the eastern half of the line, was the recipient, as a Christmas present, from his company of $500 as a token of appreciation of the admirably satisfactory consummation of the undertaking committed to him and his very efficient aid, Mr. Creighton. This gentleman may look well to the interest of his company, which is supposed to be abundantly able to fulfill obligations, but I do not believe he will condescend to small games, and I think what he promises can be depended on.

I agree with you that this is probably the best opportunity to attain this great desideratum, if terms at all suitable can be obtained. I hope our citizens will act promptly in reference to the matter. My opinions may not be of any benefit, but as they are given gratis they do not harm any one.

Belleville Items.

Work is steadily progressing on the mill site of the Northern Belle Company. Some forty or fifty men are at work and more are wanted as fast as they can be obtained; freight teams are arriving and departing, and everything wears a busy and go-ahead look.

Mr. Wm. McBride has completed the survey for the water pipe, the distance being six miles and three quarters, lacking ten rods. Nick Mersich has opened a boarding house, and has some forty boarders.—[Borax Miner.

—Beef cattle are now purchased in the ranges near Yreka at three cents per pound. This lower than they have been for several years past.

Sierra Nevada Water.

Before the introduction of pure mountain water by the Virginia and Gold Hill Water Company, engineers were greatly annoyed by the incrustations which constantly formed inside steam boilers. In many instances a general overhauling and cleaning out was necessary each week, and men were sent in with hammers to scale off the hardened sediment, which could not be got rid of otherwise. At some mines patent heaters were used, which precipitated the earthy particles contained in the water before the steam was allowed to enter the boilers at all. Now, however, all such difficulties are obviated. The Sierra Nevada water, with which the city is now supplied, is so pure and soft that a cleaning out once a month is all that is required to keep a boiler in good condition. Not one-half the repairs formerly needed are now necessary, and a saving of thousands of dollars monthly at the different quartz mills and hoisting works along the Comstock is made by the use of the new water. Its beneficial effects upon the health of our citizens also is apparent, as it contains no alkali, antimony or arsenic, with which the water formerly derived from old tunnels was impregnated.—[Virginia Chronicle.

A Great Hand at Cribbage.

A Westport correspondent of The Norfolk Gazette describes a hand at cribbage, which one in the usual course of playing would get about once in a thousand years. He says: A few nights since a remarkable game of cribbage was played by H. R. Treadwell and A. S. Hurlbutt at the house of the latter. It was six-card cribbage. A regular deal was made by Treadwell, who discarded a six and a four spot, and held three fives and the jack of spades for his hand. Hurlbutt discarded a six and a four spot, retaining for his hand two fours and two sixes. The trump turned was the five of spades, which gave Treadwell twenty-nine in his hand, the largest number that can be held. Hurlbutt showed twenty-four in his hand, and in the crib was found twenty-four more for Treadwell. In the play ten holes were pegged, making the result of the play of one hand an aggregate of eighty-seven pegs, without doubt the most remarkable "make" of this most beautiful of all games on record.

—Susan Jane must have been scantily dressed when she was looking out for her lover and sang:

"He'll come to-night; the wind's at rest,
The moon is full and fair;
I'll wear the dress that pleased him best—
A ribbon in my hair."

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞Our Only Terms: CASH, IN ADVANCE Paper invariably discontinued upon expiration of term of subscription.☜

Some Improvements.

The law makes it the duty of School Trustees of every district to provide certain conveniencies, essential to the comfort and cleanliness of pupils and teachers, for their respective schools. When the county apportionment is sufficent for this purpose and to maintain the school the required term, the cost of such requisites is paid from it. When this fund is not sufficient for all these purposes, as it cannot be under the existing law, then the Trustees have no alternative in the fulfilment of their duties than to demand a special district tax, which involves considerable extra expense, or ask for donations. Neither of these alternatives are pleasant to any one, least of all to the Trustees, who not only have a good deal of gratuitous labor to perform but also fail to receive a great many very hearty thanks for their pains; but speaking from personal experience this last is of the least possible moment, nor is the labor of much more, if the desired ends can be accomplished. Referring to this school, it has never from the beginning had a cent to spare beyond the payment of teacher's salaries and current expenses, and in consequence up to the present moment has had to get along as best it could without any of those conveniences outside its walls the statute as well the laws of health and comfort say must be provided. In order to make school attendance a little more attractive, or at least a little less repugnant, a few dollars and a little labor can be most profitably expended upon every school yard in providing some means of amusement and recreation. This is not a part of the legal duties of Trustees, but with the aid of liberal minded citizens, is one they should see to nevertheless. With such aid something in this direction has been done at this school. But, in addition, the Trustees as a matter of duty as well a more important reason, are taking steps to provide those other conveniencies, and will of course give everybody a chance to help foot the bill. If this was all, there would be no need of saying much about it as we have enough liberal people here to get through with that without much trouble, but there is also a hundred or two dollars to be raised to keep the school going the full term required by law. It is proposed to get up a festival for that purpose, but nothing of this kind can be made a success unless the ladies will take the matter in hand; but the cash must be had either by that mode, a special tax or donations.

Certificates Issued.

Certificates of purchase for the following mineral lands were issued a few days ago from this Land Office: To Searles and others to four quarter sections of borax lands, San Bernardino county. To the Boushey Company, five acres of surface ground covering the Boushey mine and tunnel, Cerro Gordo district. The issuance of the latter was delayed several months on account of litigation, the question of title, also a lien suit on the tunnel, having been tried in the District Court last May. In the first the jury disagreed, in the other a judgment was entered against the company for some $3,000 in favor of Martin Mee and others. Both issues have been satisfactorily arranged, so it is quite likely work will again go on on this property soon.

Festive.

The weekly assemblies of the Dancing Club are beginning to be looked forward to with pleasure by all the festive inclined or other persons glad of an opportunity for an agreeable change now and then from the care and humdrum of everyday life. The meeting of Wednesday night was much better attended than the previous one, and assumed the airs and proportions of a regular ball, upon the plan of which it is intended strictly to be conducted. If all the members will do their duty and attend on every occasion when practicable this institution will do much to promote the general amenities and enjoyment of society none too much blessed with opportunities.

Disaster.

On Saturday, the 17th instant, near and west of the divide between Benton and Columbus, a flood of water from a cloud-burst, with the debris, rushed furiously down into the road, and coming in contact with the team of E. C. Kelty, of Benton, swept it along, killing five mules and smashing the two wagons to atoms. The driver, Tommy Kelty, was carried down by the rush of water for some two hundred yards, and narrowly escaped with his life.

The Jacobs' "Wonder" and Mill Sold.

We hear that Jones & Stewart have purchased the noted Panamint mine known as the "Jacobs' Wonder" and the mill in course of erection belonging to the same parties. Our informant could not give the amount paid except that it exceeded $110,000.

"Receptioned."

There was a fine gathering of fine folks at the Blaney House last evening, the occasion being a reception ball in respect to Mrs. P. Reddy, after her long absence. The music was good, most everybody was there, and altogether it was a most pleasant affair.

Table of Distances.

A gentleman just arrived from Jefferson Canyon, Nye county, Nevada, furnishes us with the following table of distances from that place to this, which we publish for the information of parties in that section who have Panamint in view. It is enough to say that after leaving the "Hay Ranch" no feed to amount to anything is be found or purchased till Piper's ranch is reached; thence, for the next hundred miles there is plenty to be obtained. It is well to state that the country from Jefferson to Piper's is a greasewood desert, only mitigated by the water at the points mentioned:

	Miles.
Jefferson Canyon to Hay ranch	15
Hay ranch to Peavine creek	16
Peavine to San Antonio	5
Down the creek to next water	6
Down same, water all along, to sink	12
Thence to Fish Lake valley	25
" down the valley to Piper's, water plenty	30
Piper's to Deep Spring valley	30
Thence to Toll gate	17
" to Owens river	5
" to Big Pine	2
Total to Big Pine	178

It is 28 miles from Big Pine to this place, and approximately, 100 miles hence to Panamint.

Personals.

Round Valley and Bishop sent down each a lengthy representative this week—T. K. Hutchison and J. G. Birchim—but they both told us they came on their own accounts and wasn't "sent" at all; anyway they were just the kind of visitors a hard up print shop likes to see....From Cerro Gordo we had W. L. Hunter and Dr. Gould, and from Lone Pine, Dad Moore who, some of the young men tell us, is getting alarmingly regular in his visits—on account of his being a Sheriff's officer, and they are afraid he'll serve an attachment or some other writ to their detriment, we suppose....John White started on Thursday for Panamint to establish a produce agency pursuant to Granger arrangements....Victor Beaudry, Esq., was, on the 22d, taken sick at Bakersfield while en route to Cerro Gordo; he is accompanied by his distinguished brother from Canada, who comes to see the mines in this region....Mrs. P. Reddy and Miss Alice Rhine arrived home, after their extended visit to the Bay, on Tuesday.

Not Finished.

Dodge's stage started out over the new road to Panamint, early this week, but had to come back as the road was not near enough completed yet to be passable. But before the close of the coming week it is expected to be in a condition for heavy teams to get over it with no more difficulty than may be expected on any new road. Stubblefield's big team and train of wagons loaded with produce started out to try it a day or since, but will probably be detained a day or two. Others, for the same destination, are loading with lumber at Steward's mill, Big Pine. We are assured that the road when finally completed, will be as good as any in the county, with the exception of about eight miles of heavy sand beginning at the lake.

Explanatory, if not Apologetic.

In our limited newspaper experience we have noticed that it is a very good plan not to say much about things that haven't occurred, and especially when no one anticipated that they ever would occur, but at the same time, it makes it mighty inconvenient, otherwise, to fill up local columns to a very interesting extent. But the fact is whether anything happens or don't happen we are so occupied with other affairs now, and will be for a few weeks to come, which must be attended to, that it is quite out of the question, with our limited force, for us to devote the time to these columns their proper filling up with "live matter" requires.

Church Matters.

Rev. Geo. Jennings spent several days this week at Bishop Creek, where it was designed to hold a quarterly meeting, but which, for some reason, was postponed and is to take place in this place some time the coming week. Mr. Jennings will preach in this place to-morrow evening....Father O'Keefe, after remaining several days in this place, the guest of Mr. Reddy, returned to Lone Pine yesterday, en route to his home in Santa Barbara. The reverend gentleman made a very favorable impression upon all with whom he came in contact while here. Owing to ill-health he did not deliver any public discourse while here.

Trot Out Your Fast Stock.

Anybody and everybody who thinks he has a "fast critter for coin or corn" is invited to trot him out for the two days' races advertised to come off at Bishop Creek on the 27th and 28th of next month—and go and see the fun anyway.

Will Be Along.

Our Jeems, with his household gods, will soon be with us again. His return has been deferred much longer than was anticipated on account of sickness in his family, superinduced by those Washoe zephyrs up there at Virginia City.

Court Week.

Next week is to be District and County Court, Grand Jury and Supervisor week, but it does not appear that any of those honorable bodies have any business of much importance to attend to, nor much of any kind.

Timber Lands.

We have a letter relating to Government timber lands, from Register McCallum, of considerable interest to certain parties, but we are obliged to defer its publication till next week.

Stick to the Old Road.

We see it stated that all the independent teamsters who are now freighting lumber and merchandise from Los Angeles to Panamint take the old Soledad Pass road, the new one from San Bernardino being too heavy for them.

Another Freght Line.

It is reported that Mr. Nadieu will start a line of freighting teams to Panamint immediately. He already has the necessary animals for the line, and has a prestige in the freghting business that will make his enterprise popular from the outset.

The Wrong Figure.

In speaking of Mr. Reddy's law library last week the figures read "400" volumes, instead of which it should have been 900.

Bullion.

According to The Borax Miner the Lida mill is now shipping siluer bars in fair size and number every week.

No Pay.

In the Supreme Court, yesterday, the case of Lamont vs. Solano county came up for hearing. Under the law when a party indicted for crime is arraigned, if he announces that he is desirous of having an attorney but is without means to pay one, the Judge of the court appoints some member of the bar to conduct the defense. In accordance with the above rule, Lamont and his partner were three times appointed to defend criminals—two of the cases being for murder and one for grand larceny. In carrying on the defense they expended several hundred dollars. Subsequently they sent in a bill to the Supervisors of the county for reimbursement of expenses and their fees. The Supervisors, while admitting that it was right that reimbursement and payment should be made, were unable to find any law authorizing them to so dispose of the county's money. Thus it happened that the case got into the Supreme Court on appeal from the lower court to which it was first taken. Yesterday, after hearing the argument, the court affirmed the judgment of the court below and the attorneys are out of pocket.—[Sacramento Union, October 21.

Correct.

Did you ever see a woman throw a stone? This perspicacious member of the human family is up in the garret sorting over paper rags. She receives, by intuition, information that a hen has somehow got into her verbena bed. With characteristic agility she descends to the garden, and gracefully picks up a stone, dropping off her glasses and loosing a spool of thread, a pair of scissors and a tape line out of her pocket in the operation. She peaks around the corner of the house, and spies the animal. Cautiously she advances until near enough, then she elevates herself, throws back her neck, poises, most gracefully, her left hand and with unerring aim lets fly, and—strikes her next door neighbor, who happens to be in the garden weeding, plumb on the nose. And the hen, oh, where is she? Reader, this is no fancy picture. You never knew a woman to hit anything with a stone she ever aimed at, even were it the broadside of a barn; but give them a small child across their knee, and (we know by experience) they never miss the mark. And yet we love them.—[Galena Gazette.

SQUIBLETS.

--Honor and glory to E. F. Phillips, of somewhere in Michigan, who has written 5,115 words on a postal card! These would make about three columns of closely printed matter in a large newspaper. A great man Phllips is!

--M. Silberman, a distinguished French physician, arrives at the conclusion, as the result of his various investigations and studies, that the average hight of the human race has remained unchanged since the Chaldean epoch, 4,000 years ago.

--A Troy man advertises "the largest assortment of boy's pistols in the market." Inasmuch as the merchant has an undertaker's shop on one side of him and a surgeon's office on the other, suspicion has been aroused.

--Albert Drewing, who attempted suicide at St. Louis, and who was fished out with a boat-hook in the hands of a watchman, was exceedingly indignant at what he called "interference with his private affairs." He also expressed an intention of doing it yet.

--Speaking about the expedition to the South Sea to witness the transit of Venus, a lady at Long Branch remarked that if she remembered her mythology aright Venus didn't wear anything in particular; and now she understood why the men have gone so far to look at her.

--A party of young men were out serenading a few nights since. They sat on the pavement, which had been recently paved with a tar solution. Next morning the rear of six pair of pants dotted the walk, and music is heard no more around that cottage.

BOOKS.

GOOD BOOKS BY POST.

OUR POSTAL FACILITIES ARE NOW SO great that a considerable portion of the new books which find their way to the hands of readers do so through the mails. The cost for postage is so trifling that it is of no consequence compared with the desire to possess a really good book. We publish below a list of good books which may be ordered from this office at the price given, and received by an early post:

The Carriage Painter's Manual. Containing a treatise on the art, science and mystery of coach, carriage and car painting. Fine gilding, bronzing, staining, varnishing, polishing, copying, lettering, scrolling and ornamenting. $1.

How to Paint. For mechanics, merchants, farmers, and a guide to the professional painter. Methods in plain and fancy painting. Including gilding, bronzing, staining, graining, marbling, varnishing, polishing, kalsimining, paper hanging, striping, lettering, copying and ornamenting, mixing paint, tools required, etc. $1.

Life at Home; or The Family and its Members. Husbands, wives, parents, children, brothers, sisters. Rev. Wm. Aikman, D. D. $1 50.

Hopes and Helps for the Young of Both Sexes. Formation of character, choice of avocation, health, amusement, music, conversation, cultivation of intellect, moral sentiment, social affection, courtship and marriage. $1 50.

Wedlock; or The Right Relations of the Sexes. Laws of conjugal selection; showing who may and who may not marry. Wells. $1 50.

Oratory--Sacred and Secular. Or the extemporaneous speaker. Including a chairman's guide for conducting public meetings. Pittenger. $1 50

The Temperance Reformation; its history from the first temperance society in the United States to the adoption of the Maine Liquor Law. By Rev. J. Armstrong. $1 50.

Gems of Goldsmith. "The Traveler," "The Deserted Village," "The Hermit." With notes and original illustrations, and biographical sketch of the great author. One vol. 14mo; tinted paper, fancy cloth. Price $1.

Family Physician. A ready prescriber and hygenic adviser. With reference to the nature, causes, prevention and treatment of diseases, accidents, and casualities of every kind. By Joel Shew, M. D. $4.

Hydropathic Encyclopædia. A system of Hydropathy and Hygiene. Embracing outlines of anatomy and physiology; the preservation of health; special pathology, including the nature, causes, treatment and symptoms of all known diseases. Designed as a guide to families and students, and text book for physicians. By Trall. $4 50.

Children; Their Management in Health and Disease. A descriptive practical work. $1 75.

Family Gymnasium. Containing the most approved methods of applying gymnastic, calisthenic, kinespathic, and vocal exercises to the development of the bodily organs. By Dr. Trall. $1 75.

The Alcoholic Controversy. A review of The Westminster Review on the Pysiological Errors of Teetotalism. By R. T. Trall, M. D. 50 cents.

Annuals of Phrenology and Physiognomy. One yearly 12mo volume. Price 25 cents for the current year. For 1865, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, nine, containing over 350 illustrations, many portraits and biographies of distinguished personages, together with articles on "How to Study Phrenology," "Bashfulness," "Diffidence," "Stammering," "The Marriage of Cousins," "Jealousy; its cause and cure," etc., the nine in one volume. $2.

Indispensible Hand Book; "How to Write," "How to Talk," "How to Behave" and "How to do Business." $225.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SOLDIERS' WAR CLAIM AGENCY,

No. 34 Montgomery Block,

San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, will give prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers dischaaged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 23, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1861 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection Business. n214m6

PUMPS, ETC.

THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.

San Francisco, Cal.

THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celbrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.

Redwood,

Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.

DR. RADWAY'S
Sarsaparillian Resolvent

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES; SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the System, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss or Sperm, and all wastes of the life principle are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional and Skin Diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney and Bladder Complaints, Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the small of the back and along the loins. Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cur by Radway's Ready Resolvent.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 18, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended; but nothing helped me I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

LITERARY.

Prospectus for 1874—Seventh Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

NOT FOR SALE IN BOOK OR NEWS STORES.

THE ALDINE, WHILE ISSUED WITH ALL THE regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centers of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates" is rapidly yielding to a more discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality, with greater facilty for production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attraction any of its predecessors.

PREMIUMS FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1874, will receive pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thos. Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives the Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The differences in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12x16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20, 1874.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & CO.,

Gentleman—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings. Very respectfully

(signed,) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American They are by an original American process, with material of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American painter, and presented to subscribers to the first successful American Art Journal. If no better because of all this they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Spoiled at Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free at New York Office.

For 50 cents extra the chromos will be sent mounted, varnished and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rate; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & CO.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's
CALIFORNIA VINEGAR
BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Notice is hereby given by the undersigned, Administratrix of the Estate of Rock Vincentilli, deceased, to the creditors of, and all persons having claims against the said decedent, to exhibit them with the necessary vouchers, within four months after the first publication of this notice to the said Administratrix at her residence at Lone Pine, Inyo county, California.

CHARLOTTE VINCENTELLI,
Administratrix of the Estate of Rock Vincentelli, deceased.

Dated at Independence, Cal., the 21st day of October, 1874 n227t4.

NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT I HAVE received a petition from the citizens of Cerro Gordo praying that they be set off from Union School District and that Cerro Gordo School District be created from a portion of Union District and Lone Pine District. Said Petition will be transmitted to the Board of Supervisors at their next regular meeting, November 2, for final action.

Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1864 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. A Mining Volcano--Belcher on Fire

About 2 o'clock, on the afternoon of October 30th, the new air-shaft of the Belcher mine, Gold Hill, Nevada, took fire, it is supposed from a lighted candle left sticking in the timbers at the 850 foot level. As soon as the cause of the alarm was understood an excitement followed, such as only a mining fire in Gold Hill and Virginia can create. The fire department turned out in full force and hurried to the scene of the conflagration, followed by thousands of spectators, including women and children, who were sobbing hysterically, fearing that their husbands and fathers who were working in the mine had perished in the flames. An immense stream of water was brought to bear on the fire through the hoisting works hose. Half an hour after the commencement of the fire the flames, which had hitherto been smothering, burst up into the air with terrific violence a distance of several hundred feet, hurling fragments of rock in every direction. At this stage the fire resembled a huge volcano in active operation. Eighteen men volunteered to go down to the 850-foot level and endeavor to close up the connection with the shaft so as to prevent the fire from spreading to other portions of the mine. It was an extremely dangerous undertaking, and came near, finally, in causing the death of several of them. But at present it is not known that more than one man lost his life, and he by falling into a shaft at the time of an explosion which partially suffocated a number of the others, fatally it is supposed with respect to two of them Advices of the 31st give the following:

"It is generally believed that the fire was the result of carelessness on the part of some miner, yet unknown, in leaving a burning candle sticking in the timbers on the 850-foot level. There is, however, a rumor to the effect that an enemy of Sharon set the fire in order to depreciate Belcher stock."

San Bernardino.

The Guardian is jubilant over the brightening prospects in that region. That paper says:

"Railway and Panamint now afford an inexhaustible conversational topic. The stages from Spadra arrive every night loaded down with passengers. We are told, daily, that there are passengers left over at Rubottom's because they are unable to find room on the stage. Real estate is rapidly enhancing in value. New buildings are going up in every part of the town. Improvement and enterprise pervades every community in the county.

A Big Contract.

The Truckee Republican says: Some of the leading stockholders of the Bank of California have closed a contract with lumber dealers at Carson for the delivery of 60,000,000 feet of lumber and mining timbers for the Comstock lode. The contract extends over a period of five years. 12,000,000 feet to be delivered annually. The lumber and timber for this extensive contract is to be obtained from the Lake Tahoe basin.

Eastern Elections.

Reports from Louisiana of the election on the 2d instant show that the Conservatives carry that State by a large majority. The same appears to be the result in Alabama, many negroes voting the Conservative ticket openly. Massachusetts is reported to have gone Democratic.

Cremated.

The body of Lady Dilke was cremated at Dresden on the 10th ultimo, and panned out six pounds of dust for the urn. As the coffin was burned with the body, they must have had a hard time to separate the coffin dust from that of the genuine Dilke.

Butler's Nephew Killed.

On October 22d, Francis Butler Holten, a nephew of General B. F. Butler was stabbed to death in Tulare county, by one Floyd, who was quarreling with employees of Queen's circus company, of which deceased was one.

Some Fighting in Prospect.

Paris advices assert that Russia anticipates a war with Germany in three or four years, consequent upon a demand which it is believed Bismarck intends to make for the restoration of the German provinces of Russia.

After Them.

Cavalry are following the White League murderers up so close in the Red river section of Louisiana that they are leaving their cotton crops ungathered and fleeing to the forests.

--It is regarded as certain that work will be very shortly commenced by the Southern Pacific Railroad Company on the 8,000 foot tunnel through the mountain this side of San Fernando. It will take over a year to complete this tunnel.

THE PANAMINT ROAD.

John Shepherd, Superintendent of the Lone Pine, Coso and Panamint wagon road, came in yesterday, the first time since he began work on the road. Although the road cannot be said to be finished, yet it is in fair condition for any class of teams, and now our farmers and others desiring to take loads of produce out can start, with the assurance that they will encounter no serious obstacles, so far as the road-bed is concerned. In fact we are assured that the road, both as regards grades and bed, is fully as good as that from this place to Swansea. Some of the turns, Mr. Shepherd informs us, are shorter than they should be, but where such occur the grade is such that one or two spans of animals, in a long team, can easily handle the wagon. An outlay of perhaps two thousand dollars more will be required to shorten up the road at one point, thereby saving six or more miles of travel, and to put the road generally in as good condition as it should be. To date the road has cost $4,000.

Now comes the question about its further management. It is owned, so to speak, by numerous subscribers each to the extent of his subscription. More money is required to complete the road, build a toll-house, and provide for the collection of tolls. As the present organization is not perfect it leaves too much of personal responsibility on the parties in immediate charge for them to go ahead, fix rates and collect tolls, and at the same time continue the work upon the road, as should be done.

In our opinion one of two things should be done. Either perfect an incorporation of the company, or assign it over to some responsible, energetic individual, or individuals, to have and to hold as a toll road of their own. In the latter case it will be made a perfect road as soon as it can be done, and kept so, because then it is to the owner's personal interest to do it. The cost to the public will be no more than if it remains a public road, as tolls will be collected in either case. But as every one knows, a public road is rarely a good one, since "what is everybody's business is nobody's business." A good road is what is needed, and can easily be had. The value of such to this portion of the county is bound to be very great. Panamint offers a market today, and will continue to do so, for every pound of our surplus produce which can be taken from here cheaper than from any other place whatever. In fact this is decidedly the best road running into that district from any direction, and in consequence our farmers, making due allowance for the difference in value of produce in the fields, can still successfully compete with either Kern, Los Angeles or San Bernardino, provided this road is made complete as may be. At all events, whether the road is sold to some individual or not, it will be necessary for the subscribers to take some immediate action to effect a more perfect organization. So far the whole thing has been well managed; the work well and satisfactorily done; but there yet remains a good deal to do in various ways, and some one should be invested with the means and authority to attend to it. But, in the meantime, Shepherd and Darrah both continue to carry on the work and management as best they can, and the same as if for themselves only; but they will need some additional means, if not authority, and to this end we now call attention to the matter. If there are any bidders for the road, as intimated above, now is the time for them to submit their propositions, but which, however, we suppose will have to be addressed to each individual subscriber.

Turned Preacher.

Major E. A. Sherman, the old times Esmeraldan and editor of the first paper published there—The Esmeralda Union, the material of which is now in THE INDEPENDENT office—is in Carson, having become a Baptist preacher, as we learn from The Carson Appeal. He proposes to establish a church at Carson. The Major was the writer of the interesting history of our old Washington Press, which we published a few months ago.

A New Daily.

Last week we received No. 1 of W. J. Hill's new daily, The Owyhee Avalanche. The paper looks business-like and in good style in every respect. We hope Old Hill may make a fortune out of it, which also means that Silver City, Idaho, may develop into a big city, because we have seen it when it was mighty shaky on its legs, and when the grub question was one of the first importance to divers of its subsequent millionaires.

Cool.

Muskmelons for breakfast and three inches of snow on the ground is what might truly be called the quintessence of coolness. Yet Roscoe tells us that he and McBride breakfasted a few days since under these circumstances.—[Borax Miner, October 31.

NEWSPAPER FOR PANAMINT.

We are in a position to state that a paper is to be started immediately at Panamint. It is to be by the "Panamint Publishing Company," represented by T. S. Harris, late of Sacramento, a thorough printer and gentleman, and well qualified in every respect for the undertaking. He will, we understand, be assisted in the editorial department by D. P. Carr, late of The Carson Appeal, but now of Panamint. We heartily commend these gentlemen and their enterprise to the good graces of the Panaminters, and will undertake to say that, if the efforts of Messrs. Harris & Carr meet with due appreciation, they will very soon publish a first-class paper. A portion of the material will be in Panamint by the close of the ensuing week. The main portion, including a larger press, cannot be got in under four weeks. In the meantime, beginning within ten days from date, a small daily is to be issued which, as soon as possible, will be increased to the size of THE INDEPENDENT. It will be continued as a daily of that size if circumstances justify; ortherwise, it will be made somewhat larger and appear less frequently.

In the nature of the case this is no small undertaking. It involves a considerable outlay to start a paper in an old, settled community, and a much greater in a new, out of the-way place, like Panamint, where neither buildings nor material for them can be had, except at great expense and long delay. But it is "go anyhow, house or no house, good weather or bad," we are told We are satisfied, that all the enterprising men of Panamint (and it is not likely any other kind will be there) will do their best to lend it a helping hand.

Our Panamint Letter.

Our correspondent at Panamint, under date of October 28th, says:

The Surprise Valley Mining Company (Stewart, Jones & Co.), are pushing the work of developing their several mines in a very energetic and thorough manner. Ore is being taken out, sorted and sacked, ready for shipping. They employ several hundred men and are ready to give employment to many more miners. The developments made in the various mines indicate that they are rich and extensive beyond the most sanguine anticipations. The expenses of the company—over $1,200 daily—it is estimated are paid by the product of one mine, the Wyoming Chief. The other companies, while not so extensively interested as the Surprise Valley, are opening and developing some excellent mines. As an indication of the confidence of capitalists we would refer to the fact that the resident Notary Public took the acknowledgment of twenty-two deeds in one day this week. The district is a very extensive one, being nearly thirty miles square, in which there are over six hundred locations. It is stated that at least one hundred and fifty distinct ledges have been discovered. The formation is slate and limestone. For those who have but little confidence in a limestone formation we may state that the stratification is entirely different from that at White Pine and other places where deposits of silver ore have been found. Instead of lying flat or dipping at a slight angle the stratas of limestone here stand nearly upright, and the ledges can be traced upon the surface for a great distance, and are cut by ravines to the depth of hundreds of feet. That the ledges are true fissures there can be no doubt whatever. The hills are full of prospectors, and locations are being made daily.

THE TOWN.

Panamint is not yet a city of great beauty or of many houses. Men are living in tents or camping out upon the ground. The principal mining company is building store houses, boarding-houses, cabins, etc., for the accommodation of their employes. Lumber is being sent in but slowly, but a large quantity is said to be on the way. We hear of many buildings projected, and they will doubtless soon be under way. The camp has an air of life and bustle usual in new mining towns, and the eight hundred men here all find something to do. Town lots are in demand at from $100 to $1,000. A good hotel is much needed and will prove a good investment. The opening of the road to Independence is expected to bring a new era to Panamint, as it will undoubtedly afford the means of obtaining supplies at much lower prices than are now paid, and give more direct communication for trade. Owen's River Valley must supply this camp.

THE FUTURE OUTLOOK.

Is bright indeed. It is our opinion that such an opening for the development of rich mines has never been known in the country before, and that the excitements at Virginia and White Pine were as nought to what there will be here in the spring. Although the elevation is 7,200 feet above sea level the weather is very pleasant in the day and not very cold at night. Our town is gaining rapidly in population, scores of hardy miners coming from every direction. We hear of stage and telegraph lines, banks, newspapers, etc., soon to be established, they undoubtedly will be.

AN ORDERLY TOWN.

No new camp has had less of rowing, cutting and shooting than has Panamint. There is but little drunkenness, and the inhabitants seem to be of an intelligent, thrifty, enterprising class. VIATOR.

An Eloquent Tribute to the Gallant Pioneer.

Following is the closing portion of a speech delivered by "Tom Fitch, the silvery-tongued," on the occasion of a political meeting at Virginia City on the evening of the 53d ultimo. The speech occupies over five columns of The Enterprise; it is eloquent throughout, but yet gives Adolph Sutro and his "big bore," against whom and which it was specially directed, the hardest blows they have yet received. Perhaps a finer or more eloquent bit of prose poetry than this extract was never pronounced from a political rostrum:

The gallant pioneer; he is the noblest type of American manhood; for he has

'Honor and courage;
Qualities that eagle-plume men's souls
And fit them for the sun.'

He climbs like a huge fly upon the bald skull of some lofty mountain, and the primeval hills welcome his daring footsteps. He taps with the prospector's pick at the adamantine doors of the earth's treasure chambers, and at his demand they reveal their shining secrets. His glittering ax lays low the green-plumed forest monarchs, and on the surface of emerald-hued prairies he marks the sites of cities yet to be. Not for him the science of the school, not for him the graces of culture, not for him the joys of home, not for him the sweet solaces of life. But he reads the story of the ages written upon the silent rocks and hears the tale of mysterious forces whispered by the midnight stars, and the priest-robed mountains and the smiling lakes and the white-lipped sunset seas are his palaces and his kindred. Southward you shall behold him undaunted by the roar of the Colorado or the stealthy step of the Apache, pressing onward and still onward to listen to the wash of tropic waters. Northward his resolute face is turned toward the wooing mountains of crystal until the North Star gleams like a mighty diamond in its gold and crimson setting of Northern lights, and the sullen sun but for an hour hangs upon the verge of the polar night, a faint reminder of the lost Southern clime, while the booming artillery of the Ice King hails the pioneer of polar seas. Westward—ah! there is no longer a West. The iron lace with which Progress fringes her garments, reaches now to where the Golden Gate swings back upon its hinges. Asia and the farther Indies are just beyond, and the Orient of Europe is the Occident of America.

And still from the silver and the orange blossom of cactus-fringed and snow-crowned Mexico, northward, to where the icebergs glitter against an Arctic sky, our pioneers are marching and toiling. In the track which their fierce feet are breaking our country is marching onward to her greatness. The army of civilization swells upon their pathway. Art, science, progress, the wealth of nations, the power and glory of the Republic follow. All honor and all hail to those brave hearts who lead the vanguard.

THE LEE MEMORIAL MONUMENT.

The latest from the Lee Memorial Association is that Prof. Edward V. Valentine, the sculptor, having procured from Vermont a block of pure white marble, is fashioning the statue of Gen. Lee, which is to be placed on the grand monument now being erected at his tomb, at the Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia. The figure represents Gen. Lee reposing in an easy, recumbent position upon a couch, his head and shoulders slightly raised above the body, his left arm outstretched by the side of his sword, his right arm laid across his breast. He wears full Confederate uniform, including boots and gauntlets, and a light drapery covers nearly the whole form. The appearance is natural and graceful, indicating peaceful slumber rather than death.

The monument, when surmounted with the fine work of art, will be a lasting memorial to one of Virginia's noblest sons and patriots. The members of this Association are gentlemen well and favorably known by the entire community, who will see that nothing is left undone that will add to the beauty and finish of this great work.

We are advised by the Secratary, Mr. Chas. A. Davidson, of Lexington, Virginia, that the funds subscribed are insufficient to complete the monument. In order to further this object they have issued a life size steel engraved portrait of Gen. Lee, to be sold only by subscription, through authorized agents, the proceeds of such sales to be applied toward the completion of the work. An opportunity is here presented to every person, not only to procure, at a reasonable price, a superb life-like portrait of the great General, but to aid in the erection of a lasting monument to his memory. Each subscriber will receive a certificate duly signed by the Secratary and Chairman of the Lee Memorial Association.

We commend this valuable portrait to the public and predict for it an immense sale. Some energetic person should secure the agency in this section to assist in this noble work. W. W. Bostwick & Co., Nos 177 & 179 West Fourth Street, Cincinnati, Ohio, have been appointed General Managers of all agencies in the United States. All communications addressed to the above firm, for circulars, certificates and terms to agents, will receive their immediate attention.

OUR BENTON LETTER.

BENTON, Nov. 4, 1874.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Noteworthy items are rather scarce, as the routine of our business is about the same thing from day to day; therefore, unless some accident happens, or some is one born, married, or dies, we remain silent to give space for more worthy correspondents.

MINES

Are looking better than ever, and the Superintendent of the Comanche informs us that he has struck a rich body of ore which mills $400 per ton. He thinks that if we had a Jones here this place would be a second Panamint.

A. Mack is going to start his roasters in a few days, which will give employment to a few men who are ready and waiting for something to do. Wetherill, of Hutches Canyon, has shut down his mill for the Winter, as the deep snow on the White Mountains has obstructed the trail to his mine. A. B. Williams has shut down his mill for want of chemicals, but will start again soon. Gold has been found near the head of Yellow Jacket Canyon which pays three bits to the pan, but water is scarce.

OUT OF LUCK.

The water-spout, which The Borax Miner mentioned last week, was bad luck for "Pap" Kelty. He lost five mules and some of the harness, and Thos Kelty, who was driving the team, barely escaped. Four of the dead mules were found from one-half to two miles below the scene of the disaster, and one of them has not yet been discovered. But "Pap," whose courage is never-failing, has loaded again, with ore and lumber, for Columbus, and started yesterday morning.

DRUNKEN INDIANS

Have been seen near the locality of an alkali flat, about a mile east of this place, and although no depredations have been committed, yet, persons living near that locality had better be careful lest they be accused of violating the law.

PERSONAL.

Messrs. Mitchell, Miner and Rowan made a trip to Bridgeport and back last week, and say they had some snow to contend with. Madam Rumor says that J. H. Taylor, of this place, and a lady of Spanish persuasion, formerly of Lone Pine, are going to commit matrimony, and several others are making such pretensions. So Benton bids fair to be the scene of two or three such festivals ere long. J. A Creaser's team is due this P. M. with 18,000 pounds freight for this place and Bishop Creek.

CUTTING TIMBER ON PUBLIC LANDS.

[COMMUNICATED.]

[Numerous inquiries have been addressed to George H. McCallum, Register of this land district, in regard to cutting timber on public lands. Subjoined is a letter, written by Mr. McCallum in response to these inquiries, which we commend to the particular attention of all interested parties:]

SIR:—In answer to your inquiries and others on the same subject I have to state: Under the law and departmental rulings it is made the duty of the Register and Receiver of this land district to warn parties engaged in cutting public timber for speculative purposes, on the public lands of the United States, that such trespass will be prosecuted, as provided under the penal act of March 2, 1831, which provides for the punishment of offences committed in cutting or removing public timber. In the enforcement of said act of 1831 care will be taken not to interfere with pre-emptors rights under the acts of 1853, or homestead settlers under the various homestead acts. But neither pre-emptor nor homestead settler have any right to cut timber for sale until the former has made payment, or the latter resided on his claim as required by law; such settlers are permitted to cut timber for domestic use only—building, fencing and for fire wood. Otherwise, thinly timbered countries, such as this, would afford but little inducement to settlement or exploration.

The condition and welfare for the people must be considered, and the necessity and importance of a sufficient supply of timber, so essential to man in every stage of society and industry, especially where timber is so scarce as it is in this district would seem to invoke protection in order to preserve it and prevent waste, therefore the law must be adhered to.

In cases where parties file on timbered land and cut and sell such timber they do so at their own peril—the timber is liable to seizure and the trespasser liable to arrest and prosecution.

Persons who have invested in sawmills or are manufacturing lumber, and persons who have cut or are cutting cord wood for sale must pay a reasonable tariff: For manufactured lumber, say one-sixth the value per thousand feet. This will be moderate in view of the demand for timber, and while it evidently is not the policy of the Government to entirely deprive settlers, miners or manufacturers of a limited or conditional use of the public timber, yet it seems but consistent with honest principles that a fair compensation should be made for such timber.

It is important that mill owners and cord-wood speculators should give this matter serious consideration, and inform this office, under oath, without delay, the amount of timber manufactured; cord-wood, hewn timber, or other timber, on which stumpage is to be paid, and to make provisions for settlement at an early date on all such lumber. Cord-wood, etc., is public property and liable to seizure, and the parties having it in possession are liable to arrest and prosecution.

It is not necessary for parties to come to this office to attend to such business; it may be done through mail.

Very Respectfully,
G. H. MCCALLUM, Register.

SHERIFF'S NOTICE OF SALE.

WHEREAS, UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF a decree or judgment of foreclosure rendered by the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Inyo, on the Third day of November, A. D. 1874, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein James N. Newlon was Plaintiff, and Hugh Mann and John R. Westervelt were defendants, it was, among other things, ordered, adjudged and decreed that sale should be made by the Sheriff of Inyo County in the manner prescribed by law for the sale of Real Estate, of all and singular the property therein, described, that is to say: All that certain tract or parcel of land comprising the northeast quarter of section Thirty, in township number (10) Ten, south of Range number Thirty-three East, base and meridian of Mount Diablo, containing one hundred and sixty acres, situate, lying and being in the County of Inyo, State of California, or so much thereof as might be necessary to pay the sum of Seven Hundred and Eighty and 44-100 dollars in Gold Coin of the United States besides interest and costs and expenses of sale, of which decree a copy duly certified under the seal of said Court has been delivered to me. Now therefore, I hereby give notice that on the THIRTIETH DAY OF NOVEMBER, A. D. 1874 at the hour of 12 o'clock M., in front of the Court House door, in the town of Independence, County of Inyo, State of California, I will sell the said above described real property, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in Gold Coin of the United States.

Panamint Freights, etc.

It seems, as we have stated heretofore, that the new road from San Bernardino to Panamint is very nearly impracticable. There is one stretch of ninety miles in which water can be had in but one or two places, and the sand is so heavy that the brake-blocks of wagons drag the ground long ways at a time. At all events the freight contractors for that place find it impossible to get teams to do their work, and in consequence hundreds of tons of freight overdue at Panamint are now lying at Spadra. H. A. Jones, it is understood, has gone to Los Angeles to telegraph for teams from Nevada, Fort Yuma and elsewhere. It seems that the Cerro Gordo Freighting Company and Jones have failed to agree on satisfactory terms, hence the necessity for this course. From T. F. A. Connelly, just arrived from Panamint, we learn that a vast amount of freight is going via Indian Wells, there being a continuous line of teams all the way along. The town itself now extends for over a mile up and down the canyon. The canyon, or town-site, is very narrow; the widest place suitable for buildings is not to exceed three hundred feet, and much of it not that wide. The mountains on either side are very rocky and precipitous. In blasting roads in the face of these mountains rock is thrown clear across to the opposite mountain, occasionally plumping down in the streets, which of itself has a tendency to make things lively. There is rarely a moment during the day or night when the reports or reverberations of the shots are not heard. Work goes on in the mines at all hours, on the roads only in the daytime. As yet the majority of the people are living in tents, out of doors, in the rocks and "catch as catch can." But there are some fair buildings now occupied and scores in course of erection, though many of them are temporarily hung up waiting for lumber which is beginning to arrive now pretty rapidly. Hay and grain can be obtained, but in limited quantities, the former at the rate of $400 per ton—sold by the sack full. For other matters relating to the general prospects we refer our readers to our Panamint letter.

Panamint.

Recorder W. C. Smith, of Panamint, come in this week and brought us a very handsome string of new subscribers, for which our profound thanks are tendered to both himself and the aforesaid subscribers. He started on his return yesterday. Owing to a press of other matters we did not have an opportunity to "interview" Squire Smith, and can only state in reference to the business affairs of the district that the San Bernardino freighters have failed to get the mill machinery and lumber in as yet, and consequently the mill men don't feel as amiable as "big sunflowers." But everything and everybody is on the move and moving ....Jo Harris, of this place made a flying trip out there, and after purchasing a lot and making other arrangements for his proposed hotel, returned a day or two since....P. P. Gerrish accompanied by Judge Hanson, started out on Thursday, the former to build Harris' house, the latter to return.... Savage's teams, from the Post, loaded with some 9,000 feet of lumber at Steward's mill for this hotel, are now en route. They go over the new road.

Clear Enough Now.

About three months ago friend D. P. Macarter of Cerro Gordo passed through here, accompanied only by a young Piute gentleman anxious to become traveled, on their way to Yosemite and the other side. He, Macarter, said he would be back in about a month: "Must be back in that time, you see, etc." Well, time passed, and it was thought possible the aforesaid Macarter had gone to that bourne whence there is no return, or to that other from which returns are generally very regular. As will be seen from a "married" in the proper column taken from the Calaveras Chronicle, the latter supposition was correct, and now it is clear enough why Mac was so long in getting back to Cerro Gordo, where he arrived on the 28th, and we are told, looks "bulley."

Back Again.

T. S. Harris, hold over Minute Clerk of the Assembly, and an A 1 print and musician, dropped in on us a day or two since, after an absence of a year or more—Panamint....Likewise John Heckel, who left this section a few months since on his travels, comes back again satisfied that this is a very large world, but so far as he is able to judge this part of it is about as good as any if not more so.

County Court.

After investigating matters brought before it, the Grand Jury came into Court with a report of its doings. (See report elsewhere.) The charge against W. L. Callahan for manslaughter was ignored, and but one true bill was found; the jury thereupon discharged. There being no other business the Court then adjourned for the term.

Re-Opened.

We would call attention to the fact, as set forth under "New Advertisements," that E. H. Orne has refitted the well-known Inyo House, and is prepared and willing to furnish good accommodations to all transient and regular boarders who may favor him with their custom.

Town Sites.

It often happens that mining and other towns of considerable proportions grow up with no reliable title secured for the site; that is the ownership of the ground upon which they stand remains with the general Government. Benton, in Mono county, Cerro Gordo, we believe, and Panamint in this county, are thus situated. In providing for such cases Congress, in March, 1844, passed a law substantially to the effect that the County Judge of any county where a town is located on surveyed Government lands, may enter the site in the proper local Land Office in trust for the use and benefit of the several occupants thereof, and according to their several interests. If it is an incorporated town this duty devolves upon the Mayor. The entry can only include lands actually occupied as a town site, and can in no case exceed 320 acres. A later law passed in 1867 makes it a condition that the town must contain not less than one hundred inhabitants. Of course a town situated upon unsurveyed lands is not subject to entry. The matter of the disposal of unoccupied portions of a town site thus entered by the County Judge in trust, is provided for by a State law, but not having the law at hand, we cannot undertake to give the conditions. The necessity for having a legal entry made of town sites situated upon Government lands is obvious enough, perhaps, but we may state that until this is done, the only title any occupant can have to his lot is merely possessory, and that is all the title that can be purchased or transferred. It would be well for all such towns to perfect their title as the law provides at once.

Weather.

We have had a good deal "more weather" here in the past three or four weeks than is usually crowded into that space of time in this region. It has been wet and dry, warm and cold, alternating from one to the other every two or three days. The snow in the mountains has driven the stock to the valley where they are met by the stock law, which remains in force till the 15th of this month.

A Fine Yield.

As a specimen of what the soil of this valley will do, when properly tilled, and particularly that of D. B. Curtis' ranch, near Black Rock' we may mention the receipt of what appeared to be nearly a fourth of a sack of potatoes, actual weight of which was twenty pounds, and all grown in a single hill. The entire patch is much of the same sort, one potato from another portion of it weighing just four pounds.

District Court.

In the District Court in the case of Michels, Friedlander & Co. vs. S. Pinchower & Bro., judgment for plaintiff; J. S. Newlon vs. Mann & Westerville, decree of foreclosure and order of sale; V. A. Gregg vs. Lida Mill and Mining Co. and P. Reddy, Trustee, judgment for Plaintiffs. Several cases were passed for the term, and the Court adjourned, for the term.

On Hands Again.

We learn that R. A. Loomis, who has been rantafousing about down on the cow counties for two or three months, got back to Lone Pine a day or two since, and has squared himself away for business. We also hear that he was quite sick for a month or more while away. We also didn't hear anything about a Mrs. R. A.

Ordered, That Joseph Seely, P. P. Gerrish and A. C. Hanson act as commissioners in the viewing and laying out of the Panamint toll road, and that they report thereon.

Ordered, That the now traveled road, beginning at a point where it intersects the Bishop Creek and Round Valley road, and running thence along the northeast side of Round Valley to the county line between Inyo and Mono counties, be and hereby is declared a public highway.

Ordered, That the school district petitioned for by citizens of Cerro Gordo, and recommended by J. W. Symmes, County School Superintendent, be established as prayed for.

Ordered, That Chalfant & Parker, publishers of THE INYO INDEPENDENT, do print forthwith 50 copies of the road laws as now in force, for the use of road overseers.

J. W. Covington was appointed Constable for 5th Township, Cerro Gordo.

J. J. McCall was appointed Road Overseer for Lone Pine road district.

A petition from six citizens of Panamint for the appointment of A. G. Swasey to the office of Justice of the Peace for the Sixth Township, was rejected by the Board on the ground that said petition had not the legal number of signers.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

Report of the Grand Jury.

To the Hon. John A. Hannah County Judge in and for the County of Inyo, State of California:

We the Grand Jury impannelled at the November term of said County Court, A. D. 1874, beg leave to submit the following report:

That we have examined into all the criminal charges brought before us, and have found only one true bill. We have also examined into the condition of the county jail, and find it good. We also find everything correct in the different county offices, and that there is now remaining in the county treasury the sum of $4,960 28-100.

The Nevada Election.

The Carson Appeal of the 4th, the only paper of that date we have received, gives the following report of the result of the election in Nevada on the day previous:

GLENBROOK, Nov. 3.

Legislative ticket fifty-one Republican majority.

DAYTON, Nov. 3.

Hazlett twenty majority and Adams twenty-one.

Hazlett's majority in Carson township, 189.

Storey county large Republican majority for legislative ticket. State and county ticket badly scratched, but supposed to be ahead.

Washoe county close; result cannot be known until done counting.

Douglas county gone Republican by a large majority.

Elko county reported as having gone for Bradley by a good majority.

Humboldt county reports Republican ticket safe.

Churchill is safe for the Democratic ticket.

The Steam Plow.

It is now said that Col. Hyde's steam wagon, to which we have before alluded, will be here in the course of a week or two. It is to be used to plow and ditch for irrigation, an immense tract of land a few miles west of town. Before being brought up it will be thoroughly tested in the purposes to which it is to be applied. It is still in the machine shop at Sacramento undergoing some final touches before being put to work. The ditching apparatus it is intended to propel is described as a scoop-shaped iron scraper, armed with a series of teeth that look like sharp plow points. This is ot take the lead, and will cut a ditch about twelve feet wide. Following it will come two revolving aprons, which will catch the dirt from the scraper and throw it out on the other side of the canal. It is believed it will cut a canal of the width above specified two feet deep and three miles long a day. If it will plow accordingly, it is just the machine we want to put this immense valley under cultivation.—[Bakersfield Courier, Oct. 31.

Big Marble Brick.

The biggest piece of marble ever taken out in the State was got out by John McNamee, of the Cold Spring Marble Works, near Columbia, the present week. It is sixteen feet square, and weighs 160 tons, and will be cut up into small blocks to be used on the new Palace Hotel, San Francisco. Mr. Hevelin, of the Pioneer Marble Works, is the contractor.—[Tuolumne Independent.

PUMPS, ETC.

THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.

San Francisco, Cal.

THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celbrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.

Redwood,

Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.

Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cured by Radway's Ready Resolvent.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 18, 1869

DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended; but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

LITERARY.

Prospectus for 1874—Seventh Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

NOT FOR SALE IN BOOK OR NEWS STORES.

THE ALDINE, WHILE ISSUED WITH ALL THE regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of the THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centers of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates" is rapidly yielding to a more discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality, with greater facility for production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any decent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attraction any of its predecessors.

PREMIUMS FOR 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1874, will receive pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thos. Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives the Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The differences in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12x16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originals. The presentation of a worthy example of America's greatest landscape painter to the subscribers of THE ALDINE was a bold but peculiarly happy idea, and its successful realization is attested by the following testimonial over the signature of Mr. Moran himself.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 20, 1874.

MESSRS. JAMES SUTTON & CO.,

Gentlemen—I am delighted with the proofs in color of your chromos. They are wonderfully successful representations by mechanical process of the original paintings. Very respectfully

(Signed,) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American process, with material of American manufacture, from designs of American scenery by an American painter, and presented to subscribers to the first successful American Art Journal. If no better because of all this they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can inspire, and neither are they any worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production they cost the publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Persons of taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they did or did not cost, and will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

If any subscriber should indicate a preference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a new and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, representing a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes betray the longings of his heart.

TERMS.

$5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free at New York Office.

For 50 cents extra the chromos will be sent mounted, varnished and prepaid by mail.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rates; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & CO.

AGENTS WANTED.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

WRITERS OF PAMPHLETS proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essential. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with the BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory or Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF SECOND TOWNSHIP, in the County of Inyo, State of California. I Harris and Nathan Rhine, Plaintiffs, vs. S. R. Guin, Defendant. Summons.

The People of the State of California send Greeting to S. R. Guin, Defendant. You are hereby required and directed to appear before me, at my office in the Second Township, in the County of Inyo, in an action, brought against you by the above named Plaintiffs, and answer the complaint in said action, on file in my office, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1874, at 10 o'clock A. M. The said action is brought to recover the sum of One Hundred and Fifty-one 4-100 ($151 4-100) Dollars, Gold Coin of the United States, with interest and costs of suit, upon an account for goods, wares and merchandise, sold and delivered by the Plaintiffs to the Defendant, and upon an account assigned by one John Broder to the Plaintiffs. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiffs will take judgment against you for the said amount of One Hundred and Fifty-one 4-100 Dollars and interest, together with costs and damages.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Sixth day of October, A. D. 1874.

D. D. GUNNISON,
Justice of the Peace of said Township.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.

2. If subscribers wish their papers discontinued, publishers may continue to send them until all charges are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office or place where they are sent, they are held responsible until they settle their bill and give notice to discontinue them.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the paper is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible. Notice of removal should always be given.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take a paper or periodical from the office or removing and leaving it uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

The Occident and Fullerton Race

A late San Francisco paper gives the following account of the race between Occident and Fullerton:

The great event of the week in sporting circles was the trotting race for $3,500, between the Eastern horse, Judge Fullerton, and California Occident. In the sale of pools Fullerton was favorite at small odds, and betting on the outside was about even, Occident being the favorite with many. At noon to-day people began to throng out to the Bay District track grounds, and at 1 P. M. an immense crowd was in attendance. Pools sold baiskly at $200 for Fullerton and $165 for Occident, holding about the same proportion on larger and smaller scales. The names of the judges were Peter Hayworth, Captain Weeks and Mr. Watts.

At 2 P. M. Occident, driven by Budd Doble, came on the track for exercise and stepped off at a lively gait, making none of his notorious skips. In a few minutes afterwards Fullerton made his appearance, and was driven by Hickok at a moderate rate around the track. A large crowd followed each horse to the course, and admiration of them was about equally directed.

At 23 minutes past 2 the horses were ordered up for the race, and as there was some delay the drivers were fined $20 each for not being on time.

After scoring twice the horses got off, Fullerton leading clear around to the home stretch, when Occident closed the gap and came in under the line a length behind. Time, 2:19.

The second heat was won by Occident. Time, 2:18. Occident came in two lengths ahead, and the result was received with tremendous cheering by the crowd.

In the third heat Occident took the pole and at the first quarter Fullerton broke badly and fell behind about eight lengths. He could not regain his lost ground, although he came under the string at a terrific pace, about two lengths behind Occident. Time, 2:22¾. The enthusiasm of the vast crowd knew no bounds, they flung hats into the air and yelled like madmen, and when Budd Doble drove him back in front of the Judge's stand they seemed ready to carry horse and driver off the track. As pool selling and betting after the first heat was two to one in favor of Fullerton his backers are very heavy losers. Occident went every heat without a skip, and it was, on the whole, the finest and closest contested trotting race ever witnessed here. About five thousand people were present.

A Saving Remedy.

In one of the Sunday schools of the city, a short time since, when the lesson cards were passed around to the classes, the cards that came to the infant class had for their text "What shall I do to be saved?" Selecting as the first member of the class to put the question to a bright little girl of only four summers, who, also, by the way, had but just recovered from a severe attack of croup, the teacher put his question, "What must you do to be saved?" The little one preserved silence for a moment, as if in deep and perplexed thought, and then her face brightened; she had it. "I would take syrup and alum," was the reply, naively ventured. It brought down the class, teacher and all, and further discussion on the subject was postponed.—[Dubuque Times.

—The New York Times says editorially that Mlle. Albani is very far superior to Nilsson in many important particulars.

A Single Vote of Great Importance.

One vote in the city of New York returned a Republican member to the Assembly, which made a majority of the Legislature of that State for Thomas Jefferson, and gave him the vote of New York, without which he could not have been elected. The whole policy of the United States during the Jefferson and Madison administrations, a period of sixteen years, hung on that one vote. One vote elected Marcus Morton Governor of Massachusetts, in an aggregate popular vote of nearly 100,000. One vote elected William Allen, in the Chillicothe District, to Congress in the year 1834, and one vote subsequently made him United States Senator for six years afterwards. The following case of the kind is still more remarkable: In 1830, Dan Stone of Cincinnati was a candidate for the State Legislature. Walking up Main street on the morning of the election, he overtook an old acquaintance going to the polls, who intended to vote the opposition ticket. Stone solicited his vote. "We are old friends," said he, "and I know you will show a friend that mark of kindness." Party spirit was then comparatively quiet. The voter replied: "Well, Dan, you're a pretty clever fellow; I don't care if I do." That vote elected Stone, and gave a majority of one in the Legislature which made Thomas Ewing United States Senator. Ewing's vote on the question of confirming the appointment of Martin Van Buren as Minister Plenipotentiary to Great Britain enabled the Vice President to give the casting vote against it, and called Van Buren home. That recall made Van Buren the first Vice-President, and then President, and determined the general political policy of the country for the next four years. One vote accomplished all this. One vote sent James L. Farren to the Legislature, and made him subsequently Senator.

The Verdict against Hardenbergh.

After thoroughly investigating the charges against J. R. Hardenbergh, formerly United States Surveyor General for California, preferred by W. S. Chapman, a decisive verdict has been found by the Land Commissioner. The latter sums up a long report as follows: The evidence shows, clearly and conclusively, that Hardenbergh is not only incompetent, but that he is thoroughly corrupt and dishonest; that he has extorted illegal fees from the people and pocketed the same; that he has levied black mail upon his clerks for work done out of office hours; that he has defrauded the Government out of its appropriation for clerk-hire by using the clerks on private jobs during office hours, for which he charged and collected fees for his own benefit; that he has covered up the frauds of his deputies and approved their work, knowing their returns to be false and fraudulent; that he has taken cases out of, and disposed of them in advance of their regular order for an agreed price or bribe; that he withholds triplicate lists of surveys from the local land offices, and compels settlers having an interest in lands covered by such surveys to pay extortionate fees for making and forwarding the same to the local office; and, in general, that he has managed the affairs of his office with a view to enrich himself at the expense of the Government, his clerks and of the people having business with his office.

Where are the Black Hills?

In answering this we do not propose to locate them on the Yellowstone river, as that privilege has already been taken; so has the location on the Sweetwater; and so has the location on the head waters of the North Platte. These places are now occupied by the Black Hills, according to some veracious writers and newspaper correspondents, and it might be a trespass to infringe on them. We will have to hunt a new location for them besides these, and we do this, by informing "the world and the rest of mankind" that the famous Black Hills, where gold exists in "considerable quantities," according to Wheeler, Reynolds, Custer, Forsythe, Comer, Smith, McKay and Ross; and where it don't exist at all, according to Winchell and John W. Clark, lie partly in Northeastern Wyoming and partly in Southwestern Dakota. The line between these two territories cuts through the Black Hills nearly in the centre of them. They are northeast of Fort Laramie about eighty miles, over a good country, and can be reached easily in four days with wagons from that post. Fort Laramie is distant from Cheyenne about ninety miles, over a good road.

When Sheridan opens up that country to settlement, as he has promised to do soon, it will be a six or seven days' trip, with loaded teams, from Cheyenne to the Black Hills; and a delightful country to pass over—wood, water and whisky in abundance.

—The Honore family of Chicago, into which Fred Grant has married, are Campbellite Baptists. The ecclesiastical range of the recent Administration weddings is as wide as religious liberty itself, and is emphatically representative of our country.

—When a Baltimore husband gets cold and careless and forgets his home, his wife puts up a letter from "an admirer," asking her to elope and all that, and the husband's early love returns as soon as he finds the letter.

—A day or so ago the daughter of a German grocer in Rochester was married. Her father placed a placard in the window, bearing this device: "This store is closed on account of some fun in the family."

—It is Kate Field's satisfactory consciousness that "that man doesn't live who can boast that he has held her hand more than two or three seconds at a time."

Terrible Devastation.

It is estimated that the people who have fallen victims to the famine in Asia Minor number over 150,000. As an instance of the terrible devastation among the cattle and flocks, it is stated that in one village out of more than 1,600 sheep and goats, just one sheep and one goat remain, and of 100 cows two remain. In another, from a flock of 1,200 sheep and goats, eight are reported; and from another flock in the same village, numbering 800, of which 700 are mohair goats, the same number (eight) is reported.

The Aldine.

This finest and best of all the American monthly magazines of the present day, most deservedly increases in popularity. It is illustrated by splendid full page engravings by the best and most popular artists, and its literary contents are of a very high order of merit. It is essentially the artistic and literary magazine of the country. Subscription tickets $6 each, entitle the holder to The Aldine for a year, to the new Chromo, and to a ticket in the distribution of Art premiums. Address, The Aldine Company, 58 Maiden Lane, New York City.

No longer a Branch.

The San Francisco Mint was, for many years, auxiliary to the Mint at Philadelphia; but its permanent importance has caused it to be made independent of the parent institution, and it is no longer a "branch" Mint in San Francisco, but the chief coining institution in the United States. During the year 1873, the total number of gold coins made was 1,110,600, of the value of $21,154,500; of silver coins, 1,871,700, of the value of $920,900. The total coinage of that year showed an increase of $5,724,956 over that of 1872

A Sensible View of It.

General Phil Sheridan seems to have pretty sound views on the disease called Presidential mania. Somebody asked him recently if he would not like to be a candidate, and received this reply: "I do not allow a thought on that subject to occupy my mind; I think many men have been ruined by thinking they ought to be President of the United States. All their actions, official and otherwise, have been controlled by that one idea. It becomes a disease with them. I am yet young enough to perform active duties, and I wish to labor, not to be led off by such an idea."

The St. Nicholas.

There is no publication extant to which we more cheerfully accord high praise than to Scribner's St. Nicholas Magazine for the young folks. Its cheerful look, telling pictures, finely told stories and lessons given, make it such a favorite that some children we know of actually calendar the days and months by the dates of arrival, past and to come, of the St. Nicholas. Published by Scribner & Co., New York, at $3 per annum. It is editorially conducted by Mary Mapes Howe, and Mary is a success.

The Indiana Legislature.

The full returns indicate that the Legislature will stand as follows: Senate—Democrats, 24; Republicans, 23; Independents, 3. House—Democrats, 56; Republicans, 36; Independents, 8. This gives the Democrats a majority of 10 on joint ballot over both Republicans and Independents.

The Nevada Election.

The Republicans of Nevada have elected all the State officers, except two, their Legislature and Congressmen. The Democrats elect "Old Broadhorns" (Bradley) to his present position of Governor, and Adams for Lieut. Governor. The State-Treasureship is yet in doubt.

Hard Times in Prospect.

The New York World estimates that 90,000 workmen in that city are now idle—10,000 more than were out of work in February, 1874. The operations of the charity associations do not commence until about the middle of November.

A Success.

The Arizona Miner says that Buel's furnace at Cerbat is a pronounced success, easily smelting the rich ores of that district, which is now looking up at a most encouraging rate.

—American sewing machines are extensively used in Jerusalem, Damascus, Aleppo and other cities of the Orient.

—Gravity is no more evidence of wisdom than a paper collar is of a shirt.

—'Tis better to have loved and lost, than never to have had a mother-in-law.

PROSPECTIVE.

We have always had an abiding faith in a great future for Inyo. We have time and again rehearsed the chances for a realization of these high anticipations as judged from the enticing, but hitherto unappreciated, prospects of many of our adjacent mining districts. Among so many of promise it was difficult to say which would take the lead and become the "adventitious circumstance" required to introduce all the rest to that notice their apparent merits entitle them to. But now the point of precedence is settled in favor of one which, but a few months since, was a howling wilderness and wholly unknown as compared to some of its neighbors. The almost utter solitude existing in Panamint canyon but a very few months ago now gives way to the noise and confusion of a great multitude—a city, in fact, in point of numbers, if not in lofty structures. Soon, almost before we can realize it, the click of the busy telegraph and the scream of mill and the locomotive whistles will add to the volume of noises of a city now jumping into active life up in the midst of that rugged, and but yesterday, utterly silent mountain and desert. And the echoes will reach and create in equal force and volume the noises and confusions of cities in other but now silent canyons, both within and without our county limits. We look upon this as one of the inevitable results of the Panamint excitement. That is to be the opening key for a vast number of surrounding mines and districts extending from one end of the Inyo range to the other and on either side. It is bound to create a new era in the history of Inyo. It is bound to do this not only in a material but also in a political sense; sleepy, anti-progressive, old fogyism will be forced to take up its line of march, and whether for better or for worse new hands and new circumstances are to shape the destinies of Inyo henceforth.

We accept Panamint as an actual fact, a fact that is developing with astonishing rapidity into a political and commercial weight, certain to exercise a controlling influence in both respects in the future affairs of the County.

It stands on our extreme southern border with a wide expanse of desert cutting it off from the rest of the county. It is not only cut off by a wide desert with no connecting or intervening links, so to speak, but it is also cut off from the rest in its commercial relations.

Now, we fully anticipate that when Panamint settles down in its working harness—when the hurry and confusion necessarily attendant upon the creation of a large town or city at a single jump is passed—all these matters will come up for consideration and for action. The political weight of the county will rest there on the extreme southern border, and the destinies of the whole will there be shaped. It will probably hold the same relation to the rest of this county that Virginia City does to the State of Nevada, and results be worked out by about the same means—that is, through what we may call one man power, since Panamint, to all practical purposes, will be in the hands of not to exceed two or three men, those the owners of its most valuable mines, roads and water privileges.

In the course of a few years, perhaps less than two, the chances are that the development of some or all our more adjacent mining districts will accomplish a perfect counterpoise in a political sense, but it is scarcely possible that any such result can be expected, in a commercial one, so as to make the interests of the whole exactly mutual. It is true there is no obvious reason why there should be anything antagonistic in this respect, and perhaps there will not; but, however that may be, there will be enough in the other, if our most reasonable anticipations of the continued development of Panamint are realized, to lead to the certain expectation that the political focus of the county must center there—or that it will become the center of a new county.

But, whatever may come up in this respect Panamint will be the means of a wonderful good to this entire region. It will give us a railroad and a telegraph; it will cause the development of hundreds of other mines more nearly in our midst; it will give a new impulse to every interest; the railroad will cause the mines of Cerro Gordo, which have maintained our county so far, to swell out in much larger proportion, and another city to be built to contest the right to the first place. In short, though the rush now taking place to this new candidate for public favor may become too great and a re action follow, as it invariably does, yet the final result will surely be to soon make Inyo the leading mining county of the State—or prove it all a sham and a false pretense.

—Polite—"Please, sir, if you'll get off my corn long enough, I'll kick you."

Concentrating Works.

The Reese River Reveille thinks it probable a new era in mining will be inaugurated by the use of concentrating works, the plan now being adopted by the Manhattan Company of Austin. This company has purchased the Boston mill at that place, which is to be refitted with a Krom concentrator of fifty tons capacity. The concentrations from these ores (about 16 tons) will be worked at the Manhattan mill, together with the first class ores produced in the district, which do not require concentration. When these works are completed and running the monthly production of ore in the district will be increased to 1,600 tons, the extraction of which will, of course, greatly increase the underground work and give employment to a large additional force of miners. The Reveille adds:

But whether it will be a success and thereby a profit to the company, time alone can determine; as the effective working of the ores of Lander Hill by this process has not yet been demonstrated. The process has proven successful in working the ores of other localities, and we see no reason why it should not be similarly so here; as our ores are not more refractory than base metal carrying ores of other districts. Should the concentrator prove a success it will result in material advantage to our town—adding to our population, increasing the demand for labor, fuel and other supplies, and will utilize immense quantities of low grade ores now lying idle and useless.

The L. A. & I. R. R. Survey.

[From The Los Angeles Express.]

We have received a hasty note from J. U. Crawford, Engineer of the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad, who came into San Bernardino for supplies on Saturday. He says:

We are camped on the summit of the Cajon, about thirty-one miles north of this place. The weather has been cold, and the snow among the pines reaches down close to our camp. We have game in the greatest profusion—started six deer and a bear yesterday; two of the deer passed within 100 feet of the instrument, but unfortunately all our arms were in camp. The bear was encountered by two of the boys in the brush at close quarters, and in a far shorter time than it takes to write it his bearship was monarch of all he surveyed, as the boys fled incontinently.

The party has run the line into the Cajon Pass, above Martin's, and have just commenced work upon the summit ridge. I am satisfied that I can obtain as good, if not a far better line than I reported upon. I deflected from the Southern Pacific line three miles east of Spadra; thence ran through the Cocamungo Homestead farms; thence skirting the Cocamungo Mountains and crossing Lydel Creek, near Martin's.

Brigham Young.

A Salt Lake dispatch, dated November 2, contains the following:

From private dispatches it is reported that Brigham Young, while en route to St. George, was advised by his accompanying physician to return to Salt Lake, he being too ill to eat or endure the fatigue of the journey. The bishops of all the Mormon churches in this city have prayed for the recovery of Brigham Young

ELECTION NEWS

The Sacramento Union of the 4th inst., thus sums up the election news as follows:

Our election returns show pretty conclusively that Gaston (Dem) has carried Massachusetts by 5,000; that Butler is overwhelming defeated in his district; that only five out of the eleven Congressmen elect in Massachusetts are Republicans; that there are large opposition gains all over New York, leading to the supposition that the opposition elect a majority of all the Congressmen in that State; that all the Republican Congressmen are elected in Minnesota, and that Rhode Island elects her two Republican Congressmen.

Tennessee gives 25,000 Democratic majority.

In Virginia there are apparent Conservative gains, and a gain of one Congressman is certain.

In Nevada the Sharon legislative ticket is elected in most of the counties, and the majority of the Republican State ticket.

Chicago elects the opposition county ticket, but returns all the Republican Congressmen. In the State of Illinois, as far as heard from—to past midnight—the Republican State ticket is elected, but they lose at least four Congressmen.

Poland, of Vermont, loses his election on a second trial.

There will possibly be a gain of one by the opposition in Wisconsin, and it is also possible that the opposition may have a majority in that State on joint ballot in the Legislature, but not certain

Michigan rejects woman suffrage and the new Constitution.

In South Carolina the Republicans lost three out of the five members of Congress. In Georgia they probably lose two, and elect but one out of the seven, having now three out of seven. The very latest news is that the whole Georgia delegation is Democratic

New Jersey elects a Democratic Governor by 8,000 majority.

The very latest from New York is that the Democrats elect two-thirds of the Congressmen and have 20 majority in the Assembly. Dix (Rep.) is defeated for Governor by 40,000 majority.

Alabama shows a gain of two Conservative Congressmen.

The Democrats carry everything in Texas. The same in Kentucky.

In Maryland the Democrats have lost a Congressman.

Michigan shows a loss of two Republican Congressmen.

Wisconsin is doubtful as to the Legislature, but the Republicans hold their own on Congressmen.

Returns from Missouri and Kansas are too meager to speak of.

Kelloggism has been swept overboard in Louisiana. It is a clean sweep They lose five out of six Congressmen, and possibly the whole six.

On the whole, we may say that this has been the most unsatisfactory election for the Republicans all over the country that has ever been endured by any party, not excepting that of the Liberals with Greeley in 1872. The result in Massachusetts and New York is perfectly appalling. Beyond a doubt, the Opposition will control the Forty-Fourth House of Representatives by from 40 to 50 majority.

The Sartoris Homestead.

[London Correspondence of the Cleveland Herald

Speaking of the beauty of English scenery, and the pleasure to be enjoyed in the noble country seats where the most highly privileged families of this country, those endowed at once with culture, wealth and rank, pass the greater portion of the year, and where the art of living is carried to the highest perfection, a perfection of domestic charm and grace known in no other country in the world, I cannot help recurring to a visit just made to a most charming family, whose household is one of the typical homes of England; one of the houses of which an exquisite writer has said that to enter its atmosphere, to be a wonted guest of his family, was in itself equivalent to a liberal education—the house of Mr. and Mrs. Sartoris. A gloom rests at present over this household; a gloom which will never be wholly dissipated, although the cloud is silver-lined by the bridal joys of the now only surviving son of the family, with that extremely popular little princess, as she is considered in this country, Nelly Grant. This brilliant match, which was discussed with such enthusiastic persistency in our papers last Spring, shows now as if it would prove one of the exceptional perfect marriages of which there have been frequent examples in this our era and day. The bridegroom is handsome, noble and good humored, and generous. The bride is—Nelly Grant. It was a love match to begin with, the engagement made when the lady might be said to be conferring an obligation upon the younger son, however handsome and courageous, by the gift of her hand; when Mr. Sartoris was upon his way to the far West to carve out his fortunes, before the terrible disaster of his brother's death left him the sole representative of one of the richest and most powerful families in England. It was a love match to begin with, and the affection of the youthful couple has only been intensified by the joys and communion of their married life. Since the tragical death of her eldest son Mrs. Sartoris has withdrawn completely from the world. The whole London house, which now for many years has been the delightful resort of the most choice spirits of the day, was sold, as if in the impatient agony of grief she had felt a need of sundering all associations with the past, and the family withdrew to their noble estate in Hampshire, where they have lived in strictest retirement, seeing now even only a few of their most intimate and beloved friends.

From Panamint.

The San Bernardino Argus of November 3, has interviewed Adolph Gassen, who had just come in from Panamint, and to this effect:

He reports the district in a fever of excitement. The mines are developed sufficiently to warrant the belief that they will even exceed in richness the famous Virginia City mines.

He says that the camp now contains some 700 miners, and more are arriving every day; some from the Bakersfield route, but most of them come by the San Bernardino route, as it is the cheapest and quickest; and he would advise every one to come this way. The road from here to Panamint is filled with teams and people going on horseback. Meals can be procured in Panamint for 75 cents, and $2 per night for animals The town is filled with saloons, and gamblers are doing a splendid business. Our informant says that he saw $2,000 in one "pot," pretty good indication of good times, so old Californians say.

Building lots command a high price—from $500 to $1,000, and considerable numbers are changing hands at that figure. New buildings are going up rapidly.

The lead owned by Stewart, Jones & Co. is said to surpass, in richness and vastness, anything ever before struck west of the Rocky Mountains. They have recently purchased several mines, and as Mr. Gassen left he was told that Stewart had just purchased the famous Jacobs Wonder, for the snug little sum of $250,000.

He met the surveying party of Mr Crawford about 35 miles from this place, and that gentleman informed him that within one year the road would be built to Panamint. The grade is good and the road can be easily made.

The health of the camp is exceedingly good, the weather pleasant and everybody hopeful.

National Thanksgiving Proclamation.

The President issued the following Thanksgiving Proclamation on the 29th ultimo.

Reminded by the changing seasons that it is time to pause in our daily avocations and offer thanks to Almighty God for the mercies and abundance of the year which is drawing to a close; the blessings of a free government continue to be vouchsafed to us, the earth has responded to the labor of the husbandman, the land has been free from pestilence, internal order is maintained, and peace with other powers has prevailed. It is fitting at stated periods we should cease from our accustomed pursuits and from the turmoil of our daily lives, and unite in thankfulness for the blessings of the past and the cultivation of kindly feelings toward each other. Now, therefore, recognizing these considerations, I, U. S. Grant, President of the United States, do recommend to all citizens to assemble in their respective places of worship on Thursday, the 26th day of November next, and express their thanks for the mercy and favor of the Almighty God, and, laying aside all political contentions, and all secular occupations, to observe such day as a day of thanksgiving and praise.

U. S. GRANT, President

HAMILTON FISH, Sec'y of State.

Flattering.

Mr. Pat Downey has just returned from Panamint, and he speaks of that place and its prospects with great fervor. He says the ores of the mines are very rich, and the ledges, as far as developed, are broad and extensive. No mills are at work there yet. Stewart's is not all there, and Jacobs', although up, has not been put in operation. Jacobs is in ill health, and will probably sell his Wonder mine. Ore is being shipped to San Francisco constantly There are a great many people there, and all who want to are set to work. The town is going up rapidly, and all the excitements of new and prosperous camps now characterize Panamint.—[Los Angeles Express, Nov 2.

The Capitulation at San Fernando in 1847.

The statement by a correspondent of The Alta that Colonel Fremont, with 800 men, capitulated to General Andreas Pico at San Fernando in 1847, called out several denials from men who participated in the affair. Pico capitulated to Fremont, who had 80 men, and much fault was found with Fremont because he accepted terms which Commodore Stockton, his superior in authority, had previously refused to grant. The common impression was, however, that the Pathfinder was right for once, and that Pico's promise to preserve the peace was of much service in preventing trouble afterward. The California Battalion, enlisted in 1846, at San Jose, Sonoma, Sutter's Fort, Santa Cruz and other centers of American settlement in those early days, was composed of men of remarkable courage and energy, and there was not the least danger that they would surrender to an inferior force under any circumstances, nor even to a large superior force until after a stubborn struggle.

A Hayseed Candidate.

Would-be Granger candidates often encounter a good deal of unpleasant frankness among the class they seek to impose upon. A politician in Indiana, who had tried in vain to get an office from every party that had ever existed plentifully sprinkled his hair with hay seed and began to woo the Grangers. In a brief biographical sketch which he had worked into one of his speeches he introduced this agricultural remark: "Yes, I may truly say I was born between two rows of corn." In the slight pause which followed a heavy-handed farmer, who knew of but one kind of vegetable which came into the world thus sandwiched, blurted out: "A pumpkin, by thunder!" The speech was never finished.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞Our Only Terms: CASH, IN ADVANCE Paper invariably discontinued upon expiration f term of subscription.☜

The Panamint Road.

J. L. Darrah and Oscar Bacon, who have been at work on the Panamint road, have come in and report the road in passable condition for light teams. Darrah says that no man could have accomplished more and to better purpose than John Shepherd has done with the limited means and time at his disposal since he commenced work on this road. He says, moreover, that the road bed is as good as any in the country for the same distance, but the road is far from being finished. There is much to be done in straightening and widening it, and it is a work that ought to be attended to at once. There is a market now opened at Panamint at prices exceeding $125 per ton for every pound of hay that the valley can produce; and for all the lumber that can be sent in there, besides other articles of home produce. Now, then, if those people who have the largest interest in having this a good road, won't do a single liberal thing towards making it such let the parties who have footed the bills so far incorporate immediately and slap on the tolls. In that way the road can be made equal to a turnpike and the requirements of the country, and not wholly at the expense of the few public spirited citizens we do have. It should be understood that to all legal intents and purposes this road is private property—belongs to the individuals who selected the route, paid for and did the work. It was intended as public property, if the public saw proper to make it so; but the public didn't see proper, neither does the county as yet. More work and more money is required, and the only way to get this from the public is through tolls, or, a further advance by those who have already done all they can in justice to themselves. Viewers have been appointed by the Supervisors to report upon the road with the intention of fixing tolls and granting authority for their collection, but some time must elapse before this plan can be consummated, so let the subscribers authorize some one to take charge of their interests and go ahead with the work. A meeting for this purpose will be called some time during the coming week, we understand, but the time and place has not yet been determined upon. Notification to each party in interest will have to be made by letter should the meeting be appointed before our next issue.

Personals.

Mr. Beaudry passed a day or two here this week, returning to Cerro Gordo yesterday morning....Capt. D. B. Akey, —— Livermore and several others from Nevada passed through here this week en route for Panamint. They report many others from Aurora and other portions of Nevada bound for the same destination. Those who travel a foot or with their own animals take this route, while nearly all who go by public conveyances go around by railroad to Bakersfield or steamer to Los-Angeles, thinking we have no through conveyances on this route which is much the shortest and pleasantest.

A Line Clean Through.

The Nevada papers may do some of their readers a favor by announcing the fact that passengers from that section, bound for Panamint, can count on good, comfortable stages all the way through from Carson via Aurora, Benton, Independence, Lone Pine to Panamint. From Lone Pine they have the chance of two routes once each week by stage via Coso, or three times a week via Indian Wells.

Ball at Big Pine.

We are authorized to state that J. W. McMurry is preparing to give a grand ball at his place at Big Pine on the evening of Thursday, the 19th inst., and a general invitation is extended to everybody. Now, as there isn't many of us left since the Panamint fever has carried away so many let every one who possibly can make it a point to attend this ball, for it is going to be a very nice affair.

Mail Route Established.

We are pleased to know that a mail contract has been let to Wm. Buckley of the Bakersfield and Lone Pine stage line to connect Panamint with this line at Indian Wells. It is to be tri-weekly, and make close connections with the Lone Pine and Bakersfield stages at the Wells.

The Distance.

Mr. Darrah is confident that the whole distance from Lone Pine through to Panamint by the new road will not exceed seventy miles and, when the road is a little more packed, that the stage can easily make it through either way in less than twelve hours.

Homicide at Fish Lake.

We hear that Wm. Harrold shot and killed a man, name not given, at Fish Lake Valley, one day last week. No other particulars in regard to the matter than the fact of the killing, and that Harrold had gone or was taken to Aurora.

Rumored Shooting.

It is rumored that some Mexicans had a shooting match in Lone Pine last Saturday, in which one got shot in the leg, but we cannot trace the rumor to any reliable source, and it may be nobody was shot at all.

Another Paper for Inyo.

Very soon now, we may expect to see the Panamint paper, of which mention was made last week. T. S. Harris has the business in hand, and left here on Wednesday last with press and material for a small paper which, we believe, is to be called "The Panamint News." It is to appear three times a week, or oftener if circumstances justify. As soon as it is practicable to obtain a larger press and other necessary material from below and prepare a suitable building the paper will be made much larger and appear more in keeping with the brilliant prospects of the new camp. As The Panamint News is wholly an Inyo institution, and as its future success will afford a fair criterion for the future of the whole county we hope it may receive a substantial welcome from every one of our citizens able to pay for a paper—and we know of none who are not. It will afford our farmers a reliable means of keeping posted as to markets, etc in that camp, a matter of considerable importance at times. In explanation of the preceding remark we consider that the future of the county generally is largely contingent upon that of Panamint itself. If that is as complete a success as we have reason to anticipate it cannot fail to make the county generally a success, and vice versa. If the camp is a success its first paper ought to be, but it does not follow, as a matter of course, that it will be, unless all interested make it a point to give it whatever aid they can. We know from sorrowful experience what it is to start and maintain a pioneer newspaper, even a small weekly, and we most earnestly hope the second paper for this county may be spared at least a portion of our own experience of difficulties and discouragements—but that depends in a most essential particular upon the liberality of the community the paper is to represent.

Shooting in Cerro Gordo.

A fatal shooting affair occurred in Cerro Gordo at 4 P. M. October 6, under circumstances about as follows: One Juan Amarillo dunned Romolo Estrellia for $4, money loaned. The latter gave an insulting reply to the demand, saying he would pay nothing, etc. Some hard words were then used by both parties. Estrellia drew his six shooter and commenced to blaze away; a number of shots were fired, one of which struck a bystander named Gonzales Morino, killing him instantly. Estrellia, the party who commenced the firing, got a shot in the right arm near the shoulder. Dr. Grant cut out the ball soon afterwards, and the wound is not deemed dangerous. The unfortunate man who was killed was a quiet inoffensive man, and not concerned in the row. He leaves a family residing at Hermosillo, Sonora, and was about 50 years of age. A coroner's inquest was held by which these facts were ascertained. Juan Amarillo is some 22 years of age, a quiet, hard working young man; while the other principal, Estrellia, is reported as a "hard nut." While the coroner's inquest was in progress Estrellia's friends got him off to parts unknown, presumably because they were fearful the bullet found in Morino's body would convict him of the murder. It is said that other parties are liable to indictment for an attempt to murder during this fracas. At last accounts all the parties were yet at liberty.

A Deserted Village.

That's the name of our burgh about these times. A few remain here, some because they are attached to the place much as a rat is to a steeltrap when he can't get away, others because they like a quiet, decent time, the remainder because they think this is going to be the best place of all of them after awhile. The main cause may be summed up in one word—Panamint. They hope by going away to pan a mint of coin. Some, though, think they'll make it pan better by going somewhere else. Among the latter we mention Thompson of the Blaney House, and P. Reddy, Esq, both for Bakersfield or 'Frisco; of the former we have B. H. Yaney, who has held a case in this office since it was an office, and numerous others, among which was Dugan, our "last" shoemaker and Wm. Goodman, paperhanger; also, Geo. Stevens is packing up his tin and hardware store. So, for a time at least, ye good housewife in this locality will, for lack of a tinner have to solder her leaky pans with dough or rags or as best she can, for George is going to mend pans for the Panaminters and we hope will make it pan.

A Good Brief.

Among an unusual amount of work done in this office during the past two weeks was P. Reddy's brief in the great Union-San Felipe Mining suit on appeal to the Supreme Court. This brief covers 75 pages, a limited space, considering the many points argued. It looks to us that these points are as concisely and conclusively stated as any one would desire, and we can hardly see how the argument can fail of the desired object. It is not intended in any sense as a rhetorical or high literary effort, but as a plain statement of law and facts, amply supported by the authorities in regard to the former, and recorded testimony and argument for the latter, given in simple language not to be misunderstood. Typographically we think the work quite as good as any done in the State in that line. The case comes up for a hearing in the Supreme Court some time in December, and is to be argued orally by both sides as well as by printed briefs.

Incorporated.

The Potosi Tunnel Mining and Smelting Company, to operate in Cerro Gordo, have duly incorporated, but the names of the incorporators are yet unknown to us. The trust deed from Simpson and Brady was filed in the Clerk's office here this week.

Piute District.

As we had heard nothing from this lately promising district for some time we had become fearful things didn't loo just as well as they ought to, but in this it seems we were much in error. Though not prepared to give details we have it from very reliable authority that the later developments are of the most encouraging character, and no doubt at all appears to be entertained but that the district is going to amount to something of very considerable importance. Work on the principal mine has been suspended for a few weeks past, but now goes on again.

Officers Elected.

Following is a list of the officers elected for the ensuing year by the Lone Pine Grange, October 28: Master, J. J. McCall; Overseer, J. A. Rittgers; Lecturer, Julius Roeper; Steward, I. P. Rittgers; Assistant Steward, G. W. Betts; Chaplain, R. A. Loomis; Treasurer, John Lubken; Secretary, A. H. Johnson; Gate Keeper, C. W. Johnson; Ceres, Mrs. M. McCall; Pomona, Mrs. A. B. Rittgers; Flora, Mrs. M. Dodge; Lady Assistant Steward, Miss Augusta Roeper.

Social Party.

The Dancing Club intend to give a free ball at their hall next Wednesday evening, to which a general invitation is hereby extended to every one. As it is not likely we shall have any dances here again for sometime thereafter this is an opportunity for a most enjoyable social party that should not be allowed to pass unimproved by any of our ballgoers.

Lida and Gold Mountain.

General Page is making a substantial success in his operations at Lida, and the camp is looking up finely. We notice a large amount of goods at Harris & Rhine's being shipped out there.... Tom Coates is building a five-stamp mill of his own at Gold Mountain, and we are told he is sure of making a fortune out of his mine. Page is also building a five stamper there as we have noted heretofore.

Pine Mountain.

Things are somewhat in statu quo in this White Mountain district. A considerable amount of valuable ore has recently been taken out of the Broder-Moffat mine, but the general developments yet are not deemed perfectly satisfactorily. Work, however, goes on and will go on till a satisfactory consummation is reached, if it takes "all summer."

Stations.

There are no less than six stations being put up on the Coso-Panamint or new road, and the longest stretch between is only thirteen miles.

Square and Compass.

The attention of the Masonic Fraternity in this section is directed to the "Election Notice" under the head of New Advertisements.

Teams Loading.

A number of heavy teams are loading at, or on the road from, Bishop Creek with flour, grain etc., for Panamint.

The New Law.

The election passed off very quietly yesterday. The arrangement was such that the voters passed in at one door, a long way from the polling place, and passed through a long dark alley to the ballot-box, voted and came out at another door. The 100-foot circle seemed to be sacred ground, and there was no pulling or hoodlum conduct at or about the polls, and not one fight or row all day. The system of each voter taking his number and name with him very naturally assisted the inspectors in finding and checking names on the poll list. On the whole, we are pleased with the workings of the law so far, and hope it may be continued.—[Carson Appeal.

Rather Froggy.

Some miners at work in the South Chariot shaft day before yesterday, says the Owyhee Avalanche of October 31, found a live frog imbedded in the solid rock, 800 feet below the surface of the ground. When released from his imprisonment of probably millions of years, his frogship jumped about quite lively. His body was of a dark color, and his legs spotted with yellow. How long his Rip Van Winkle sleep had lasted, or how he came to be in solid rock to such a great depth, we leave for the savans of the day to determine. The testimony of a number of reliable men will bear us out in the facts as we have represented them.

BOOKS.

GOOD BOOKS BY POST.

OUR POSTAL FACILITIES ARE NOW SO great that a considerable portion of the new books which find their way to the hands of readers do so through the mails. The cost for postage is so trifling that it is of no consequence compared with the desire to possess a really good book. We publish below a list of good books which may be ordered from this office at the price given, and received by an early post:

The Carriage Painter's Manual. Containing a treatise on the art, science and mystery of coach, carriage and car painting. Fine gilding, bronzing, staining, varnishing, polishing, copying, lettering, scrolling and ornamenting. $1.

How to Paint. For mechanics, merchants, farmers, and a guide to the professional painter. Methods in plain and fancy painting. Including gilding, bronzing, staining, graining, marbling, varnishing, polishing, kalsimining, paper hanging, striping, lettering, copying and ornamenting, mixing paint, tools required, etc. $1.

Life at Home; or The Family and its Members. Husbands, wives, parents, children, brothers, sisters. Rev. Wm Aikman, D. D. $1 50.

Hopes and Helps for the Young of Both Sexes. Formation of character, choice of avocation, health, amusement, music, conversation, cultivation of intellect, moral sentiment, social affection, courtship and marriage. $1 50.

Wedlock; or The Right Relations of the Sexes. Laws of conjugal selection; showing who may and who may not marry. Wells $1 50.

Oratory—Sacred and Secular. Or the extemporaneous speaker. Including a chairman's guide for conducting public meetings. Pittenger. $1 50

The Temperance Reformation; its history from the first temperance society in the United States to the adoption of the Maine Liquor Law. By Rev. J Armstrong. $1 50.

Gems of Goldsmith. "The Traveler," "The Deserted Village," "The Hermit." With notes and original illustrations, and biographical sketch of the great author. One vol. 14mo; tinted paper, fancy cloth. Price $1.

Family Physician. A ready prescriber and hygenic adviser. With reference to the nature, causes, prevention and treatment of diseases, accidents, and casualities of every kind. By Joel Shew, M. D. $4.

Hydropathic Encyclopædia. A system of Hydropathy and Hygiene. Embracing outlines of anatomy and physiology; the preservation of health; special pathology, including the nature, causes, treatment and symptoms of all known diseases. Designed as a guide to families and students, and text book for physicians. By Trall. $4 50.

Children; Their Management in Health and Disease. A descriptive practical work. $1 75.

Family Gymnasium. Containing the most approved methods of applying gymnastic, calisthenic, kinespathic, and vocal exercises to the development of the bodily organs. By Dr. Trall. $1 75.

The Alcoholic Controversy. A review of The Westminster Review on the Pysiological Errors of Teetotalism. By R. T. Trall, M. D. 50 cents.

Annuals of Phrenology and Physiognomy. One yearly 12mo volume. Price 25 cents for the current year. For 1865, '66, '67, '68, '69, '70, '71, '72, '73, nine, containing over 350 illustrations, many portraits and biographies of distinguished personages, together with articles on "How to Study Phrenology," "Bashfulness," "Diffidence," "Stammering," "The Marriage of Cousins," "Jealousy; its cause and cure," etc., the nine in one volume. $2.

Indispensible Hand Book; "How to Write," "How to Talk," "How to Behave" and "How to do Business." $225.

Right Word in the Right Place. A pocket dictionary of Synonyms, technical terms, abbreviations, foreign phrases, etc. 75 cents. n199*

MISCELLANEOUS.

SOLDIERS' WAR CLAIM AGENCY,

No. 34 Montgomery Block, San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, will give prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1861 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection Business. n214m6

PUMPS, ETC.

THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.

San Francisco, Cal.

THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celebrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.

Redwood,

Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essential. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with the BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory or Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

GEOLOGICALLY CONSIDERED

Extracts from a Report on Panamint Mining District to the United States Commissioner of Mining Statistics.

[From the Engineering and Mining Journal.]

The Panamint Mining District is located on the west slope of the Panamint range of mountains, in Inyo County, California.

THE ROAD.

The road by which the mines are at present, reached, takes its starting point from Indian Wells, situated on the east slope of the Sierra Nevada, not far from Walker's Pass, a station on the road from Los Angeles to Cerro Gordo, 165 miles distant from Los Angeles.

Panamint is northeast of Indian Wells, a distance of 70 miles by the present wagon road, which has to cross three valleys and three low ranges of mountains between Indian Wells and Panamint.

TOPOGRAPHY.

The Panamint range has a general course of North 20° West and South 20° East, and is, both in latitude and extent, the most prominent one in this neighborhood, its highest peaks reaching an elevation of about 10,000 feet above the level of the sea; hence it attracts the clouds from the surrounding country, and is subject to heavy rains and cloud-bursts. On its east slope is Death Valley, which, according to Williamson's observations, is considerably below the level of the sea. Observations taken on the road from Indian Wells show, that the descent of the valleys east of the Sierra Nevada is gradual, and terminates finally in Death Valley. In the immediate vicinity of the highest peaks, on the west slope of the range, are the canyons in which Panamint District is located. Of these, Surprise Canyon is the most interesting and prominent, containing the best mines of the district and the town-site of Panamint. South of Surprise Canyon is Happy Canyon, and to the north Narboe Canyon.

Panamint range is of considerable width in this vicinity, the distance from its summit to Panamint Valley being 8½ miles, and to Death Valley, as I am informed, 18 miles.

Surprise Canyon has a general course of North 70° East bending, however, to the northeast at its upper end. In ascending this remarkable canyon one is surprised indeed; such steep, bold, and barren mountains, intersected by deep gulches; such a variety of rocks; such grand traces of the work of the unfettered elements! I can only compare it with a chart of the moon, and conceive that such must have been the aspect of the whole of our earth in its earliest state. Neither grass nor soil cover those corroded mountain sides, and only a few huge cactus have fastened their roots to the rocks. The bottom of the canyon is formed of coarse gravel and great bowlders, some of the latter having been washed down from the very summit of the range. Unusually heavy storms have, again, from time to time, torn this young and gradually formed conglomerate and swept it further onward, cutting perpendicular channels ten and twelve feet deep.

Several springs make their appearance, the first one two miles from the mouth of the canyon. The canyon here becomes narrower, but more friendly. Luxuriant vines cover the rocks; wherever the soil is moist there are copses of willows, and occasionally a small pine tree springs from a cleft in the rocks. Six miles from the mouth of the canyon we reach the town-site of Panamint, laid out on most dangerous ground, in the immediate neighborhood of the mines, and about 6,000 feet above the level of the sea, or about 4,700 feet above Panamint Valley. Here the canyon is again wider, and two miles further up it is barred by the summit, dividing it into a north and east fork.

The gulches which intersect the mountain sides at oblique angles with Surprise Canyon, commencing below the town-site of Panamint, are named respectively: on the north slope: Woodpecker, Jacob's Wonder, Stewart's Wonder, Sourdough; on the south slope: Cannon, Marvel, Little Chief, Stern. The ridges on either side of Surprise Canyon near its end rise to an altitude of about 7,500 to 8,700 feet above the level of the sea. These gulches are well timbered, the trees being nut pine and cedar.

NARURAL RESOURCES.

Although the district lies in a barren country, and is rather difficult of access, yet its natural advantages in regard to wood, water, and salt are excellent.

GEOLOGY.

The geological features of the Panamint range are exceedingly grand and interesting, and to do full justice to the subject would require a long study. I shall give, therefore, only such outlines as have an important bearing upon the formation of the mineral deposits, and for this purpose I shall confine myself to the geology of Surprise Canyon alone. Of course I lay no claim to great exactness for the reason given above.

Surprise Canyon, from its mouth to the summit of Panamint range, presents a succession of sedimentary metamorphic rocks, elevated, disturbed, and transformed by a series of eruptive rocks at various intervals. For two miles from the mouth of the canyon we find a formation of dark colored mica slates, alternating with quartzitic slates, with little patches of limestone here and there on the top of the ridges. In proceeding further, we find this slate traversed by dykes of greisen. Greisen is a rock of very rare occurrence, and consists of white crystalline quartz and white lithion mica. Its eruptive nature, which has been doubted by some geologists, becomes here very evident. This rock becomes soon predominant and forms an immense mass, which I estimate to be about half a mile in width. Here, owing to the extreme hardness of the rock, the canyon is very narrow, in places just wide enough for the road. The greisen itself is again perforated by dykes of diorite, and where the greisen ends we find a more extensive eruption of diorite, which encloses a small formation of crystalline limestone. Then we meet a formation of light colored, highly metamorphized quartzitic slates (with mica) which have altogether lost their stratification traversed by dykes of diorite. This is followed by white crystalline limestone o about 1,000 to 1,500 feet in thickness, also containing diorite dykes. Then, again, dark colored metamorphic quartzitic slates with mica, and horn-blende slates, cut by diorite and diabase dykes, occur for a mile and a half. These carry more or less limestone on the mountain ridges.

By this time we have reached the last two miles of the canyon, which here intersects that part of the formation which interests us most, namely, the mineral belt. The latter consists mainly of a bluish crystalline limestone, alternating with dark colored limestone and calcareous quartzitic and mica slates. Finally the chain is closed by an enormous eruption of a porphyritic trachyte.

In reviewing this grand formation, we arrive at the following conclusions in regard to the geology of Surprise Canyon. We recognize two great centers of eruption and elevation. The first and older is by the greisen, which upheaved and broke the sedimentary rocks, followed by eruptions of diorite, which did their share in metamorphizing the sedimentary rocks. The second and more recent one by the porphyritic trachyte, which elevated the whole range to its present hight, and undoubtedly, was the cause of the formation of the mineral belt which leans against this rock.

It is also evident that Surprise Canyon is of eruptive origin, that is, a fissure riven in the mountain. The numerous dykes of diorite, which traverse the sedimentary rocks, are rarely found to intersect both sides of the canyon, but are mostly found either on one side or the other, which would be unaccountable, if the channel of the canyon had been formed by the action of the water.

THE MINERAL BELT.

The mineral belt of Panamint District extends from West to East two to two and a half miles, and from North to South about five miles. On the north slope of Surprise Canyon, where the formation is more regular, it consists of the following succession of rocks: hornblende slate; crystalline bluish limestone; dark colored limestone, calcareous slate, quartzitic slate, and mica slate; dyke of diorite or diabase; white marble; dark slates; limestone; and then the enormous eruption of the trachyte. This rock is composed of large crystals of sanidine in a flesh-colored feldspathic ground mass, enclosing occasionally crystals of hornblende and dark mica.

FORM OF OCCURRENCE OF ORE.

While in nearly all the limestone districts of Southeast Nevada, as, for instance, in Cortez, Mineral Hill, Eureka, Reveille, and White Pine, the ore occurs in the form of irregular aggregations, no matter if they are defined or not to a certain extent by some wall, or in the form of impregnations in the limestone—as is often the case in White Pine—Panamint District carries its ore in the much desired shape of veins, or to use the common pleonastic expression, in true fissure veins. I pronounce them veins for the following reasons:

1. Their croppings can be traced without interruption for long distances.

2. There is a well defined system of parallel fissures.

3. These fissures not only traverse the limestone, but continue through the slate.

4. They intersect the country rock independent ot the strike and dip of its stratification.

5. The ore is entirely confined to the gangue between the walls of the veins. In no instance did I find even a trace of ore in the limestone. Those who are familiar with the above named districts in Nevada, will remember how the limestone teemed with little croppings, and bunches of ore of the most irregular shape.

VEIN SYSTEMS.

We recognize in Panamint District one main system of veins, which strike East of North, with a very steep dip West of North, to which belong nearly all the prominent ledges, and then a subordinate system, the veins of which strike West of North, and dip East of North. Examples of the first system are the Wonder, Marvel, and Hudson River; of the second, the Esperanza, and War Eagle. In comparing the strike of the different veins of the main system, there seems to be at first sight great confusion and irregularity; but these disappear at once, as soon as we take into consideration their relative position in the mineral belt. The fissures of the main system do not run in straight lines, but in curves. At the extreme west end of the belt, they have a course of about North 22° East. Proceeding further east they swing more and more East of North, reaching nearly due East and finally sway back to a northeast course. Keeping this in mind we ought to be rather astonished at the great regularity of the system.

BREAKS.

From the preceding statements it will be seen that the main system of veins runs nearly parallel with the course of Surprise Canyon. Hence the gulches which intersect the slopes of the mountain sides, must also cut the veins. In examining these points of intersection, we find that the veins are more or less disturbed and broken. It is apparent, also, that these gulches owe their existence to eruptive forces. On the south slope of the canyon we find also fissures with crushed limestone, for instance, near the Esperanza, causing a break in this vein.

INFLUENCE OF THE SLATE UPON THE CONTINUANCE OF THE VEINS.

It has been remarked before, that the veins are not confined to the limestone, but also continue through the slate. When they enter the slate, however, we find them generally split up into several branches, which condition is best illustrated at the east end of Stewart's Wonder.

BRANCH VEINS.

Another peculiarity of the district is the occurrence of branch veins, which dip very flat, are sometimes much more developed, and carry richer ore, than the main vein. This case is well illustrated in Jacob's Wonder.

CROPPINGS.

I hardly know a mining district where more continuous and bolder croppings are found than in Panamint. In mounting the ridges on either side of Surprise Canyon, the whole system of veins lies spread before the observer like a huge map. These croppings of compact quartz vary in width from a few inches to 20 feet and even more, and, being less destructible than the country rock, often project like cliffs over ten feet above the ground. They carry rich ore in continuance over long distances, but are also barren for long distances.

CHARACTER OF THE GANGUE.

The gangue of the veins is a hard compact quartz laminated in thick layers parallel to the walls. The only exception to this rule was found in the Sunrise, situated at the extreme east end of the mineral belt. Here a great part of the quartz is spongy, the cavities often filled with crystals of quartz. In this mine also calcspar is found in the gangue, which I have not observed anywhere else.

CHARACTER OF THE ORE.

The predominant silver bearing mineral, which gives the ore its value, is a rich silver fahlore. It appears entirely undecomposed very close to the surface. In many places, however, we find it changed to stetefeltide, that is, a combination of antimoniates of copper, lead, iron and zinc, with sulphuret of silver and water. Where this mineral makes its appearance, it is accompanied by the blue and green carbonates of copper. Much less frequent we find silverglance, chloride of silver and native silver. These latter minerals are predominant only in one mine, the Sunrise. Of the base minerals we find blende and galena.

DISTRIBUTION OF ORE IN THE GANGUE.

As a general rule, the silver-bearing minerals are not finely disseminated through the quartz, but form visible grains from the size of a pinhead to a large pea, and occasionally much larger. The ore occurs also in pay streaks, parallel to the walls of the vein. Both these characteristics make it very easy to assort the pay ore from the low grade ore and barren quartz. The ore in the Sunrise is the most prominent exception to this rule, as the spongy quartz contains the silver-bearing minerals finely impregnated.

RICHNESS OF ORE.

The ores of Panamint are of very high grade, as the following assays show:

	Per ton.
Pure fahlore from Stewart's Wonder	$919 57
First class ore from " "	215 19
Average of pay streak from incline of Steware's Wonder	83 24
Selected first class ore from Jacob's Wonder	348 11
Low grade ore from Jacob's Wonder	12 56
Rich ore from croppings of Wyoming	609 47
Average of pay streak from Little Chief	84 82
Ore with blende and galena from Little Chief	59 69
Ore from pay streak from Hemlock	197 91
Ore from pay streak from Harrison	152 33
Average of pay streak from upper cut of Hudson River	80 10

It may be safe to estimate the value of ore from the pay streaks of these mines to be from $75 to $100 per ton. But much higher grades could be selected should this be desirable.

DISTRIBUTION OF THE PRECIOUS METAL WITHIN THE MINERAL BELT.

In reviewing these assays, and estimating the percentage of fahlore contained in the different samples, I come to the conclusion that the mineral belt carries much richer fahlore to the South than to the North. Indeed, the ore found in Narboe Canyon, north of Surprise Canyon, becomes more base, showing more lead minerals, and a fahlore rich in copper but poorer in silver.

INFLUENCE OF THE SLATE UPON THE DISTRITION OF ORE.

In connection with the above stated facts I have also to remark that the slate seems to have considerable influence upon the distribution of the ore in the veins. All the extensive ore chimneys are found in the limestone, and wherever a vein runs deep into the slate, the croppings soon become barren. There are some veins cropping in the slate alone, which show no trace of ore.

EXTENT AND DIP OF ORE CHIMNEYS.

The croppings of the veins show ore chimneys of great extent, measuring on the prominent veins from 300 to 600 feet in length. From observations made in the gulches which intersect the veins, I am led to believe that the dip of these ore chimneys will be East or North. Another reason which confirms this opinion is, that the limestone dips in that direction.

DEVELOPMENTS IN DEPTH.

It is to be regretted that so little has been done in regard to the development of the mines in depth. And it is to be regretted still more, that the most important developments show nothing favorable, and this has evidently deterred the prospectors from continuing their explorations. It is my opinion that these explorations have in some cases been started at the wrong place, in others on inferior mines, and in others with lack of judgment.

PROBABILITIES OF THE CONTINUANCE OF THE VEINS AND THE ORE IN DEPTH.

In considering the magnificent geological formation of Surprise Canyon, the regularity of the grand system of parallel veins, the uniform character of the silver-bearing in this system, the extensive ore chimneys exposed on the surface, the presence of an eruptive rock—which is highly favorable to the formation of mineral deposits—in close proximity to the mineral belt, I feel confident that these veins will continue in depth, and also that the ore will continue in depth, and very likely of similar richness to that found at the surface. This judgment may appear somewhat bold, but I cannot arrive at any other conclusion after a full consideration of all the facts which observation, experience, and science bring before me.

DESCRIPTION OF THE MINES.

I now proceed to describe two of the principal and most characteristic veins of the district.

THE WONDER.

This remarkable vein has been located on the north slope of Surprise Canyon for a distance of 5,250 feet, and its croppings, intersecting Woodpecker, Jacob's Wonder, and Stewart's Wonder gulches, can be traced nearly 5,000 feet. The most valuable of the claims are Jacob's Wonder and Stewart's Wonder, which are separated by the Challenge claim of 750 feet.

A. JACOB'S WONDER, (1500 feet).

The croppings of this claim striking nearly West-East, with a dip to the North of 80°, run over the ridge between Woodpecker and Jacob's Gulch, intersect the latter, and extend to the summit of the ridge between Jacob's and Stewart's Gulch. In Jacob's Gulch (425 feet above Rain's camp) we observe a slight break in the vein. To the West, the croppings extend up the steep mountain to its summit, a hight of 500 feet above the gulch, the main being joined near the summit by a south branch vein of, I judge, 15 to 20 feet in width. These croppings vary considerably in width, and are mostly barren. The ore chimney lies East of the gulch. Here we find the croppings of the main vein to continue East in a width of from 4 to 6 feet, falling, however, in places considerably below these dimensions. South of the main vein is a branch vein from 10 to 12 feet wide, which dips 35° North. In the gulch both croppings come together, and form an enormous mass of quartz, 20 to 25 feet wide. This branch does not continue West of the gulch, but can be traced East nearly to the Challenge claim. On account of the topography of the hill, the croppings of the branch vein diverge to the East from the croppings of the main vein. At the same time they diminish in width to about 3 feet. Both croppings show good ore for about 500 feet. The branch vein, however, shows much more ore than the main vein, and contains pay streaks several feet wide. No work has been done on the main ledge. On the branch (575 feet above Rain's camp) an incline, 55 feet long has been sunk to the foot wall of the main ledge, but without penetrating further. This incline shows barren quartz at its bottom. But the Mexicans, who did the work, have done it without sense. Instead of going down on the foot wall, they ran the incline through the quartz rear the hanging wall, and after a while left it altogether and pushed the roof of the incline in limestone, probably to get easier work. A few cuts West of the incline show very rich ore.

B. STEWART'S WONDER.

There is another break in Stewart's Gulch, and the disturbance here is much greater than in Jacob's Gulch (same altitude as Rain's camp). No croppings appear in the gulch to the West opposite the Stewart's Wonder croppings; they are found again, however, some distance to the North in the Challenge. Stewart's wonder claim (1500 feet) runs Northeast from the gulch, the vein taking here a northeast course. The croppings show very prominent, and from 4 to 7 feet wide, nearly to the top of the ridge, where an incline has been sunk. In the gulch the quartz is perfectly barren, but higher up an ore chimney commences, which I estimate to be 350 to 500 feet long. Near the incline (530 feet above Rain's camp) to the Northeast, dark colored limestone and slate commence, and the vein splits into three distinct branches, which carry for some distance very good ore, but becomes barren in the slate. The incline, about 20 feet deep, sunk on one of these branches, shows near the surface a ledge 5 to 6 feet wide, dipping Northwest with a pay streak 2 feet wide, the rest being barren quartz. Lower down a wedge of limestone separates the pay streak from the barren quartz, and at the same time the pay streak widens considerably over 3 feet.

THE MARVEL—WYOMING.

Next to the Wonder, the Marvel, located on the South slope of Surprise Canyon, is the most prominent vein of the district, and, if we consider the Suprise to be on the same vein, the Marvel is nearly as extensive in length as the Wonder. Marvel Gulch is the deepest and longest of the intersections on the south slope of Surprise Canyon. The formation here is less regular, and the disturbances greater than in other gulches.

The croppings of the Marvel exposed in the gulch are huge and exceedingly barren. Near the summit to the East I measured them and found a width of 20 feet. On the summit, (1700 feet above Rain's camp) however, they split up into a number of thin stringers intersected by a number of barren little cross veins. Descending a short distance to the head of Little Chief Gulch, the Wyoming claim commences. Here we find very rich croppings, (1600 feet above Rain's camp,) from 5 to 6 feet wide. These croppings continue ore bearing to the Northeast, but only in a width of 2 to 3 feet, over the next ridge, which divides Little Chief from Stern's Gulch. I estimate the length of this ore chimney to be from 300 to 350 feet. A short distance below the ridge, (1600 feet above Rain's camp,) at the northeast end of the ore chimney, a tunnel about 100 feet long has been run in a southwest direction on the ledge. This tunnel shows for about 20 feet from its mouth a streak of rich ore 6 to 8 inches wide. In progressing further southwest the vein widens to 3 feet. During this whole distance the quartz is mostly barren. Above the tunnel are bold croppings. In the vicinity of the tunnel the limestone is dark colored, and to the northeast we find slate. This accounts for the barren nature of the vein in the tunnel. The Wyoming croppings appear again on the ridge on the other side of Stern Gulch, but are barren and split up.

OPENING THE MINES.

From the topographical description of Surprise Canyon it will be evident that a splendid opportunity is offered to open the mines by tunnels. Apart from other advantages this would save the expense of constructing expensive tramways and roads for the conveyance of the ore and supplies.

The Great Horse Race.

The great four mile and repeat race, which has excited so much attention on this coast, and, in fact, all over the United States, came off at Bay View track, San Francisco, last Saturday pursuant to notice.

The purse is said to be the largest ever run for in America. About 30,000 people witnessed the contest. The horses run were Katie Pease, Thad Stevens, Hockhocking, Alpha, Henry and Hardwood. Californians pungled their money freely on old Thad and lost, for Katie took the race and purse in two straight heats. Time, 7:43¼, 7:36¼. The purse of $25,000 was divided as follows: Katie, first money, $13,000 Henry, second money, $5,000; Hardwood, third, $4,000; old Thad, a bad fourth, $3,000.

Panamint Incorporations.

Articles of incorporation for five additional companies for Panamint, all with the same directors, have recently been filed in the Clerk's office of the county of San Francisco. These are, the Surprise Canyon Toll Road Company, capital $1,000,000; the Esperanza, Silver Belt, Liitle Blue and Comstock Silver Mining Companies, for carrying on mining and merchandising in that district, each with a capital stock of $5,000,000, divided into 60,000 shares. SHOULD BE STIRRING.

We publish in another place a letter addressed to the Los Angeles Express which, as that paper remarks, "shows conclusively that as a sure, money-making investment this road [L. A. and I R. R.] is not only a safe but eminently inviting." "What," says the Express, "can our people be thinking when they, by their indifference, are, perhaps, letting this golden opportunity for securing this independent road slip forever?"

What can Los Angeles mean, sure enough, if it is going to let this golden opportunity pass unimproved? Viewed from our stand point, to do so will prove the most fatally stupid act, or lack of action rather, that a town of such capabilities as Los Angeles was ever guilty of. If this independent road is not built or controlled by that town then farewell for good, and aye, all hopes of her ever becoming anything approaching to a great commercial city. It is as clear as the noon-day sun that that hoped for consummation is an impossibility; of what avail will be her free ocean highway that is to attract and concentrate the business of a whole inland empire at her port, and, in short, make her a great commercial city, when it is left to the absolute dictum of a powerful corporation to wholly control and direct it to another?

It is the shearest nonsense in the world, this time-worn axiom, that "trade must follow its natural (i. e. cheapest) channel." That was true enough when wagons and boats were the only means of conveyance, and then only because they were, severally, independent bidders willing to do the work at rates gauged in accordance with the natural advantages of respective routes. That axiom was true before "soulless railroad corporations" secured the power they now hold of forcing trade into anychannel they saw proper. Does Los Angeles suppose for one moment that Stanford & Co., representative of the great Pacific railroad corporation, will ever send one pound of Arizona or "back country" freight to ship board at Wilmington because it is cheaper to the shipper? Not an ounce for such reason as that, not an ounce, when as the power rests with them as it will, they can exact five or ten dollars more per ton and thereby give profitable employment to scores of their own locomotives in hauling it over hundreds of miles of rails which otherwise would rust in idleness. It is absurd for Los Angeles to hope for even a dollar in commission for any of these inland freights if their control lies only with this great corporation. It won't matter or alter the conditions if she would agree to transport them absolutely free by ships to its final destination. These freights must pay for building and operating the roads built by that company, not only the portion running into Los Angeles, but also all that connecting it with San Francisco, and, if the latter portion is kept in comparative idleness that Los Angeles may get the benefit of handling the freights, it must be at the cost of maintaining the other portion in its idleness. The cost to the shippers will be the same, and to them, as well as to Los Angeles, the enticements of possible competitive ocean rates might as well not exist. Whether our freights go two hundred miles to reach the sea at Wilmington, or six hundred to a market at San Francisco, the tariff to the shipper will be the same, if the "say" is left wholly to this corporation. Such being the case, is it reasonable to suppose the shipper will elect to send his freights via Los Angeles and the sea to San Francisco when he can send it direct to its destination for exactly the same money?

If Los Angeles does not go to work to build this independent, competitive line of railroad, she, so far as future commercial greatness is concerned, might just as well fence in her streets for cow pastures now as hereafter, for, in that sense, that is all they will ever be good for.

And, on the other hand, for us, for this inland country, generally, this competitive, independent road is of even more importance. It will be of just this much importance from this day forward: that is, we will be taxed not less than five dollars more on each and every ton of incoming and outgoing freight if we have to depend wholly on the Southern Pacific than if we had this competitive line. In a few years it will make millions of dollars difference in or out of our pockets as this question is determined. And it is a question that has to be determined at once, too. As the writer referred to, says:

"It is 'now, or never,' for the trade of Inyo county. And it is now, or never, with this railroad project. When the Southern Pacific Railroad passes the Sierras, we lose the former, and capital cannot be obtained for the latter, and Los Angeles lies throttled by the hand she has beggared herself to enrich."

Correct in every respect, eminently so in the first and last few words.

But it puts us out of patience to see business men knowing the possibilities, not to say absolute certainties of what an immense increase of trade can be developed at once in this great mineral region, set down to figure out the advisability of doing something to be decided only by the actual business existing today without such aid. If we have now reached the limits of our development—if the working of one mine in a thousand as good or better—if that is our maximum then these men are right in taking to slate and pencil and statistics, same as if they were going to ship a load of oranges some place on a small margin for profits, so small prospectively, that it would be "business" to add up the drayage, wharfage, rattage, stealings, freights, commissions, etc., to deduct from the known market price to prove whether the venture would pay. And when that point is determined, then deduce from the same figures whether it will pay to build the Independence Railroad. It will afford about as fair a criterion by which to judge the future business of this country as the figures of its actual business to-day do, just as fair. That is to say we have a country now which, under every possible disadvantage and adverse circumstance, has already developed a business of such extent as to justify the expense of this railroad if nothing more was ever to be expected, and yet it is an obvious fact that scarcely the initiatory step has been taken toward its development, scarcely a scratch on the surface of the ground has yet been made.

But the fact is just here: If this enterprise falls through by reason of the apparent apathy of the leading business men of Los Angeles it is not because they fail to see the prospective advantages to accrue to their own city, or because they underrate the capacities of their back country, but simply because they even now dare not as individuals strike out on a line independent of the great corporation. That's our opinion of the matter. We can't believe, on any other hypothesis, these men are so deficient in business capacity, such short sighted donkeys.

INDEPENDENCE RAILROAD.

A correspondent of the Los Angeles Express speaks as follows concerning the above named enterprise:

I am conscious few of your readers are aware of the large business which will surely reward the capital invested in the contemplated narrow gauge railroad from our tide water to Inyo county. Few have traveled the country with their eyes open to its varied and general resources and wants. Permit me to aid you in keeping alive an interest in the road by giving you some items that have come to my knowledge during my travels.

PRESENT BUSINESS.

A gentleman who has had ample opportunities for obtaining the information gives the annual freight bill of Cerro Gordo at $400,000, and that of Independence, Lone Pine, Swansea and immediately adjacent country at $300,000. Panamint may safely be put down for two years at least at $490,000 per annum for freight alone.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC.

A reasonable tariff of $25 per head for 40 passengers per day (a very small estimate) would give us $365,000 per annum.

MAILS AND EXPRESS

Would add $35,000 to this, and swell the aggregate receipts to $1,500,000 ANNUALLY!

Two hundred miles of road, and all but twenty of it on ground the superior of which does not exist for railroad purposes—graded by Nature as it is—will secure this business.

At an estimate of $10,000 per mile we have an outlay of $2,000,000 for the road, and estimating the running expenses at $500,000 per annum we have a yearly surplus of fifty per cent. of the cost of the road for a dividend or sinking fund.

In the above estimate no account has been made of the business between the city and the seaport, nor the local business springing up between stations that would be developed all along the road, neither of the hundreds of located mines in the Sierras, the Slate Range, Telescope, Cerro Gordo, Coso, and other mountains, which await railroad communication before they can be profitably worked.

In view of the favorable nature of the country, the large business offering and the certainty of the profitableness of the investment, I am astonished that we are not already in the enjoyment of the desired communication. With that road constructed nothing could stand between us and prosperity. It is plain and self-evident, and if we do not have it, those who possess the ability will very soon regret their want of action. It is "now, or never," for the trade of Inyo county. And it is now or never with this railroad project. When the Southern Pacific Railroad passes the Sierras, we lose the former, and capital cannot be obtained for the latter, and Los Angeles lies throttled by the hand she has beggared herself to enrich.

—Some enterprising wasps started a nest over night in the trousers of a boarder at a St. Paul hotel, and when the gentleman thrust his leg through the next morning the whole town wasn't large enough to hold him —The average value of trade between Paris and this country is estimated at $75,000,000 annually.

—There are 1,008 prisoners at San Quentin

PRE-EMPTION CASES.

For the purpose of imparting information, kindly furnished us by Mr. McCallum, the Register of this Land District, we give place to the following:

There seems to be some misunderstanding about the time for proof and payment in pre-emption cases: The requirements are: First: "When a party settles before the land is surveyed, he must file his declaratory statement within three months from the filing of the township plat, and within thirty-three months after the filing of such plat must make proof. Second: When settlement is made on surveyed land the settler must file within three months after settlement, and must prove up within thirty-three months after settlement."

It has been held by the General Land Office that where a settler allows the time to elapse without making proof such settler will not be entitled to a hearing in the event of an adverse filing; therefore failure to comply with the requirements relative to proving up is likely to work a forfeiture of the claim. In all cases not yet proved up claimants should notify the Land Office as to about the time when they wish to offer their proofs, whereupon a day will be fixed and notified accordingly. In case the claimant is naturalized or has declared his intention to become a citizen his papers must be produced, or none other than citizens or those who have declared their intention to become citizens are entitled to the benefits of the pre-emption laws.

It is not necessary to pay for the land on the same day proofs are offered; but in cases where the evidence taken, clearly and conclusively establishes the fact that the claimant is a qualified pre-emptor and seeks title to land in good faith, such claimant will have the option of paying for the land at the time of making proof or anytime thereafter or of waiting until the General Land Office shall have rendered its decision, which may not be rendered in six months after date of proving up.

The following table shows the date when pre-emption filings made in the Independence Land District will expire, or have already expired on land which has not been offered at public sale:

Freak of a Discarded Lover.

The little village of Climax, Michigan, has had a sensation. A charming little druggist became enamored of a rich widow's daughter, and pressed his attentions ardently and persistently upon her, which she as earnestly repelled, and finally he was driven from the house. But he even then was not willing to give her up. He made nightly visits to the yard and peered through the windows where his fair dulcinea was supposed to be innocently reposing in the arms of Morpheus or some other fellow. This trick was soon found out, and he was expelled from the yard in a manner that made him revolve like a fly wheel. But not willing to give up without at least a relic of remembrance of the fair one, he visited the clothes line the night after wash day and purloined a chemise and pair of drawers belonging to her which he stuffed and hung up in his bedroom, making a full effigial representation of his adored by adding a stuffed head and feet. It was found by officers who were searching for the lost wearing apparel, who, after showing the imitation mummy to a few friends near by, heartlessly disemboweled it and carried home the stolen garments. Though ridiculously strange, the above described occurrence is substantially true.

Mystery of the Lakes.

Lake Erie is only sixty or seventy feet deep; but Lake Ontario, which is 592 feet deep, is 230 feet below the tide level of the ocean, or as low as most parts of the Gulf of St. Lawrence; and the bottoms of lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior, although the surface is much higher, are all, from their vast depth, on a level with the bottom of Ontario. Now, as the discharge through the river Detroit, after allowing for the probable portion carried off by evaporation, does not appear by any means equal to the quantity of water which the upper lakes receive, it has been conjectured that a subterranean river may run from Lake Superior, by the Huron, to Lake Ontario. This conjecture is not improbable, and accounts for the singular fact that salmon and herring are caught in all the lakes communicating with the St. Lawrence, but no others. As the Falls of Niagara must have always existed, it would be difficult for the naturalists to say how these fish get into the upper lakes without some subterranean river; moreover, any periodical obstruction of the river would furnish a not improbable solution of the mysterious flux and reflux of the the lakes.

—"What will not a woman do for the man she loves?" asked a writer. She will not eat onions while going to a party, no matter how much she loves him.

Our Panamint Letter.

Phil. Felsenthal has sold his stock of merchandise to Stewart & Co., who have filled up a large store at their headquarters. The main town was, for a few days, without a store, but Maloney has received some goods.....The Messrs. Cohn have their lumber on the ground....Harris & Rhine are preparing to receive a large stock and others are "talking store," so that we shall undoubtedly be well supplied with everything shortly....Felsenthal proposes to go into a banking business.... Hippolyte Calderon yesterday received a large stock for a French restaurant to be kept in the tent vacated by Felsenthal, paying for the same and two lots $2,000....Seven big teams—regular desert schooners — were discharging freight in our town yesterday at one time....Nagle's large saloon is approaching completion, and the lumber is on the ground for another. Panamint will rival older cities in the magnificence of saloons.....A billiard table was among the articles received yesterday. ....There are scores of men arriving daily—some with money seeking investments in mines or in business—others "dead broke" seeking work. Many of the latter are poorly provided and may suffer, as blankets and heavy clothing are indispensable here. All coming should provide themselves therewith before coming here....The mines are improving as work progresses.....The Carribou mine, belonging to Kennedy & Co., is prospected to the depth of sixty feet by a shaft, and shows a great improvement upon the surface prospect. New discoveries are being made daily in every direction from the main camp —showing as well as many of the older claims....Stewart & Co are still buying all that they can get, and other heavy capitalists are represented. No new mining camp ever had the capital that our district now commands for its development. The Hudson River mine is among the latest purchases of the Stewart & Co.; the figure is reported to be $25,000. Pat. Reddy, Esq., of Independence, was the fortunate owner of 100 feet....The fall fights commenced last week and a number of scrimmages have taken place, but the results have not been serious....Drinking and heavy gambling, incident to new camps, is seen here every night....This is the regular pay day and to-night lively times are anticipated....The stage from Lone Pine came in on Saturday, but brought but little mail and only a few passengers. When it is known that the road is open it will undoubtedly be the popular route for all coming from Nevada.

Faded.

The Rosebuds, after budding and blooming and flourishing and doing very well, came to the conclusion, last Wednesday, that they had bloomed and ripened and were now full blown flowers and were ready to be put away in lavender, horsemint or Panamint that the perfume might not be diminished, and accordingly invited every one to come and help and be witnesses. Very nearly everybody, far and near in this vicinity, did go, and this farewell party of this club was highly enjoyed by all. The Club spread a fine collation in the Masonic Lodge room, and, as will be seen by notice elsewhere, return thanks to the ladies who kindly assisted them in this part of the programme. The dancing hall was decorated by a huge painted programme of the dances, and "Rosebud Farewell," which, (the programme we mean,) we are assured was deemed an artistic success, as was the whole affair. The fact that this Club has suspended will be received with regret by a good many of our young folks to whom its frequent meetings have been a source of a good deal of pleasure and promised to be of even more during the long winter nights now before us. But there was no use in calling dances when the dancers have nearly all danced off to Panamint, hence this suspension.

Northern Stage Line.

The Northern Stage Line, Tuller & Cluggage, proprietors, running from Carson through to Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo, is now making the best time ever attained on the road, and with the exception of the section between this point and Bishop Creek, on which an open wagon is now running, is well stocked with teams and wagons. To remedy the hitch here, Cluggage is understood to be en route hither with an eight passenger coach—the hastening of which we would strongly advise. Nevada passengers for Panamint will book their names with Mr. H. A. Brown, agent, at the office of Wells, Fargo & Co., for Lone Pine—fare $30; time, forty-eight hours. At Lone Pine there are two lines and routes for Panamint—fare, by Dodge's line, $25; time, twenty hours. If the Nevada papers, particularly, will publish the information contained in this item they will thereby oblige hundreds, to our certain knowledge.

The Shooting at Lone Pine.

It turns out that the rumored shooting at Lone Pine, mentioned last week was an actual reality, much to the sorrow and pain of one Antonio Salcido, who was the unfortunate victim. It seems that some other parties were about to shoot each other, and Salcido, as peacemaker, stepped in between and received a shot intended for another. The ball lodged near the right femur, from which (or the perenium in which it was imbedded to a depth of three-fourths of an inch). Dr. Gelcich soon after extracted it, and the patient is now doing well. Salcido is a quiet, peaceable man, and was not a party in the broil, but who these parties are we do not know. He was in the employ of Diaz as vaquero previous to this occurrence.

Kearsarge Matters.

Mr. Gray, representative of the Kearsarge company, is now here, and we understand has in contemplation an important move with respect to this property. It is proposed to either start up the mill or remove it elsewhere. If the examination of the mines on the mountain which he is now making should satisfy him that the remove is most advisable, that course will be the one pursued; but with all the mines there properly worked, we certainly think that an abundance of good ore can be obtained to keep the mill running, and to as good profit as in any of our neighboring localities, no matter where.

Thanksgiving.

Grateful people will please remember that next Thursday is, by proclamation of the President, set apart as a day of Thanksgiving for the many blessings enjoyed by us as a people during the past year, and govern themselves accordingly—in which government we, of this office will be mighty well pleased to join if some one should send us (to be credited on subscription, mind) a fair to middling fat gobbler; not too large nor over fed, just medium, and it won't make any serious difference if it should be of the female persuasion.

At Big Pine

On Thursday evening last, a goodly crowd of ladies and gentlemen assembled to participate in a social ball and supper, given in the new addition to McMurry's hotel. The supper was superb, the company and music all that could be desired, and the fun was prolonged until an early hour in the morning.

Wintry.

Yesterday morning our people were somewhat astonished to find about two inches of snow on the ground, which looks as though the weather clerk is trying to crowd Winter ahead a little. The weather, however, so far, is quite calm and mild.

At Home.

Our wandering junior returned home yesterday, and is again slinging type as of yore. After a brief swinging around the county circle, he proposes to settle down at this point and "stay put."

A Great Mining Discovery.

We have the pleasure to record what, from all accounts, is likely to prove the most valuable and important mining discovery ever made in the county. Indeed, Judge Hanson of this place, one of the lucky ones, (and whose judgment is to be relied upon since he is well acquainted with almost every mine in the county,) thinks the prospect the most flattering ever seen on the coast. It is a discovery made about two weeks since by Wm. and Robert Brown, brothers, in Coso district, about ten miles northeast of the old Coso camp or town. It consists of huge veins or deposits of carbonate lead ore, rich in silver, and of the very best smelting class as has been demonstrated by actual trial. In amount, so far as surface indications can prove the fact the ore is simply inexhaustible. The Judge insists upon it that he is not in the least excited and yet at the same time feels perfectly assured that in less than twelve months from date this new camp will eclipse in the amount of rich bullion it will turn out every other smelting district in this or any other State—and, from what he says of it, we think it extremely probable. The ore, by several assays made at Cerro Gordo and Swansea, yields on the average over seventy ounces in silver and over fifty per cent. lead. The two principal veins are over twenty feet wide of solid ore. The formation is soft limestone and porphry, nearly as soft as the ore itself, owing to which fact the country rock has worn away as fast at the ledges or vein matter leaving the latter exposed, when, otherwise, the more rapid oxidation of the lead contained would have caused the ores in the lapse of years to sink out of sight. Geologically, the conditions could not be more favorable, both for permanency and ease of working; tangibly, the ore in unlimited quantity is there, plain to be seen, and however extravagant the Judge's opinion may appear to be, we fully believe from his account and our faith in his truthfulness, that his anticipations will, sooner or later, be fully realized, and that this discovery is, in point of fact, the most valuable one yet made in this county. But taking things as they are, material for active work is being sent out as rapidly possible, the district has been duly organized, its boundaries defined, a set of laws adopted, numerous locations have been made and recorded, and now, all who choose, can go and see for themselves and find mines for themselves. It is not at all probable all the claims have been taken, for, as yet it does not appear that over a dozen persons have ever been in this camp, notwithstanding it forms a portion of the old, by name, well-known Coso district. Specimens of the ore can be seen at this office. We cannot at this issue attempt a minute description or account of the ledges or district, but shall do so soon. The district is less than thirty miles south of Cerro Gordo, and full as easy of access, being only six miles east of the Panamint road. Plenty of wood and water is found within available distances, and altogether, the new Coso is very favorably located, and on its own merits, is going to be the camp of all.

Severe Accident.

The many friends of Mrs. Joseph Schalten, of this place, will be pained to learn that she was the victim of a most severe accident, yesterday forenoon. It was from the kick of a horse, the blow striking her full upon the right side of the face, cutting a deep gash of nearly two inches in length and breaking the nose. It seems she was in the corral, some little distance from the house, attending to a young cow, when the horse, ordinarily gentle enough, came near, and almost without notice let fly his heels, knocking her insensible. She was alone but soon revived sufficiently to make her way to the house unassisted, presenting a most shocking spectacle as the blood streamed from her face. Dr. Blair was immediately called in and dressed the wounds, but the inward bleeding, together with the effects of the terrible concussion, caused great prostration and suffering during the afternoon. She is now doing quite well, and will likely not experience any permanent injury or disfigurement. It is deemed very probable that the blow would have killed her outright if the horse had been shod as, fortunately, he was not.

Poker.

They poke considerably out at Panamint. The other evening one chap laid down $1,000 which the other chap "saw," then made a draw and pungled $4,000 more each. Sixes and aces took the $10,000 at one fell swoop.

Travelers should always carry a bottle of Radway's Ready Relief with them. A few drops in water will prevent sickness or pains from change of water. It is better than French Brandy of Bitters as a stimulant.

FEVER AND AGUE.

FEVER AND AGUE cured for fifty cents. There is not a remedial agent in the world that will cure Fever and Ague, and all other malarious, Bilious, Scarlet, Typhoid, Yellow and other Fevers (aided by RADWAY'S PILLS), so quick as RADWAY'S READY RELIEF. Fifty cents per bottle. Sold by Druggists.

HEALTH! BEAUTY!!

STRONG AND PURE RICH BLOOD—INCREASE OF FLESH AND WEIGHT—CLEAR SKIN AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION SECURED TO ALL.

DR. RADWAY'S Sarsaparillian Resolvent

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES; SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the life principle are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional and Skin Diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney and Bladder Complaints, Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the small of the back and along the loins. WORMS—The only known and sure remedy for Worms—Pin, Tape, etc.

Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cured by Radway's Ready Resolvent.

BEVERLY, MASS., July 18, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended; but nothing helped me I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

DR. RADWAY'S Perfect Purgative Pills,

perfectly tasteless, elegantly coated with sweet gum, purge, regulate, purify, cleanse and strengthen. Radway's Pills for the cure of all disorders of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys, Bladder, Nervous Diseases, Headache, Constipation, Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Bilious Fever, Inflammation of the Bowels, Piles, and all Derangements of the Internal Viscera. Warranted to effect a positive cure. Purely Vegetable, containing no mercury, minerals or deleterious drugs.

☞ Observe the following symptoms resulting from Disorders of the Digestive Organs:

Constipation, Inward Piles, Fulness of the Blood in the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust of Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Chest, Limbs, and Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh.

A few doses of RADWAY'S PILLS will free the system from all the above-named disorders. Price 25 cents per box. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essential. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with the BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory or Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

LEGAL.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF SECOND TOWNSHIP, in the County of Inyo, State of California. I Harris and Nathan Rhine, Plaintiffs, vs. S. R. Guin, Defendant. Summons.

The People of the State of California send Greeting to S. R. Guin, Defendant. You are hereby required and directed to appear before me, at my office in the Second Township, in the County of Inyo, in an action, brought against you by the above named Plaintiffs, and answer the complaint in said action, on file in my office, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1874, at 10 o'clock A. M. The said action is brought to recover the sum of One Hundred and Fifty-one 4-100 ($151 4-100) Dollars, Gold Coin of the United States, with interest and costs of suit, upon an account for goods, wares and merchandise, sold and delivered by the Plaintiffs to the Defendant, and upon an account assigned by one John Broder to the Plaintiffs. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiffs will take judgment against you for the said amount of One Hundred and Fifty-one 4-100 Dollars and interest, together with costs and damages.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Sixth day of October, A. D. 1874.

D. D. GUNNISON,
Justice of the Peace of said Township.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, County of Inyo. } ss.

I, M. W. Hammarstrand, County Clerk of the said County of Inyo, State of California, and Clerk of the County Court of said Inyo County (which is a Court of Record), do hereby certify that D. D. SHERIFF'S NOTICE OF SALE.

WHEREAS, UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF a decree or judgment of foreclosure rendered by the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Inyo, on the Third day of November, A. D. 1874, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein James N. Newlon was Plaintiff, and Hugh Mann and John R. Westervelt were defendants, it was, among other things, ordered, adjudged and decreed that sale should be made by the Sheriff of Inyo County in the manner prescribed by law for the sale of Real Estate, of all and singular the property therein, described, that is to say: All that certain tract or parcel of land comprising the northeast quarter of section Thirty, in Township number (10) Ten, south of Range number Thirty-three East, base and meridian of Mount Diablo, containing one hundred and sixty acres, situate, lying and being in the County of Inyo, State of California, or so much thereof as might be necessary to pay the sum of Seven Hundred and Eighty and 44-100 dollars in Gold Coin of the United States besides interest and costs and expenses of sale, of which decree a copy duly certified under the seal of said Court has been delivered to me. Now therefore, I hereby give notice that on the THIRTIETH DAY OF NOVEMBER, A. D. 1874 at the hour of 12 o'clock M., in front of the Court House door, in the town of Independence, County of Inyo, State of California, I will sell the said above described real property, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in Gold Coin of the United States.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SOLDIERS' WAR CLAIM AGENCY,
No. 34 Montgomery Block,
San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, will give prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1861 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection Business n214m6

THE LAND-OFFICE WAR.

Ex-Surveyor General Hardenbergh's Reply to Chapman & Co's Charges—Commissioner Drummond Impaled.

[From The San Francisco Chronicle.]

Ex Surveyor General J. R. Hardenbergh has published a voluminous pamphlet, answering at length the charges preferred against him by W. S. Chapman, Jesse D. Carr and Willis Drummond, formerly Commissioner of the U. S. Land Office in Washington. Mr. Hardenbergh avers that the parties who bring the charges are those who desired to use the office of United States Surveyor General for corrupt and selfish purposes, failing in which they made the charges. He asserts that their object is to divert public attention from W. S. Chapman and the various suits at law now brought and about being brought, which will show up his mode, manner and way of gobbling up the public land of this State. He accuses Commissioner Drummond of basing his decision against him on

AN EX PARTE STATEMENT,

And acting as a paid attorney instead of a just Judge. In proof of this allegation he shows that the Commissioner, a few days after he rendered his decision, resigned his office and became a partner in the law firm of Britton & Gray of Washington City, the feed attorneys of Chapman & Co. for a long time. In this connection Mr. Hardenbergh states that at the time that Robinson, the clerk sent from Washington to make an examination into the affairs of his office, was here, Britton & Gray wrote to a gentleman in this city that if he would lend his aid in hunting up charges against Hardenbergh and use his endeavors to have Hardenbergh removed, that Commissioner Drummond had authorized them to offer the office of United States Surveyor General for California to him.

A DEATH-BED CONFESSION.

Mr. Hardenbergh, in his pamphlet, further avers that he has learned from a reliable and confidential source that Robinson, on his death bed, regretted that he had ever been sent out by the Department to California to investigate his official acts; that the injustice he had done Hardenbergh weighed heavily upon his conscience, and he regretted that he had to die with that cloud resting on his mind. With his dying breath Robinson declared that he had been instructed, prior to leaving the Land Department, to report against Hardenbergh. The ex-Surveyor General contends that Pickering and Fitch have been his sworn and relentless enemies for over twenty years. He accounts for their animus from the fact that when these men were publishing The Times and Transcript in Sacramento, in 1852, he furnished Col. B. F Washington and Vincent E. Geiger with the means to start The Democratic State Journal, a successful opposition paper. Mr. Hardenbergh makes out a strong case for himself, and concludes by pronouncing the report of Drummond unjust and cruel, and unsupported by facts or evidence.

The Misused Hero.

Vasquez, the notorious bandit, is about to bring suit against Sheriff Rowland, of Los Angeles county; Albert Johnson, Under Sheriff; George A. Beers, of Alameda; and H. M. Mitchell, W. E. Rogers, D. K. Smith, Frank Hartley, Sam Bryant and E. Harris, of Los Angeles, for the recovery of sundry rifles, saddles, bowie knives, riatas, saddle blankets, etc., which those gentlemen took from him by "force of arms," at the time of his capture in May last.

Chips from a Literary Work-Shop.

[From The San Francisco Bulletin.]

There is such a thing as the heroism of work. Many years ago a miner in Calaveras county was engaged in driving a tunnel for the purpose of striking an ancient river-bed, in which, it once reached, he was sanguine he should find gold. Year after year he worked patiently and bravely on, with no results. He exhausted all his own funds without finding a trace of pay gravel. A few friends took an interest in the man, not because they expected he would ever find anything, but they admired his patient industry, his untiring devotion to one purpose and the heroism which thus kept him steadily at work year after year and made him hopeful of good results. These friends quietly loaned him money and credit, and bade him proceed in his work until he was satisfied that there was nothing to be reached by his tunnel, or he should find the hidden gold. The years wore on and the man was becoming gray at his work. It was the same weary round, and apparently the same fruitless result. But one day his tunnel reached the ancient river-bed, and the half-forgotten man who had been pitied as an enthusiast and a labor monomaniac, took out gold enough in a few hours to reward him for all his years of unrequited toil. The first blow struck with his pick was directed toward the final result and was related to every other blow struck through all the weary years. This is not a solitary instance of the heroism of work; the world is full of such instances. Men have given a life time to some special scientific or literary pursuit which they knew never could bring any adequate pecuniary reward. But such instances are rare in new countries. Men are mostly given to material pursuits. The libraries are not rich in collections illustrating any special department of science or literature, nor is there any such thing as a literary guild or association to furnish any moral backing to authorship.

About fifteen years ago Hubert H. Bancroft, of this city, began to make a collection of books, manuscripts and maps, relating to the western half of North America. He had some special facilities for the mere labor of collecting. He was a member of a prominent book firm here, and moreover had a taste for antiquarian researches, and especially for old Spanish documents and whatever would throw any light on the unwritten history of the west coast of North America, from Behring Straits to the Isthmus of Panama. This collection has grown to one of 16,000 volumes, in five or six different languages. No collection has ever before been made in this country by a private individual, of equal extent, for purposes of historical research. The first requisite of the collector was to learn the language in which these stores were locked up. When this immense mass of old manuscripts, documents and books had been collected, they would then be of little use without some perfect system of classification.

In the fourth story of Bancroft's large building, on Market street, all these treasures have been stored, and here the work of classifying and indexing has been prosecuted under the direction of Hubert Bancroft, who, making his first collection fifteen years ago, is still working in the same department with as much enthusiasm as ever. The field is not exhausted, and now that Mr. Bancroft's labors in this direction are becoming better known, important collections are turned over to him every few months. Prominent among the later assignments was that of Gen. Vallejo, whose collection was one of rare value. Here in this upper room are probably ten times more material than Prescott knew anything about when he wrote his history of Mexico. Naturally enough, the man who through all these years had been working on, his labors unknown to hardly more than fifty persons—would come to a period when the second stage of his work would begin—that of writing a history of the western half of North America. This Mr. Bancroft has already undertaken. The first volume is now going through the press, and parts of the second and third are well advanced. The scope of the volumes is indicated by the following titles:

Vol. 1—Wild Tribes; Their Manners and Customs. Vol. 2—Civilized Nations of Mexico and Central America. Vol. 3—Mythology and Language of Both Savage and Civilized Nations. Vol. 4—Antiquities and Architectural Remains. Vol. 5—Aboriginal History and Migrations; Index to the Entire Work.

Considering the years which have been spent in making the necessary collections, the material brought together, and the years which must be spent before all the work in hand is consummated, Mr. Bancroft's enterprise ranks with the greatest literary undertaking of the age. It is fitting that so great a work should be recognized at home. The patient research of fifteen years is just beginning to bear fruit. At no distant day this work will have an honorable recognition by the scholars and historians of all lands. There are not many such instances of consecration to literature in this country, and none other on this coast. The slow honors will come at last. But it is not likely that the author will ever reap any adequate pecuniary reward, nor does he expect it. Having given fortune and life to a single work, the poorest compensation of all would be that which could be realized in dollars and cents.

—Abbe Richter, the famous linguist, who spoke eighty languages, died at Munich on October 17th.

The Proposed Twenty Cent Piece.

In a note to The Baltimore American Mr. M. V. Davis writes from the office of the Director of the Mint as follows:

In your issue of to-day I notice a paragraph stating that at the next session of Congress it is proposed to have two new silver coins authorized, viz.: twelve and a half and a twenty cent piece, and asking the question, "Why not adhere to decimal coin?" I think the idea of a twelve and a half cent coin is erroneous, and originated from the fact that in telegraphing to the press a synopsis of the Director's report for the last fiscal year, the proposed twenty cent coin was referred to as a twelve cent coin, the mistake being with the operator, not with the report. The necessity for such a coin certainly does not exist. A bill authorizing the issue of a twenty cent coin was introduced by Senator Jones, of Nevada, and passed that body near the close of its last session. Not reaching the House, however, until its closing hours it failed for want of time, but will probably become a law at the next session of Congress. The object in providing for such a coin was to relieve an embarrassment which has long prevailed on the Pacific Coast in making change, in consequence of a ten cent silver coin or "bit" being the lowest denominated coin in circulation, our five cent copper-nickel coins being almost unknown in California, and all efforts to introduce them have thus far proved unsuccessful. Under the "bit" system which obtains there, if the purchaser offers in payment a twenty-five cent coin for an article the price of which is a "bit" or ten cents, he receives only ten cents change, and consequently loses five cents in the transaction. The issue of a twenty cent coin will relieve this difficulty, and at the same time conform to our decimal system of money.

Rats on Board of Ships.

Rats greatly infest ships, and are carried by them to all parts of the world. So industriously do they make homes for themselves in the numerous crannies and corners in the hull of a ship that it is almost impossible to get rid of them. Ships take out rats as well as passengers and cargo; whether the former remain in the ship when in port, is best known to themselves. When the East India Company had ships of their own they employed a rat-catcher, who sometimes captured 500 rats in one ship just returned from Calcutta. The ship rat is often of the black species. Sometimes black and brown inhabit the same vessel, and, unless they carry on perpetual hostilities, the one party will keep to the head of a vessel and the other to the stern. The ship-rat is very anxious that his supply of fresh water shall not fail; he will come on deck when it rains, and climb up the wet sails to suck them. Sometimes he mistakes a spirit cask for a water cask, and gets drunk. A Captain of an American merchant ship is credited (or discredited) with an ingenious bit of sharp practice as a means of clearing his ship from rats. Having discharged his cargo at a port in Holland, he found his ship in juxtaposition to another which had just taken in a cargo of Dutch cheese. He laid a plank at night from one vessel to the other; the rats, tempted by the odor, trooped along the plank, and began their feast. He took care that the plank should not be there to serve them as a pathway back again, and so the cheese-laden ship had a cruel addition to its outward cargo.

A Gigantic Transaction.

The San Francisco Chronicle of late date publishes the subjoined item relative to some recent operations of some of the leading Comstock stock sharps:

It is rumored on California street that Alvinza Hayward has sold all his interests in mills and mining property to Sharon and Jones. The consideration is not mentioned; but if the rumor be true, the price will be something worth talking about, as Hayward has been one of the powers along the Comstock line, and it will take much amalgam to buy him out. Keene, the broker, who for a few days has enjoyed the honor of making the largest single sale of stocks ever made on California street, will have to take a back seat, as his $890,000 sale looks small by the side of this gigantic transaction. The rumor bears some truth on the face of it, as Hayward's bank is to increase its capital from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000 by the middle of next month, and to take care of a $5,000,000 institution is almost as much as one man ought to attend to. When the new Senatorial team get Crown Point, Belcher, Ophir, etc., under their control, they will be some pumpkins over in the sagebrush State.

Confucius' Humor.

Bret Harte, in an essay on Confucius gives the following as "his jokes:" "One day, being handed a two foot rule, Confucius opened it the wrong way, whereupon it broke. The Master said quietly that 'it was a poor rule that wouldn't work both ways.' Observing that Wan Sing was much addicted to opium, the Master said, 'Filial regard is always beautiful.' 'Why?' asked his disciples. 'He loves his poppy,' replied the Master, changing countenance. 'Is that Nankeen?' asked the great Mencius, as he carelessly examined the robe that enfolded the bosom of the fair Yan Sing. 'No,' replied the Master calmly, 'that's Pekin.'"

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.;

November 28,.... .....1874.

St. Nicholas,

For December, opens with a handsomely illustrated article on the celebrated "Garden of the Gods," in Colorado. Among the other instructive articles are "The Boy Astronomer," by Hezekiah Butterworth; "The Chickadees," by Harvey Wilder; "African Fashions," by Olive Thorne; "Altorf and William Tell," by Emma D. Southwick; and "Holiday Harbor," an excellent article by Mrs. S. B. C. Samuels, showing the boys and girls how to build a city, with all the public buildings, steamboats, railroad trains, etc., necessary for its prosperity.

The stories in the number are, many of them, remarkably good. The wonderful adventures of "Tchumpin" are concluded; Mary N. Prescott writes charmingly about "Prue's Dolls;" there is a bright, fanciful story by B. E. Woolf, called "Mabel's Troubles," with a picture by Eytinge, a characteristic tale translated from the Swedish by Selma Borg and Marie A. Brown. Helen C. Weeks tells about "Fourteen Monkeys," and all the boys will be glad to read "The Comanches' Trail," by Samuel W. Cozzens. A poem, which is excellent in itself, is illustrated by twelve dogs' heads drawn from life with great spirit and fidelity by A. H. Thayer. Among the other poems are "Little Whimpy," by Mrs. Dodge; "The Jeweled Tree," by A. M. Machar, and "Friend," by L. C. Warner. Mrs. Abby Morton Diaz has one of her funny sketches called "A Little Girl's Story." Very interesting announcements are made for the January issue of St. Nicholas, which will be the Holiday number, and will contain, besides ever so many Christmas stories, the opening chapter of the new serials: 'The Young Surveyor," by J. T. Trowbridge, and "Eight Cousins," by Louisa M. Alcott.

Asphyxiated.

In Virginia City, November 16, two servant girls went to bed in a close room, neglecting to turn off the gas, which, by some means during the night, became extinguished and filled the apartment. Both girls were asphyxiated to such an extent that but little hopes are entertained for their recovery. When found in the morning, one was lying on the floor near the door, and the other in bed, both apparently perfectly lifeless, but subsequently were partially recovered.

Terrible Storm in the South.

On the 24th a heavy storm prevailed all day and night in the Southern and Western States. About one half of the town of Tuscumbia, Alabama, was destroyed by the force of the wind and a dozen persons killed. The Mayor appeals for aid, saying that unless it is received immediately the suffering will be very great. Other towns in that State and Tennessee were partially destroyed and a number of persons killed.

Arizona Mining Affairs.

The mining news from Mohave county, Arizona, is very encouraging. The last excitement was over the discovery of a rich vein of silver ore in Peacock range, thirty miles east of Mineral Park, and fifteen miles north of Red Banks, on the Prescott road. It is reported that the Greenwood mine has been sold to an agent of Senator Jones, for $10,000.

Advice to the Young Ladies.

If a young lady has a brother, and that brother wears a brown felt hat worth two dollars, and he should come home late at night from seeing some friends, with that hat crushed into "forty-eleven shapes," the young lady should immediately seize it, and by strewing a rosette of velvet and some ribbons over it, she would have a hat of the latest style, worth about ten dollars.

Oregon Gambling Law.

The Oregon Legislature has passed a stringent act against gambling, one of the clauses of which provides that a person losing money at gaming shall have the right to recover by law twice the amount of his loss. Under this law the more a man loses the more he wins, and such an opportunity for the breaking of faro banks was never offered.

—To give an idea of the immense quantity of coal consumed on the Central Pacific Railroad it is only necessary to state that during the last month 1,541,500 pounds, or nearly 8,000 tons of that article, was unloaded on the Truckee division, and that division extends only from Winnemucca to Wadsworth.

—A recent hurricane in the West Indies has been the cause of enormous land slides in various points in Jamaica, which have blocked up the roads and even the courses of rivers.

THE NEW EL DORADO.

V. A. Gregg, Esq, who has been out to Panamint, in connection with legal and U. S. revenue matters, also to see about some mining interests he holds out there, says that that camp is a desirable place to live for those fond of excitements—there's something going on all the time. The street (there is but one) is literally jammed with men and teams; in fact so many teams are traveling the canyon grade as to seriously impede each other's progress. The road, or grade, as it is called, up the canyon, is now as smooth and perfect as if macadamized. It is macadamized but by a reverse operation, the dirt having been thrown in and every rock taken out, so that it is as smooth as a floor, but very steep. Its steepness may be judged from the fact that at the town the snow lay four inches, while four and a half miles down the canyon it was not cold enough for frost. The street is being graded and blasted out the whole length, and will be as fine a one as any city can boast of. This work is paid for by $20 assessment on each lot fronting on it. We have nothing new in relation to the mines save that the amount of ores being transported for shipment to England far exceeds common belief. Many tons of $500 ore are going out every day. Work on roads and mines goes on energetically and the general results are deemed satisfactory. There are a vast number of people in the place and more arriving, but as yet there is plenty of work for every one who desires to take hold. Wood cut and piled out so that teams may get to it commands $5 cash per cord readily, and this with the building, road making, mining, etc., furnishes employment for all.

Grand Wedding.

Frank G. Newlands and Miss Clara A. Sharon were married in San Francisco on Thursday evening, Nov. 19th. The word million figures largely in the published accounts. For instance, the bride's father, Wm. Sharon, who is "running for Senator from Nevada," is estimated to represent forty millions in wealth—worth sixty thousand on the wrong side of the ledger eight years ago. Clara's fitout cost ten thousand; the pair reside in apartments of the million-dollar mansion which were fitted up at an expense of two hundred thousand, and the bridal dowry was a check for only one million in gold. Great is King Comstock, and gold is his profit.

The Nevada Election.

The official returns of the late Nevada election give the following majorities:

Governor, L. R. Bradley (Dem.) 2,584; Lieutenant-Governor, Jewett W. Adams (Dem.), 1,673; Congressman, William Woodburn (Rep.), 750; Judge of the Supreme Court, long term, W. H. Beatty (Rep.), 1,680; short term, Warner Earll (Rep.), 570; Attorney-General, J. R. Kittrell (Dem.), 90; Clerk of the Supreme Court, C. F. Bicknell (Rep.), 379; Secretary of State, J. D. Minor (Rep.), 3,073; Controllor, W. W. Hobart (Rep.), 4,165; Treasurer, Jerry Schooling (Dem.), 973; Surveyor-General, John Day (Rep.), 2,265; Superintendent Public Instruction, S. P. Kelly (Rep.), 710; State Mineralogist, H. R. Whitehill (Rep.), 122; State Printer, J. J. Hill (Dem.), 51.

War.

Indian troubles are reported to have occurred at Reveille, Nye county, Nevada. Rumor says the Indians ran off and killed several head of cattle belonging to a Mr. Hawes, and threatened to kill any whites who might interfere. Nye county officers have gone to the scene of the disturbance.

Fullerton Wins.

At the great trotting race at San Francisco, on the 21st, Fullerton won in three straight heats, and Occident's friends are discouraged. Time 2:20½, 2:22¾, and 2:21½. Purdy came in second in each heat and Occident third, Purdy taking the second money.

His Religion.

General Sherman is not a Catholic but in effecting a marriage with Miss Ewing, he gave his promise, as an officer and a gentleman, that he would never interfere with her in the practice of religion, and that her children should be brought up Catholics.

Ousted.

The delectable San Francisco coroner, Dr. Rice, has, by virtue of a decision of the Twelfth District Court, been ousted from office for malfeasance. Mr. Rice will now have to go to the graveyards when he wants to rob dead bodies.

A Long Race.

A thirteen thousand mile and repeat race is announced in the San Francisco papers, to take place between the huge clipper ships Three Brothers and British King, from San Francisco to Havre and Liverpool and return.

Arizona Election.

C. O. Bean gets a majority of 150 for Delegate to Congress from Arizona. His election will probably be contested.

Our Benton Letter.

BENTON, Cal., Nov. 18.

EDITORS INDEPENDENT: Allow me to intrude upon your time and space to announce a wedding, which took place here last Sunday evening, at the boarding house of Mrs. C. Laird:

MARRIED.—At Benton, Nov. 15, by A. B. Williams, Esq., J. H. Taylor to Miss Loreta Currillo.

From 8:30 until 9 o'clock guests were continually arriving until three ladies and nine gentlemen were encased in an elegantly finished little parlor, and lastly came the happy couple, the lady leaning upon the arm of her betrothed husband, looking beautiful as the forest lily and pure as the driven snow, whose dress was as complete as silk, ribbons, laces, embroidery and bouquets could make it, and to even defy a Florence critic of fashions to detect the slightest error in the arrangement thereof. The groom was a young man of a preposessing and unostentatious appearance, very fair, blue eyes, auburn hair, and attired in the conventional black.

After the ceremony and the usual congratulations, the party repaired to the dining room and partook of a sumptuous repast, almost without a parallel in the annals of suppers, and there were whole baskets of fragments left.

A SERENADE.

After wishing the happy couple pleasant dreams, etc., the guests took their exit. But the pair in question had scarcely time to be in the arms of Morpheus (or any other sea port) when a band of musicians, armed with tin pans, pots, buckets, bells, triangles, trombones, trumpets and multifarious other instruments of music (or torture), the names of which do not just at present occur to the memory of your correspondent, and they began a sweet discourse which beggars all description. Then the baskets of fragments aforesaid were brought into requisition, and devoured with relish and—reluctance.

PRESENTATION.

On the following Monday evening, Mr. G. W. Cross and a party of bachelor friends called upon the newly married couple, and in a neat and appropriate speech, presented them with a highly useful and necessary article of household furniture, interspersing his remarks with many witty and pointed references. Mr. T. expressed his most sincere thanks for his friend's kind remembrances, and all went just about as merry as a marriage bell—as merry, in fact, as two marriage bells.

Pacific Coast.

The strike among the teamsters at Winnemucca continues. They threaten unless the merchants and shippers accede to their demand of five cents per pound to Silver City, that they will raise the price to six cents. In the meantime freight is rapidly accumulating at the Winnemucca depot. At least 500 tons of merchandise is now awaiting shipment.

It is rumored that the requirements of the railroad, owing to the increased distance from workshops, have determined the Company to order the removal of the repair-shops at Lathrop to Tulare.

Two seats in the San Francisco Stock Board have recently been sold, one for $15,000, and the other for $17,500.

Twenty thousand pounds of borax have arrived in Carson from Teal's marsh.

It is reported that old Winnumucca is dying at Camp McDermott. He is about 70 years of age.

The fifth crop of alfalfa taken from the same ground this year, has just been cut at Marysville.

Forty Miles an Hour—to Death.

Men of true manly grit are not to be found every day; but one of this kind died at his post, Cheyenne, the other day. He was an engineer on the Union Pacific Railroad. Coming west, bringing the passenger train, he was suddenly taken seriously ill, but, rather than shrink from duty, he increased the speed of the engine to forty miles an hour, and reached Cheyenne ahead of time. As the monster machine came to a halt, and the engineer who was to relieve him stepped into the pilot house he said, faintly: "Take the engine; I am ready to die now!" and in five seconds he was a corpse. The Union Pacific Company ought to erect a monument over that engineer—[Denver News.

The Grand Fandango at Independence---Captain Jim, Manager.

FROM OUR HIFALUTIN CORRESPONDENT.

Date, none! Time, 11 o'clock, P. M. The moon shines with a brilliant refulgence from the starry-decked canopy of heaven over the foot-hills gradually ascending toward the snow-covered Sierras. Inyo Dome, like a giant among pigmies, grandly looms aloft o'er the various jutting mountain peaks, as if in the attitude of saying, "Children, you are nothing but babies; so rest quiet!"

Occasionally a brilliant star might be seen shooting athwart immeasureable space from one corner of the firmament to the other, as though bent upon a clandestine meeting with its dulcinea—to bill and coo up in the blue, fleecy clouds; to talk of celestial happiness, and gossip about the "man in the moon." The latter gentleman stares at me, with his round, Dutchman-like face smilingly serene and happy, but with the faintest suspicion of a piteous look on his benign countenance for us troubled, business-engaged poor devils, dragging out a miserable existence in this mundane sphere here below. But pray, what cares he? this same gentleman of lunar distinction about the price of flour, hay or stockings? His tooth biteth not tough beef, nor is his palate insulted with spoilt ham, and I am positively assured his nostrils never inhaled the delightful essence of oysters contained in cans whose heads are ovally inclined. No, sir! The lunatic gentleman, as I before observed, is smiling calmly serene, and I only regret that distance prevents my making his nearer and better acquaintanceship. But then, doth not the poet remark

"Distance lends enchantment to the view?"

But to biz! Around blazing fires, the lurid glare of which which play phantastically amid innumerable clumps of sagebrush, are assembled many of the swarthy sons and daughters of California, vulgarly called Piutes. They talk, pray and transact certain business unintelligible to the profane intruder, but demolish their baked flour or beans with a more rapid grace than President Grant, Queen Victoria or the Emperor of Brazil, and undoubtedly with less trouble in digesting the same. But hark! Softly stealing o'er the calm midnight air are sounds of rapturous music, emanating from the silvery-throated Captain Jim—whose handsome countenance beams with artistic delight, as the rippling melody gushes forth from his rose-bud-like mouth. His charming, graceful wife, Mrs. Captain Jim, who gazes with admiration upon her noble lord and master (I tell this for the benefit of the fair sex) is attired in dress "a la tulle" lace. Truly herself, the witching belle of the fandango, with her wasp-like waist, dark, flashing eyes and exquisitely formed, long finger nails—wrapped in a white blanket (conspicuously dirty), after the style negligee—is the center of attraction. Her voice is soprano; I know it, for I heard it the other night. The brave young bucks with white shirts, the foppish young bucks with scarlet shirts, the reckless old bucks with no shirts at all, cast sheeps' eyes at Tuly, Maggie, Jennie, Kitty, Judy and all the other belles. They try to fascinate them. But do they succeed? Ye man up in the moon, why slyly wink and smile, but not answer loud enough for me to hear?

But there! The opera (uproar) has commenced. I close my eyes and listen—imaginatively—to the sound of oboes, trumpets, flutes, stringed instruments and 4,000 pianos, drummed upon by young ladies who have just taken their first lesson, and thought that Mozart was nowhere when he composed Don Giovani. Bellini knew nothing about music, and Verdi is simply a noted muff. I close my ears and again imaginatively see the noble arena of the Covent Garden Grand Opera House, with bewitching Patti, and archly pretty Niellson and the little cherub Piccolinini (can you pronounce her name?), and in the orchestra a hundred trained musicians exerting their whole bodies and souls, as it were, to keep in unison with the little, lithe, waving baton of their leader, Baron Costa. The boxes, dress circle and parquette here are wider, more roomy and convenient. The chandeliers, hung from heaven, are alight with a blaze of glory, but cost less than the gas bills of either Niblo's or McCulloch's theater. White kids are at a discount, and patrons are not excluded for the want of a swallow-tailed coat. Opera and ballet is here combined with quite a refreshing novelty. The dancing is so brilliantly grotesque that the far-famed Lydia Thompson blonde troupe might just now, on our sagebrush flats, obtain many lessons beneficial to their art Terpsichore.

I pay my admission fee (although there are no doors to pass through) after the performance, instead of the old-fashioned way of before, and my carriage being late, had to undergo the inconvenience of trudging home over the rocks. Weary and sleepy, I jumped into bed and dreamed of Fanny Ellsler and Pocahontas, of selling flour by the yard and calico by the pound, George Washington, Panamint and Frank Pixley—and woke up next morning believing in the adage instilled in my mind by my great grandfather, King Solomon, that after all there is nothing in this world

"But vanity and vexation of spirit."

Dramatic Club.

It is on the tapis now, that we are to have a systematically organized dramatic club here this winter, and that commencing about New Years, a number of public entertainments will be given by the club. We have good reason to believe there is a sufficiency of available histrionic talent here to insure a perfect success in this commendable undertaking. The details have not all been fully arranged as yet, therefore we can only say briefly that an invitation is extended to all feeling so disposed to come forward and take a part.

Cleaned Out.

A horse race took place at Bishop Creek a day or two since, which caused about $2,500 to change hands, cleaning out and very much disgusting one set of hombres and making a correspondingly number of another set that much richer and happier. It was a six hundred yard race, between a horse entered by Kingsley and another by the Doss boys. The Doss horse flew the track and lost the race by a clean hundred feet. They do say the horse wasn't altogether to blame in this matter.

The Virginia Consolidated.

Mr. Gray of the Kearsarge Company, made an examination of this mine a day or two since, and from other parties we learn that he is most agreeably surprised at its remarkably fine showing. At the point tapped by the tunnel, 220 feet (vertical) from the surface, the ledge is full six feet wide, all of first class ore. In fact it is considered a very fine and permanent mine, and the chances that something near a hundred men will find employment in working it next Summer.

Coso.

This new district is now attracting a good deal of attention, and it is claimed by some who have taken a look at the prospects, particularly some new locations, that this camp promises to "double discount" Panamint in the value of its mines. As the ores are all of the smelting class, a few furnaces out there would create a large amount of business tending to the general benefit of the county, more tangibly than pure milling ores.

Changed Hands.

A. L. Freedman, or "Boston," has leased the well-known and popular American House at Cerro Gordo to Mr. and Mrs. R. Lewis, late of this locality. As the American will now have two pretty young ladies to enhance its attractions, as well as a landlady who understands her business, it is bound to be more popular than ever. "Boston" has gone to rejoin his family at Sacramento, but will return again in a few weeks.

Every Other Day.

It will be seen by reference to the new advertisement that the Lone Pine and Bakersfield stages will, from and after the 29th instant, run on alternate days, leaving Lone Pine every other morning at 5 o'clock. This line makes close connection with the Panamint stages at Indian Wells, also the stage for Kernville. Time through to San Francisco about 50 hours.

Quiet.

A friend writing from Swansea—not in England, but at Owens Lake—says there isn't enough people now at that point to kick up a muss if they wanted to, and hence the place is very quiet. The long stoppage of the furnaces of the Owens Lake Silver Lead Company is the cause of the quietude.

Railroading.

As the movements of trains on the Los Angeles and Spadra Railroad are daily becoming of more and more interest to many of our readers, we direct attention to Superintendent Hewitt's new time table or Winter arrangement, to be found among "New Advertisements."

Personals.

V. A. Gregg, Esq., Al. Wapelhorst and John B. White returned from Panamint on Thursday evening; also, the same evening, V. G. Thompson of the Blaney House, from his visit to the Bay.

Another Store for Panamint.

George Zobelein, of Swansea, is engaged in removing one of his houses to Panamint, for merchandising purposes. This makes about the seventh store in that place.

Masonic Lodge.

The election of officers for Inyo Lodge No. 221, F. & A. M., takes place at the next stated meeting, occurring on Saturday, December 19.

The Coso.

Lafe and Wm. Gill are preparing to move a building out to the new mines at Coso, to be used as a hotel and saloon.

The Light Fantastic in Moccasins.

Pretty much every Piute gentlemen and lady in the valley collected himself or herself at the camp back of town to take part in a grand State ball which came off last evening. Counting all sorts and sizes there were, perhaps, over 200 present. It is hard to say how many there were, for, besides those in the grand circle dances there were many groups, each containing a dozen or more seated around small fires all about in the sage brush, deeply engaged in the mysteries of poker and other games, or silently and calmly meditating upon the various things which, on such occasions, engage the average Indian mind. This particular gathering appears to be one simply of a series of similar grand reciprocating entertainments, taking place every week or two at various locations in the valley. Whatever the occasion, it requires much laborious, not to say, expensive preparations. Hogadie in large quantities, and much fine apparel has to be purchased and prepared; a large area of ground cleared, smoothed down and surrounded by a high sage brush wind break for the comfort and accommodation of the dancers, and many other things done involving an amount of labor and thought which active ball managers only can fully understand and appreciate. The expense for music is but trifling, being but the volunteer efforts of three or four singers. The programme of dances is very short, consisting of but two, a boisterous war dance executed by a select few, not to exceed six or seven braves, as the opening piece, followed by the grand quadrille or circle of unity, in which all, big and little of both sexes, take part and keep up the whole night through with frequent rests, but without ever breaking ranks. This circle, on this occasion, contained about one hundred dancers, portions of it two ranks deep, when some of the little ones, or the riff-raff, saw proper to take places in an exterior line, all face to the center, standing in extreme close order, so close indeed that the younger gallants find it both necessary and convenient to encircle with their arms a loving and confiding partner on either side. The old rough scruffs or "old cusses," as they are elegantly termed, especially those shabbily dressed, seem, however, to make it a point to go it alone as much as possible, especially as it regards the finely arrayed mahalas; but this fault, if fault it is, may be entirely due to the coquettish choice of the latter. At a preliminary grunt or note from the leading musician the music begins, and in perfect time and very short step all circle sideways, invariably to the left, and continue until a complete revolution is effected, when a peculiar grunt brings all to a sudden halt. Then, for a moment, all who feel like it give vent to their pent-up exuberance in a suppressed giggle or an unadulterated guffaw, if any brave or maid has been fortunate enough to discover anything sufficiently ludicrous to justify the effort. This period of relaxation having continued long enough, the warning note is again grunted and the song and dance, without variation in note or step, goes on as before, and save the regular rests, continues without intermission till hogadie time in the morning. The music, or chaunt-like song, consists of a monotonous repetition of four or five notes in a minor key, and is a soft and most musical cadence. The movements of many of the dancers are as full of perfect ease and grace as was ever witnessed in any ball-room. The whole proceeding is the remotest remove from the boisterous; order, decorum and quietness being the rule. But there is much, very much, in the language, customs and objects of our noble red brethren that we don't pretend to sabe or even appreciate, and will have to forego any further attempt at description. But, mebbe so, we should be pleased to have the Indian lore of The Austin Reveille brought to bear on the subject; or, failing in this, we would refer our readers to Bancroft's Western Races, feeling sure that that forthcoming work, so laboriously compiled from ancient manuscripts and books, would even teach the aborigines themselves many things that they never dreamed of.

Board of Supervisors.

The Board met in special session Friday, November 27, to receive the report of Commissioners and Inspector appointed to view and report upon the Coso & Panamint Valley Toll Road. Said report being on file, it was taken up, considered and approved.

Ordered, That the Road Company duly record the survey of said road, and that it be and is established as a toll road.

The rates of toll chargeable thereon were fixed as follows:

Wagon and 1 pair of animals	$1 50
Each additional span	50
Horse and rider	25
Pack animals, each	12½
Sheep, hogs and goats, each	05

Unloaded teams, either way, half rates.

Members present—J. R. Hughes and A. N. Bell, President.

Board adjourned to next regular term.

Produce and Merchandise.

It seems that the flour, and to some extent the vegetable, market at Panamint is now pretty well supplied, so much so that it will hardly pay to ship these articles from this valley. John White tells us that flour is now selling there at $8 per cental. Imported merchandise of every description is likewise selling at lower figures than in this place. Hay and grain, however, command good prices, both selling at six to seven and a half cents a pound. It is considered an impossibility to overstock the market with hay, all of which must come from this valley. None of the teams loaded from here with that article succeeded in getting a pound into camp, all selling before they got there.

Affirmed.

The above word in connection with the ordinary proceedings of a higher Court generally has no other signification than a trifling matter of dollars and cents, but now, in reference to a recent decision of our Supreme Court, it has the signification to one unfortunate at least of death-doom itself. It means that E. P. Welch, now in close confinement in the jail here, is to suffer death for the murder of Frank Moore done in October, 1873; it means that the proceedings of the Court which, in the following May, tried, pronounced him guilty and sentenced him to die, were correct and—are affirmed. The announcement of this anxiously looked-for decision is probably more depressing and terrible to the doomed man than the original sentence itself, for then there was a hope to buoy which no longer exists. The time having passed when the sentence was to have been executed, Welch still has till after next May in which to prepare for his awful doom, and to take such steps as may remain to avert it. In law there is a faint chance, we are told, that the Supreme Court may grant a rehearing, in addition to which it is possible the Governor, if good reasons are shown, commute the sentence to imprisonment for life; but there is scarcely room for a hope on either of these chances. It may be also that a special term of the District Court will be ordered to resentence and fix the day of execution in advance of the regular term, but this is hardly probable. As yet no official announcement of the decision has been received here, nor have we seen the decision at length of the Supreme Court.

Some Runaways.

Dan Malone's team of ten animals ran away last Wednesday down this side of Lone Pine, smashing up one wagon, badly crippling two of the horses and inflicting considerable damages on Daniel himself....On Monday, at Bishop Creek, some dogs frightened Hiram Daughters' four-horse team, loaded with himself, D. E. Hunter and some lumber, so badly they thought it would do to run away on; they made such an energetic effort as to scatter Daughters and much lumber widely o'er the plain, and at the same time to chounce Hunter up and down worse than a bucking mustang as he sat on the hind end vainly striving to keep the flopping boards from flying so high; the result was Hunter couldn't do it, and got his shins badly skinned besides. Meantime Daughters though being dragged rapidly over the ground with one wheel riding on his ankle part of the time, severely injuring the same, held on to the lines with the tenacity of Casabianca to a bull's tail, or the bull pup to L'Orient's burning deck, and thus finally succeeded in stopping the team, but not until after Hunter had given up his experiment of riding the flying boards, crawled foward and put on the brake with great force and effect.

Makes a Strike.

J. A. Brown, clerking with Harris & Rhine in their store at Panamint, has made one strike since he has been out there these several weeks. In digging out the foundation for the store he struck the complete skeleton of an Indian, who had deceased very many years ago, and found a sepulchre right where Brown was subsequently destined to dig him up to make room for codfish, whisky and other merchandise. We haven't heard that Brown has yet sold his discovery to Jones & Stewart, but we suppose he would sell.

Very Good.

John Chinaman sometimes most innocently perpetrates a neat joke. Somewhere on Al. Harkness' route on the Northern stage line, a Celestial handed him a dilapidated watch, minus crystal, etc., to take to town for repairs, with the terse instructions: "Get 'um washed and a window put in."

Religious.

Rev. Mr. Jennings will preach at Georges' Creek to-morrow at 11 o'clock A. M.; at the school house at this place at 7 o'clock P. M. On the Sabbath following services will be held at Bishop Creek.

The Personality of a Newspaper.

There is something very curious in this taking on of an independent personality by a newspaper. It comes to have a conscience and a character of its own, apart from the men who conduct it. Its history, its traditions, its constituency, its necessities and its opportunities, all go to the making up of this subtle journalistic character—to shade and qualify the prejudices, the desires, the whole personality of the man or men who may happen to be its directing agents. The man is a fool who, coming to the management of a great journal, ignores these elements of its own character, its duties and its own necessities. The man who puts his mere personal friendships or enmities into a newspaper is not fit to be a journalist, and has no right to be trifling with the sacred responsibilities of a great journal. The individual may feel or do what he will—the journal can only say and do what it must.

Aurora Items.

An Aurora, Nev., correspondent of The Sacramento Union, under date of November 15th, gives these items concerning that place:

The Juniata Mining Company have fifteen men at work on the mine, and have made a contract for 300 cords of woods. The Superintendent, Warren Rose, acts like a good business man. A term of the District Court commences to-morrow, Judge Seawell presiding. He informed me that he intends to work the Antelope and Utah mines (for which he holds a patent) next Spring, and if he does, of which fact I have no doubt, this camp will go up to its former prosperity, as all admit they are rich mines and on the general mining hill in the district.

Package Postage.

Packages containing four pounds or under are now carried through the United States mails for one-half cent an ounce, or eight cents per pound. After January 1st, a still further reduction will be made, the rates after that being fixed at two cents per pound. At such prices it would pay to send your mother-in-law on an excursion to the South Sea Islands—if you could get her to divide herself into four pound packages; but there are a good many pounds in some mothers-in-law.—[Reveille.

—A little girl, while playing on a railroad track at Hollidaysburg, Pennsylvania, got her foot so wedged in a frog that she was held fast. Her mother saw the predicament and heard an approaching train. She ran to the rescue of her child, but could not extricate the foot. The train come on, and although the engineer applied the brakes, it was clear that it could not be stopped quick enough. The mother, finding the child could not be less than maimed, held her as far off the track as she could while the cars went by. A foot was crushed, but a life was saved.

—One hundred and seventy-two Frenchmen who were induced to emigrate to Lower Canada by rose colored representations write home that they are in misery and want help.

THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.

San Francisco, Cal.

THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celbrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume, as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.

Redwood,

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the System, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the life principle are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional and Skin Diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney and Bladder Complaints, Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the small of the back and along the loins. Price $1.

Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cured by Radway's Ready Resolvent.

BEVERLY, MASS., July 18, 1869

DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended; but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

DR. RADWAY'S Perfect Purgative Pills,

perfectly tasteless, elegantly coated with sweet gum, purge, regulate, purify, cleanse and strengthen. MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Original Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essential. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with the BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory or Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF SECOND TOWNSHIP, in the County of Inyo, State of California. I Harris and Nathan Rhine, Plaintiffs, vs. S. R. Guin, Defendant. Summons.

The People of the State of California send Greeting to S. R. Guin, Defendant. You are hereby required and directed to appear before me, at my office in the Second Township, in the County of Inyo, in an action, brought against you by the above named Plaintiffs, and answer the complaint in said action, on file in my office, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF DECEMBER, A. D. 1874, at 10 o'clock A. M. The said action is brought to recover the sum of One Hundred and Fifty-one 4-100 ($151 4-100) Dollars, Gold Coin of the United States, with interest and costs of suit, upon an account for goods, wares and merchandise, sold and delivered by the Plaintiffs to the Defendant, and upon an account assigned by one John Broder to the Plaintiffs. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiffs will take judgment against you for the said amount of One Hundred and Fifty-one 4-100 Dollars and interest, together with costs and damages.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Sixth day of October, A. D. 1874.

D. D. GUNNISON,
Justice of the Peace of said Township.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, County of Inyo. } ss.

I, M. W. Hammarstrand, County Clerk of the said County of Inyo, State of California, and Clerk of the County Court of said Inyo County (which is a Court of Record), do hereby certify that D. D. Gunnison, whose name is subscribed to the annexed Summons, was, at the date of the same, and is now, a Justice of the Peace in and for said Inyo County, duly elected and qualified and authorized by law to issue such Summons, and full faith and credit are due to all his official acts as such. And I do further certify that the signature attached to the annexed instrument is genuine.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed seal of the said County Court, at my office in the said County of Inyo, this Seventh day of October A. D. 1874. [SEAL]

SHERIFF'S NOTICE OF SALE.

WHEREAS, UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF a decree or judgment of foreclosure rendered by the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Inyo, on the Third day of November, A. D. 1874, in a certain cause therein pending, wherein James N. Newlon was Plaintiff, and Hugh Mann and John R. Westervelt were defendants, it was, among other things, ordered, adjudged and decreed that sale should be made by the Sheriff of Inyo County in the manner prescribed by law for the sale of Real Estate, of all and singular the property therein, described, that is to say: All that certain tract or parcel of land comprising the northeast quarter of section Thirty, in Township number (10) Ten, south of Range number Thirty-three East, base and meridian of Mount Diablo, containing one hundred and sixty acres, situate, lying and being in the County of Inyo, State of California, or so much thereof as might be necessary to pay the sum of Seven Hundred and Eighty and 44-100 dollars in Gold Coin of the United States besides interest and costs and expenses of sale, of which decree a copy duly certified under the seal of said Court has been delivered to me. Now therefore, I hereby give notice that on the THIRTIETH DAY OF NOVEMBER, A. D. 1874 at the hour of 12 o'clock M., in front of the Court House door, in the town of Independence, County of Inyo, State of California, I will sell the said above described real property, or so much thereof as may be necessary, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in Gold Coin of the United States.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.

2. If subscribers wish their papers discontinued, publishers may continue to send them until all charges are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office or place where they are sent, they are held responsible until they settle their bill and give notice to discontinue them.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the paper is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible. Notice of removal should always be given.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take a paper or periodical from the office or removing and leaving it uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Of Interest to Mine Owners.

The Reese River Reveille furnishes the following information to owners of mines:

It should be borne in mind by all holders of unpatented mining claims that the time for expenditures thereon of the amount fixed by Act of Congress of May 10, 1871, expires with the first of January next, and that a default to do the required amount of work or make the specified expenditure will work a forfeiture of all right therein.

There is another exceedingly important feature of this provision of the law, in this—that although all proceedings for patent may have been had, the final payment made to the Receiver, and the case sent to Washington for patenting, that until the patent itself is actually issued the necessity still exists for doing the work or making the expenditure upon the claim to prevent a relocation, the same as if the application for patent had not been made, as the law requires the annual expenditure to be made until the issuance of a patent for the claim.

Parties having claims pending at Washington should not therefore fall into the error of supposing that they are relieved from doing work to hold such claims, the patent title itself alone relieving the claim from that necessity.

A Lover's Speculation.

An old English sinner lately repented in naughty Paris, very unexpectedly to some of his friends, who were slightly interested in his gaieties. He fell in love with an actress, and the actress was in love with a set of diamonds which a jeweler held at 20,000 francs. Of course the actress introduced the enamored Englishman to the diamonds, and he thought 14,000 francs quite enough for them. He would give that and no more. The actress had a private interview with the jeweler, and told him to let the man have the set at his own price, and she would willingly pay the difference, 6,000 francs. The Englishman went after the diamonds and got them. Once in possession of the jewels he thought it a shame to cast pearls before swine, he thought of his good wife in England, and how happy she would be if he took a nice present home to her. He knew he had got a great bargain somehow, and the more he thought about it the more he resolved what to do. He repented, did not go near the actress any more, and speedily made tracks for London. The jeweler presented his bill of 6,000 francs to the actress, and she had to pay dearly for her folly.

—A young man has been arrested in New York for sleeping in a standing position. He would stand on the street for four hours at a stretch, with his eyes closed, and not move a muscle. It is hereditary. His father was a policeman.

—A San Francisco policeman who was living at the rate of ten thousand dollars a year, was found to be in receipt of seventy-five dollars a day for winking at Chinese gambling.

—An old lady from the country, with six unmarried daughters, went to Augusta, Georgia, the other day, hunting for the Patrons of Husbandry. She meant business.

—The humor of the clerks of the Bangor, Me., Postoffice, finds expression in sticking a postage stamp on the floor and laughing at the people who try to pick it up.

—The State Treasurer of Oregon was only allowed $800 a year by the last Legislature, and people are wondering whether he is going to steal or live on the honor of his position.

Columbus Items.

We take the following Columbus items from The Borax Miner of November 28:

THE INYO INDEPENDENT treats its readers to an account of the killing of some unknown person at Fish Lake by Wm. O. Harrell. For the benefit of those friends of neighbor Harrell who live at a distance, we will call the attention of the INDEPENDENT man to the fact that no such killing has occurred.

About twelve inches of snow fell at Aurora during the recent storm, which is said to have extended to Carson, and perhaps farther. One-half or two-thirds of it has already melted away.

Hon. J. S. Jameson, newly elected District Judge, has purchased the dwelling house recently occupied by G. C White, at Aurora, and taken up a permanent residence.

Jim Benton took out about 20,000 pounds of borax from the Pacific works. Jim Richardson took out about 16,000 from Engelke's works, at Fish Lake Valley.

The Grand Jury reported the books of the various county officers to be in the main in a satisfactory condition.

We are in receipt of a letter from a friend at Aurora who says that Mr. J. M. Meredith, Postmaster at that place, and an old an excellent citizen of Esmeralda, has been suffering from rheumatism, and has gone to Genoa to avail himself of the curative effects of the hot springs at that point.

A Quaker Printer's Proverbs.

Never send an article for publication without giving the editor thy name, for thy name oftentimes secures publication to worthless articles.

Thou shouldst not rap at the door of a printing office, for he that answereth the rap sneereth in his sleeve and loseth time.

Never do thou loaf about, nor knock down the type, or the boys will love thee as they do the shade trees—when thou leavest.

Thou shouldst never read the copy on the printer's case, or the sharp and crooked container thereof, or he may knock thee down.

Never ask the editor for news, for behold, it is his business to give it to thee at the appointed time without asking for it.

It is not right that thou shouldst ask him who is the author of an article, for it is his duty to keep such things unto himself.

When thou dost enter his office take heed unto thyself that thou dost not look at what may concern thee not, for that is not meet in the sight of good breeding.

Neither examine the proofsheet, for it is not ready to meet thine eye, that thou mayst understand.

Prefer thine own paper to any other, and subscribe for it immediately.

Pay for it in advance, and it shall be well with thee and thine.

Placer Mines of Los Angeles.

[From The Los Angeles Herald, Nov. 20.]

The more we learn about the placer mines of this country, the greater our astonishment that they have been so long lying idle. We saw a citizen of the Santa Clara valley in town yesterday. He lives not far from the Castac Mines and is well acquainted with the placer belt. He says the half has not been told about the real value of those mines. He does not own a dollar's worth of stock, but says if he had known that the waters of Elizabeth Lake could have been brought on the mines he could have been worth half a million today. Here is the secret: It was only by accident that it was discovered that the waters of those lakes could be made to wash the gold on Castac mines. The water ran down a canyon to within a few miles of the mines and sank. No one knew this but a few of the Indians who were acquainted with those mountains. The Castac Company are at work and are out of debt. They are cautious and will not increase their force until they sell a sufficient amount of stock to buy their lumber. It is no trouble to get work done for stock; every man that has seen the mines is anxious to work for stock. Here is the best chance for investment we know of in mining stock in this county. A good placer mine is a perpetual income, especially where the grounds are so extensive as the Castac Mines.

Arizona Curiosities.

A letter to The Arizona Miner from Camp Verde has the annexed in relation to the caves and wells in that vicinity: "After considerable labor, a boat was gotten to the bluff near the well, and was lowered some 200 feet to the water. The greatest depth of water found was 75 feet; average depth 30 feet, from the water's edge 60 feet. It is supposed that the well is the crater of an extinct volcano; so that there is a subterranean passage to Beaver Creek. The caves are very extensive, and the evidence is abundant that they were inhabited in times past. The Aztec ruins are in fair repair, and considerable skill is evinced in construction. There are also numerous ruins of stone habitations over the well."

—Every German steamer arriving in New York brings not less than a thousand canary birds.

—Every act passed by the recent Legislature of Oregon was signed by the Governor.

Suicide.

About half past 8 o'clock Tuesday morning last, Robert Twaddle, aged about 35, committed suicide in a cabin near the Masonic Hall, by shooting himself through the head with a six-shooter. For two or three days previous he had been drinking to excess, and doubtless fired the fatal shot during temporary insanity, caused from the effects of liquor.—[Belmont Courier, Nov. 28.

DAYLIGHT A BREAKING.

If we read aright the signs of the times we can ejaculate, with great unction. "All hail the New Era!" After years of dead dragging, and a long sleep of comparative obscurity, Inyo county is now making the grandest of strides toward her natural position of great commercial importance. Though effected through the immediate agency of operations in a certain portion of the county, the present bright outlook all around can be ascribed to but one true cause, and that is what all familiar with the county know to be a fact—that it is the richest and most varied mineral region ever discovered. The mining world is beginning to realize this fact, and the good time has come when the treasure-weighted mountains, from Blind Springs to Panamint, are resonant with the tramp, the pick and the blast of the typical prospector, and the more we prospect and investigate, the more vividly is brought out the truth, that in this region are all essential elements to form a county unrivalled in its productiveness and wealth.

In business a very perceptible improvement in money matters is manifest, the result of a ready cash market for all and more than can be produced by our farmers and lumbermen. This is the more noticeable, as a great stringency usually prevails at this season of tax-payments. In this connection it must occur to our readers that before the next assessment is made, the vast increase of property values will either extinguish the floating debt of the county or else render entirely unnecessary so high a levy as has been made heretofore.

It will be seen by a reference thereto, that our local columns teem with the most gratifying accounts of mining operations and discoveries, which as well illustrate the promising condition of affairs as could a dozen columns of editorial comment. In the statements there given, we have adhered strictly to the facts, and such are noted as we have been able to gather from various reliable sources.

The Cerro Gordo Mines.

A correspondent of The San Francisco Mining Press says that in the last six years $100,000 have been invested in furnaces, improvements, tunnels, drifts and other dead work in the mines at Cerro Gordo, and the net profit for that period, at $80 per ton of base bullion produced, has been $1,800,000. The gross yield of bullion is thus reported: 1869, 1,000 tons; 1870, 1,500 tons; 1871, 2,500 tons; 1872, 4,000 tons; 1873, 5,000 tons; 1874, 6,000 tons, and says further:

There are two furnaces, each about thirty tons ore capacity, now in constant operation—one owned by M. W. Belshaw and the other by V. Beaudry. The ore used by these furnaces is supplied almost entirely by the Union mine and the Ygnacio silver mine. The base bullion produced by each furnace is about twelve and a half tons per day, and is worth about $115 in silver and $90 in lead per ton. The lead will pay expenses of mining, smelting and transportation to San Francisco, where its cost for refining is about $25 per ton, leaving a net profit of about $90 per ton.

Can't See It.

The Bakersfield Courier, a willing truckler to the great California railroad ring, can see no necessity for the construction of a railroad into this county, because if the Los Angeles and Independence narrow gauge is built our tributes to the plethoric treasuries of Mr. Hardnut's patrons would be forever ceased. Cease bucking at the inevitable, Mr. Courier, and in your simplicity, trust your chances for future reward to that truly great and noble philanthropist—Josigher.

The Country is Safe.

It is with emotions of the profoundest gratitude and joy that we announce to our patient readers that the State of California is saved. Josiah Earl has done it—he has started The Grangers' Guide. There are people in Inyo who consider this man an—well, it's too much trouble to enumerate what he is—but the outside world knows that he is a great and good man. Bah!

A Live King.

King Kalakaua arrived in San Francisco a few days ago. The Kanaka king of 50,000 subjects is the first real king to visit our shores. The San Francisco belles are said to be arranging for his capture.

An Editor Killed.

D. R. Frink, editor of The Truckee Republican, was shot and killed at that place during a late raid upon the roughs and gamblers infesting that locality.

"VENGEANCE IS MINE."

In 1860 Gen. Carleton, with a detachment of troops, visited Mountain Meadows, a little valley some 250 miles distant from Salt Lake, or city of Latter Day Saints of the Church of Jesus Christ. While there he collected a pile of human bones, those of little children, women and men, and burying them erected a monument; on one stone of which was engraved these words: "Here lie the bones of 120 men, women and children, from Arkansas, murdered on the 10th day of September, 1857," and "Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord, and I will repay." But not long were those ominous words allowed to greet the guilty gaze of the infamous, cowardly wretches, who, under the orders of Nina Sahib, alias Brigham Young, the hideous old brute at the head of the Mormon Church did this most horrid murder, for the monument is now utterly destroyed so that no sign of it is to be seen. But those dread words stand as a prophecy, soon, we most earnestly hope, to be verified to the letter, as regards at least a portion of those human miscreants, who in their murderous treachery disgrace and damn the face of the earth. But we much fear the chief of these, the aforesaid Nina Sahib, will die a natural death and not grace a gallows that should be higher than that of Haman to effect even the smallest expiation of his many crimes. But in any case those words still stand in full force and effect, and Brigham will be paid sometime.

For several weeks the advices from Salt Lake City and other points in Utah Territory have contained allusions to the Mountain Meadows massacre, and only a few days since it was announced that John D. Lee had been arrested and that he would in due time tell all. Whether he will do so remains to be seen, but it is predicted by those claiming to know that he never will tell all, for if he did, his auditors would become so outraged by the confession that they would tear him limb from limb. He is held as a prisoner at Fort Cameron, Beaver county, Utah, and guarded by civil as well as military authorities, and is heavily ironed. Each night a guard sleeps with him, the two being chained together. One wrist of each is handcuffed. He is gloomy and low-spirited since he has been ironed. He says that his life cannot be shortened more than a few years at the worst.

This Lee was the Colonel in command of the Mormon regiment which did the murder, and is a bishop in the church. Without doubt he is only responsible as the tool or agent of those higher in authority—notably Young himself. But this old scoundrel took especial pains to set himself as near right as possible before the law when, in 1869, it seemed probable the deed would be brought home to him where it belonged. He had Lee cut off from the church, in which condition he since remained, though warmly affiliating with the leaders and members of the church. But he has declared that he will no longer be made the scape goat for others' crimes, and willingly surrendered to the authorities without a struggle.

Many others of the participators have signified their desire to tell all about this most unparalleled crime and cowardly deeds if they can be assured of protection. But with such a miserably effete Government as ours has shown itself to be in all its transactions with Young and the crimes of himself and followers, there can be but little assurance of protection, and it is very possible the chief miscreants will escape the punishment so richly their dues.

Indian Agent Tonner.

The Arizona Miner of the 20th ultimo energetically "goes" for Indian Agent Tonner, of the Colorado river reservation, and incidentally sets up "Eph" Harrington—a "discharged employe" thereof, for that gentleman's defense of Tonner in this paper some time since. The Miner ingeniously sustains its charges of peculation and the kindred irregularities usually pertaining to the Indian Agent fraternity, and very unkindly refers to Mr. Harrington as the "civil engineer who so unsuccessfully employed a photographer's camera as a Y level, and whose $100,000 ditch has been the butt of every practical miner from Puget Sound to the Isthmus of Darien, and who sadly bade a last adieu to the scene of his Dutch Gap canal and sought recuperation for his impaired phisique in the balmy climate of Southern California." Nevertheless, the Miner's ammunition is wasted when it assails the probity and character of Mr. Harrington, who is too well known hereabouts for such shafts to wound him in the estimation of his old fellow-citizens.

A Dead Beat.

The Panamint News has been bilked most outrageously by a Nevada dead beat—D. P. Carr, whose operations ought to hand him in San Quentin for the balance of his days. Papers of the Coast, pass him around!

Stanford's Steamship Company.

Articles of incorporation of the Occidental and Oriental Steamship Company have been filed. The stated objects being "for the purpose of constructing, purchasing, chartering, running, freighting, controlling, managing and owning steam and sailing ships and vessels, therewith doing and transacting all kinds of transportation and shipping business on the oceans, seas, bays, sounds and rivers of the world." The principal place of business to be San Francisco, and the term of existence fifty years. The Directors are Leland Stanford, Charles Crocker, David D. Colton, Lloyd Tevis and Mark Hopkins. Capital stock, $10,000,000, in shares of $100 each. This company is an outgrowth of the quarrel between the Pacific Mail Company and the Central Pacific Railroad, and an indication that the long threatened new line in opposition to the Pacific Mail is soon to become a reality and compete for the carrying trade between this country and China and Japan.

Los Angeles.

The general municipal election of Los Angeles has been set for the 7th of this month. The offices to be filled are: Mayor, City Marshal, City Attorney, City Treasurer, four members of the Common Council from each of the three wards, and two members of the Board of Education. Pending the election The Express is the only paper in the city that can find time to aid the enterprise which is destined to make or break the city by its success or failure—the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad

English Wit.

The following is an epitaph on Mr. Laird, from Figaro, a spicy little paper in London: "On Thursday last died Mr. Laird, the member for Birkenhead. The public life of Mr. Laird was without reproach; in private life he built and dispatched the Alabama. His memory will be long kept green in the budget, and he has an enduring monument in the taxation of his countrymen."

Collector.

W. W. Bowers, recently appointed Collector of Customs for San Diego, took formal possession of the office a few days since. His resignation as Assemblyman was forwarded to Governor Booth some time ago.

The Money Demanded.

The Assistant Solicitor of the Treasury Department is in San Francisco. Through him a formal demand has been made upon the Central Pacific Railroad Company for five per cent of its net earnings since its completion.

Settled.

President Grant indorses and recommends Washburne for President and Postmaster Jewell for Vice President. Then, of course, that little matter is settled.

The Future of Inyo County.

[From The Panamint News.]

When it became known, at the session of the Legislature last Winter, pending the new apportionment bill, that the "Member from Inyo" had succeeded in some manner of securing one full representative for the county of Inyo, it was thought by some that it was something preposterous and an outrage on some of the other counties having a larger population, especially when it became generally known that the population of this county at that time was something less than two thousand. It was a piece of "sharp practice," but the "Member from Inyo" felt no compunctions of conscience for the course pursued by him, as he firmly believed that ere another session of the Legislature the developments about to be made in the county which he represented would increase the population to such an extent as to rightly entitle Inyo county to a "full representative," if not more. We doubt, however, whether Mr. Parker, the member referred to, expected the tide to set in favor of his county so soon; and, although we may be considered presumptuous, we now venture the assertion that the population of Inyo county will, by the time of the next session, entitle her to more than one representative. Of course we cannot have more than one until another census shall have been taken and a new apportionment bill passed.

The future for this county is certainly very promising, and although some of the papers in our neighboring State of Nevada would fain make people believe there is nothing in Panamint, yet their garbled reports and misrepresentations will prove a terrible boomerang; and when Panamint is "way up" and the bottom dropped out of Comstock, they will willingly take it all back.

THE PANAMINT "NEWS."

We are in receipt of the first copy of Inyo's second paper—The Panamint News, November 28, Vol. 1, No. 1, published by the Panamint News Co., T. S. Harris, manager. It is a little fellow, but contains much condensed and interesting reading matter; a tri-weekly and will be continued as such until the arrival of a power press, when it is to be enlarged and issued daily. It contains a graceful salutation, in which it says that its publishers propose "to furnish the people of Panamint with the latest news: to give to the outside world accurate and truthful information regarding the mines and district, and to make money. As regards to itself, The News further says:

We had, prior to engaging in this enterprise, made an examination of the leading mines in the district, and were satisfied that the prospects of Panamint were very flattering; and at once saw that a newspaper was one of the greatest wants of the district. This want we have supplied, and shall endeavor to so conduct our paper as to merit the patronage and liberality of our readers. Politics and religion we deem of minor importance to the development of the mines and the advancement of the best interests of the district, hence The News will not be the organ of any political party, faction or man, nor the advocate of any sect or creed, yet independent and fearless in all things. Should our paper not meet the expectations of some of our readers, they will doubtless remember the many difficulties with which we have had to contend in starting, and await the improvements which we shal make in the future. Our motto can be summed up in one word—"Panamint."

Under all the circumstances we think it well behooves the good people of this entire county to accord our new cotemporary a warm and generous support. As relates to THE INDEPENDENT the new paper can encroach upon no part of our patronage or jurisdiction, and if it did, the right of all to engage in such an enterprise is certainly unquestionable. May The News be at once placed upon a safe foundation by the people, whose interests it will espouse, and not encounter the difficulties which attended the establishment of the pioneer paper of this region!

We select the following from the number at hand:

PANAMINT.

Upon either side of a narrow canyon on the western slope of the Panamint range of mountains, about ten miles southerly from Telescope Peak (the highest point in the range) are situated the mines, the discovery and working of which has caused a town to be laid out and rapidly built up in this canyon. Ten or twelve miles to the eastward, across the range, lies Death Valley, and to the west, seven miles down the canyon, is Panamint Valley, lying between the Argus, or Tortoise range, and the Panamint mountains.

THE MINES.

The first discoveries made were those of the "Stewart Wonder" and "Jacobs' Wonder," located in April, 1873. The ledge in each of these claims crops out boldly above the surrounding formation, and each are cut by ravines to a great depth, showing a most wonderful surface prospect. Many prospectors have clambered over the rocky precipices, each day discovering other ledges, until there are now over 600 locations in the district, many of which are developing into valuable and extensive mines. The formation is mainly limestone, though the ledges are found in slate and granite also. The stratification of the limestone is entirely different from that at White Pine and other places where deposits of silver ores have been found, and the ledges are traceable upon the surface for such a distance that there is but little reason to doubt the permanency of the mines in that formation. The ores are mainly copper-silver glance and chloride of silver, with some black sulphuret of silver. Some ledges also carry argentiferous galena. There appears to be but little of the baser metals, which render the working of the ores so difficult. Assays and working tests of the ores show values ranging from $100 to $4,000 per ton, the average being about $400. A large number of the principal mines have passed into the hands of a company known as the Surprise Valley Mill and Water Company, represented by Senators Stewart and Jones, of Nevada. The company have expended a large sum of money in the purchase and opening of their mines, and are yet at great expense—though the yield of some of their mines in first-class ore, which they ship to England for reduction, is returning to them much of their outlay. No new mining district has ever had the advantage of heavy capital as has Panamint, so early in its history. There are yet scores of mines, showing equally as well as those owned by the Stewart-Jones company, awaiting development by labor and capital.

THE TOWN.

Commencing at a point in the canyon opposite the Jacobs' Wonder mine, about six and a half miles from the mouth of the canyon, a town has been laid out, extending a distance about a mile up the canyon. There are several buildings of decent proportions already erected and others being constructed. A reference to our advertising columns will show that these buildings are not unoccupied. At least one thousand men are now living in the district. About one half mile east of the main town the works of the Surprise Valley Company are located; at which there is a large store, a boarding house for employes, store houses, feed yards, etc., and excavations are being made for mills, ore breakers and other buildings. The time is not far distant when the whole space between the main town and the company's works will be built upon and one continuous town will extend far down the canyon. Our space will not permit us to say more about "Panamint" in this issue, but we shall continue the subject in our next.

The papers of San Francisco and other places have published exaggerated reports regarding Panamint, especially with regard to the expense of living here. Meals can be had at seventy five cents at one restaurant, and one dollar at others. The Surprise Valley Company charge eight dollars a week for board, and reference to our market reports will convince any one that men can live here as cheaply as in any new mining camp in the history of the coast. There are not any lodging houses, and blankets and mattresses are in demand. This want will soon be supplied, however, as several parties propose establishing lodging houses.

The "Home Stake" lode in Woodpecker canyon bids fair to take rank as one of the leading mines of the district. Large bodies of rich ores are found in places upon the ledge. Our friend, Captain D. B. Akey, has contracted to open the mine for an interest therein, and it is expected that it will make a showing second to but few mines in the district.

In the Panamint mine, situated about a mile north of town, a tunnel has been driven, cutting the ledge at a depth of one hundred feet, disclosing a body of rich ore which promises to be extensive. The ledge has not yet been cut through. The owners of the Panamint are elated and everybody encouraged by this strike.

The town of Panamint now consists of twenty-six frame and board buildings, all covered and occupied, besides a large number of "stockades" and tents. Within the next month, if lumber can be had, at least one hundred buildings will be erected.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

"What I know I know," said the great surgeon Magendie. "Give me stubborn facts; I care not for theories." This is sound doctrine. Possibly a medical martinet might be able, in a plausible way, to show why DR WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS ought not to cure Indigestion, Headache, Nervousness, Liver Complaint, Muscular Diseases and Miasmatic Fevers; but as they do in every instance effect that object, his fine theory would be a waste of words. As Magendie said, the world demands facts, not speculative opinions. n233m1

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Kearsarge.

It is gratifying to announce the fact that, after so long and uncalled for idleness, a force of miners are to be immediately set to work on the Kearsarge, as a prospecting force, preliminary to the overhauling and st rting up of the mill. During a recent call at this office, Mr. Gray, the principal owner of the property, assured us of his entire confidence in the extent and richness of the mine, and of his very decided opinion that the opening of a deep base tunnel, at a comparatively small cost, would show developments of an astounding mineral wealth, at a point where all the great ledges of the mountain must certainly concentrate. He confirms our report that in the Virginia Consolidated there is a solid six-foot ledge of free milling ore, assaying fully $100 per ton, upon which the Kearsarge mill will doubtl ss be started. There is scarcely a mineral district in the State presenting a more favorable showing for the profitable employment of capital, hardly excepting Panamint itself.

The Drama.

The Inyo Dramatic Club, the probable organization of which was mentioned in our last, now seems to be one of the things that be. Some of the supporters thereof, and their stations, may be designated as follows: President, J. P. M. Perham; Secretary, R. W. Woolard; Treasurer, Henry M. Isaacs; Stage Manager, Jas. E. Parker; Leader of Orchestra, Geo. Gill. It is proposed to make the entertainments of the musical and dramatic order, the first one occurring New Year's Eve, the proceeds to be devoted to the district school fund—the primary objects being for the entertainment and culture of the members, as well as the public. The leading ladies taking a hand in the matter, bless 'em, will, together with the full company, be announced in due time.

The Road Law.

Monday next there will be issued from THE INDEPENDENT press the general road law, complete, in the usual legal style of print, etc., for the use of the overseers of the various road districts of the county. The publication thereof will be a great convenience to the officers mentioned, as well as others, but there was nothing requiring it to be done, for all that. The fact is, so far as relates to Inyo coun y, the road law was not changed one iota by the last Legislature. But for counties of this class the new law is essentially the same as the old, so that the books as published are a legal guide after all.

Shooting Affray.

On Tuesday morning last, at Blind Springs, six miles south of Benton, there occurred a shooting affray between Patrick Forey and Patrick Lyons, in which the latter received a six shooter ball in the shoulder, which ranged downward and lodged near the heart. The parties were old partners, and had fitted up a team with the intention of starting to Panamint on the day of the affray. A supply of whisky, procured and liberally indulged in the night previous, was the cause of the trouble. The wounded man was conveyed to Benton, and at last accounts was not expected to live.

Alabama Hills.

Jimmy Sharp, the eccentric and tireless prospector, dropped in on us yesterday with his usual "pocket full of rocks." In a place, say 200 feet square, in the old Alabama District, he is prospecting a half dozen small seams of rich gold quartz, some very handsome specimens of which will go $20 to the pound. Working alone, he digs and picks away until out of "grub," then he pounds up a few pieces, washes out the gold and realizes enough thereon to replenish his larder. He estimates the value of the ore, now in si ht, at $10,000.

Marriages, Births and Deaths.

For information to be given under the above headings we must appeal to those who may happen to be cognizant of their happenings to send in the written notices from the various parts of the county. If a man dies it is about as little as we can do to let the world know the fact; if he gets married his happiness should be made known to the world in print, and if there's a bornin' the aforesaid world ought to know that, too. So send along your notices; it costs only the ink and paper.

The Senior.

Our Senior is off for Coso, Panamint and elsewhere, with eyes open to all the chances. He leaves the cares, work and worry of the office for a brief diversion in the mountains. Besides expressing the hope that he may be shown the lions, we bespeak for him all the courtesies of the country.

Argus District.

Quite a number of recent mining locations of the Argus District have been recorded at the County Clerk's office during the present week, indicating some activity in that direction. The district is situated south of Coso and west of Panamint.

Pine Mountain.

Messrs. Broder & Moffat are in receipt of the news of a valuable strike in their mines in Pine Mountain District, and Uncle John thinks that a furnace "goes" in the Spring.

For Sale.

George Zobelein, of Swansea, offers a desirable wagon and team for sale or exchange. See advertisement.

New Coso.

The Coso excitement is rapidly spreading, and the recording of new locations continues almost daily. The district, about two miles square, is upon a very distinct and separate range of hills, of limestone and porphyry. The ore is found in immense deposits, is of a soft, gray carbonate description, that looks rich enough to melt into bars of its own accord. A meeting of the claim-holders was held on Thursday last for the purpose of re-naming the district, adopting laws and electing a recorder. Old Coso has long been worked by the Spaniards and Mexicans for the gold contained in small but rich seams, but the isolation of the district and the fact that the owners were almost unknown has prevented any notoriety attaching itself to the region. But the discovery of the large silver and argentiferous galena mines, some ten miles distant, has almost at once made the opening of the district cotemporaneous with Panamint. Some of the earliest of these locations were the Seluya, Cuervo, Pro.nontorio, Estrella, Esperanza, Laura, Santa Rosa and Bilderain—all of a character to attract attention; their wealth and extent being patent to any observer. Of the above, the Promontorio is said to be the biggest mine in the world; the testimony of many observers unites upon this point. Mr. Beaudry of Cerro Gordo, made an assay from Beltran's location, a body of ore twelve feet in width, which went $700 per ton, and forthwith about all the leading furnace men of that place struck out for the "New Coso." Many of the oldest locations are made by men who cling to the idea of erecting pumping and hoisting machinery upon their old gold mines, and many of these properties are, we should naturally infer, open to acquirement by anybody willing to pay for them.

Another Mining Suit.

Panamint comes forward now with its first mining suit, in which property worth probably $100,000 is involved. As shown by the complaint on file in the Clerk's office, it is an action brought in the District Court for this county by Daniel S. Tipton against J. Scobie, John P. Jones and the Surprise Valley Mill and Water Co.—against the first named to recover an undivided one-sixth of the Gold Hill ledges, Nos. 1 and 2, and Crowning Glory, one-fourth of the Challenge, one-eighth of the Sunny Side and one-sixth each of the Garry Owen and Wyoming, to recover $10,000, the amount for which the Wyoming was sold by Scobie to Jones and others. The suit as aff cting Jones and the milling company is simply to recover of them $10,000, the value of one-sixth of the Wyoming as sold to them by Scobie. Scobie, through his attorneys Bennett & Gregg, has filed a demurrer. P. Reddy and T. Ganahl are the attorneys for plaintiff.

Extraordinary Specimens.

In the "Days of Forty-Nine" they doubtless exhibited many fine nuggets or gold specim ns of great value, but we fancy there were not many excelling in beauty or size that on exhibition at V. Hoff's store, in Lone Pine. It is a specimen of solid gold, weighing eleven ounces. It is flat, about half an inch thick, one and one-half by two inches in breadth, and worth $360. Messrs. Harris & Rhine, of this place, recently shipped to the mint a nugget from the same mine worth $645 60, weight 48 ounces, the value per ounce being nearly $13 50. Several smaller pieces of like character are now in their hands. They are from the placer mines near Gold Mountain, owned by some Mexicans whose names we were unable to learn.

U. S. Revenues Collected.

As an indication how business has increased since Panamint has begun to attract attention, we note that over $600 United States Internal Revenue tax has been collected during the past month between Lone Pine and Panamint, and in those places the greater portion of it being from new establishments. This is considered as about equivalent to $1,200 for the beginning of revenue year, the collections at this time of year generally being only half as much as at that time. Any way, this collection shows a very flattering increase of business.

New Incorporation.

Articles of incorporation of the Idaho, Panamint, Silver Mining Company, to operate in Panamint District, were filed at the office of Secretary of State, November 27. Capital, $5,000,000, in shares of $100 each. Directors—Jonathan G. Riley, Benjamin F. Scott, Solomon Gump, Morris Rosenberg and Robert J. Mercer. The principal place of business will be in San Francisco.

Social Ball.

A grand ball and supper is announced to be given by the ladies of Milton School District, for the benefit of the school, on Tuesday evening, December 15th, at the residence of C. A. Walters, near Camp Independence. The arrangements now under headway guarantee that the affair will be a perfect success. See notice for particulars.

Change of Time.

Dodge's Panamint stages now leave Lone Pine on Wednesdays and Thursdays, at 7 o'clock A. M., and go through without stoppage in twenty hours. There are regular meal stations along the route. See advertisement.

Mining Claims.

Despite the most perfect district regulations, record should be made in the County Clerk's office of all new and old mining locations, for the better security of locators and other very apparent reasons.

Celebrating.

The Lone Pine Grange, on Thursday last, joined in a grand jollification and feast, the occasion being, we understand, the first anniversary of their organization.

Chooses His Place to Die.

As most of our readers have heard, it is a custom with the Indians of this coast to abandon the aged and decrepid to die by starvation and exposure when no longer able to take care of themselves, or to be of any use to their tribe. This rule is often enforced whether the old parties are fully agreed or otherwise, but generally they themselves propose and carry it out of their own free will and accord. In such case they select the spot where they are to die and starve to death and be buried. An instance now brought to our notice is in the case of old Malarango, the well-known chief in his locality of the Coso. Having attained the ripe old age of 90, and feeling that he was no more use to himself or his people, he desires to go hence as soon as maybe. In accordance with this desire he has been removed to a spring, some 12 miles from Coso, a spot of his own selection, and supplied with a limited quantity of pinyons, with which to prepare to starve to death. He is to have three moons in which to shuffle off this mortal coil, and at the end of that time his friends are to go and bury him according to rule and as becomes the memory of a great chief and man of renown. But it would be curious to know what they would do with him if his spirit should refuse to be starved out of its earthy tenement and by virtue of food furnished by the whites, be found still hanging around when the burial party go there at the end of the three months. We don't vouch for the truth of this story in every particular, but give it as we hear it.

PANAMINT ITEMS.

[Condensed from The Panamint News.]

The Oriental saloon, soon to be opened in this place by D. Neagle, will be one of the finest on the coast outside of San Francisco.

Among the late arrivals in Panamint we note: John J. Spencer, from Bishop Creek, on a "buck board" loaded with chickens, which he readily sold at from $1 25 to $2 each. T. D. Lewis of the Bishop Creek saw mill was also in town, but has returned to that place with the intention of sending here immediately a large lot of lumber. A. C. Bentzoff, editor of The Stockton Independent, and Mr. Barnes, printer, pressman, etc., called upon us at an early hour yesterday. W. S. Phillipay, one of the proprietors of the Panamint saloon, has returned from Lone Pine. R. G. Vickers, late of The Borax Miner, has hung up his coat in The News office.

Harris & Rhine have had built, recently, a store 25 by 40 feet, which they are filling as rapidly as the goods can be delivered with every article required by the public. A fire-proof stone cellar, 25 by 30 feet, has also been constructed by them in the rear of the store.

The store of J. Cohn, 24 by 30 feet, has been completed and filled to overflowing with the goods in which he deals.

Louis Munsinger, an old-time Inyo county brewer, is in town again, and his new brewery will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

The one great want of our town has been lodging accommodations. Mr. Jo. Harris is soon to open a lodging house, and a team loaded with bedding for another one arrived in town to-day from Columbus, Nevada.

Three or four saloons and numerous other buildings, for what use intended we have not had time to learn, have gone up since our last issue. Enough is being done, however, in the building line to satisfy any one that all our citizens have immense faith in the prosperous future of Panamint.

Geo. Stevens, the well known tinsmith of Independence, came into town yesterday with two big wagon loads of tinware, stoves, etc., and in a few days will open out in our town.

Our late lamented editor, Mr. Carr, remarked to us the day previous to his hasty departure that he was a "little off." The next morning we were satisfied that he had told us the truth for once—he was a long ways off, and he hasn't got back yet, either.

The grading of Main street steadily goes on and as far as completed presents a fine appearance.

Worthy of Attention—Rose Springs.

A friend of ours writing from Cerro Gordo November 30, gives us the following statement of mines and prospects in Rose Spring District, twenty-five miles north of Panamint, lying between that place and Cerro Gordo. We have alluded to the fine prospects of Rose Springs heretofore. From the following, which we will guarantee to be exactly as stated, it will be seen that the flattering reports are fully sustained, and that Rose Springs is likely to be one of our most prominent mining districts:

That the valuable mines in the Panamint range are not confined to those located in the Panamint District alone is certain from what I have learned in the last few days, and know from ore received here from the Rose Spring District, twenty-five miles north of Panamint, in the same range of mountains. The ore in good part is of the same character as that of Panamint. Assays made by J. L. Porter of Cerro Gordo, on the 21st instant, give the very good return of $300 to $1,000 per ton in silver. These mines are the Star of the West, and the North Star, owned by Mr. J. Morsano. There is another lot of mines owned by W. L. Hunter & Co. which are entirely different from the above, and named as follows: Uncle Sam, No. 1 and 2; Nellie Grant, No. 1, 2 and 3; North Corner, No. 1 and 2; Theodore Wibbeth and Silver Bluff. The ores of the last named series are of the finest of milling ores—there being not a particle of base metal in them. Mr. Porter says that he never saw better milling ores even at Virginia City or White Pine. Hunter & Co. are working several men in these mines, and the ore taken out is paying all expenses.

The following assays, made by Mr. J. L. Porter and F. F. Thomas, will satisfy any judge of ores as to value: Nellie Grant No. 1, four assays, respectively, $459 62, $659 57, $754 and $479 11; No. 2, $274 81. North Corner, three assays, $212 05, $150 82 and $403 69. Silver Bluff, $180 84. Wibbeth, three assays, $801 33, $493 58 and $95 81, silver per ton. The ore was sold to M. W. Belshaw & Co.'s furnace on the 24th instant. The amount sold was fourteen mule loads, the product of three men for two days, and was from the different mines as follows: Nellie Grant, five parts; Uncle Sam, one part; North Corner, one part; Silver Bluff, two parts. The whole crushed and sampled as one lot yielded $323 54 per ton, silver. Mr. Porter has been at these mines for the last ten days, and he says as far as developed they are the best average prospect that he has ever seen. All are free milling ores, and the country is of such a nature as to admit of large teams going to the mines without any road making.

These mines are forty miles east of Cerro Gordo, and they have plenty of wood and water.

I might write much more of these mines and others in the vicinity; also, of the wonders of the old Coso District, thirty miles south-east of this place, that has awakened after its Rip Van Winkle snooze. Yours, truly,

CERRO GORDO.

HEALTH! BEAUTY!!

DR. RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES; SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the System, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the life principle are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional and Skin Diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney and Bladder Complaints, Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the small of the back and along the loins. Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cured by Radway's Ready Resolvent.

BEVERLY, Mass., July 18, 1869

DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended; but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

MEDICAL.

VINEGAR BITTERS.

PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's

CALIFORNIA VINEGAR

BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essential. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with the BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Mercurial affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory or Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminitics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.

San Francisco, Cal.

THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celebrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.

Redwood,

Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.

A Desperate Duel.

[From The San Diego World.]

For the last five or six years the border line between Upper and Lower California, a rugged and mountainous section of country, has been the scene of a dozen or more of dark and mysterious murders; the perpetrators, supposed to be Indians, have until lately escaped the avenging hand of justice. Sordo, now in our County Jail awaiting sentence of death, was one of the gang of demons who have been engaged in this bloody carnival upon the peaceful settlers of the frontier, and we now have the pleasure of chronicling the decease of Bravo, another of these hounds of hell. Bravo, probably warned that Sheriff Hunsaker and the officers of San Diego county were on the lookout for his ink, left the county about ten days ago and went down into Mexico in search of pastures new. When near Captain Ryerson's place he met Captain Wash Jacobs and a party on the way to the new mines in Lower California. Bravo had got a pretty good load of aguardiente before meeting this party, and he was in high feather; he discovered in the train of the party one El Diablo, a famous brave of Lower California, and proceeded to dilate upon his prowess and achievements upon the people of the United States. El Diablo, with a cynical sneer, intimated that in his opinion he, Bravo, was a woman, a liar and a coward, whereupon Bravo drew his six-shooter, and proceeded to attempt the killing of El Diablo. From some cause he missed his aim, both of his shots being wide of the mark. El Diablo was unarmed, but proceeded to fix himself at the train, whereupon he sought out El Bravo, and taking deliberate aim, he blew that individual's intellectual faculties into shoe strings, and left his body for the coyotes. Diablo, whatever his faults, deserves credit for the good action. The Indian Bravo had boasted that he was the killer of the Overend family, at San Dieguito, in this county, some months since, but there is no evidence conclusive as to this.

Educated Birds.

The Baltimore American gives the following account of a troupe of trained Java sparrows and parroquets, now exhibiting in the streets of that city:

"When a suitable place is found, a circular table is opened and the birds are all turned loose upon it; they manifest no fear at the crowd, and do not offer to escape. The performance consists of ringing bells, trundling small wheelbarrows, slack wire walking, firing off pistols, dancing, swinging each other in small swings, an excellent imitation of a trapeze performance, and a number of other equally interesting tricks. The most wonderful part of the performance, however, is done by a parroquet. This bird walks to the centre of the table, and, after bowing to the crowd, seats himself in a small chair near a bell. To the clapper of the bell there is attached a small cord, and any one in the crowd is allowed to ask the bird to strike any number of times upon the bell. If asked to strike ten times, he leaves the chair, seizes the bell rope and pulls it ten times, after which he bows and returns to his seat. This was repeated a great many times, and with one exception the bird made no mistake. The bird will strike twenty-seven times, but after that he refuses; and his owner states that he has worked nearly a year to get this bird to strike up to thirty, but it appears that his memory gives out at that point, and it is unable to count further. A collection is, of course, taken up after each exhibition."

NEW COSO.

Adoption of District Laws—Election of Recorder, etc.

A friend writing from New Coso, under date of December 3d, furnishes us the following in relation to that new and rich mining camp:

To-day was an eventful one with our young and promising camp. The miners called a meeting for the organization of a new district, adopting laws for the government of the same and the election of officers. The meeting was called to order by A. C. Hanson, and upon motion M. S. Clark was called to the chair and A. C. Hanson chosen as Secretary. The object of the meeting was then announced by the Chairman, which was as stated above, and the defining of the boundary lines, established as follows: Beginning at a point where the Independence and Panamint stage road leaves the lake and running in an easterly direction along the range of Black hills to the mouth of Darwin canyon, thence southerly along the foot of the Black hills to the stage road in Panamint valley, thence westerly along said stage road to its junction with the Lone Pine and Bakersfield stage road, and thence northerly along said stage road to place of beginning. The laws prepared by A. C. Hanson were then presented and unanimously adopted, when the meeting then proceeded to the election of officers, resulting as follows: A. C. Hanson, President; ———, Secretary, and A. B. Elder Recorder. After the meeting adjourned some sixty notices were filed for record; prominent among those are the Grand, owned by the Brown Bros.; the New York, owned by Brown Bros. & Hanson; the Ophir owned by the same parties; the Arabelle, owned by Hanson, Darrah & Clark; the Birmingham, owned by the same; besides many other valuable and promising locations of which I have not time at present to mention.

Mr. Beaudry is here, and has bought in company with Mr. Hanson the Crystal Springs. It is reported that Mr. Beaudry has offered $7,000 for the Promontorio mine. COSOITE.

Hygiene.

A baby is a very tender thing, people say, but most of them are very far from knowing how tender. Imagine how nervous you are in certain states—when recovering from illness, say, when the fall of a book or the slam of a door makes you quiver and feel faint, as if some one gave you a blow. That is the way a young baby feels at its best. A puff of wind will set it gasping, its little breath blown quite away. A noise makes it shiver, a change of Summer air makes it turn death-cold. A baby is the most nervous of beings, and the tortures it suffers in going to sleep and being wakened by careless sounds when just "dropping off" are only comparable to the same experience of an elder person during an acute nervous headache. Young babies ought to pass the first months of their lives in the country, for its stillness no less than its fresh air. But where silence is not to be commanded, baby may be soothed by folding a soft napkin, wet in warmish water, lightly over the top of its head, its eyes and ears. It is the best way to put nervous babies to sleep. I have tried it hundreds of times for a child so irritable that paregoric and soothing syrup only made it wider awake. A fine towel would be wet and laid over its head, the ends twisted a little till it made a sort of skull-cap, and though baby sometimes fought against being blindfolded in this way, five minutes usually sent him off into deep and blissful slumber. The compress cooled the little feverish brain, deadened sound in his ears, and shut out everything that took his attention, so that sleep took him unaware. Teething babies find this very comforting; for their heads are always hot, and there is fevered beating in the arteries each side.

A Dog on the Witness Stand.

The Richmond, Va., Enquirer states that a Mr. Spears was recently before the police court in that city, charged with keeping a vicious dog, and the animal was ordered to be killed. Subsequently, however, the execution of the sentence was suspended, as the evidence upon which he was convicted was ex parte, and a new trial granted. When the case came up again, a large number of persons testified as to the good character of the dog, and the whole matter resolved itself into the fact that he had scared the gentleman, who complained of his attacking him by rough play. Nevertheless, to make assurance doubly sure, at the request of his master, the dog was put upon the stand to testify in his own case. On being asked if he would bite any one, he uttered a peculiar noise and shook his head. He was then asked if he would bite if his master set him on, and replied in the affirmative by nodding his head and barking. When asked if he would bite the Court, he replied in the negative. Several other questions were asked him, and his answers and actions exhibited the greatest intelligence. It is needless to say that he was honorably acquitted.

Transit of Venus.

Owing to the fact that Venus makes about thirteen revolutions in eight years, her transits frequently come in pairs eight years apart, though with an interval of over a century from one pair to the next; and thus transits have occurred in December, 1631 and 1639, in June, 1761 and 1769, and will occur in December, 1874 and 1882. That of 1631, though predicted by Kepler, passed unobserved; that of 1639 was the first known to have been seen by any one, and the circumstances of this epoch in the history of our subject deserve mention.

Jeremiah Horrocks, a young man, devoted to astronomical studies, though without counsel or support, had found from his own computations that a transit was likely to occur, though none had been looked for by others. He had time only to warn a friend of the expected event, then close at hand, and prepared himself to observe it, by forming, through a small aperture in a darkened room, an image of the sun upon a sheet of paper. This he watched continuously on the important day, a Sunday, till the time came for church. Though knowing that the opportunity, which would not occur again to any one then living, might pass in his absence, he left it for what he deemed a religious duty, and did not resume his observation till late in the afternoon. "At this time," said he, "an opening in the clouds, which rendered the sun distinctly visible, seemed as if Divine Providence encouraged my aspirations, when, oh, most gratifying spectacle! the object of so many wishes! I perceived a new spot of unusual magnitude and perfectly round, which had just entered on the left limb of the sun." His friend had been equally fortunate, "and thus," says Mr. Grant, in his "History of Physical Astronomy," whence this account is taken, "did two young men, cultivating astronomy together in a state of complete seclusion in one of the northern counties of England, enjoy the privilege of witnessing a phenomenon which human eyes had never before beheld, and which no one was destined again to see till more than a hundred years had passed away." Horrocks attempted to obtain the sun's parallax, but without much success; good results from such observations requiring, as will be inferred from what has been said, to be made by a pair of observers removed from each other, nearly as far as the limits of the earth will allow.—[Popular Science Monthly.

Surveyor Saved by a Horse.

[From The Turf, Field and Farm.]

Some years since, a party of surveyors had just finished their day's work in the northwestern part of Illinois, when a violent snow storm came on. They started for their camp, which was in a forest of about eighty acres in a large prairie, nearly twenty miles from any other trees. The wind was blowing very hard, and the snow drifting so as to nearly blind them.

When they thought they had nearly reached their camp, they all at once came upon footsteps in the snow. These they looked at with care, and found, to their dismay, that they were their own tracks. It was now plain that they were lost on the great prairie, and if they had to pass the night there, in the cold and snow, the chances was that not one of them would be alive in the morning. While they were shivering with fear and cold, the chief man caught sight of one of their horses, a gray pony known as "Old Jack."

Then the chief said: "If any one can show us the way to camp, out of this blinding snow, Old Jack can do it. I will take off his bridle and let him loose, and we can follow him. I think he will show us our way back to camp."

The horse, as soon as he found himself free, threw his head and tail in the air, as if proud of the trust that had been put in him. Then he snuffed the breeze, and gave a loud snort, which seemed to say, "Come on, boys! Follow me. I'll lead you out of the scrape." He then turned in a new direction, and trotted along, but not so fast that the men could not follow him. They had not gone more than a mile when they saw the cheerful blaze of their camp fires, and they gave a loud huzzar at the sight, and for Old Jack.

Value of an Oath.

In the District Court in Stockton, a few years ago, they were trying to impeach a witness; and after all the testimony in support of the impeachment was in, Judge Creanor had the man who was sought to be impeached called to the stand.

He was a regular long-haired, broad brimmed specimen of a vaquero, with huge spurs and quilted leather leggings, who came dragging his jingling spurs over the floor of the Court room to the witness stand

The first question the Judge asked him was:

"Are you an American?"

Answer—"Yes, sir."

Ques.—"Do you speak Spanish?"

Ans.—"Yes, sir."

Ques.—"Can you lass a bullock?"

Ans.—"Yes, sir."

Ques.—"Can you roll a cigarette?"

Ans.—"Yes, sir."

Ques.—"And blow the smoke through your nose?"

Ans.—"Yes, sir."

"Then," said the Judge, "If you are an American, born in the United States, and have all these accomplishments, your oath isn't worth a ---- in this Court."—[Oakland Tribune.

POSTAGE NOTICE.

The new Postage law will soon go into effect. It requires the postage on newspapers to be paid by the publishers instead of by the subscribers. Our delinquent subscribers will therefore see the necessity of paying up all arrearages. They surely cannot expect us to trust them for their paper and to pay their postage, too. Prepayment in the future must be required.

OFF THE TRACK.

Some of the papers the other side of the big ridge are already nosing around the political field and uprooting the probable candidates at the next biennial election. Farley, Hollister, Roach, Swift, Keys, Greene, Hutton, Freeman, Estee and we don't know how many more are "spoken of" in relation to various public positions, and the political horoscope is being directed to different parts of the State to spy out a few more willing Barkises. All for naught, gentleman; aside from the vauntingly ambitious ones themselves, the people don't care a continental cuss about the whole thing, as yet awhile. But suppose your attention is directed to a fair, unbiased discussion of the proposed constitutional amendments to be submitted to the will of the people for ratification or rejection at the next election—something less than a year remains—and in them there is food for thought for all the political economists ever within the borders of the State. Turn loose your political dogs of war on that subject, ye Titans.

Under Way.

The greatest engineering work ever projected may be now considered fairly under way—the construction of the tunnel under the English Channel, to connect France and England. The total cost is to be $30,000,000, equal to $1,000,000 per mile for the distance traversed. The preliminary shafts will cost $800,000, which sum is now ready to begin with. The line to be traversed by the tunnel crosses the Channel from Westenhauger, between Dover and Falkestone, in England, to Cape Grisnez, which lies midway between Boulogne and Calais, in France. Here the two coasts are but twenty miles apart, and the vast body of water is suddenly compressed from the 100 miles of its western breadth into this small space. The engineers propose to leave 250 feet of solid earth between the bed of the Channel and the roof of the tunnel, so that the depth of the lowest portion will be about 2,000 feet.

Too Bad.

The Supreme Court of the State of California may be unexceptionably sound on questions of law, but their vindictive and long continued incarceration of poor, harmless Philosopher Pickett, for an act that, otherwise from thus being made a martyr of on account of it, was too trifling to excite notice, is simply disgraceful. That Crockett's tenure of office is somewhat doubtful, as Pickett alleged, certainly could not influence that gentleman; and of course Wallace is not getting even on somebody for that unfortunate exhibition last Winter.

Yosemite.

The Commissioners of the Yosemite Valley and Mariposa Big Tree Grove were in session, recently, at the office of Governor Booth, to consider the question as to what the State should do with the property. No final action was taken, but it is thought the Commissioners will advertise for proposals for the leasing of the grounds.

Governed too Much.

New York and Philadelphia are complaining loud and bitterly that their municipal taxes amonnt in many instances to 33 per cent of the real value of the property, and has generally swelled to such a terrible figure as to approximate to confiscation.

Loss at Sea.

The steamer La Plata, with officers of the cable staff, and 250 miles of cable, part of which they had paid out, foundered at sea, November 29. The captain, most of the officers and all of the cable staff went down with her—60 in all.

Goes Right Ahead.

Queen Victoria has forbidden any participation on the part of the Royal family in the forthcoming Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia. Still, the world goes on.

THE GREAT WORK MOVING.

The citizens of Los Angeles—the present, and if this project is carried to a successful culmination, the future metropolis of Southern California—are now earnestly moving in the matter of the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad. Mr. J. U. Crawford, the engineer and surveyor of the company, returns from his recent surveys in the Cajon Pass, and reports that route to be of the utmost feasibility and comparative cheapness, and upon his submitting a detailed report to the Chamber of Commerce, that body has taken hold of the project in earnest. A grand mass meeting of the citizens of the several counties through which the road will pass is announced to take place in Los Angeles to-day, and we have faith that something will be done.

In addition, however, to the efforts making and to be made at that end of the route, the people of Inyo and San Bernardino must wake up to the importance of the undertaking, and the necessity of practically aiding it to the very fullest extent. With the prevailing business stagnation of the county, we have hitherto had little heart to urge an active co-operation in the enterprise, preferring to wait, as it were, until its final accomplishment was assured by the capitalists and people of the section to be most benefitted thereby, but the time is approaching when we must pledge our mite in the way of subscription to the stock. With the most perfect confidence in lively times for the future, with a knowledge that our vast mineral interests must inevitably make the county one of the very wealthiest in the State, the calmest judgment can see but the remotest chances of an inability to pay, from time to time, the calls which will be made upon the stock holders as the work progresses. Were outside capital proffering itself in sums sufficient to build the road, it would be almost inestimably better to refuse it and build the road with local means, because

1. This community would reap the dividends;
2. It would be under our own control;
3. No combinations against the people by the railroad ring of the State could affect us;
4. Hundreds of our own people would find profitable employment thereon.

That the construction and operation of the road would work an almost incalculable creation of values in our great mining districts is so patent as to require no argument; but it would in addition,

1. Divert to our benefit an enormous carrying trade from Southern Nevada;
2. Result in enhancing vastly the value of our lands;
3. The introduction of capital sufficient to irrigate and render of use tens of thousands of now worthless acres;
4. Cause the construction of roads to and the utilizing of timber regions.

And, basing our calculations upon the freighting business now being done, it has been demonstrated that

1. After inaugurating the work, the stock would have an immediate merchantable value;
2. A portion of it constructed, the business thereof would complete the balance;
3. The great teaming interests, now benefitting Los Angeles, would center in Inyo and San Bernardino.
4. THE INVESTMENT WOULD YIELD A HEAVY INTEREST.

The latter fact, not counting upon any increase over the present business at all, should of itself be sufficient.

When the great anti-railroad Legislature of 1873–4 granted to the representative citizens of Los Angeles and Inyo the valuable franchise and rights which they now hold, it was done without the knowledge of those chiefly interested, but at the instance of a man familiar with the country and its necessities, with the men and their abilities; and we may express a hope that, in behalf of the people and the gentleman referred to, they will now manifest an active spirit of enterprise, and not only benefit themselves but the whole country thereby.

The State University.

The San Francisco Post, as live a daily as the State now contains, goes after the toadying president, Gilman, of the State University in a column editorial of the keenest, regular scorching criticism on some of the official reports of that individual. We are much inclined to think that Governors Booth, Haight and the Regents were "a little off" when they finally took up Gilman's side in the bout with the classical Swinton and the Granger Carr.

In Bankruptcy.

Western California is much exercised over the probability that the California Pacific railroad, running from Sacramento to Vallejo, will be compelled by the law to cease operations pending its case in bankruptcy.

Oh, Don't.

The old talk of dividing the State in two is said to be again indulged in down about Los Angeles.

COSO—THE NEW OPHIR.

After a close inquiry as to the real facts in the case, and a careful consideration of the united testimony of a great many of our citizens who have visited and examined the recent discoveries in the New Coso District, we are forced to the conclusion that the mines are simply enormous in their extent and value. Their discovery, in the month of October last, was brought about as follows: Prof. Wm. D. Brown, a gentleman having large experience in the study of mines and minerals—and who, as early as 1867, made an examination of the Cerro Gordo mines as an expert—concluded since the discovery of Panamint, that the country between Cerro Gordo and Panamint was rich in mineral wealth. Leaving San Francisco early in October, well prepared for a thorough prospect of that country, accompanied by his brother, he arrived at Coso late in that month. There he found specimens of lead ores in the possession of native Californians, but could get no clue of the locality from whence they came. He immediately ascended the highest point near by and took a view of the country, and folbwing his judgment, proceeded at once to the mountain in which the rich mnes have since been opened. Here he found the "Promontorio" mine, with a notice of location upon it by "Rafael Cuervo." He then made a careful examination of the ores and formation, and found the hills composed of lime rock on the west and porphyry on the east, and concluded that mineral must lay at the juncture of these formations. Following and tracing, he soon encountered sone wonderful deposits of mineral, and the "New York" location was at once made, which produces very rich carbonate ores. To say that the nine is forty feet in width and traceable 2,000 feet sounds wild, but comes near the truth. Following further these formations, the Browns made other locations of carbonate mines, almost duplicating the New York—i. e., the "St. Louis," the "Grand" and others. The latter, located on the 3d of November, cleaves a hill and lays between the limestone and porphyry; it is traceable for at least 3,000 feet, and in many places is thirty feet in width. Bentura Beltran, an old and well known prospector, early in November, located a truly wonderful mass of wealth, its general description being the same as the Promontorio, New York and Grand ledges. Besides this class of mines, there has also been discovered and located some remarkably rich fissure veins. Cropping out bold and distinctly, these veins cleave both the porphyry and limestone. They bear chloride and sulphuret ores, of the same description as those found in the earliest openings of the Comstock. We have authentic reports of but two of these, though there are many others perhaps equally deserving of notice. The "Mount Ophir" and "Solomon's Ophir" are two locations apparently on the same vein. These ledges crop out to a width of twenty feet, and although requested not to give the figures, we may state that the ore assays immensely rich. The hills would appear to be full of minerals on every hand, and almost daily there arrive reports of new and very valuable discoveries. On the 3d instant a miner's meeting was held, the proceedings of which are given in our correspondence from the camp, published on the first page of this issue. There are now about 150 men in the mines, and more pouring in daily.

For the benefit of the outside public we will give the locality of these mines: They are forty miles southeast of the foot of Owens Lake; seven miles east of the Independence and Panamint stage road, and about eight miles west of the head of Darwin Canyon. They are easily accessible by wagon, and Dodge's passenger stages run within ten miles of the new town which is forming at the mines, the proposed name of which is "Darwin." The essentials, water and wood, are found in far greater abundance than ever at Cerro Gordo. In conclusion we can only repeat to our citizens the advice proffered us by all of our informants: "If you doubt our statements, go and see for yourselves and be convinced."

General News.

Major Geo. E. Ferrand, a prominent and wealthy saloon keeper of Virginia, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head, December 8.

On the morning of the 7th instant Edward Madden, editor of The Merced Tribune, was shot and killed by Harris Grannice, editor of The San Joaquin Argus, the affray growing out of some rough publications in both papers regarding some ladies relatively interesting to the respective parties. An attempt at lynching Grannice followed, and subsequently The Argus office was mobbed and destroyed by the excited populace.

A general outline of the President's message is given in the press dispatches. It appears to be a statesmanlike document, but reticent upon some important points.

Wm. Blake, a member of the San Francisco Stock Board has sloped, carrying off $10,000 of other people's money. The Board offer $500 reward for his capture and return.

The Virginia City papers claim the existence of a $32,000,000 ore body in the Consolidated Virginia mine, and worse and more of it all around on that—the north—end of the Comstock.

A daring stage robbery occurred near Eureka a few days since, and the officers think the perpetrators are making to Panamint.

A convention of Grangers assembles in Vallejo to discuss propositions to establish grain depots and erect grain warehouses along the Straits of Carquinez.

A letter from Queen Victoria has been read to the native kings of the Gold Coast of Africa, in a council held at Cape Coast Castle, telling them they must abolish slavery in their dominions in return for the assistance Great Britain rendered them against the Ashantee king in the war which broke his power.

Tulare Items.

We take the following from the Visalia Delta of December 3:

We doubt if any part of the State at the present time indicates so much prosperity as Tulare county. Money seems more plentiful among all classes than in many places, though it still commands a high rate of interest.

Several heavy teams are now in Visalia loading lumber for Panamint. There seems to be quite a demand upon Visalia yards for choice varieties of dressed lumber.

We learn that the directors of the Visalia and Inyo Road Company will meet in Visalia on next Saturday afternoon. As to whether the Company is intending to take any steps for the opening of a wagon road on the line of their present trail we are unable to say. Without a road those mines will never be developed.

More Panamint Companies.

There were filed, December 2, in the office of the Secretary of State articles of incorporation of the Maryland Silver Mining Company, to operate in Panamint. Capital, $3,000,000, in shares of $100 each. Directors: John L. Armstrong, L. H. Edelen, Frank L. Kreider, John C. Burch and John C. Hughes. The principal place of business will be in San Francisco. There were also filed December 10, articles of incorporation of the Star Silver Mining Company, Marvel Silver Mining Company, Wonder Consolidated Mining Company, Alice Silver Mining Company, Julia Silver Mining Company, Cariboo Silver Mining Company, Delaware Silver Mining Company and Wyoming Consolidated Mining Company—each of which has the following capital stock, Directors, etc.: Capital stock, $6,000,000, in shares of $100 each. Directors: James A. Pritchard, J. D. Fry, B. Peart, S. A. Raymond and Joseph McGillivray. Also, articles of incorporation of the Panamint Water and Toll Road Company; to operate in the same district. Capital stock, $200,000, in shares of $100 each. Directors as above.

Pisciculture.

We have frequently endeavored to point out the probable advantages of systematic fish culture on the Sierra foothills, and we are glad to note that the operations of the past season in that line are undoubted successes. Thomas Bell, of Big Pine, has, in a small reservoir, raised thousands of trout from an original stock of ten, brought from Kern river by Kitchen last year. Satisfied with the experiment, Mr. Bell has now underway the third of some reservoirs, covering three or four acres each, for breeding purposes. "Steve" Gregg, of the same place, has met with even greater success than Mr. Bell in the production of these gamest and sweetest of finny beauties, but he is not making similar preparations to go into the business.

His Debut.

Our Senior's first appearance on any stage as an acrobat, trapezist or grand and lofty tumbler occurred upon his recent trip to Panamint, when, as the stage was ascending one of the grades in that region, he attempted a gallant leap into space in order to save his bacon from what he supposed was an upsetting stage. Miscalculating his ability to manage his pedal extremities, however, he managed to gracefully land all in a heap among the horses' heels, the wagon tongue, double-trees and things. But the stage maintained its equilibrium, and Mr. C. finally arrived safely in Panamint, as we learn from The News Our informant states that it was a close call.

Don't Forget.

Those among us who would lend a helping hand to the rising generation in the way of supporting schools, and those socially inclined or are lovers of the light fantastic, should not by any means forget that on Tuesday evening next, at Walter's Ranch, occurs one of those good, old fashioned, country-like dances, the which will awaken all the spirit, fun and life there may be in those who join in. The tickets, including a free ride, the supper and the dance, are sold at the low figure of $3, and all hands should go.

A Conundrum.

FISH SPRINGS, Dec. 6, 1874.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—"If D. B. Curtis is housing his corn in a new crib 8x46 feet," how high is it above the level of Owens river opposite Butte Ranch? By answering the above you will much oblige A SUBSCRIBER.

Depends entirely upon the years; some seasons the water is lower than others. When a correspondent propounds such a problem as the above it is evident he has been "corned." Ask us something hard.

Prospecting.

Almost any evening these times, beacon-like camp fires are to be seen on the mountain sides of the rugged Inyo range, across the valley. That—the Russ District—was the scene of the original mining of the "Owens River Country," in the days of ye taboose eaters and Indian troubles. The prospector may yet cause the smoke stacks of many hoisting works to arise thereon.

Mining Contract.

Record has been made in the County Clerk's office of a contract entered into by and between V. A. Gregg and the Brown Bros., of Coso, wherein the former agrees to defend the title of the "Grand" mine and sink a shaft thereon to the depth of 100 feet, in consideration of a one-half interest therein.

A Row.

Some Mexicans, names to us unknown, got into a furious row at Lower Cerro Gordo, on the 1st instant, which resulted in one of them getting a bad shot through both legs. We are not in possession of particulars.

The Holidays.

A Christmas tree and its usual concomitants of dancing and general festivity, during the evening following, is on the programme of holiday observances among the good people of Bishop.

County Hospital.

There are but four patients in the County Hospital, under charge of Dr. Gelcich, at Lone Pine.

Remarkable Target Practice.

As per kind invitation, we witnessed one of the regular target practices of Co. B, 12th U. S. Infantry, at Camp Independence, on Monday last. After an examination of the record, given below, the exclamation is suggested, "Where is the great Irish Team record?" Rapidly responding to the call, the men stepped up, loaded, fired standing and without rest—the whole time occupied being only three hours, or twenty-seven seconds for each shot, including the time occupied in measuring, plugging and recording. Following is the score, ten rounds per man, at 100 yards:

Well Done.

That carrying-of-passengers-on-a-buck-board arrangement, which has for a time been a feature of the northern stage line has become a thing of the past. The six passenger coach "Esmeralda" is now being run, which is to be replaced in a trip or two by a new Concord, eight-passenger coach, now on the way here from Belmont, which will be run with six horses. Mr. Cluggage is now at Benton re-stocking the whole line, which will undoubtedly accrue to his advantage as well as to the credit of the county generally. Teal's Marsh is now included in the route, and the time is changed so as to give several hours earlier start from this point. See advertisement.

Personals.

Mr. James Brady, the well-known mining engineer, now connected with the Cerro Gordo Potosi tunnel enterprise, has been in town during the week. We learn indirectly that his Waucoba Company do not propose active operations this Winter. V. Beaudry was likewise in our burg for a short time. Messrs. Barrows, Hughes and Hunter of Cerro Gordo, Hypolite and Hunt of Lone Pine, Darrah of —well, of Coso—Campbell and Greenley of Big Pine and many others have recently put in a brief appearance.

J. S Rothschild & Co.

In our "New Advertisements" will be seen that of Messrs. J. S. Rothschild & Co., announcing a change in proprietorship thereof, and the fact that the new firm have on hand and arriving an unusually large stock of Fall and Winter goods and general merchandise of all descriptions, including fancy goods and an elegant stock of jewelry, for the holidays. Mr. Perham's successor is Mr A. W. Eibeshutz, formerly with the noted house of H. B. Claflin & Co., New York, and an energetic, go-ahead business man.

Abundance of Water.

The river, on the other side of the valley, seems to be sloshing itself promiscuously over the plains. At what is known as "the slough," this side of the Bend City bridge, it has washed away the structure built there by the county as a bridge, and the continual wearing away of the soil leaves the place impassable, and it is stated as a fact that more water runs there than under the regular river bridge. Something should be done about the matter at the next meeting of the Board.

For the Holidays.

L. Wood, at his neat storeroom on Main street, has received during the week a complete and really fine stock of holiday goods, including appropriate gifts of both cheap and costly descriptions, to suit the taste, fancy and purses of all. His line includes the staples of groceries, dry goods, fancy goods, cigars, tobacco, candies, nuts and fruit, musical instruments, dress goods, new games, etc., with pictures and toys ad infinitum. See his advertisement.

Road Meeting.

The subscribers of the capital stock of the Coso & Panamint Toll Road are notified to meet at the Court House on Wednesday next, the 16th instant, at 12 o'clock, to take important action relative to that property. The matter is an important one, and all who became interested should not fail to be in attendance.

Independence Agency.

Brother Rowley, of the Postoffice Book Store, announces in his "ad." this week that he is the duly authorized agent for Independence of The Panamint News. Step up and support home institutions.

Bullion Shipment.

The Eclipse Company shipped, per Wells, Fargo & Co., on the 6th instant, 876 ounces of bullion, valued at $1,619 60.

Fine Weather.

Probably most people hereabouts are already aware of the fact, but we will, nevertheless, mention that the weather accorded us by the urbane, "gentlemanly and efficient" clerk of that institution has, for the past few weeks, been glorious. This time last year, you know, there was a foot of snow on the ground, which was an unprecedented and ridiculous proceeding on the part of the official in charge at that time.

An Old Firm Changed.

There will be no end of regrets at the fact that our old time friend, the ever genial and popular J. P. M. Perham has disposed of his interest in the well-known house of J. S. Rothschild & Co. of this place. We learn that for a time "Jim" will still make Inyo his headquarters, and with many others, we join in a sincere wish that he may somehow again become a fixture among us.

Panamint Patients.

Dr. Wm. H. O'Keefe, paralyzed, and Mr. Gustavus V. Norton, who was shot at Panamint last July, reached Surgeon White's private hospital at Camp Independence, on Monday last, after a six days' trip. We learn that they stood the journey well, considering their weak state, and are likely to improve under the Doctor's skillful treatment.

Waxing Rich.

Our little cotemporary at the other end of the county is becoming a bloated property owner. Record has been made in the County Clerk's office of the purchase, by The Panamint News Company, of a desirable town lot. The deed don't say desirable, but we presume it is.

A Success.

The dinner and ball given by the Grange of Lone Pine, on Saturday last, in honor of the anniversary of the organization of the order in the United States, is adjudged to have been a very complete success by those who had the good fortune to participate.

Shooting.

A futile shooting match was indulged in a few days ago by a couple of inebriated hombres at Cerro Gordo, in the open street. They fired many shots each, but fortunately none took effect.

Masonic Election.

Members of the mystic order should not forget that on next Saturday evening, the 19th instant, there occurs the annual election of officers of Inyo Lodge No. 221, F. & A. M.

New Residence.

Lumber is arriving on the ground for the new dwelling house of P. W. Bennett. It is intended, we believe, to make it adjoin the present one, and will be 32x32 feet in size.

Time not Changed.

The Lone Pine, Coso and Panamint Stage still leave the former place on Mondays and Thursdays as formerly, the announcement of a change made last week being incorrect.

Another Bridge.

The Eclipse Company have ordered timbers and lumber from the Black Rock saw-mill for a bridge across Owens River, at a point nearly opposite their mill.

Columbus.

The Miner of the 5th instant has the following:

During the week there has been an important change in the ownership of the celebrated Teel's Marsh borax property. One transfer of thirty acres in the Blanco Vale Company's claim, from W. D. Shaver to Warren B. English at $3,750, and a transfer from W. B. English and W. D. Shaver to Julius P. and Frank M. Smith, of thirty acres of the Blanco Vale ground and some segregated Nadeau Co.'s, together with outside borax claims; also their mill site and manufactory, formerly known as the Mosheimer & Engelke Borax Works, together with the crude material on hand, personal property, etc., connected therewith, for a consideration of $32,500. Another purchase was made by the Smith Bros. from Ira P. Hale, of one claim of twenty acres of the Blanco Vale—consideration, $5,050. Mr. Engelke, who has charge of Griffling & Wyman's Borax Works, situated between Columbus and Fish Lake, has concentrated or manufactured something over thirty four tons of borax crystals during the past month.

A rumor is current in town to the effect that the visit of Wharburton and Barstow to Silver Peak will, in some way, result in starting up of the works at that point.

Los Angeles Items.

The Herald of December 2, has the annexed:

In grading around the new houses in course of erection on Main street between Second and Third some of the bones of a human skeleton were exhumed the other day. The remains were found on the site of an old adobe house which stood there for many years previous to the late improvements. Some dark history may be connected with the bones, but it would take a novelist to evolve it.

Mr. R. R. Haines presented us with a photograph copy of a map of our inland geography as regards our railroad situation. This map will show at a glance the urgent necessity of the Inyo railroad to our future commercial salvation, and ought to arrest the attention of every man interested in the welfare of our city.

A merchant of our city who has a branch store at Panamint, informs us that the demand for goods there is greater than his freighting facilities can supply. The sales thus far have amounted to about $8,000.

Another train of freighting teams left for Panamint yesterday, loaded with goods for the mining trade.

Letter from Round Valley.

[Correspondence Inyo Independent.]

MESSRS. EDITORS: The fact cannot be concealed that even the quiet inhabitants of this little paradise are blandly smiling at Panamint. Heretofore our peregrinations inclined northward, for the very good reason that we generally found a fair market for our surplus produce at Hot Springs and Columbus. The "Benton bits" are pretty and attractive—very convenient things to have when our efficient Sheriff thunders taxes. Small inducements were offered to haul stuff southwards, consequently we were loth to visit your "Deserted Village;" although a delegation (for the jury) are occasionally compelled to put in an appearance.

Bishop Creek and Round Valley folks would have willingly annexed their respective localities to Mono county (taxes only two per cent), but now since the big excitement it is thought and generally conceded that Inyo will do, henceforth—in spite of three per cent—that Mono is and always will be a small potato—can't "pan a mint!"

Just now Panamint is all the talk in this vicinity. Some earnest Grangers feel anxious to drop the plow, turn out the mustangs, let the cows go dry and shoot the dogs, and go mining to Panamint; others of a more speculative turn of mind contemplate loading their teams with sour kraut and lumber, hogs, shakes and pumpkins, promiscuously, and sail for the new El Dorado. Even the Piutes entertain an idea that taboose and pinenuts with a limited quantity of good fat worms, grasshoppers and grass-seed would be highly relished by the Panaminters. An elderly Piute, last Summer, put up a small stack of hay here for his old crippled horse. A notion run through his black wool that he could make money by taking his hay to Hot Springs, even should his noble steed perish during the cold blasts of Winter. But lately he has heard such favorable reports concerning Panamint—hay worth "heap money"—therefore the old gentleman has concluded to pack his entire hay crop to Panamint, providing he can find sacks enough to put it in. The old boy has a bad fever.

The white and colored taboose eaters are jubilant over the late mining discoveries. And why not? These venerable pioneers of Owens Valley have never yet in this section enjoyed the benefits derivable from a real mining excitement. The biggest excitements "raised" in these localities are produced at the celebrated horse races, where weak-minded hombres stake their all—their last sack of corn against marbles—on the Hockhockings of Bishop, and then when all is o'er, the losers of course, shaking and trembling worse than during the earthquake season, swear up and down the track that "Sheenanigan" was played! However, our fine agricultural districts are steadily improving and rapidly increasing in population, and nobody objects to a variety of excitements and furore.

It is very evident that the prediction of THE INDEPENDENT, years ago, regarding the future prosperity of Inyo, will soon be verified.

Panamint, is, and will, undoubtedly, continue to be lively; still we, up this way, feel inclined to believe that more flourishing and permanent mining camps will soon exist north than south of Coso.

Ye sturdy Grangers! hold your grip to the plow handle, whilst the indefatigable prospectors are probing the hidden treasures of our mountains; after which operation the beneficient capitalist will breathe life and activity into Inyo's mountain slopes. IXPKT.

Our Mono Letter.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

BENTON, Cal., Dec. 10.

MESSRS. EDITORS: It is hardly probable that anything which I might truthfully say would change a sturdy Panamint-bound prospector Bentonward, as times are not so lively here at the present.

Mr. A. Mack has just returned from San Francisco, and I am informed that he has purchased a White's patent roasting furnace, which he intends to place in his mill at this place, for the purpose of working ore containing any amount of lead and zinc.

MERCHANDISE.

Both of Mr. J. A. Creaser's large teams have arrived within the last week, bringing goods for this place and Bishop Creek, mainly for the former. Mr. Creaser has just received and opened a stock of general merchandise, which for magnitude is unparalleled in this section of the country.

ON THE WAR PATH.

Last week an untamed rancher from down about Owens River arrived in town with a load of murphys, otherwise rendered into English as "spuds." Said rancher sallied forth on the war-path; went into the Postoffice and erected a Mansard roof upon the Assistant Postmaster. When expressing his judicial opinion about the matter, Justice Williams called it assault and battery, and prevailed upon the rancher to contribute $25 and costs, and a compliance with this request made the warrior's entire stock of produce look extremely sick I don't see that the assaultee shows any marks or signs of a battle, however.

SHOOTING.

Patrick Lyons started for Panamint last week, but stopped about three miles below here at the cabin belonging to Forey & Lavell, intending to remain over night, as they were acquainted and had been partners in a mining operation. But a short time had elapsed when a conversation took place which led to the revival of an old quarrel. Report says that Lyons ran after Forey with an opened knife, upon which Forey shot Lyons, the ball entering the left arm between the elbow and shoulder, ranging up the arm and into the left lung. The wound was examined and probed by Dr. Griswall and pronounced a probably fatal one. But he is apparantly getting better, and hopes of his recovery are entertained. SNOB.

PANAMINT ITEMS.

We extract the following from the issues of The News of the 3d and 5th instants. We will here parenthetically mention to The News folks the fact that we'd like two copies of their paper—one for filing and the other to flop our editorial scissors over:

The Death Valley route from Pioche is being traversed, the route which for years has been such a terror to travelers. How quickly the love of gold—or silver bullion, for that matter—overcomes such obstacles. But a short time ago it was thought Death Valley could not be traversed on account of the scarcity of water. But the hardy and brave prospector does not hesitate, and water stations are now easy of access the whole distance. It would not surprise us if a stage line was soon put on to run over the valley, where so many have fallen victims to thirst in the attempt to cross it and explore the unknown "beyond."

This morning the ever genial face of P. A. Chalfant smiled upon us e're the sun had risen above the mountain peak, or we from our downy (on the ground) bed, he having arrived on Dodge's stage. Mr. Chalfant is the editor of THE INYO INDEPENDENT, the pioneer paper of this county, which has probably done more towards bringing the mineral treasures of Inyo county into note than any other cause. T. F. A. Connelly visited us this morning, having just returned from San Francisco. He is about to depart for Independence, his late stamping ground, where he goes to see a friend commit matrimony.

Some of the "outside" newspapers which come to us seem to be getting scared for fear their several towns will soon be deserted, and are filled with fault-finding because "everybody is going to Panamint." If some of these over cautious gentlemen were to come here and see the developments which are being made every day in the discovery of new mines, and the improvements going on in the town itself, they would very qickly be convinced that Panamint is a big thing.

The S. V. M. & M. Co. have contracted for four Krom Concentrators for their reduction works. The order for them, as well as for a fifty-ton mill which Mr. J. H. Crossman will put up and run himself, was sent to New York yesterday. The Jacobs mill will meanwhile be kept running.

The Surprise Valley M. & M. Co. have 60,000 tons of lumber at San Bernardino, which will be shipped to Panamint immediately.

A miner's meeting was called for the 11th by the Recorder of the District, for the purpose of tendering his resignation and the election of a successor.

McAllister & Co. have struck in the Ophir a very rich body of chloride and black sulphuret ore, which assays between $900 and $1,000 per ton.

Panamint weather is rather too warm in the middle of the day.

Kern County News.

The Bakersfield Courier gives the following complimentary notice of our old friend, mentioned therein:

We had the pleasure of meeting, on Tuesday, with R. P. Stewart, an old prospecting acquaintance of many, many years ago, and whom we had not seen for nine years. Mr. Stewart is the discoverer of Panamint, and is fairly entitled to rank as a chief among that adventurous and daring class of men who have done so much to open up the mineral resources of this Coast. He came to this country with General Beale, on the route of the 35th parallel, and established himself in our mining region as a prospector in 1857. While here, he not only made many valuable discoveries himself, but led the way to others. A few years ago, in search of new fields for the exercise of his vocation, he crossed the Sierras, where, three years since, next January, he found Panamint. The interests he secured there are very large, and will assure him a competency for the rest of his life. He has not lost faith in this county, but proposes to devote some of his capital to opening up mines he believes to be good. He thinks the trade of Panamint, and all the mining region to the east and northeast of us should take the route via this place, instead of Los Angeles, as being more direct and quicker. They have been badly "bilked" in shipments made via San Bernardino. Mr. Stewart is a man of education, and much superior in acquirements and mental polish to the average prospector.

The Courier says: A daily stage is now run from here to Kernville, and from thence tri-weekly to Panamint. But this travel is now becoming so large that it will not be long before it will be afforded greater facilities, at least to the extent of putting on a daily stage from Kernville. The Kernville or Panamint stage leaves here every day, with all the passengers it can take, and seats are frequently engaged a long time ahead.

About five miles and a half of track are laid in advance of the Bakersfield depot. Track laying proceeds slowly because the work of preparing the road-bed is rather heavy.

A party of engineers passed through town yesterday, on their way to Tehachepi. They are to construct a wagon-road somewhere in that vicinity, where the railroad will terminate, to connect with the mines of Cerro Gordo and Panamint. Stanford & Company have fully determined to secure the trade of that region at as early a day as possible.

Rich Specimen.

We were yesterday presented with a specimen of ruby silver ore, taken from a newly opened body at the 400-foot level of the South American mine, which assays at the rate of $26,036 per ton. If a man had a few hundred tons of that kind of ore he could afford to wear a silver watch and a stud-horse vest, and might even afford to take a trip to the "Beautiful Bay," and put silver-headed nails in his mother-in-law's coffin.—[Reese River Reveille, November 30th.

Freighting.

The Panamint Transportation Company—Myerstein & Co.—have now 1,500 tons of freight on hand, en route to Panamint, which they are delivering a the rate of 300 tons per month. Stewart & Jones are delighted with the enterprising promptness of this firm. Stewart guarantees that not a single pound of freight shall be transported by any other line to Panamint. He promises further, that as a recognition of the intelligent energy displayed by the Myerstein firm, that that house shall retain the freight business to Panamint until a railroad thunders from Spadra to the Stewart Wonder. This speaks volumes for the enterprise and honor in performing their obligations of the Messrs. Myerstein; and promises splendidly for the future of the county. Thirty Arizona teams for the Panamint route are expected to-day.—[San Bernardino Guardian.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

"What I know I know," said the great surgeon Magendie. "Give me stubborn facts: I care not for theories." This is sound doctrine. Possibly a medical martinet might be able, in a plausible way, to show why DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS ought not to cure Indigestion, Headache, Nervousness, Liver Complaint, Muscular Diseases and Miasmatic Fevers; but as they do in every instance effect that object, his fine theory would be a waste of words. As Magendie said, the world demands facts, not speculative opinions. n233m1

THE SABBATH BELLS.

The old man sits in his easy chair,
And his ear has caught the ringing
Of many a church bell far and near,
Their own sweet music singing.
And his head sinks low on the aged breast,
While his thoughts far back are reaching,
To the Sabbath morns of his boyish days,
And a mother's sacred teaching.

A few years later, and lo! the bells
A merrier strain were pealing,
And heavenward bore the marriage vows
Which his manhood's joy were sealing.
But the old man's eyes are dimming now,
As memory holds before him
The sad, sad picture of later years,
When the tide of grief rolled o'er him.

When the bells were tolling for loved ones gone!
For wife, for the sons and daughters,
Who, one by one, from his home went out,
And down into death's dark waters.
But the aged heart has still one joy
Which his old life daily blesses,
And his eyes grow bright and his pulse warm
'Neath a grandchild's sweet caresses.

But the old man wakes from his reverie,
And his dear old face is smiling,
While the child with her serious eyes reads on,
The Sabbath hours beguiling.
Ah! bells once more ye will ring for him,
When the heavenly hand shall sever
The cord of life, and his freed soul flies
To dwell with his own forever.

Postal Cards.

An exchange says: Hereafter let no man send us a dun on a postal card, for the Supreme Court of Ohio has decided that such kind of dunning should not be dun. The Court held that anything so written that is liable to injure the credit or reputation of any one is a crime. The decision was made in the case of a man who dunned a debtor for an old account on a postal card, and in that manner made the matter public and to the detriment of the latter's credit elsewhere.

VARIETIES.

—Here is a new game, very popular in the country just now: A young man takes a chestnut, cuts round the hull with a sharp knife, and then takes one half the chestnut in his mouth and a pretty girl the other half in her mouth, and they pull and the hull comes off. There may be quicker methods of hulling chestnuts, but none more soothing to the feelings of the young folks; and they don't get mad and dance wildly around if the hull don't come off for five minutes or so. Country games are not to be despised, after all.

—There is a queer railroad trouble in Indiana. A road being in debt for $2,500 worth of unpaid taxes, the Sheriff of the town where they are due is trying to attach a locomotive. The law does not allow him to take the locomotive of a mail train, and now the freight trains do not stop at the town, but run slowly through, all hands deriding the Sheriff, who sees no way to secure his locomotive.

—"Mamma, where do the cows get the milk? asked Willie, looking up from the foaming pan of milk which he had been intently regarding. "Where do you get your tears?" was the answer. After a thoughtful silence he again broke out. "Mamma, do cows have to be spanked?"

—A Lafayette, Ind., man, just as he was approaching the shining shore, took his wife's hand and said: "Susan, you've been a good wife! We've lived together 32 years, and I never found a button off my shirt! I'll speak a good word for you as soon as I git thar!"

—A disgusted old line-back voter at Ottumwa, Iowa, put in a ticket which read:

For general principles
General Jackson
For Congress
Don't care a dam—they all steal anyhow.

—A colored gentleman went to consult one of the most high-toned lawyers in Boston, and after stating his case, said: "Now, I know's you's a lawyer, but I wish you would please, sar, jiss tell me trufe 'bout dis matter."

—A late New York Daily Sun speaks of the prospective Senator from Nevada in the following style: It is said that Mr. Sharon, owner of the present Legislature of Nevada, and future Senator, has $5,000,000 a year income.

—The Maryland State Grange, at a recent meeting resolved that "the presence of woman in the Grange as an active and equal co-worker, is the strongest guarantee we have of an abiding usefulness."

—The capacity of the new San Francisco Mint will be about three times larger than the old, and capable of coining $300,000,000 in gold coin yearly, or a corresponding amount in silver.

—A Montgomery, Va., paper relates that a colored boy in its vicinity displays a passionate craving for kerosene, which he drinks in large quantities and which produces wild intoxication.

—An English girl laughs at the idea that a woman cannot live comfortably with her mother-in-law, and advertises for some good-looking young fellow to give her a chance to try the experiment.

—Toombs' uproariousness is accounted for on the ground that he is a miserable old widower, and The Memphis Avalanche wants Tilton's mother-in-law to marry him.

—In the Summer a gentleman who called on the British Premier found him "sitting in fur boots before a large fire, trying, as he said, to get some heat into his legs."

—Jefferson Davis gives his entire attention to pruning and grafting apple orchards in Bath county, Kentucky. Particular attention paid to sour apple trees.

—A builder, when returning thanks to those who drank his health, modestly observed that he was "more fitted for the scaffold than public speaking."

—They who know the truth are not equal to those who revere it, and they who revere it are not equal to those who find pleasure in it.

VINEGAR BITTERS.
PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL
Dr. Walker's
CALIFORNIA VINEGAR
BITTERS!
Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.
The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

SOLDIERS'
WAR CLAIM AGENCY,
No. 34 Montgomery Block,
San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, will give prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1861 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.
San Francisco, Cal.
THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celebrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of Redwood,
the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.
Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.

NEWSPAPER LAW.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscription.

2. If subscribers wish their papers discontinued, publishers may continue to send them until all charges are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office or place where they are sent, they are held responsible until they settle their bill and give notice to discontinue them.

4. If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher, and the paper is sent to the former direction, they are held responsible. Notice of removal should always be given.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take a paper or periodical from the office or removing and leaving it uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Indian Lore.

[From The Reese River Reveille.]

THE INYO INDEPENDENT of a recent date contains a long article on Indian fandangoes, of the object of which it confesses itself ignorant, and calls upon The Rev ille to explain the occasion of these occasions. He could not have applied for information to a better source. What we don't know about Indians the raggedest Shoshone that ever cracked a pine nut or a head insect would be ashamed to own a knowledge of. We will proceed to post THE INDEPENDENT on the subject of fandangoes:

Dingabitch, the Medicine Man of that branch of the Shoshones which makes its headquarters in this vicinity, who was cremated a short time since, for failing to cure an ulcer on the heel of Captain John's favorite wife, enlightened us on the subject as follows: The fandango, or dance, is a species of thanks-giving festival, held in accordance with instructions from a source which will be mentioned below. The Shoshones and Piutes, unlike Fennimore Cooper's and Ned Buntline's Indians, have no belief in a "Great Spirit" or "Happy Hunting Ground." Their idea of a hereafter is a place where there are millions of fat crickets always roasting, and thousands on thousands of ponies roaming around on grass-clad hills, with red blankets strapped to their backs; and the being they worship and in whose honor these festivals are given is a traditional Indian, whose history the Medicine Man gives as follows:

"Heap sun-ups, maybe long time ago," a mountain in the Goose Creek range suddenly became very much disturbed. It rocked violently to and fro, sending forth loud noises resembling exaggerated human groans. The Indians who at that time flocked in large numbers to that locality to gather pine nuts, were greatly terrified at the action of the mountain; but they could not flee; they were chained to the spot by a sort of fascination, and all their efforts to tear themselves away were fruitless. They huddled in groups at the foot of the mountain, the men pale with fear, and the women and children wailing and crying. The mountain continued its labor for many days; when, at last, one night, when the sky was of inky blackness, a bright ray of light shot up from its peak and in a few seconds the entire sky was illumined by a dazzling light of rosy hue. The assembled Indians with one accord cast their eyes to the peak of the mountain, when there slowly emerged therefrom the figure of an Indian. The figure was about ten feet in hight and straight as an arrow. It was clad in buckskin, richly embroidered in beads; its ears and nose were decorated with bead rings, the head was surmounted by the pinion of an eagle, and around its waist was a belt containing upwards of three million (according to Indian count) glass beads. For full ten minutes the figure stood gazing at the astonished and terrified Indians, when fixing an arrow in his bow, he discharged it at a range of hills opposite him. A flash of light like the trail of a meteor followed the discharge, and in a moment, the range, which was before barren, was covered with pinons laden down with luscious pine nuts. Another discharge of an arrow at the stream which rippled at the foot of the mountain, and the river was almost overflowing with fish. The figure then pointed its fingers significantly at the large rock on which it was standing, and slowly disappeared into the mountain, which then ceased its shaking and rumbling; the light went out and a solemn silence came over the scene. The next morning, Salamahowich, a mighty warrior who was then chief of the tribe, ascended the mountain, and stepping on the rock on which the figure had stood the night before, it suddenly gave way with him, and in a moment he found himself in the interior of the mountain. The description of the place in which he found himself, as given by the Medicine Man, is beyond our powers; but he gave us to understand that the floor "all the same half dollars (meaning silver) and the roof heap all same him," pointing to a cluster of icicles dependent from a porch, by which we suppose he meant that it was covered with stalactites. While the chief was lost in admiration of the magnificence of his surroundings, the figure of the night before emerged from a recess in the cave, and bidding the chief to seat himself, he told him that he was the Savior and Guardian of the Shoshone tribe, born but the night before, and that the mountain was his mother. He commanded the chief to take word to the tribe, and to tell them so long as they obey a certain code, which he laid down to the chief, but which is too long for repetition here, so long would he be their guardian and protector. Among other things he demanded that a constant guard should be kept at the mouth of his cave; that no human being should be permitted to enter it, and that at a sound which he would strike on an immense boulder of pure silver which stood near the mouth of the cave, signal fires should be built directing the tribe to hold a dance in honor.

It is doubtful if any white man could find the locality of the mountain, or even if he would be permitted by the Indians to enter the region; so ambitious prospectors need not trouble themselves about it; but when fires which flash seven times seven times are seen on the mountains, it may be set down for certain that the big Indian is hitting his boulder, and then follows a grand fandango, which is religiously observed without regard to season or weather, often times being held during a fierce snow storm, or on nights when the thermometer is so low that the mercury tries to crowd itself out of the bottom of the instrument.

Let Us Work.

[From The Los Angeles Express.]

The Chamber of Commerce has called a mass meeting of the people of this and San Bernardino counties, to take the question of building our inland rail road into consideration. We shall do all in our power to render this initial movement successful. The people of this county are called upon to inaugurate the building of this road by every motive of interest which could actuate a community. The commercial prosperity of this city can only be advanced by securing the facilities of communication which this road will afford, and our agriculturists are urged by the supreme motive of connection with a ready market for their products. If we permit the Southern Pacific Railroad to cut off our interior from us, our agricultural products, as well as our commercial supplies, we will be without profitable customers. Of what ultimate avail will it be to fill up our magnificent valley with producers, if at the same time we supinely permit a great railroad combination to cut off our consumers? It is no answer to say that we still have San Francisco open to us. San Francisco is only open to the farmer at an expense of transportation which leaves him a mere pittance for his labor. If, however, by our own energy and public spirit, we make the proper connection with our legitimate back country, our products will always find a ready and increasing market. We do not care if the Southern Pacific had a hundred railroads running into the Mohave basin. That is no reason why we should hesitate to open our future centre of consumption to the products of our own people. It is our duty to push this road to a completion. It is a project on which depends our welfare as a commercial and agricultural people, and if we are without the energy or the pluck to do that which every rule of interest points out so plainly, then we are not worthy of the great bounties which nature has bestowed on us.

The Latest Triumph in Chemistry.

A French savan claims to have discovered the original principle of food, so that out of the viewless elements, as it were, one may hereafter, at a moment's notice, derive a banquet fit for a king. Professor Guerette's process is not yet made public, but he professes to be able to put together the elements of our turnips and our potatoes and our beefsteak, in such a way that the diner gets all the benefit of the food without any of the trouble of selection or preparation. It is needless to say how complete a revolution such a discovery would work for domestic economy. Marketing will be abolished, cooks and cooking be ranked among forgotten ills. All the woes and tribulations of dining will cease to be. One has but to send round to the chemist at the appointed hour a suitable bill of fare, and back it comes a little later done up in little powders, perhaps, or appetizing pills—salmi, fish and game—a menu of ten courses in the compass of a drachm. If such a millenium should come to pass, what monument of stewpans and useless gridirons will be too lofty for this thrice admirable professor?

--In an Omaha street fight a Crough was mortally stabbed by a fellow of his own kind. When asked who his assailant was, the dying man replied. "D'ye think there's anything mean about me? He was a square boy, and I ain't a going to squeal on him."

MAKE DUE RECORD OF YOUR CLAIMS.

In a brief local notice in this paper we last week referred to the importance of recording mining claims properly in the county records, and will now add the fact that those who may hereafter desire patents must have their surveys made according to the lines of the original location. The Commissioner of the General Land Office, in instructing Deputy Surveyors, says "the practice of making surveys according to the dictation of parties in interest, instead of in accordance with the original location, has already caused great confusion, and been productive of great injury to bona fide claimants," and adds:

"You will therefore require the applicant for a survey to furnish a copy of the original record of location properly certified to by the recorder having charge of the records of mining locations in the district where the claim is situate, and cause all official surveys of mining claims to be made in strict conformity to the lines established by the original location as recorded; and if the records of locations made prior to the passage of the mining Act of May 10, 1872, is not sufficiently definite and certain to enable the deputy to make a correct survey therefrom, he should, after reasonable notice in writing, to be served personally or through the United States mail on the applicant for survey and adjoining claimants whose residence or postoffice address he may know or can ascertain by the exercise of reasonable diligence, take the testimony of neighboring claimants and other persons who are familiar with the boundaries thereof as originally located and asserted by the locaters of the claim, and after having ascertained by such testimony the boundaries as originally established, he should make a survey in accordance therewith, and transmit full and correct returns of survey, accompanied by the copy of the record of location, the testimony, and a copy of the notice served on the claimant and adjoining proprietors, certifying thereon when, in what manner, and on whom, service was made."

The Act of Congress of May 10, 1871, expressly provides that "the location must be distinctly marked on the ground, so that its boundaries can be readily traced," and "that all records of mining claims hereafter made shall contain the name or names of the locators, the date of the location, and such a description of the claim or claims, located by reference to some natural object or permanent monument, as will identify the claim."

"These provisions of the law must be strictly complied with in each case to entitle the claimant to a survey and patent, and therefore should a claimant under a location made subsequent to the passage of the mining Act of May 10, 1872, who has not complied with said requirements in regard to making the location upon the ground and recording the same, apply for a survey, you will decline to make it."

"The only relief for a party under such circumstances will be to make a new location in conformity to law and regulations, as no case will be approved and patented by this Office unless these and all other provisions of law are substantially complied with."

His First Shot.

It ofttimes depends on who loaded a shotgun to determine which is the safest end to be at. No one recognizes the truth of this axiom which we thus tender to the sporting public, better than an amateur Nimrod who went out from Vallejo a few days ago to slay the feathered inhabitants of the tules with No. 4 shot. It was the first time he ever loaded a gun, and he has confidentially remarked to a friend that it would be the last. He had an idea that the greater the amount of powder he put in his gun the greater would be the execution, and in this he was not, in one sense, mistaken. So he put ten good brimming drachms of powder, with a proportionate quantity of shot, in each barrel, and sought his game. He found an excellent shot, (it is always the luck of your green sportsmen), and, crawling up, stretched himself flat upon his stomach, took a preliminary squint along the sights, and shutting his eyes, fired. He only fired one barrel, but the other fired itself. Then ensued the spectacle of a man lifted from the earth, whirled over and over and again over with the velocity of two buzz saws, and then the thud of a falling body we dare not say how many yards off from the scene of casualty. The man eventually succeeded in picking himself up, and found on examination, to his profound astonishment, that he was all there. Several square inches of facial cuticle had, however, been carried away, his back felt as if several vertebræ had become uncoupled, bruises were as plentiful as the boils on Job, and a general feeling of gone-inness overpowering his system.—[Vallejo Chronicle.

—Tom Paine's bones were removed from their burial place by Cobbett, and what became of them is unknown. The hermit in New York adds that "it has been said that Cobbett neglected getting the box through the English custom-house, and that it was laid away in some warehouse and forgotten. I have known a dog to bury a bone and then forget the spot, but I never heard of a case where human relics were thus consigned to oblivion."

POSTAGE NOTICE.

The new Postage law will soon go into effect. It requires the postage on newspapers to be paid by the publishers instead of by the subscribers. Our delinquent subscribers will therefore see the necessity of paying up all arrearages. They surely cannot expect us to trust them for their paper and to pay their postage, too. Prepayment in the future must be required.

Mining Claims.

Mining claims located prior to May 10, 1872, on which work has been performed at any time since the passage of the new mining law (May 10, 1872) are not subject to re-location, January 1, 1875. It is not necessary for owners of old locations to do anything within the present year to preserve their titles, provided the requisite amount of labor shall have been performed at any period between May 10, 1872, and January 1, 1875. Next year, however, and thereafter, all claims must be represented alike, as to assessment work. This seems to be the gist of some new rulings by the Commissioner of the General Land Office.

The Narrow Gauge.

Mr. Crawford has made a searching survey of the proposed railroad route through the mountains and has considerably modified his former estimates of the cost. With the reduction which has taken place in the value of iron, he now figures that $8,000 per mile would be ample for the best kind of a road. The grading through the Cajon Pass will be, as he terms it, "fearfully small," compared with former ideas of the great difficulties of this gateway.

Decision.

The General Land Office, in deciding the case of Matt Gisborn's Mono mine, in Utah, lays down the following principles: "First, that where a party has commenced suit after date of application for a patent, and thereafter filed an adverse claim, regular in other respects, the application for patent will remain suspended until the court decides the case. Second, that a party who has only an equitable right cannot be considered an adverse claimant."

More Whitewash.

Rev. Glendenning, of New Jersey, who was accused of the seduction of Mary Pomeroy, and has been on trial before a court of the Presbyterian church, has been acquitted of the charge of seduction, and convicted of unministerial and unchristian conduct. He was dismissed from the pastorate of his church, but says he will appeal and take the matter before the General Synod at its next meeting.

Accident.

A freight train collided with a passenger train December 8, on the C. P. R. R., near Truckee, killing two immigrants and fatally injuring several others. The accident was caused by the freight train breaking in two, one part drifting into the passenger train.

Another Road.

Los Angeles has organized another railroad company, with a capital of $500,000, for the purpose of building a railroad from that city to a point on the Pacific at the Centinela Rancho. They'd better build the L. A. and I. road first.

Free Banking.

A bill for free banking was introduced into the House of Representatives on the 8th instant, by Mr. Merriam of New York. It proposes to repeal all laws limiting the circulation under National Bank accounts.

Chinese Immigration.

At the instance of Page, the House Committee on Foreign Affairs are instructed to hunt up some method of preventing the importation of Chinese coolies.

—Half a million dogs keep the people of New Mexico in bark. If the tonic does them good they are welcome to it.

—"Cheap and hungry dances" are a Vermont institution. There are no refreshments and the fun stops at 12 o'clock.

—Grump accidentally sat on a red hot coal, and spent the night following in trying to turn so he could see his wound.

—The French Prince Imperial has ears like a Milwaukeean, and his photograph is doing him a great deal of damage.

—A French milliner conceived the novel idea of having the ladies wear their hats on their heads.

—An Iowa justice the other day accepted two bushels of the pungent onion as a marriage fee.

THE RAILROAD.

As yet we are in the dark as to whether or not Engineer Crawford prosecuted his late survey of the route for the Los Angeles and Independence Railroad to any considerable distance this side of the Cajon Pass. It is quite likely that he did not; as from his previous explorations he could state to a certainty that no serious obstacles were to be encountered after crossing that mountain, therefore an accurate survey was not then necessary. But since that preliminary exploration Panamint has sprung into a very important existence, and becoming primarily the objective point for the first extension of the road, and being some miles off the direct line as originally proposed, some new conditions arise requiring consideration. To reach Panamint and finally this place as the legal and necessary terminus an intervening range of mountains has to be crossed and then recrossed. Of the first crossing, to reach Panamint Valley, we know nothing except from hearsay: from this we understand it is not at all a serious undertaking. But of the route, after leaving Panamint, we are prepared to speak from personal knowledge. It is not only perfectly feasible but it fortunately so happens that the only available pass through the Argus range, the one in question, will carry the road into close proximity to two districts, viz.: Wild Rose and New Coso, the two lying about equi-distant from Panamint on the south and Cerro Gordo on the north and all four within a reach of sixty miles. The importance of the last two districts are too well known to require further remark here. Important as they are, however, it is extremely probable they will be fully equalled by the other two; one, by the vast amount of lead bullion it is capable of turning out, the other by its extensive leads of high grade silver ores. Besides these four districts there is still a fifth lying between Coso and Wild Rose and directly on the proposed line of the road. This is known as Granite District, or the Egan lead mines. It exposes an incalculable amount of lead ores too poor in silver to justify attention under present circumstances, but with the advantages of a railroad close by, will doubtless prove well worthy the attention and add very much to the business of the road

We fully believe that either one of these districts, when fairly developed, to be capable of affording a paying business to the road, without taking any account of the others at all. At all events, with equal advantages to start with it is hard to say which of the four is to be of the greater importance, and it is certain that, taking them collectively, their productions will assume proportions that may well be deemed marvelous. All these and, incidentally, numbers of others are to be accommodated by the detour in contemplation and necessary to reach Panamint, and we are gratified in the belief that this detour can be made without materially increasing the cost or length of the road as originally planned. We are sorry that the true position and facts of the case could not have been presented in due form and magnitude to the consideration of the railroad mass meeting which took place at Los Angeles on the 12th We feel assured that if these facts were understood and appreciated as they should be, the monied men of Los Angeles would be eager to invest their capital in this road simply as an investment, saying nothing about the obviously vital necessity of the road to the commercial welfare of their city.

Way Up.

It transpires that in our item last week relative to the $32,000,000 ore body on the Comstock there was an error of some $268,000,000—three hundred million dollars being the estimated value of the ore bodies in sight in the Consolidated Virginia, California, Best & Belcher and Ophir. This is more than the total valuation of all the real and personal property in the city of San Francisco, and too vast for full comprehension. A half dozen men, of course, own the great "plants," Flood & O'Brien, Mackey, Sharon, and Jones, destined to be the most enormously wealthy men in the world.

The Pesidential Salary.

Senator Wright of Iowa has introduced a bill cutting down the President's salary to $25,000 per annum from and after the present term. The same Senator votes on million dollar appropriations with the utmost complacency. It was the conception of a great brain, that: one that could see no other way of effecting such a saving except at the expense of the highest official of the nation, who should be honest.

No Standing in Court.

A firm doing business at Cloverdale was non-suited recently in an action brought against the railroad company, by reason of not having complied with the law in regard to the publication of a notice of partnership.

PANAMINT.

During a recent visit to Panamint we took occasion to make as thorough an examination of a number of its ledges as could be done in three days' climbing and by hammering croppings at short intervals from the beginning of one location, though step by step, to the next and the next. The result of this persistent hammering and breaking rock was to prove conclusively that there is scarcely a point in all that vast range of exposed quartz where "metal" in fair quantities, varying from a "color" to $2,000 to the ton cannot be found. It appears as though there was no portion of the croppings in the limestone formation that was not more or less impregnated with mineral. Nor is there an opening anywhere that does not show a pay streak of a few inches in width of very high grade ore.

As our examination extended over several miles of croppings, with almost uniform results wherever broken into, no matter how unpromising in outward appearance, we conclude that there is enough near surface ore close to Surprise Canyon to maintain quite a city for half a dozen years or more to come. There need be no fears on this point. But it is prophesied by White Piners and others that since the best and greater portion of the mines lie in limestone, the bottom will soon be reached—that no pay ore will be found at any considerable depth. Such may prove to be the case, but there is no reason obvious to a common understanding why it should. On the contrary, it would seem to be an almost absolute certainty that the pay ore runs down to immense depths. There can be no question that these are true fissure veins. They may be divided into two distinct veins: the mother vein in the north side of the canyon, known as the Jacob and Stewart's Wonder, cuts straight across deep gulches and lofty hills for at least a mile and a half, scarcely without a break in its whole length. The only perceptible difference in the prospect, whether made at the lowest point of depression or the highest elevation. The same is true of the other grand vein, which, from its most noted location, may be called the Wyoming series. This lies on the opposite side of the canyon, with which and the Wonder ledge it runs nearly parallel but at a greater altitude. This ledge is cut down at least a thousand feet deep in one place and about half as deep in several others. It cuts far into the slate on the east, the only portion that appears to be barren, and extends over two miles southwesterly across deep gulches through the lime into still another formation. Branching from it are numerous ledges, all large and showing high grade ores, these in turn cutting across hill and gulch a mile down to the main canyon itself. Counting these numerous spurs, the connections of which are easily traced, this mother vein exposes several miles of the very richest croppings. At the lowest depth yet attained, which is on the Wyoming, and is about fifty feet, we saw rock taken which assayed $915 to the ton, and there was apparently plenty of it. The next lowest, about twenty feet, on the Esperanza, a large spur or cross ledge, there was about a foot of $325 rock. These are fair average assays of the pay streak proper in hundreds of openings throughout the district. The same openings show from ten to twenty times as much ore which will propably average $50 to the ton—a class of ore which, with available facilities, can be worked to fair profit. Outside of these two veins are numerous other locations, none of which we saw, but one or two of which, if no more, are said to be quite as promising as the best of the series. One of these is the Sunrise, lying in the slate, and possibly the eastern extension of the Wyoming. The Sunrise is the only prominent mine yielding free milling ores—all chlorides. But lack of space forbids any notice in detail of even the most prominent locations of the district.

Owing to the nature of the ground, the town site of Panamint is somewhat circumscribed, but much less so than is commonly reported. There is room there for a city of at least 10,000 without uncomfortable crowding. Its present population, all classes, will approximate 1,500. The business of the place, outside of mining, consists nearly of restaurants, stores and saloons. There is a present sufficiency of them. There are inducements for the establishment of some other branches, particularly a good hotel, one of which, however, will soon be ready for business.

As soon as the concentrating mills are put in operation, which will require at least three months yet, there will be a demand for many more miners, mechanics and common laborers, but at present there is quite enough.

The Surprise Valley Mill and Water Company have done an immense amount of work, cutting roads and other permanent improvements, and are now but just beginning to do some systematic mining. They will soon have their principal mines opened at half a dozen levels each, and find bottom and prove them the finest mines almost ever seen. Ten after ten of Hercules powder is being used in these openings, blasting being necessary at every step. The reports from these blasts reverberate and fairly ring in the echo, sounding as full and loud as a heavily charged 24-pounder. In fact, these shots seem to shake the mountain to its very foundation. The Company have already expended nearly $1,000,000, and expect to expend about half as much more before they get fairly to mining and reducing ores. Numerous other companies are preparing for operations on a large scale, and altogether the future of Panamint is exceedingly promising. It will afford a great basis for stock operations; in this it will hardly stand second to the Comstock itself. Some thirty incorporations are preparing for legitimate mining, but no doubt with the ulterior view of running "adits" in the San Francisco Stock Board as soon as their mines can be made to give them a reliable base.

Recurring to the general characteristics of the district, its geological formation and promise, we would again call attention to the able, and very truthful report, submitted by Mr. Stetefeld, to the Mining Commissioner, and to which we gave place in our issue of November 21.

THE LONE PINE, COSO AND PANAMINT ROAD.

As some parties are finding fault because the above named wagon road is not just as smooth and level as it might be, we have a word or two to say in relation to it. In the first place a few public spirited individuals, seeing the importance of direct communication with Panamint and knowing that the county could not furnish the means took the matter in hand to have it done by subscription. In this undertaking they were not very distressingly successful. While all were not only willing but very anxious to have such a road but few were willing to lend a hand or, in other words, to pay a cent toward it But a certain amount (less than $4,000) was paid in by a few, and a man of great energy and good judgment was authorized to take the work in hand, and with the limited means at his disposal, to look out the route and put it in condition for light teams to pass over it, if nothing more. The greatest obstacle to overcome was at the further end. If that place, now known as Shepherd's Canyon, was not dug and blasted clear through with the limited force and means then in hand, all the previous work and expenditure upon many long miles of road necessary to reach it with any kind of a vehicle would go for naught, because it was deemed very doubtful whether any more means could be received to complete it. With the knowledge of these facts before him Mr Shepherd, the gentleman referred to, started out with a force of Indians, his chief, almost his only reliance for labor, and crowded the work through and to completion, we may say, since the road was not only passable for light teams, but also for heavy ones. After this was done he had not another dollar remaining with which to go on and make it a graded pike, such as some people who don't pay anything think we ought to have. To complete the road as desired would cost a great deal more money. But no more contributions were offered, none were received, and the road stands but half finished, in fact. As yet it is a free road, and if it was complete and satisfactory, it would probably remain so. But it isn't complete, more money is required, and people don't offer to contribute, and there is but one way to accomplish the desired object, and that is to incorporate, lay assessments and tolls, and make the road as good as the nature of the ground will allow. Later developments show that an abandonment of a large portion of the present route will be advisable; this will accommodate the new district of Coso, besides materially shortening the road and saving great expense in grading, etc. This is the work now in hand, and is to be done just as soon as it possibly can. But, taking the road as it is, we can say, after having been over it, that no better road exists to-day in the county, when we consider the extent of the obstacles its builders had to overcome with the limited means at their disposal.

All United.

With the insignificant exception of a paper at Bakersfield, the entire interior press of this portion of the State are earnestly battling for the grand Los Angeles and Independence railroad project—The Express, Herald, Starr and La Cronica of Los Angeles, The San Bernardino Argus and The Guardian, The Borax Miner, The Panamint News and THE INYO INDEPENDENT, which, we may modestly remark, originated the scheme, in more ways than one.

Panamint.

The authorship of the exhaustive and able report upon the Panamint District, originally published in The Journal of Mines and Engineering, which we gave some weeks ago, comes out in the following card to The Virginia Enterprise. It will be seen that the doubting Thomases up North receive a pretty square intimation that their studied efforts to talk down the district amounts to nix:

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.

EDITOR ENTERPRISE—DEAR SIR: I find in the Alta California of November 30 an article on Panamint, taken from your paper. This article refers to a report on the Panamint mines, published under my name in The Journal of Mining and Engineering of October 7 and 24, and not, as you state, by an expert, whose name is not given, and concerns me personally. You quote from my report a single sentence, and thereby convey the idea that my opinion of the district is a very unfavorable one. It is evident that you have not read the entire report, at the end of which I state: "In conclusion, I will remark that it is rarely the good fortune of a mining engineer to form so favorable a judgment of an entirely undeveloped district as I feel justified in expressing in regard to the mines of Panamint District." You will confer a favor on me by giving room to the above correction in your columns. Very respectfully, yours,

C. A. STETEFELDT.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

"What I know I know," said the great surgeon Magendie, "Give me stubborn facts; I care not for theories." This is sound doctrine. Possibly a medical martinet might be able, in a plausible way, to show why DR WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS ought not to cure Indigestion, Headache, Nervousness, Liver Complaint, Muscular Diseases and Miasmatic Fevers; but as they do in every instance effect that object, his fine theory would be a waste of words. As Magendie said, the world demands facts, not speculative opinions. n233m1

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Stage Matters.

The Northern line, it seems, has changed route, now running from Teal's Marsh, thence back to Benton, thus adding some miles of travel. This may be economical but it won't prove correspondingly satisfactory to the traveling public.....Dodge's stages now go through from Lone Pine to Panamint in twenty hours, running twice a week. No halts are made except for meals, and we happen to know that Mr Dodge and his drivers all take especial pains to do all in their power to make travel by this line as speedy and pleasant as possible, and he is deserving of liberal patronage for so doing He carries mail matter free of cost, but all such should be marked "p r Dodge's line.".... The Lone Pine and Bakersfield line are putting on extra teams and have excellent coaches This line also runs to Panamint, a branch starting from Indian Wells, seventy miles south of Lone Pine and about the same distance from Panamint. It's a pity that no better connections can be made from this place with these two lines. It is in no degree the fault of either of these, but it often takes eight days or nine for mail matter to go to Panamint from this place and vice versa, all because of the lack of close connection between this place and Lone Pine, especially between Saturdays and Mondays. This town, being the county seat, will have to do something towards facilitating communications with important outside localities like Coso and Panamint, even if it has to maintain an extra team to run to Lone Pine with express and mails for the Monday stages from that place.

The Grange.

The following are the officers of the Independence Grange for the ensuing term, the installation having occurred on Saturday last: Master, J. W. Symmes; Overseer, J. W. Martin; Lecturer, H. C Wright; Steward, D. D Gunnison; Assistant Steward, S. A. Densmore; Chaplain, A. Wayland; Treasurer, Jacob Vagt; Secretary, D. B. Curtis; Gate Keeper, F. Schabbel; Ceres, Mrs. Vagt; Pomona, Mrs. Densmore; Flora, Mrs. Graves; Lady Assistant Steward, Mrs. Martin.

The School Party.

A large crowd of dancers attended the ball given on Tuesday evening last at the residence of Mr. Walters, in aid of the school fund of Milton District Everything passed off most pleasantly, a general good time was had, and, we are glad to add, there was realized a sum sufficient to continue the school for two months longer than was possible without such a pecuniary benefit.

Mining Sale.

P. Reddy, Esq., made a purchase on the 16th of the Bentura Beltran mine, one of the prominent locations in Coso. The mine was relocated and christened the "Defiance." The consideration named in the deed on file in the Clerk's Office is $10.000 coin, a mere bagatelle to the real value of the mine, if the most fevorable indications or prospects are at all to be relied on.

Gone Again.

After returning on Tuesday last and remaining until this morning, our senior is off again for the happy land of Coso and Panamint—this time for a month's stay. During the joint absence of himself and Mr. Reddy, those interested in the welfare of the Independence District school funds will rest easy, for once during the past four years.

The Cash Store.

One of the most reliable business firms in this county is that of Messrs. C & M. Cohn, Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo. They do an exclusively cash business, keep on hand an extensive stook of everything desirable, and are the best of men to deal with. See their advertisement.

To Be Transferred.

We have it from very good authority that the Cerro Gordo Freighting Company intend to transfer all their teams from the Los Angeles to the Bakersfield route. This will be done in the next fifty days. It will be a big thing for Kern county and a severe loss to Los Angeles.

Out of Luck.

George Marr, of Bishop Creek, loaded an ox team with lumber for Darwin City. While on the return he fed his cattle some sour corn meal, and the consequence was that two of his best oxen died on the road—an incident worthy of mention as a warning to other teamsters.

Preaching.

Church services at the school house to morrow evening; Sunday School at 1:30 P. M. Rev. Mr. Jennings will also preach at Lone Pine tomorrow, at 11 o'clock A M.

The First House Built and Sold.

Wm. and Lafe Gill built the first house in Darwin City, (New Coso) last week, and found a purchaser at double first cost before it was completed.

Lumber.

Tim Lewis' large ox teams, laden with some 15,000 feet of lumber, passed through town Wednesday last, en route for Panamint.

General Merchandise.

For a partial enumeration of their large stock of goods, see the new advertisement of the well-known house of J. S. Rothschild & Co.

New Coso.

During our late peregrinations we took a glance at the mines of New Coso. Our time was too much limited to permit anything more than a glance at a few of the most accessible locations, and for that reason, if no other, we shall attempt no description in detail of any of them. But we saw enough to leave a perfect conviction that New Coso bids fair to be a magnificent mining camp. There is enough to be seen to justify the most extravagant anticipations; enough to lead one to think a score of furnaces might easily find constant employment for all time to come. Geologically, the formation is just right to give assurance of deep mines with immense chimneys of very high grade ores. Some of the mines, with croppings perhaps twenty feet wide and assaying over $250 to the ton, are found near the crest of the hill or mountain, lying between a hanging wall of limestone and upon a foot wall of porphyry the latter being the country rock to the eastward, the other to the west. These mines all run nearly north and south, as does the mountain upon which they are situated. But in default of a more complete examination we hardly dare attempt to convey even our own impressions of these mines, for like some of the fortunate locators we would run the risk of being considered very much excited if not a little crazy. It should be borne in mind that no openings of any depth have yet been made to plainly show the width of the ledges, etc., and in this class of mines the use of the pick and shovel is an essential to give a novice a reliable idea of what is to be expected The Recorder's book shows seventy-seven locations, all of ledges, except a few water rights. Of this number there about thirteen, either one of which is considered of more promise than the famous Union of Cerro Gordo at the same stage of development. Taking the mines in the aggregate there is abundant evidence that the bullion productions of New Coso can easily be made to more than double that of Cerro Gordo at any period up to the present. The ores, likewise, assay much higher, and are fully as easy of extraction, while the locality and the several mines are much easier of access. But deferring further remark upon the character, size, position and characteristics of these mines until after another visit which we hope soon to be able to make, we will conclude by stating that the town laid off and called Darwin can easily be supplied with water and for a time with wood. Mr. Sevenoaks, junior owner of the somewhat famous Miller Mining and Smelting Works of Utah Territory, and his smelter, Mr. Gorman, together with Mr. Bradley, of Panamint, critically examining the prospects with the view of purchasing a mine and the immediate erection of a furnace. Mr. Sevenoaks intended to go ahead with the furnace at once, and we have no doubt it will prove a great success—it can't help it if rich ores and plenty of them are any guarantee. But the mine owners must give him a liberal show, and thus secure a start which, otherwise, may be deferred for an indefinite period.

A Sad Affliction.

During the past week, two interesting children of Mr. McGee, the oldest about four years of age, died suddenly in Round Valley. As near as now known, the disease was something resembling scarlet fever, and Dr. White has been summoned to attend others threatened with a similar attack.

PANAMINT ITEMS.

[Condensed from The Panamint News.]

A shooting affair took place last Saturday at a hay ranch on the border of Death Valley, some twenty five miles distant from this place, between A. J. Laswell and C. Mowry, which will quite surely result in the death of the latter soon, if it has not already. It appears that these men were partners in the ranch in question, and have been engaged in packing in and selling hay to the Surprise Valley Co. in this place. Some disagreement took place between the partners in reference to the proceeds of a recent sale made by Laswell, who had done the packing and selling. Mowry told him that if the matter was not made right that he could depend on a shooting match on his (Laswell) return from Panamint. Laswell made the trip, and returning to the ranch, told Mowry that it was impossible for him to make the desired settlement, and if any shooting was to be done "he was ready." The shooting then began, but, so far as we have learned, was all done by Laswell. Mowry received one shot in the temple and three in his right arm. Laswell came into town and, reporting what had transpired, gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Jas. Rennie; though at liberty to go where he pleases. Laswell considers himself under arrest, pending a legal investigation, which is yet to be made. Meantime he has sent out Dr. Wells to attend the wounded man, likewise a lot of clothing, etc., to alleviate his discomfiture as much as possible. From reliable parties, late of Pioche, where both men had resided some three years, we learn that Laswell was considered a quiet, peaceable man, and not at all "on the shoot."

The S. V. M. & W. Co., among many other improvements, have the frame of a fine office up, and the grading done for an 80x60 fire proof store; also, that ground was to-day broken for a mill of fifty tons, daily, capacity, the site being on the north side of the street about half way from this office to the Jacobs mill; this is the work of the same company, and is additional to that going on for a similar one up near the company's store; also, that "the Panamint Bank" is about completed, and that institution will open for business early next week.

The Jacobs mill, under the superintendence of Mr. Jacobs himself, is to begin its first run about next Monday. This run will be but short, the object in view in this start being merely to demonstrate the value of Mr. Jacobs' system of concentrating the ores, of which more hereafter. Some important operations are contingent upon the degree of success attained in this experiment, if it can be called such.

Senator Stewart and E. P. Rains arrived here last Sunday evening, and are highly elated at the rapid growth of the town since their departure, but a couple of weeks ago. Senator Stewart is sorry that he is compelled to leave for Washington in the course of ten days.

A number of Masonic brethren met together, last Sunday evening, at Levant Markham's place of business, to form a temporary organization for mutual intercourse, relief, etc., and also having in contemplation the starting of a lodge in Panamint. Roobert Goldman was elected temporary Chairman; Levant Markham, Treasurer, and T. S. Harris, Secretary.

Parties have come in during the past two or three days, bringing rich specimens and glowing accounts of three new districts discovered, one of which is said to be off to the southeast, another to the north, and the third in the Argus range, on the west side of Panamint Valley.

A tunnel is being driven in on the Wyoming, which will tap the ledge at a depth of about 200 feet, and nearly under the main workings from which so many tons of splendid ore are being extracted. The shaft being sunk at this point is down about 40 feet, from the bottom of which the very best ores yet found in the mine is being taken. Other openings are being made at intervals of every fifty feet of perpendicular rise, four or five in number, from every one of which good ore is being taken. The Wyoming is a wonderful mine, and a stranger would be astonished to see the extent of the work the Company is doing on it, and in preparing dumps, roads and quarters for the numerous men employed in and around the mine.

The Stewart's Wonder is being opened in five different places, one above another, in the same manner as upon the Wyoming, constituting so many levels opening on the hillside instead of into a shaft. The deepest heading in the Wonder is in about forty feet and shows very well.

Work goes on in ten hour shifts, or night and day, upon all the mines the Company are now operating, some five or six in number.

We stated in our last issue that the boiler and engine of the Stewart-Jones Company's ore-breaker were in place, and would soon be ready for operations, and the whistle last evening announced the consummation of the fact.

At an election for Mining Recorder, held at Panamint, December 11, 1874, 963 votes for polled, viz: J. M. Murphy, 718; R. E. Arick, 245. Murphy's majority, 473.

The Inyo Trade.

The following, which we take from The Bakersfield Californian, contains news of importance to our shippers and business men generally. It is the first intimation we have had that the change of the route for bullion shipments was in contemplation, and although the transfer is not very improbable, the statements must await confirmation before being taken as facts:

Two years ago a contract was made with the mine owners of Inyo county to transfer their bullion by way of Bakersfield instead of Los Angeles. This contract was based upon a promise of the R. R. Co. to complete their line to Bakersfield in the Spring of 1873. The opposition to the Company so affected its credit that it was unable to obtain the means necessary to build the road and carry out the agreement, so after shipment or about 1,000 tons of bullion the trade ceased. We could contend with the opposition on the part of the Los Angeles merchants, but the difference of the thirty miles between Bakersfield and the terminus of the road at Delano was an insurmountable obstacle. The advance of the Railroad has revived the matter and we are glad to learn that a contract has been entered into for the transfer of the entire bullion shipments via Bakersfield. The change will be made as rapidly as the magnitude of the undertaking will permit. Mr. Nadeau, who has charge of the teams now engaged in the transportation, passed through our town on Saturday last on his way to Tehechepi, where he goes to contract for grain and hay for use in the mountains. He will make a great demand upon our people for hay, but will be compelled to bring his grain on by rail, there not being sufficient here for home consumption. Indeed the new farmers who have come here to put in crops are obliged to depend upon Tulare and other counties for feed. Few comprehend the immensity of the demand such transportation by teams makes upon farmers for supplies. It has been the great traffic of Los Angeles, and has perhaps done more to build up that city and develop the country than any other one enterprise. Already we are receiving accessions from the farming population of Los Angeles, mostly of those who have been dependent on the trade soon to be forever lost to the coast. New mines are about being opened in Cerro Gordo which will probably double the product of bullion within the year. It will tax our farmers to the utmost to meet the growing demand.

ON THE WAR PATH.

Indians Murder Two White Men near Hiko, and a Third Narrowly Escapes the same Fate.

The Eureka Sentinel of the 10th instant has the following in relation to the killing of two white men and the wounding of a third by Indians, on the road between Pioche and Panamint:

Yesterday evening, W. H. Henderson, County Recorder, returned from a trip to Panamint, and he brings intelligence of the cold blooded butchery of two white men, late citizens of Pioche, by the Indians, and the severely wounding of a third. It appears that a week since three young men, Wm. Horan, Peter Dawson, and Charles Olsen, left Pioche for Panamint, on foot. They had reached the Crescent Mills, about 15 miles beyound Hiko, and had become footsore and somewhat less hopeful of making the trip; so they determined to return to Hiko valley, and work among the ranches until they had earned sufficient means to prosecute their contemplated journey in better shape. They then started on the return trip to Hiko, and Horan, the only survivor of the ill-fated trio, says they had reached a point about seven miles from Hiko, when they were met by nine Indians—members, it is supposed, of Tempiute Bill's band. The Indians had a good many inquiries to make, and their style of talk and their actions caused Horan to suspect something was wrong. The Indians apparently wanted to lure them off the trail Horan started on at a rapid pace, urging his companions to come on with him, but they did not appear to share his alarm, and fell slightly behind. The Indians then succeeded in separating the two hindmost white men and then made an attack by shooting them with arrows. Horan, the foremost, being further out of their reach, they shot at with a rifle and wounded him in the shoulder. Luckily the hurt did not disable him, and he continued the flight with all his remaining energies. He had a little the start of his pursuers and kept it, though the Indians followed him five miles. He was successful in getting close to the settlements in Hiko valley and there his pursuers left him. He made his escape to the village, where he told his lamentable tale. The whole settlement was at once up in arms. Parties were organized under Charles G. Heath and Judge Wilson to search for the ill-fated companions of the wounded man. Horan described the place where the murderous assault was made, and there the body of Peter Dawson was found. It was only to be recognized by some of his clothing. The face had been mashed by rocks beyond all description, with other frightful mutilations. The other body, that of Charles Olsen, was not found until the next day. The Indians had taken it down the wash some distance and buried it. The same frightful mutilations were also to be seen on the corpse as had been inflicted on the remains of Dawson. The bodies were taken to Hiko and decently buried. The settlers of Hiko valley held a meeting and have sent out parties for the purpose of dealing out a proper punishment on the murderous wretches who were guilty of so terrible a crime.

The Vicksburg Trouble.

The Chicago Times, a non-partisan paper, thus sums up the accounts of the recent riots and bloodshed at Vicksburg, Mississippi:

There has been for some time trouble brewing between the Taxpayers' association and citizens and the county officials. The Sheriff was acting without legal bond, and the Board of Supervisors refused to order a new one, although the time for paying taxes had arrived. Two or three other officials were under indictments for forgery and embezzlement, and the citizens, despairing of any relief from partisan courts, on December 2d, held a meeting and, in a body, proceeded to the Court House to demand the resignation of the Sheriff, Chancery Clerk, Treasurer and Coronor. All fled except Sheriff Crosby, a negro, and he signed his resignation. On Saturday a card appeared on the streets, signed by Crosby, calling on all the citizens of Warren county, Republicans, white and black, to come to his aid and support him in his position. Crosby publicly and through the papers denied the authorship of the card; yet on the morning of the 8th an armed body of negroes appeared advancing on the city from six different roads. The alarm was sounded about 9 o'clock, and the citizens gathered en masse, armed immediately and advanced to meet the negroes. On Baldwin's ferry road, the negroes were met just outside the city, about 200 strong. The commander of the citizens warned the negroes to disperse, but they refused, and immediately firing commenced on both sides. The negroes retreated about a mile, and again made a stand in old breastworks and a house, but were soon routed. The loss in this engagement was one citizen, Oliver Brown, killed, and about twelve or fifteen negroes killed, several wounded and about twenty prisoners. On Hall's ferry road about 250 negroes were found and routed, after a short engagement, with several killed and wounded.

How to Resume Specie Payments.

The President says in his message: It is the duty of Congress, not mine, to devise the means of correcting the evils which are acknowledged to exist: but I will venture to suggest two or three things which seem to me so absolutely necessary to return to specie payment, the first great requisite as a return to prosperity. The legal tender clause to the law authorizing the issuing of currency by the National Government should be repealed to take effect as to all contracts entered into after a day fixed in the repealing act. This should not apply, however, to payments of salaries by the Government, or for other expenses now provided for by law to be paid in currency. In the interval pending between repeal and final resumption, provision should be made by which the Secretary of the Treasury can obtain gold as it becomes necessary from time to time from the date when specie resumption commences. To this might and should be added a revenue sufficiently in excess of expenses to insure redemption. I recommend this subject to your consideration, believing that a favorable solution is attainable and that if reached by this Congress, that the present and future generations will ever gratefully remember it as their delivery from a thraldom of evil and disgrace.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE ALDINE,

—THE—

ART JOURNAL OF AMERICA,

Issued Monthly.

"A Magnificent Conception, wonderfully carried out."

The necessity of a popular medium for the representation of the productions of our great artists, has always been recognized, and many attempts have been made to meet the want. The successive failures which so invariably followed each attempt in this country to establish an art journal did not prove the indifference of the people of America to the claims of high art. So soon as a proper appreciation of the want and an ability to meet it were shown, the public at once rallied with enthusiasm to its support, and the result was a great artistic and commercial triumph—THE ALDINE.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature, and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it is bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is an unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there is the chromo, besides!

The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmopolitan. While THE ALDINE is a strictly American institution, it does not confine itself entirely to the reproduction of native art. Its mission is to cultivate a broad and appreciative art taste, one that will discriminate only on grounds of intrinsic merit. Thus, while placing before the readers of THE ALDINE as a leading characteristic, the productions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign masters, giving subscribers all the pleasure and instruction obtainable from home or foreign sources.

The artistic illustration of American scenery, original with THE ALDINE, is an important feature, and its magnificent plates are of a size more appropriate to the satisfactory treatment of details than can be afforded by any inferior page. The judicious interspersion of landscape, marine, figure and animal subjects sustain an unabated interest, impossible where the scope of the work confines the artist too closely to a single style of subject. The literature of THE ALDINE is a light and graceful accompaniment worthy of the artistic features, with only such technical disquisitions as do not interfere with the popular interest of the work

Premium for 1875.

"Man's Unselfish Friend"

Will be welcomed in every home. Everybody loves such a dog, and the portrait is executed so true to the life that it seems the veritable presence of the animal itself. The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage tells that his own Newfoundland dog (the finest in Brooklyn) barks at it! Although so natural no one who sees this premium chromo will have the slightest fear of being bitten.

Besides the chromo, every advance subscriber to THE ALDINE for 1875 is constituted a member, and entitled to all the privileges of

The Aldine Art Union.

The Union owns the originals of all THE ALDINE pictures which, with other paintings and engravings, are to be distributed among the members. To every series of 5,000 subscribers, 100 different pieces, valued at over $2,500 are distributed as soon as the series is full, and the awards of each series as made, are to be published in the next succeeding issue of THE ALDINE. This feature only applies to subscribers who pay for one year in advance. Full particulars in circular sent on application enclosing a stamp.

Terms.

One Subscription, entitling to THE ALDINE one year, the Chromo and the Art Union.

$6 00 per Annum, in Advance.

NEW YEAR'S BELLS.

Ring, bells, ring, with your mellow din,
Ring the old year out and the new year in!
Like the voices of birds from the old gray spire,
Let your silvery music rise higher and higher;
Floating abroad o'er the hillside bare
In billows of sound on the tremulous air,
Let it rise and fall with the fitful gale:
Tell over city and wood the tale;
Say that to-night the old year dies!
Bid the watchers look to the eastern skies,
For the beautiful halo that tells afar
Of the welcome rise of the new year's star!

Ring the old year out, with its sighs and tears,
Its withering heart aches and tiresome fears;
Away with its memories of doubt and wrong,
Its cold deceits and its envyings strong,
All its pandering lures to the faltering sense,
All its pitiful shams and cold pretense.
We will heap them together and bind them fast
To the old man's load as he totters past.
The ills that he brought he may take again;
Keep we the joys, let him bury the pain!
Ring soft, oh bells, as he goes to rest
Far in the shades of the darkening west!

Ring, bells, ring, with a merry din!
The old year has gone with its care and sin!
Smiling and fair, at the eastern gates,
Clad in tinted light, the new year waits!
Welcome him in with the rosy band,
Who wait the wave of his beckoning hand:
Hope, with her wreaths of sweet Spring flowers—
Joy for the Summer's glowing hours,
Plenty and peace for the fruitful Fall,
And love for all seasons—best of all.
Ring merrily, bells!—o'er the blushing skies
See the beautiful star of the new year rise!—

Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cured by Radway's Ready Resolvent.
BEVERLY, Mass., July 18, 1869
DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended; but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

VINEGAR BITTERS.
PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's
CALIFORNIA VINEGAR
BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.
The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, will give prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1861 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war, and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection Business. n214m6

THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE,
AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.
San Francisco, Cal.
THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celebrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of Redwood,
the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.
Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.

FIFTY THOUSAND MILLIONS!

A Fabulous Fortune and a Tremendous Wedding.

[Correspondence of The Albany Evening Journal.]

DIAMANTINA, Brazil, Nov. 10, 1874.

The hour is midnight, and I have just come in a trifle jaded, but before retiring I purpose, while yet the facts are vivid in my mind, to give you some account of a wedding I attended this evening. It was a wedding, I make bold to say, the like of which was never celebrated on either continent. The high contracting parties to the marriage were Malia, only daughter of Da Souza Cabral, the great diamond king of South America, and George Arthur Throckmorton, a native of Kentucky, United States of America, who, for the past five years, has been successfully engaged in railroading in this country, with headquarters at Rio Janerio. Da Souza Cabral is principal owner of nine of the richest diamond mines in South America, and from them, in the aggregate, he derives an annual income of not less than $20,000,000. His interests in gold mines probably amounts to as much more and I am cognizant of the fact that last August he sold a one tenth interest in the celebrated Bahia Mine—of which, until then, he had been sole proprietor, for $3,500,000, gold. His diamond interests in South Africa and Siberia he lately estimated under oath (in some legal proceeding before court in Minas Geraes) at the enormous sum of $50,000,000! He has, beside, a great penchant for real estate, and I was but recently informed by one of his agents, a thoroughly trustworthy man, that Cabral's rentals in London and Glascow alone yield over £150,000 annually. In 1868 he purchased the patent of a machine for making eyelets, from a poor fellow whom he found starving in a garret at Maranham. To-day the machine is extensively used all over the world, and Cabral draws $2,500 a day from this source alone. And then there are his sewing machine royalties that yield him something over $5,000 a day. [The correctness of this last item is vouched for by a friend of mine, who is the manager of the leading sewing machine company in Brazil.] Indeed, it is easy to tell what he is interested in, but hard to think of something that is anything in which he is not. It would be a puzzle to name a leading railroad in South America or England in which he has not a stake. He takes in something over a million and a half a year from his steamship stock, and probably twice as much more from other sources. A cool, clear headed man of sixty, six feet high, straight as an arrow, with an eye like an eagle, a judgment as unerring as fate, and a decision as quick as the lightning, with superb nerve, unconquerable boldness, and an apparent incapacity for blundering, Da Souza Cabral stands today the wealthiest man on the globe. He was lately asked by an intimate friend, in my presence, if he had any conception of the sum total of his possessions. He thought for a moment, and then quietly replied: "I could not swear that I was not worth—presuming that I could realize on all my property—$50,000,000,000." He made this astounding exhibit with perfect sang froid, but I must confess that as he spoke I felt something very like pity for him. I could not help but think how specially difficult it might be for him to satisfactorily solve the problem of the camel and the needle's eye.

THE BRIDEGROOM.

I would not have devoted so much space to the father of the bride of this evening were it not for the fact that otherwise the account that follows of the wedding might be received with incredulity. The bridegroom, young Throckmorton, is descended from one of the oldest and wealthiest families of the "blue grass country," as he loves to call it. He came to Brazil with a matter of half a million in his own right, and since has prospered famously, so that to-day he cannot be worth less than $6,000,000. But a poor pittance in comparison with his father-in-law's overwhelming gigantic fortune, but still quite sufficient to relieve him from the imputation of marrying the fair Malia Cabral for money. He met her first a year ago at a ball at Pernambuco, and the result was a case of love at first sight on both their parts. They make an exceedingly prepossessing couple—he tall, broad shouldered, yellow of hair and moustache, and she a tiny, graceful, lovely-faced brunette.

The invitations were written on parchment by artistic hands, in quaint text, exquisitely illuminated. Instead of being enclosed in paper envelopes, they were sent to their favored recipients each in its dainty box of sandal wood. These boxes, 1,000 in number, were manufactured to order expressly for this wedding at Canton. Each one of them was furnished with a lock and key of solid gold, was exquisitely carved with cupids and hearts and other designs appropriate to the occasion, and cost $150. My own invitation lies beside me as I write, and I catch the delicate scent of the sandal.

AN EARTHLY PARADISE.

The residence of the great Diamond King, at which the wedding took place, is situated a little over half a mile from Diamantina, which is, you know, the chief town of the diamond district. The house is the complete realization of the ideal castles of the regulation English novels, and the grounds connected with it are the last expression of nature at her loveliest, reinforced by art at its most consummate. This evening the place seemed a paradise. Wax candles by the thousands, each caught and held in its place by a bronze figure, flooded the rooms within and the miles of ground without with a soft and yet brilliant light. Here and there, on the green slopes, or in the rustic bowers, or at the edge of some romantic ravine, large music-boxes, imbedded and completely hidden from view in moss, played a soft and dreamy accompaniment to the voice of the fountains. One hundred music-boxes were employed in this service, and the tunes that were pricked on their cylinders were composed especially for the nuptial night by no less celebrated musician than Liszt. He received a draft of $25,000 for his witching work, and who shall say that he did not earn it? Certainly no one that listened to the music. The music-boxes will be distributed on the morrow among the bridesmaids and other guests of this evening, as unique remembrances of the wedding. Each one of them was imported from Paris, is cased in mosaic, and elaborately finished in gold, silver and a variety of precious stones. The hundred boxes cost as many thousand dollars. The drawing room in which the Kentuckian and his "dark Brazillian bride" were made one flesh had one feature in its adornment which elicited the most fervent expression of delight and amazement from all who were present. I allude to the decorations of the four walls. They were one mass of full blown white camellias from floor to ceiling, and a good sized diamond was inserted in the centre of each to cunningly counterfeit the dew drop. The effect was simply ravishing. It is estimated that the adornment of this one room called for an expenditure of not less than $10,000,000. No diamond was given the role of the dew drop that was not white, and perfect "as the bosom of a star."

A PATH OF FLOWERS.

The entire distance from the Cabral mansion to the nearest railroad station, something less than a quarter of a mile, was literally a way of flowers—not under foot, but in graceful arches overhead. Thus a long, snow-white bower, fashioned entirely of roses, was the connecting link between the drawing room and the drawing room car. The demand made on Flora for this picturesque covered way was unprecedented. The flower bill for the wedding—exclusive of the item of hand bouquets—amounted to $50,000. But the strangest thing in regard to this bower I have yet to tell. Its floor for the entire length was covered with camel's hair shawls, to my mind a piece of preposterous, aye, wicked extravagance. But the father of the bride declared that so long as it was his only daughter and only child whose marriage he was celebrating, he would send her out of her home to the steam carriage that was to carry her away from him, over a pavement not likely to be imitated in the future history of marriages in South America. The shawls for this extraordinary purpose were purchased in London, the order being for "the best that can be had for gold," and the bill for the item alone amounted to the enormous sum of $568,500. After the bridal party entered the train the shawls were gathered up, and to-morrow they will be distributed among the poor of the district.

PRINCELY PRESENTS.

And now a few words about the bride's presents. They were, by actual count, 1,840 in number, and the greater part of them, I noticed, took the form of either gold or diamonds. The mother's gift was a dinner set of 280 pieces of solid gold. Each piece bears the monogram of Cabral and Throckmorton in diamonds. The cost of this proof of maternal affection was something over $4,000,000 in gold. In addition, Mme. Cabral gladdened the bride's heart with 1,000 yards of point lace; 365 morning, afternoon and evening costumes, one for each social division of every day in the year; and, to crown all, a certificate of deposit issued by the Bank of England—England being the objective point of the bridal tour—for £1,000,000. Her father gave her title deeds of a magnificent town and country house in all the leading capitals of the world, and the more famous watering places. These many mansions are thoroughly furnished, and in each—as a tender reminder to Malia of her maidenhood—there is an apartment that exactly corresponds in furniture and adornments to her own room at her father's house. Not contenting himself with this display of his bounty, Cabral presented her with as fine a steamship as could be built on the Clyde, with full complement of sailors under contract for ten years' service, and with salaries paid in advance for the full term; one dozen milk-white Arabian horses, and, this as a joke, 1,000 pounds of caramels, a confection for which the bride is said to have a pronounced liking. But

HIS CROWNING GIFT

Was a necklace that deserves to rank among the enumerated wonders of the world. Sixteen years ago, soon after Malia's birth, he began to collect the diamonds of which it is composed. Whenever or wherever he heard of a marvellous stone he was on hand in person or by agent and secured it. He had all Europe, Asia and Africa ransacked in behalf of the proposed necklace, and at one time actually made overtures for the celebrated Pitt diamond, which cost the Duke of Orleans, according to history, $675,000, and which Napoleon at one time wore on his sword hilt. He was baffled in this attempt, however, much to his disappointment, but after ten years of unremittent hunting he at last got together thirty of the largest and purest diamonds in the world, no one of which was much inferior to the Pitt gem. Taking these to Amsterdam, he summoned the best talent in that city, famous for its diamond cutters, and stated what he desired—which was that each of the thirty stones should have a fantastic face cut upon it. Amsterdam at first said the task was more that Herculean—that it was impossible. But when Cabral stated the stupendous sum he was willing to pay for the fulfillment of his wishes, Amsterdam reconsidered and consented to do its best. It did its best for five years, day and night, and the result was that a week before the wedding, the diamonds, cut, carved and set on a golden string, and all ready to grace the snowy neck of the bride, were placed in the hands of the jubilant Cabral. I happened to be present when Malia was first shown the necklace, a couple of days before she was married. She wore a black silk at the time, and her father, after throwing the brilliants, that contrasted so strongly with the color of her dress, over her head, stepped back a few paces to notice the effect. Having gazed at the flashing necklace a minute or so, he broke into a loud laugh, and cried out, merrily, "My dear, on my life you'd do for the head light of a locomotive!" This necklace cost Da Souza Cabral, stones, cutting and carving, $116,000,980.

BEWILDERING TOILETS.

You must not expect from me any description of the ornate and bewildering toilets worn at the wedding—no, not even of the bride's rare raiment. I am indebted to a lady guest for the information that her dress was of point lace, flounced, or rather garlanded, to the waist with strings of seed pearls, with the voluminous train edged with a filagree of gold thickly set with diamonds. Her neck was circled by her father's wonderful offering, besides which there were diamonds banded on her hair and in bracelets on her wrists. She was certainly the most blazing beauty I ever gazed upon.

There was one feature of the wedding arrangements which struck me might better have been omitted entirely, or at least very materially modified, but which, nevertheless, in the mock it made of expense, was quite in keeping with all the other features. I allude to the provision made for the hackmen who drove the guests to and from the festivities. On the velvet lawn just out side the Cabral mansion, a dozen or more Sevres vases were set—corresponding in size and shape to an American peach basket—each one of which was heaped to the brim with the gold coin of the country. The drivers as they dropped their loads had their attention called to the currency in the vases, and were cordially invited to help themselves.

ENRICHING A HACK DRIVER.

As often as the vases were emptied they were promptly replenished by servants detailed for that sole purpose. One of the hackmen responded so heartily to the invitation that when the time came for him to drive back to town he was forced to request his two passengers to favor him by taking a seat on the box. He explained, not without blushes and stammering, that the inside of his coach was occupied by the gold pieces he had accumulated during the evening; and that he would not have taken so many had it not been for the thought of a sick wife at home. Having listened to him, his load, before mounting the box, returned to the house and related the incident to Cabral, who was so touched at the mention of the sick wife that, on sudden impulse, he proposed a subscription for her benefit. The response was general, and in a short time the snug sum of $10,000 was raised among the guests, to which Cabral added his own check for $40,000 more, saying that he did not wish any heart to be sad on that joyful occasion. When the $50,000 were handed to the hackman, "a cordial for your ailing wife, my man," as Cabral put it, he burst into tears, declaring that there never was such a man in the world as Da Souza Cabral.

[Which latter assertion is undoubtedly correct.—ED. INDEPENDENT.]

POSTAGE NOTICE.

The new Postage law will soon go into effect. It requires the postage on newspapers to be paid by the publishers instead of by the subscribers. Our delinquent subscribers will therefore see the necessity of paying up all arrearages. They surely cannot expect us to trust them for their paper and to pay their postage, too. Prepayment in the future must be required.

The Grangers' Guide.

We are thankful in the receipt, from some of the innocent orphans connected with the institution, of the January number of Josigher Earl's new paper, which was accompanied by a polite request to give it an editorial notice. We would fain comply, and a crowd of other matter only could prevent us from giving the thing and its owner a regular first-class "notice." So completely infatuated are we with the evidently wondrous beauties of Josigher's land operations, hitherto such perfect attempts to rob and steal, that his present "land agency" must, perforce, have our unqualified (?) indorsement. Many are the articles kindly marked for us in the number at hand, but if graciously permitted to take our choice of them upon which to comment, we would note the very appropriate presence of one (which is inserted with an apology) headed "Land Sharks;" and mayhaps call attention to the truly lamentable absence of similar disquisitions upon the subjects of "Attempts at Blackmailing," "Corruption" and "Swindling Generally." Yes, we would willingly mention the receipt of the publication if we had time; perhaps some of the articles, bearing great big ear-marks, would be given—in order to show the superior educational acquirements of their author—verbatim, et literatim, exactly as they were doubtless received by the printer. But for the present, all we can do is to express sympathy with the State Grange.

Will it Balance?

The probable political situation of this county in the near future presents a curious study. Without a counter-weighting population in the districts of Pine Mountain, Piute, Sylvania, (the town of which it is presumed will be in this county and State) and Waucoba, Panamint, the New Coso, Wild Rose and Argus will create a populative heaviness in that portion of the county which will tip the thing over. The Nevada politicians of Panamint, perhaps led by Ruf. Arick and Dave Neagle, will gobble the legislative representative of this and Mono counties; ambitious Coso proposes annexing Independence and the Court House. These projects miscarrying, the impossible thing for a time yet, of a new county—Panamint—will be proposed.

Financial.

In caucus, on the 19th, the Senate agreed on a new financial bill, the features of which are for free banking; for reducing the greenbacks to $300,000,000; substituting silver coin for fractional currency. Another is for resumption, to begin January 1, 1879. The bill is sure to pass the Senate, and probably will become a law.

Another Loss.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company have lost by fire at sea, December 17th, near Yokohama, the "Japan," a wooden steamship, built at a cost of $1,000,000. The loss of life was large, but the exact number is yet unknown.

Profitable.

It appears that the Government, while deriving $300,000 revenue from Alaska, has to pay out $350,000 for support of troops, and a large sum for maintaining a civil government there.

Bad—for Them.

No more lands will be patented to the Pacific Railway Company till they shall have paid up for the costs of the survey of lands already patented to them.

Indemnity.

For Modoc war claims to citizens of Oregon and California, $70,268 are recommended by the War Department to be appropriated.

For Panamint.

San Diego, also, is sending big supply teams to Panamint, loaded with general merchandise and lumber.

Prosperous.

According to The Belmont Courier, the "Daylight is Breaking" in Nye county, Nevada, too.

1875.

Just before the next issue of THE INDEPENDENT the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy five will have been ushered in. After heartily extending to all our readers the compliments of the season, let us inquire what the new year augurs for this community, as a people. At the era marking the advent of another division of time, we are prone to indulge in speculation as to the future, and a venturesome attempt at prophecy is even considered admissible.

Contrasted with the deplorable condition of the masses of the old world and of thousands in all the great centers of population on the Atlantic seaboard, as well as in some of the western prairie States of the Union, most certainly the people of this entire Coast have little cause for aught else than gratulation upon their own contentment and high prosperity. In general terms, we may specify that the great series of foothill counties are rejoicing in a new mining impetus, or in an equally desirable utilization of their old gold fields by the farmer and fruit-raiser; in the great valley plains, the most varied and extensive agricultural triumphs are chronicled, and the expansion of the cities themselves is sufficient attestation of the universal prosperity of all West California.

What we may designate Southeast California, comprising the political divisions of Mono, Inyo and San Bernardino counties—the whole being the only silver-producing territory within the great area of California—has now opening to it the grandest era of progress of any region even in this favored land of the Pacific. Indeed, throughout all its vast extent, an area larger than the combined Eastern and Middle States, we doubt if there is a country on the globe destined to so rapidly increase in population, wealth and production. Inyo, with the great back bone of mineral wealth, varying but slightly in character at different points upon the belt, which is known to extend through the White Mountains, Piute, Pine Mountain, Deep Spring, Sylvania, Waucoba, Miller Springs, Cerro Gordo, New Coso, Granite, Wild Rose and the Argus Districts to Panamint, certainly presents an almost illimitable field for the explorations of the sturdy prospectors and the operations of the capitalists who are now taking hold with such a will. Outside of these, the Kearsarge and the Alabama Districts will vie for fame in a contest differing from the one first attracting attention to these names; and many others will in due time find favor in the estimation of the public.

In all human probability, the New Year sun of twelve months hence will dawn upon a population of ten thousand within the county of Inyo. Nine-tenths of them consumers, producers only in the matter of bullion, it well behooves our farmers to make extraordinary exertions to place under cultivation every possible acre of land, and to dispose of no foot of real estate now owned by them.

Good News.

The Los Angeles Herald of the 19th, says that Engineer Crawford left that city for San Francisco some days ago, on business connected with the Los Angeles and Independence railroad. It is expected that on his return the company will commence active operations, and we should not be surprised if called on to record the fact that grading the road-bed had commenced within the next two months.

Captured.

The Carson Appeal announces the capture, somewhere in Iowa, of that arch-fiend known as Charles Jones, who, it will be remembered, was ring leader in the outrageous murders committed by the escaping convicts of the Nevada State prison, some three years since.

The Merced Homicide.

Harry Granice, the slayer of Madden at Merced, has been captured by the authorities, examined and committed to jail by a Justice of the Peace. Greene Curtis is engaged for the defense. A reaction of sentiment in his favor seems to be taking place.

Questionable.

S. B. Axtell, once member of Congress for this State, has been nominated by the President for Governor of Utah. The man's record is just what President Grant seemingly manifest a preference for—decidedly bad.

Commuted.

Murphy, the Carson murderer, who was being taken to the scaffold for execution on the 12th instant, was suddenly granted a respite from death by Governor Bradley.

Bad, Again.

And now it transpires that all the Katie King system of spirit materialization is a pure fraud and deception. It were ever thus, since childhood's hour.

"MUTUAL INTERESTS."

Under this caption The Bakersfield Californian indulges in a laudation of Kern county's great prospective importance as a supply point for the consumers on this side of the mountains, and incidentally proceeds to eternally mash THE INDEPENDENT for its advocacy of the Los Angeles and Independence railroad, pleading that "our mutual interests" aforesaid don't require that this county should have any other rail transportation than that to be afforded by the Southern Pacific railroad. In another article that paper vouchsafes the not very surprising information that that "Company has not yet determined where to lay the balance of the iron. They are considering whether to finish the gap between Bakersfield and Los Angeles or complete the connection of Los Angeles with San Bernardino," and then mildly urges the building of the road to Los Angeles first. The pure disinterestedness of The Californian is perfectly charming in its freshness and simplicity. Whether the Los Angeles branch is constructed or not, The Californian will long have been among the things that were before the Southern Pacific ever penetrates the Tehachepi Pass—and if that work never does cross the mountains, then in what a pitiable condition is poor Inyo without other rail communication? With one hundred and fifty miles of team transportation to the railroad, with four hundred miles thence to San Francisco over your villainously extortionate rail, we fail to see where our part of this beautiful system of reciprocity comes in. But if, when it is completed in the course of the many years to come, you imagine that that road would favor either our consumers or your producers, then use its seventy miles of line connecting you with the upper section of the Los Angeles and Independence road to compete with the one hundred and ten miles of our road below your point of juncture. Not even the cheek of Hardnut could ask more than such a show as against Los Angeles. Beyond our earnest advocacy of a railroad running square into the center of this county, from some point on tide water where they have the grand wherewith to build it, our "frantic efforts to defeat the transfer of the freighting from the Los Angeles route to that of Kern county," were simply conjured up for us in the fertile imagination of the Bakersfield quill-slingers. Alas! we have even advocated that route, and our bullion men, to their cost, once upon a time fully experienced the great—promises—offered by the Bakersfield route and by the Bakersfield owner of the Chesterfieldian Bakersfield papers; so complete, in fact, was their realization thereof, that for months the furnaces were compelled to shut down, and the roads were clogged with bullion abandoned by your high toned contractors. Now that the railroad has, in three long years, advanced some further, and, for the sole purpose of killing off the Los Angeles railroad project, has reduced its freight on bullion to bare cost we presume that for the nonce the contractors can make avail of that route to a slight advantage, whatever additional tariff the railroad, in the course of the thieving operation, may slap on our merchants' up-freight in the way of getting even.

Our people are already contrasting the inevitable stagnation, the dead clogging and the outrageous extortions, which are absolutely certain to follow a dependence alone upon the proposed Southern Pacific, with a railroad system of our own, connecting with that highway of the world—the Pacific; and when hundreds of other great mineral regions further inland are opened, then we ourselves propose to occupy the entrepot position now sought for by the counties of Kern and Los Angeles. Selah!

Indian Murders.

A dispatch from Pioche, Nevada, says that the Indians have killed eight persons, including one woman and three children, within the last few days, in that county, on the Muddy Reservation, and near Hiko. The people make an appeal for arms with which to protect themselves and punish the Indians.

Lofty.

Consolidated Virginia mining shares have reached the equivalent of $90,000 per foot, in the Stock Board.

Truth.

Truth is always consistent with itself and needs nothing to help it out; it is always near at hand, sits upon our lips, and is ready to drop out before we are aware. A lie is troublesome, and sets a man's invention upon the rack, and one trick needs a great many more to make it good. It is like building upon a false foundation, which continually stands in need of props to shove it up, and proves at last more chargeable than to have raised a substantial building at first upon a true and solid foundation. —[Addison.

—The Government is said to be entertaining a proposition leading to the acquisition of a strip of Mexican territory.

The Economy of the Narrow-Gauge.

Burke said that a sensible man observed a proposition between his means and his ends. I think it is quite demonstrable that a narrow-gauge road is fully adequate to the business. It is conceded, I believe, by all railroad engineers that all the width added to a railway beyond what is necessary to the freight and travel, adds to the cost of construction, increases the dead weight and enhances the cost of working the road. As a necessary consequence, more capacity and expense than is required diminishes the profits of the road.

It is known that railroads are being constructed with gauges from 1 foot 1½ inches to 3 feet 7 inches, which are entirely successful and yielding large profits, as well as transacting all the business for which they were built. Mr. Watson in his able essay on the subject enumerates "The Denver and Rio Grande railroad in Colorado, three feet gauge, which has proved an entire success; the Orangeville and Toronto Branch railroad, in Canada, of 66 miles, of three feet gauge; the Tiffin road in Ohio; the Sidney Bay railroad, in the State of New York, and the projecting system of 2 feet 9 inches in British India, consisting of, from two to three thousand miles; the 3 feet gauge established in Sweden on a road twenty-three miles in length; also the 3 feet 6 inches gauge system adopted in Queensland, Australia, Ceylon, East Indies, Norway and in Belgium, amounting to about 1,000 miles already constructed, where they are found to give ample accommodation to the business of populous countries, and built with the capital of the country." Many more have been constructed since his publication; especially the road from Saucelito through the counties north of San Francisco, which is proving an entire success.

I. D. Huff, a distinguished engineer, writing of the Denver and Colorado road in December, 1871, says: "I found the heaviest grades 65 feet per mile and the sharpest curves 9 degrees. The length to Colorado City is twenty-six miles; total cost, $13,500 per mile. The Kansas Pacific railway, built by the same engineer, General Greenwood, cost $24,000 per mile, and the difference in grading is in favor of the latter road. The largest locomotive weighs 20½ tons. The passenger cars seats 34 passengers as comfortably as any cars in this Territory, and with closets and stoves weigh only 13,000 pounds. Their freight cars weigh 3,500 pounds and carry a load of 10,000 when full, or nearly three pounds of load to one of car. One ton of coal runs a train of seventy five tons of freight eighty miles in four hours. Their books show that the round trip of 152 miles costs about $50—2⅓ tons one mile for one cent. The trains went through the deep snow, beating all the other roads this Winter."

Mining Claims.

The 1st of January will soon be here and negligent miners are again reminded that they must do the work required by the laws of the United States on or before that date, or they will be liable to lose their claims. It is not to be expected that Congress will again postpone the time within which the required work must be done, nor is it just that they should do so. Plenty of time and warning has been given, and claim owners will have no one but themselves to blame if they forfeit their rights by not attending to their property in time.

If certain claims are not of any value, they will now be abandoned by the locaters; and it will probably happen that some of the "jumpers" will get fooled in some cases, supposing that work is not done because it has been neglected. As a general thing, however, none but claims of some value will be liable to be jumped, and many of these claims have no doubt been "spotted" by this time by parties on the lookout for just such chances. A good many miners will of course put off doing the necessary work until the last minute, intending to commence on the 1st day of January. The best way, no doubt, for bona fide locaters to do, is to patent their claims at once. This will save annual expenditure and give a good title at the same time. A patent is a very good thing to hold in case of a sale. The English purchasers of mining property will not now look at anything which is not covered by a United States patent, and it is an incentive to any purchaser to know that he is sure of a good title. In this connection it is proper to suggest to locaters the propriety of having the original location properly surveyed by a competent surveyor, so as to have a perfect record to proceed upon when making application for a patent. The careless way in which measurements are usually made in the original locations makes it difficult to get the original surveys for patents in accordance with legal regulations. A lawyer in this city told us not long since that in more than half the cases where patents were wanted it was impossible to get the surveys to correspond with the original record of location. In many cases the ground was formally re-located to save trouble. It is always best to have a preliminary survey made before applying for a patent.—[S. F. Mining Press.

A No Such Thing.

An account, headed "Cruel and Shameful Outrage in Kern County," has been, for some weeks past, going the rounds of the press. It is proper to say, that it contains not one word or syllable of truth.—[Bakersfield Courier.

TOWN SITES.

[The following is a copy of a letter by the Land Register of the Independence Office, addressed to inquirers upon the subject of the acquirement of legal titles to town sites. The subject matter being of public interest, we give it entire:]

SIR:—In answer to your inquiries relative to obtaining titles to town sites located on the public lands, I have to state: Where the number of inhabitants exceed one hundred and the town is not incorporated the application is made by the County Judge of the County in which the town is situated, under the act of Congress of March 2d, 1867, "Where the number of inhabitants is less than one hundred, individual applications are made as in pre-emptions, under act of 1864." The price paid the Government for lands selected and awarded for townsites, under said act of 1867, can't exceed $1 25 per acre. The Land Office expense is the same as in pre-emption cases.

If the town is located on unsurveyed land surveys will be made of so much land as is actually covered by the town—the act of Congress of 1867 does not prescribe the size of lots, but leaves it entirely to State legislation.

There is no difficulty, as apprehended by some, in obtaining patents to townsites in mineral regions. The act makes exceptions in such cases, it is true, in these words: "No title shall be acquired under the provisions of this act to any mine of gold, silver, cinnabar or copper." Under a proper construction of the law patents can be issued for townsites, reserving from the operation of the patent all mines and mining property situated within the limits of the site applied for. The question also arises, must not the mineral be disproven on behalf of the townsite before purchase thereof can be made? Such has been the decisions and rulings of the Department and instructions issued to that effect; since the passage of the act of March 2d, 1867, referred to, and, of course, this office, as well as other local offices, is bound by such decision and instructions—the actions of the local officers are always subject to appeal to the Department.

By reference to instructions of May 6, 1871, it is necessary to post notices on each forty acre tract claimed as a town, and publish a notice for five weeks consecutively in a weekly newspaper, published nearest the land applied for; such notice to be issued by the Register, and must specify the time and place of hearing, giving at least thirty days time. At which time proof of the posting must be made by two disinterested witnesses and the proof of publication by the publisher's affidavit. In every case, where practicable, in addition to such publishing and posting, personal notice must be served in the usual manner upon parties, if any, who filed mineral affidavits, or mineral applications for patent upon the land in question; and in "proving up" a townsite it must appear in proof, that the land applied for is more valuable for purposes of "trade and agriculture," therefore mining and all mining claims, as shown by the records and proof, if any, within the limits of the townsite will be excepted in the townsite patent.

Parties owning or claiming mining claims should at once proceed to secure their interests by filing with the Register their applications for patent as provided by the United States law, or mineral affidavits, and thus get properly upon the records of the land office and avoid much delay and the expense often incurred in too long postponing such important measures.

Starbuck.

This is the name of a new game which has recently been introduced in Columbus. The game is played somewhat thusly: The players seat themselves around a table, each one wishing his neighbor to win, whereupon one of the party deals one card to each player (the eights, nines and tens having been taken from the deck); the face cards each count ½, the aces 1, and the deuces, trays, etc., each count the number of spots upon its face. After receiving the first card, each player in turn is entitled to a "draw." The object is to make 7½, which is called *buck, being equivalent to "keno," or "I win." If the player should be so unfortunate as to draw 8 or a larger number he immediately says something opposite or antagonistic to "keno" meaning "I lose," or "bursted," whereupon the dealer reluctantly takes the money which the player had staked upon his hand. And so on till the dealer takes a draw. If he should draw 5, for example, he, with a Christian spirit, takes the money staked by each player who has drawn five or less; but if the dealer draws 7½, or "*buck," he, with most commendable resignation, allows each player to pay him double the amount of coin originally staked. When this occurs, many remarks are offered which do not mean "keno." One player deals until another makes *buck, when the cards are passed to him, and he holds the deal until it is won from him by another fortunate *bucker. The game resembles "twenty-one" in its main features, and is played entirely for amusement, the few dollars pending being put up to give the players interest and zest. When "*buck" is proclaimed a silver coin is taken from the winner and placed in a tumbler, which is on the table for the purpose, and from this tumbler the cards and other little adjuncts of the game are paid for.—[Borax Miner.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

"What I know I know," said the great surgeon Magendie. "Give me stubborn facts: I care not for theories." This is sound doctrine. Possibly a medical martinet might be able, in a plausible way, to show why Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS ought not to cure Indigestion, Headache, Nervousness, Liver Complaint, Muscular Diseases and Miasmatic Fevers; but as they do in every instance effect that object, his fine theory would be a waste of words. As Magendie said, the world demands facts, not speculative opinions. n23 3m

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞Our Only Terms: CASH, IN ADVANCE Paper invariably discontinued upon expiration of term of subscription.☜

The School Benefit.

You'd scarce expect it, but it will be seen by the advertisement announcing it, that a number of our young folks propose appearing in public on the stage, and considering the object, time and place, it is hoped that a crowded house will greet them. The principal play announced is "Sylvia's Soldier," a beautiful drama, in two acts, based upon the actions and experiences of a patriotic Northern girl during the war, the leading characters being taken by the company. At the close of this, a musical interlude follows, at which will be presented several of the new songs and scenes now entertaining the musical outside world. The conclusion, a rattling farce, is a piece designated in the bills as "Local Option." For the full caste, admission, and the entire programme, "see small bills." At the last fall of the curtain, the decks will be cleared for dancing, when will follow a season of fun and enjoyment commensurate with the inauguration of the New Year.

Strike in the Kearsarge.

We are in receipt, from Oscar Bacon and G. W. Todd, of a beautiful specimen of pure, glistening black sulphuret ore, from a new strike in the Kearsarge mine. Found in the bottom of a 40 foot shaft in the very lowest level of the mine, the ore, which will assay into the thousands, is of a character entirely different and far richer than anything hitherto discovered on the mountain. Of its extent, further than that of a body some twelve or fourteen inches in width has just been opened, we are unable to speak, but, under all the circumstances of its location and peculiarly rich character, the true importance of its showing will be acknowledged by all mining men. Now, more than any time hitherto, with the extensive ore bodies discovered in the various mines on the hill, can it be confidently stated that in early April next the district will be the scene of some thoroughly energetic mining and milling operations.

New Furnace.

The Cerro Gordo furnace men, since the establishment of the smelting industry, have been diligently prosecuting experiments with a view of ascertaining exactly how to construct a furnace that will wear the longest and produce the best results. The annual increase of bullion testifies to their success, but of late some improvements have been introduced which seem likely to finally supercede all the old styles. Mr. Belshaw has in very successful operation what is called a "water jacket"—which is simply a double iron boiler, the inner one lined with fire clay and between them is the water. Mr. Beaudry proposes substituting a species of soapstone, found some five miles south of the town, for the moulded fire-clay brick hitherto in use. The stone has been used in "patching" and found to stand the intense heat for a long time.

The Bishop Creek Grange.

Following are the officers elect of the Bishop Creek Grange, for the ensuing term. The installation occurs on the 1st prox., when the event will be duly celebrated according to the ceremonies and customs of the order: Master, A. Dell; Overseer, H. Warnerfield; Lecturer, G. A. Hastings; Steward, Wm. McLaran; Assistant Steward, H. Plumley; Chaplain, Jos. W. Inman; Treasurer, E. W. Powers; Secretary, W. T. Wiswall; Gate Keeper, J. C. Mills; Ceres, Mrs. M. A. Clark; Pomona, Mrs. R. W. Ford; Flora, Mrs. McLaren; Assistant Stewardess, Mrs. Minerva Inman. Trustees—W. G. McCrosky, S. C. Munson; Deputy, T. J. Furbee.

The Supervisorship.

A. N. Bell, Esq., member and President of the Board of Supervisors, requests us to make note of the fact that his official term has expired, and desires us to urge the circulation of a petition asking the County Judge to appoint a successor. If Mr Bell's suggestion is acted upon, the petitions favoring the candidate or candidates should have a very general and complete circulation throughout this Supervisor district, and the people thereby given a full opportunity to express their choice, as the matter is one of very material importance to the county at large. We trust, however, that Mr. Bell will not insist upon a change.

Masonic Election.

Following are the elected and appointed officers of Inyo Lodge, No. 221, F. & A. M., for the ensuing Masonic year: W. M., Henry M. Isaacs; S. W., A. N. Bell; J. W., A. B. Macgowan; Treasurer, John B. White; Secretary, Charles B. White; S. D., John Shepherd; J. D., Jas. E. Parker; Stewards Omie Mairs, James Shepherd; Marshal, James Brady; Tyler, S. B. Upton.

The Other Kind.

A lady requested an accommodating clerk of one of our popular business houses, the other day, to put up for her some lemon peels, for flavoring. "Vell, madam, I'se sorry ve've not shust de article; but Ayer's Pills are mooch de superior." Tally one for Theodore.

Dissolution.

The well known brewery firm of Walters & Kurtz, of the Star Brewery, near Camp Independence, has been dissolved, Mr. Kurtz disposing of his interest to his late partner. We are indebted to Mr. Walters for several samples, in bottles, of his excellent beer.

A Sad Death.

Truly the most sorrowful lines we have had to pen for years are in record of the fact that on Sunday last, at Bishop Creek, died Miss Martha Alice Clark, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Andrew Clark. Known and well beloved by the people of the whole upper portion of the valley, a studied tribute on our part to the sweet soul and the pure, modest worth of the deceased were unnecessary; in the general grief, these reflections all occur but too keenly to her old associates and friends. Measureless, indeed, is the sympathy with the parents and family. Man's philosophy avails little in assuaging such grief as theirs, though it recognizes that such is the way of all flesh; but faith, going further, loves to hope that the one lost to earth is in a happier sphere.

Christmas Tree.

The Lone Pine school, under charge of C. L. Jackson, closed for the holidays on Thursday last. After an elaborately gotten up and highly creditable school exhibition, the pupils were treated to a regular Christmas tree scene, after the old and beautiful custom of the Germans. Curt Harvey did Santa Claus in a manner doubtless highly satisfactory to the mythical old genius himself, who must have patronizingly approved the generous distribution of presents among the little ones.

El Temblor.

Having visited almost the entire world over and given a tale thereof to nearly every locality in the Union, the earthquakes have seemingly reached us again—at least quite a perceptible shock was felt about 10 o'clock on Wednesday evening last, the first which has been noticed at this point for many months.

Merry Christmas.

A goodly company of dancers, composing the upper tendom of Independence and vicinity, passed a merry Christmas night at the Court House last evening. It was an impromptu, genuinely jolly affair—one certainly doing full credit to the social elements participating therein.

Tramway.

An application to the Board of Supervisors, at their next meeting, by R. E. Arick, Esq., for the right to construct a wire tramway from the head to the foot of Surprise Canyon, Panamint, looks enterprising, for a camp that has been "overdone." The overdoing of any mining district in Inyo is one of the impossible things.

Coso Parties.

To-day, there started out for Coso a couple of parties to whom that camp might as well make a judicious surrender after they get there. B. L. Brown, Thomas May, V. Beaudry, V. A. Gregg and P. Reddy compose them. Stand by your claims, boys!

Argus.

Messrs. Stewart, Jones, Rains and others, of Panamint, are reported as being on a visit to some of the new strikes in the Argus District.

The Last Day.

Monday, the 4th day of January next, is the last day upon which taxes will be received without additional costs.

New Boiler.

A new boiler, for supplying steam to the engine at Beaudry's furnace, Cerro Gordo, is being put in place.

Resolutions.

OASIS LODGE, No. 352, I. O. G. T.

Pursuant to announcement of the death of sister M. A. Clark, a special meeting of said lodge was ordered by the W. C. at 7 o'clock P. M., December 20th, 1874, at which time the following was unanimously adopted:

Whereas: It has pleased the Infinite Ruler of the universe, upon whom we all are dependent for life and sustenance, to remove from our midst our very worthy and estimable sister, Martha Alice Clark, "to that bourne from whence no traveler returns." Therefore,

Resolved—1. That we, the members of Oasis Lodge, I. O. G. T., while submissive to the Divine will, being but finite, are constrained to deeply deplore the untimely demise of our now bemourned sister, whose geniality, intelligence, worthy aims, commendable deportment and chaste bearing made her a desirable associate and an honor to any society to own her as a member.

2. That we extend to the grief-stricken parents and relatives of our departed sister, our unfeigned condolence and profoundest sympathy in this, their great and trying bereavement, in the irreparable loss of one of their group, of whom any relative might justly be proud. Whose examples are worthy of imitation; believing that her lot and portion are those of the just.

3. That the community sustains a lamentable affliction in the loss of a desirable member of society and a benefactor of our race.

Death's Doings.

[For The Inyo Independent.]

It must be sweet in childhood, to give back
The spirit to its Maker; ere the heart
Has grown familiar with the paths of sin,
And soon to garner up its bitter fruits.
—Sigourney.

One of those heart-rending calamities that paralyzes our beings and deadens the soul happened in our midst on the nights of the 16th and 17th instants. The two little daughters of Abney and Elizabeth McGee, died in about twenty-four hours of each other, after a very short illness. Death came swiftly and so irresistibly that our eminent physician and highly successful practitioner, Dr. Middleton, could not stay his icy hand. He never left their bed-side scarcely from the time he was summoned until the last one sank to sleep never to waken more. He fought the destroyer with the medicinal sword, never faltering in his efforts to subdue the stubborn disease, but when he saw the last one must die tears stood in his eyes. Yet truly such is life.

What words of consolation can we say to those young bereaved parents, who, just in the morning of life when pleasures and joys interspersed their lives, sweetened by those little pattering feet and lisping prattling tongues were, before they could realize it, made childless.

Words mock us when we think of the expectant father's return from his daily labor, and half unconscious, eagerly looks to see, peeping through the window, those rosy cheeks and bright eyes anxiously awaiting "the envial kiss to share." A sense of loneliness and desolateness steals over his being that baffles the pen to picture, when he fully realizes that no more on earth will he hear the patter of those little feet on the hearth or feel the soft pressure of those blooming cheeks against his own. And the mother, when busy in household affairs, will involuntarily stop to listen for that often heard innocent prattle, fearing perhaps that some lurking evil might do them harm, and her heart will yearn for their presence as only wells from the fond heart of a mother.

And those aged grand-parents, whose declining years, as they neared the cold Jordan, were gladdened by those beautiful little girls, like the frail and tender vine clinging to the trunk of some century living oak, giving it a semblance of youth, so were the young and the aged hearts bound in sweet companionship. Yes, words are a very mockery when we attempt to pour the balm of consolation in those deeply wounded hearts. Yet we earnestly assure them that the sympathy of all their relatives and friends flows in one deep and broad channel toward them in their utter bereavement.

Although those rare flowers have faded
And have passed from the chilly winds of earth
To a fairer world, where the atmosphere is laded
With sweet music, and no sorrow has a birth.

You may hope presently with them to be
On the banks of the beautiful river;
And clothed in their angelic robes you will see
Ida and Musetta, to be parted from them never.

Freedom.

The only freedom worth possessing is that which gives enlargement to a people's energy, intellect and virtues. The savage makes his boast of freedom. But what is it worth. Free as he is, he continues for ages in the same ignorance, leads the same comfortless life, sees the same untamed wilderness spread around him. He is, indeed, free from what he calls the yoke of civil institution. But other and worse chains bind him. The very privation of civil government is in effect a chain; for, by withholding protection from property, it virtually shackles the arm of industry, and forbids exertion for the melioration of his lot. Progress, the growth of power, is the end and boon of liberty, and, without this, a people may have the name, but want the substance and spirit of freedom.—[Channing.

Be Real.

Canon Kingsley says: Whatsoever is not simple, whatsoever is affected, boastful, willful, or covetous, tarnishes, even destroys the heroic character of a deed, because all these faults spring out of self. On the other hand, wherever you find a perfectly simple, frank, unconscious character, there you have the possibility, at least, of heroic action. For it is nobler for to do the most common-place duty in the household, or behind the counter, with a single eye to duty, simply because it must be done; nobler far, I say, than to go out of your way to attempt a brilliant deed with a double mind, and saying to yourself not only 'this will be a brilliant deed,' but also, 'and it will pay me, or raise me, or set me off, into the bargain.'"

AS THE HARVEST IS NOW APPROACHING, I earnestly ask the farmers to look well to the cleaning of their wheat, especially to keeping it
Clear of Sand and Gravel,
as it is impossible to clean it out by any machinery that has ever been invented, and I cannot make good flour out of wheat that has sand and gravel in it.
Having clothed my bolt reel with a Fine New American Cloth, and made improvements otherwise, I hope to do better for my patrons this year than I have done since I built the new mill.
The firm of Bell & Bro. having been dissolved by mutual consent, the business will hereafter be conducted in my own name.

DR. RADWAY'S
Sarsaparillian Resolvent
HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT Every Day an Increase in Weight is Seen and Felt.
THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.
Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine and other fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasting and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the life principle are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.
If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure.
Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional and Skin Diseases; but it is the only positive cure for Kidney and Bladder Complaints,
Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the small of the back and along the loins. WORMS—The only known and sure remedy for Worms—Pin, Tape, etc.
Tumor of 12 Years Growth Cured by Radway's Ready Resolvent.
BEVERLY, Mass., July 18, 1869
DR. RADWAY:—I have had Ovarian Tumor in the ovaries and bowels. All the Doctors said "there was no help for it." I tried everything that was recommended, but nothing helped me. I saw your Resolvent, and thought I would try it; but had no faith in it, because I had suffered for twelve years. I took six bottles of the Resolvent, and one box of Radway's Pills, and two bottles of your Ready Relief; and there is not a sign of a tumor to be seen or felt, and I feel better, smarter and happier than I have for twelve years. The worst tumor was in the left side of the bowels, over the groin. I write this to you for the benefit of others. You can publish it if you choose. HANNAH P. KNAPP.

VINEGAR BITTERS.
PURELY VEGETABLE. FREE FROM ALCOHOL

Dr. Walker's CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS!

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

SOLDIERS' WAR CLAIM AGENCY,
No. 34 Montgomery Block,
San Francisco, Cal.

W. H. AIKEN, ATTORNEY AT LAW and Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in California and Nevada, will give prompt attention to the collection of Additional Travel Pay, now due California and Nevada Volunteers discharged more than three hundred miles from home. Soldiers can depend on fair dealing. Information given free of charge. When writing enclose stamp for reply and state company and regiment and whether you have a discharge. Congress has extended the time for filing claims for additional bounty under Act of July 28, 1866, to January 1875, so all such claims must be made before that time. Original Bounty of $100 has been allowed all volunteers who enlisted before July 22, 1861 for three years if not paid the same when discharged. Land warrants can be obtained for services rendered before 1855, but not for services in the late war. Pensions for late war and war of 1812 obtained and increased when allowed for less than disability warrants, but no pensions are allowed for Mexican and Florida war soldiers. State of Texas has granted pensions to surviving veterans of Texas Revolution. New Orleans and Mobile Prize Money is now due and being paid. W. H. Aiken also attends to General Law and Collection Business. n214m6

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE ALDINE,
—THE—
ART JOURNAL OF AMERICA,
Issued Monthly.

"A Magnificent Conception, wonderfully carried out."

The necessity of a popular medium for the representation of the productions of our great artists, has always been recognized, and many attempts have been made to meet the want. The successive failures which so invariably followed each attempt in this country to establish an art journal did not prove the indifference of the people of America to the claims of high art. So soon as a proper appreciation of the want and an ability to meet it were shown, the public at once rallied with enthusiasm to its support, and the result was a great artistic and commercial triumph—THE ALDINE.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature, and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it is bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is an unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there is the chromo, besides!

The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmopolitan. While THE ALDINE is a strictly American institution, it does not confine itself entirely to the reproduction of native art. Its mission is to cultivate a broad and appreciative art taste, one that will discriminate only on grounds of intrinsic merit. Thus, while placing before the readers of THE ALDINE, as a leading characteristic, the productions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign masters, giving subscribers all the pleasure and instruction obtainable from home or foreign sources.

The artistic illustration of American scenery, original with THE ALDINE, is an important feature, and its magnificent plates are of a size more appropriate to the satisfactory treatment of details than can be afforded by any inferior page. The judicious interspersion of landscape, marine, figure and animal subjects sustain an unabated interest, impossible where the scope of the work confines the artist too closely to a single style of subject. The literature of THE ALDINE is a light and graceful accompaniment worthy of the artistic features, with only such technical disquisitions as do not interfere with the popular interest of the work.

Premium for 1875.

"Man's Unselfish Friend"

Will be welcomed in every home. Everybody loves such a dog, and the portrait is executed so true to the life that it seems the veritable presence of the animal itself. The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage tells that his own Newfoundland dog (the finest in Brooklyn) barks at it! Although so natural no one who sees this premium chromo will have the slightest fear of being bitten.

Besides the chromo, every advance subscriber to THE ALDINE for 1875 is constituted a member, and entitled to all the privileges of

The Aldine Art Union.

The Union owns the originals of all THE ALDINE pictures which, with other paintings and engravings, are to be distributed among the members. To every series of 5,000 subscribers, 100 different pieces, valued at over $2,500 are distributed as soon as the series is full, and the awards of each series as made, are to be published in the next succeeding issue of THE ALDINE. This feature only applies to subscribers who pay for one year in advance. Full particulars in circular sent on application enclosing a stamp.

Terms.

One Subscription, entitling to THE ALDINE one year, the Chromo and the Art Union.

$6 00 per Annum, in Advance.
(No charge for postage.)
Specimen Copies of THE ALDINE, 50 Cents.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. THE PACIFIC IRRIGATING PIPE, AIR PIPE AND PUMP CO.
San Francisco, Cal.

THE ATTENTION OF AGRICULTURISTS AND farmers, especially, is called to these celebrated pumps already in use throughout the Western States and Pacific Coast, giving perfect satisfaction everywhere. For durability, efficiency and cheapness they cannot be excelled, the material used being cut from the butt log of Redwood,
the most durable timber in use. These pumps are adapted to all climates, and are not affected by heat or cold. They are made of different sizes to raise water in greater or less volume as may be required; and various lengths to operate in wells and cisterns either shallow or of great depth, and are handsomely turned and painted to preserve them against exposure. Air pipe for tunnels, mines, etc., made of the same material, are very efficient, cheap and durable.

Agency for Inyo and Mono counties at the Inyo Drug Store, Lone Pine, where full information will be given, orders promptly attended to and pumps may be inspected, having one in good running order in the well.
